Eighty-four per cent of the entire state of Idaho is still public land, amounting to more than 44,000,000 acres. Of this area it has been estimated by the government geological survey that 7,000,000 acres can be irrigated successfully.—Minneapolis Journal.

BUSTLE'S REIGN ON.

DAME FASHION DECREES THAT THEY MUST BE WORN.

There is No Longer Any Doubt That Women Are to Wear "Improvers"—Form-Makers in All Shapes and Sizes Are on Sale in All Shops.

The long-discarded bustle is again to reign and to cause the outlines of women to take on strange curves and angles. The bustle is already "among those present," at least so say the inner cult of dressmakers and buyers of the stores where women go to see and learn the styles.

The "bustle department," which was abolished when these form-makers went out of style some years ago, has been re-established in the great retail stores, and the saleswomen who preside over them are kept busy showing their wares and assuring their customers that they will be worn.

Queer shapes and varieties of this woman's adornment are hanging on walnut-wood "trees" like new and strange grafted fruits. There are small modest bustles of curled hair, made in the shape of crescents, which are so unassuming and shy that they shrink behind their flaunting silken sisters that are as large as soft pillows.

VARIOUS STYLES OF BUSTLES.

Another kind is woven of rattan strips. This variety is as unyielding as a theological creed and about the size of a football. Woven-wire arrangements, like links of sausage tied together, are a popular and lasting bustle. Long half-skirts of ruffled haircloth recall the penitential skirts of medieval monks, though they are not especially designed for Lenten wear, but are recommended as the most "extending" and comfortable of the bustle family. Then there are quaint pneumatic devices of rubber, intended to be pumped full of air like bicycle tires and warranted not to blow up except under the most extraordinary circumstances, and indestructible bustles of leather which look as if they were to be handed down from generation to generation along with the old lace and family diamonds.

When asked if bustles will grow larger and more conspicuous as the year grows old, the saleswomen shrug their shoulders and nod in decided affirmatives. "Of course they will," one little English woman said as she rearranged her stock, "improvers"—British for bustles—"are bound to get larger. Didn't big sleeves get bigger and wide skirts get wider until they reached the limit of women's pocket books and cloth? So it is with every mode. It grows more and more exaggerated until it reaches its climax, then goes on the bargain table and is no more."

The approach of the bustle this season has been insiduous and cautious, first stealing upon womankind in the form of a tiny pad at the back of her skirts which the dressmaker said she "must have" in order to take her place in the rank of the decently clad who air their clothes on the most fashionable streets.

Once contracted, the bustle habit is hard to shake off and many women who a year ago would have repudiated the bustle in any form are now its victims. Like the taste for intoxicants and narcotics, the dressmakers say the bustle habit is bound to grow as it is indulged, and the woman who is now content with a small bunch will soon demand a goodly shelf at the back of her waist.

Perfumes.

Of the making of perfumes there is no end, and, unfortunately, they are within the reach of all—from Bridget, who, on her "afternoon out," drenches her handkerchief from a ten-cent bottle, to my lady, whose costly garments give forth a faintly delicious scent as she leans back in her carriage. Even the best must be used cautiously, a suggestion of fragrance being preferable to a heavy odor. A single drop of violet perfume put on a handkerchief several hours before it is to be carried will be sufficient to please the olfactories without disgusting them by its strength. A woman must decide what particular fragrance she likes best, and use that and that only in toilet waters, powders and sachets. Heliotrope sachet powder laid away among articles of wearing apparel, and a drop of heliotrope extract on handkerchief or laces go well together, while a conglomeration of extracts is an offense to refined nostrils.

Pretty For the Hair.

Blue ostrich feathers sprinkled with silver are a pretty decoration for the hair with evening dress. Other novelties are the Louis Seize bows of velvet ribbon combined with aigrettes. Twists of chiffon and gold gauze ribbon are also worn.

To Freshen a Chiffon Waist.

Freshen your half-worn chiffon waist by adding a black velvet bolero made with small revers covered with white silk and network of jet. Colored velvets are also pretty for this purpose if the bodice is of white or cream.

WOMEN'S REALM

WHAT TO WEAR AND HOW TO MAKE IT

May Manton's Hints Regarding Seasonable Toilettes.

The full, round waist embodies all the ease and comfort of the blouse, yet is free of all pouch, makes one of the many good things which the season has to offer. The model shown in the illustration is velvet-finished cashmere, with skirt of the same, but is suited alike to foulard and India silks, challies and all such materials as take soft, graceful folds. The foundation is a fitted lining which includes the usual pieces and seams and closes at the centre-front. The seamless back is drawn down to the waist line, so forming a slight fulness above the band, and is joined to the fronts by under-arm gores. The full fronts are arranged in gathers at the shoulders and neck and again at the waist line. The edge of the left side is finished with a pointed rever of applique edged with a frill of ribbon, and laps well over onto the right, so concealing the closing of the waist proper, which is accomplished by hooks and eyes. The sleeves are two-seamed and fit snugly to the shoulders, where they are finished with small puffs, which support the double oblong epaulettes that are made to match the rever. The neck is finished with a draped high collar of the material, and at the waist is a crushed belt of velvet. Frills of ribbon edge the pointed wrists.

To make this waist for a lady in the medium size will require two and one-fourth yards of forty-four inch material.

My Lady's Little Slipper.

The evening slipper of black satin, embroidered with cut jet, is the slipper which could not fail to make the clumsiest foot look slim and dainty.

Silver buckles and jeweled ornaments, gold and silver embroidery, bows and rosettes are all for little feet; simplicity and somberness for anything broader than B or longer than 4.

Two general styles prevail for evening and house wear—the single strap slipper and the laced shoe, with upper of heavy silk. Both show the narrow toe, but neither goes to the extreme.

Bronze is a favorite for house wear, but for wear with ball gowns and other elaborate dresses slippers of satin made from a piece of the frock are worn. These are very dainty when the gown is a striped or flowered brocade.

Child's Blouse Dress.

Nothing makes prettier or more attractive frocks for little girls than figured French challie. The model shown in the illustration is eminently stylish at the same time that is entirely simple. The foundation for the blouse is a fitted body lining that closes at the centre-back. The yoke portion of tucked India silk is seamed at the shoulders and attached to the lining at the line of perforations shown in the pattern. The blouse portion below is seamed under the arms only, and pouches over the belt at both front and back. The sleeves are two-seamed and snug-fitting, but are finished at the shoulders with small puffs which support the divided bretelles. The latter, which are edged with lace, form a becoming trimming, and serve to conceal the joining of yoke and blouse. The skirt is straight and hemmed at the bottom, the fulness at the waist being arranged in gathers and attached to the band. At the neck is a collar of striped ribbon, and at the waist a sash of the same bowed at the back.

To make this frock for a child of eight years will require four and a half yards of twenty-seven inch material.

Something New in Lace.

Something new in lace is a "wire-ground" Valenciennes for trimming underwear and warranted to wear out the nainsook it decorates.

THE FURRIER'S SECRET.

Easy to Clean Furs When These Rules Are Followed.

Furs become very much soiled and need renovation as much as any part of a woman's wardrobe, but among the many directions given for cleansing and renovating one seldom finds anything regarding furs. Furriers keep all such trade secrets strictly, but occasionally there is a leakage. Dark furs, as seal, mink and black marten, are cleaned with fine cedar or mahogany sawdust, which is kept in stock by furriers. The garment is ripped free from the lining and the fur laid on a table with the hair up. Then the sawdust is rubbed in the hair, and neither strength nor sawdust is spared during the process. When finished shake the fur lightly over the table and save the sawdust that drops out. Then put upon the table one or two feather pillows in their usual muslin slips, and upon these lay the furs, hair down this time, and beat thoroughly with a switch until the sawdust is out and the fur as clean as a pin. Keep moving the pillows, as the fur must have a soft support while beaten. White furs are cleaned with white cornmeal applied as the sawdust is on the darker varieties. If white furs are only slightly soiled they may be cleaned with magnesia in small cubes that is well rubbed in and then thoroughly dusted out.

His Way of Thinkihg.

My daughter, who teaches in a mission Sunday-school, tells me of a Dewey experience she had with a youngster making his first appearance. She had put him through a half hour or more of instruction in the rudimentary principles, for he was entirely lacking in information on that point, and to test him was reviewing her work with him.

"Now," she said, "tell me again who made the world and all that is in it?"

"God did," replied the boy, with commendable promptitude.

"God can do everything, can't he?" she asked again.

The boy hesitated a moment.

"I don't believe He could lick Dewey," he answered at last, and his teacher sat silent between her religion and her patriotism. It wasn't her time to say anything, if she didn't want to lose that boy for ever, and she had wit enough to let it go at that.—Washington Star.

Feathered Hats.

In feathered hats there are indications of a return to long sweeping plumes laid flat. This, like enough, means that we will be expected to don

A PRETTY EFFECT.

Gainsboroughs in the Winter, yet it may not. We've already had a touch of this sort of feather trimming and have endorsed it, and now there are new phases of it with Gainsboroughs—the actual source of the whole lot of them—many miles away. One of these hats is shown here. It was of gathered black chiffon with low shirred crown and rolled brim covered with very thin green veiling. The brim turned up at the right side and was there trimmed with two sweeping plumes whose stems were held by an ornate paste buckle beneath which were some white velvet geraniums. The left side of the brim turned down till it almost touched the hair.

For the Bathroom.

Where one cannot go to the expense of tiling the bathroom, the next best thing is to cover every inch of space with oilcloth, painted to resemble tiling. This can be done at very moderate cost, the effect will be tasty and the result pleasing. After putting on, the oilcloth will be greatly benefitted by an extra coat of varnish, making it still easier to keep it clean and wholessome.

Turpentine for Stains.

Turpentine will remove obstinate stains that have a perfect genius for getting on children's pinafores. Cream of tartar and water or alcohol is used for the daintiest colored goods if stained with grass, as it never stains the most delicate shade.

To Make Them Fireproof.

Take two ounces of alum and dissolve it in a gallon of water. After washing curtains, hangings and children's clothing, rinse them in this alum water, and they are far less likely to ignite from a chance flame.

Veils With Dots.

A veil with no dots directly in front of the eye is one of the commendable novelties. But with dots sprinkled in as generously as ever below the range of vision the effect may be rather too weird to become popular.

At a swell English dinner, apples are used as the fruit centerpiece, just as foreign fruits are used here.

HOUSE HOLD TALKS

Housekeepers' Alphabet.

Ants—Scatter branches of sweet fern where they congregate.
Brooms—Hang in cellar-way to keep pliant and soft.
Coffee—Keep securely covered, as its odor affects other articles.
Dish—Of hot water in oven prevents cake from scorching.
Economize—Time, health, and means, and you will never beg.
Flour—Keep cool, dry and closely covered.
Glass—Clean with tablespoonful of ammonia in quart of rainwater.
Herbs—Gather on a dry day when beginning to blossom. Keep in paper sack.
Ink stains—Immediately saturate with milk; rub vigorously with a cloth.
Jars—To prevent, remember it takes two to make a quarrel.
Keep—An account of your expenditures and income.
Love—Lightens labor.
Money—Count carefully when you receive your change.
Nutmegs—Always grate blossom end first.
Oranges—Keep best wrapped in soft paper.
Parsnips—Are best in March and April. Keep in ground till spring.
Quicksilver—And white of egg destroys bed-bugs.
Rice—Should be large, plump and white. Old rice may have insects.
Scalds—And light burns; dress with white of egg to keep out the air.
Table napkins—Should never be starched.
Use—A cement of ashes, salt and water for cracks in stove.
Variety—Is the best culinary spice.
Watch—Your back yard for dirt and bones.
Xantippe—Was a scold; don't imitate her.
Youth—Is best preserved by cheerfulness.
Zinc—Lined or iron sinks are better than wooden ones.

An Odd Writing Desk.

A young artist has concocted a pretty writing desk out of an easel and a flat wooden box with a lid. The box part is placed upright on the easel and securely fastened. This forms a little recess deep enough for a narrow shelf, and a space for clock, inkstand, glue-pot and other impediments of a writing table, while above are receptacles for paper, envelopes, etc. The lid lets down with a hinge, and forms a writing shelf. Wrought-iron legs are arranged so that when the lid is shut they fold up and hold it in place.

The inside of the box and the shelf are both covered with green felt ornamented with brass nails.

Secret of "Doing Up" Collars.

Few, indeed, are the house laundresses who are willing to "do up" collars; and yet there are many men and women who would prefer to have the home rather than the laundry finish.

The directions for polishing or glazing linen, as given in the laundry classes, are very explicit, however, and practice by the amateur undoubtedly would soon make perfect. After the linen (shirt bosom or collar) has been carefully starched, have ready at hand a basin of cold water, a clean, covered ironing board; a piece of clean, soft rag, and a well-heated polishing iron.

Take one collar at a time, place flat on the board, dip the clean rag in cold water, and then lightly wipe the surface of the collar. On no account make it too wet, or it will blister, and be careful that no drops of water fall on it.

Hold the collar in position with the left hand, and run the polishing iron up and down it with the right. At first the linen will have a streaky appearance; but the smothing must be continued until the surface is glossed all over.

An English Recipe.

An English recipe for cooking potatoes is worth a trial and then adoption. Boil some potatoes until nearly tender, cut in thick slices, butter a baking dish and arrange the potatoes, in layers, putting between each layer sliced bacon and grated cheese. Moisten thoroughly with a little stock, cover with grated cheese, put a few bits of butter on top, and bake in an oven about a half hour or until browned.

OUR BOYS AND GIRLS

THE WAYWARD PUPPIES.

Our dog Bess had three little pups,
And nice little doggies were they;
But the worst of it was they would not mind,
And were always running away.

Sport was the best one of the three,
Although he was mischievous, too.
Next came Speck, the little brown one;
Then came Master Lew.

A sad accident happened the other day
To one of these puppies so dear.
Their mamma she told them all to stay home,
But they wandered 'way down to the pier.

When night came on but two came back.
Where could dear Sport be?
"I know where he is," said little brown Speck,
"He fell right into the sea."

Poor Mamma Bess, she cried for Sport,
And often went to the pier;
And now, my dear friends, all of this came
From not minding their parent dear.

DOLLS OF NOTED WOMEN.

The Tender Affections Bestowed on Their Little Wax Figures.

Miss Jean Ingelow possessed a special waxen favorite that she named Amelia. Amelia went everywhere Jean did, and she was introduced to all the agreeable people who came to the Ingelow house, her dresses were always made from a piece of whatever cloth Jean wore, and when games or merry times were enjoyed in the nursery Amelia was placed wherever she could take in the fun with the rest of the young folks. An ill-advised bath on a hot day was so hopelessly destructive to Amelia's painted beauty and sawdust constitution that the Ingelow family pronounced her quite dead. Her funeral was well attended, and for many months Jean sorrowed for Amelia and refused ever to take another doll to her heart.

Not only her own big doll family, but all dolls, fine or shabby, large or small, black or white, which came Annie Thackeray's way shared the tender affection of her overflowing heart. When a very little girl she believed dolls were quite as much alive as real babies, and if they lost heads or arms the missing members would grow again.

Florence Nightingale's dolls all enjoyed very indifferent health. Time and again disease stalked through the nursery and laid the dolls so low that their lives were quite despaired of, but the little girl, who was to grow up to be a ministering angel to thousands in real suffering, always pulled her babies through their worst attacks.

When, at 14 years of age, George Sand heard some one laugh at the idea of so big a girl still playing with dolls, like Jane Welsh, she concluded to give them up. With tears and hearty hugs she bade every one of them adieu and locked them in a garret closet.

Tiny Houses.

The most magnificent palaces built by man for dwelling places sink into insignificance when compared with some of the houses constructed by insects. An interesting example is the brickmaker, who lays bricks with the skill of a mason, making a house of tiny bricks or pellets laid regularly and so evenly there is no chinks between them. It makes its own bricks and lays them up with no help. These brick houses are usually fastened to the leaf of some water plant.

An insect called the floscule lives in a glass house which is often found broken by naturalists—whether from the stones of some enemy or not is unknown. The floscule has a long foot stalk which it fastens to a water plant and remains moored the rest of its life. It is very sensitive and at the slightest alarm retreats into its glass dwelling. When it emerges it seems to be a film of smoke at first for there are glasslike filaments attached to its lobed body which search for food in the water which is stowed beneath the insect in its queer transparent home.

The Game of Location.

The following game is very amusing as well as instructive:—Any number of persons may play. First choose a leader, and give him a United States map. Then provide the other parties with paper and pencil. The leader calls off the name of a town or city, and requests the members to write its location on the paper. Some answers are very amusing and cities are moved wonderfully.

Fish Are Easily Tamed.

Small fish, such as Prussian carp and minnows are easily tamed. All that is necessary is to feed them yourself regularly morning and evening, and sit beside them as often as you can so as to accustom them to your presence. Small earth worms and caterpillars are the best food, but be careful not to give many at a time. Gold fish are not so easily tamed.

His Proposal.

Miss Strongminde—Mamma, how did papa act when he proposed to you?

Mrs. Strongminde—He didn't act at all. He just stood in the corner and said yes.

THE MAGIC TUMBLER.

A Simple Way to Prove the Great Pressure of Air

The air which for about forty miles surrounds our earth has a definite weight; and although we can neither see nor feel it, we are conscious of its presence by the momentary operation of breathing. The weight of a column of air one inch square and forty miles high, is about fifteen pounds. The reason why we are not crushed down by this enormous weight is, because we are surrounded on all sides by it, and as the pressure or weight is equal all around, it becomes, as far as we are personally concerned, insensible.

THE MAGIC TUMBLER.

That the air does exert a definite pressure, in consequence of its weight, may be easily proved by any one with the above simple apparatus—only a tumbler and a sheet of paper. Fill a tumbler quite full of water, and carefully draw over its top a sheet of clean letter paper, and be careful to see that there are no bubbles of air in the water; place your hand over the paper while inverting it, and when the glass is mouth downward the water will be kept in, until the paper becomes wet through. The air pressing against the mouth of the tumbler is of greater weight than the contained water, and so, until some air can get in to supply the place of the water, it cannot fall out.

Sweet Charity.

"Mamma, does you know anyfing to play? I'se so lonely and tired," and little Fay Allison looked up at her mother, the picture of abject misery.

"Why, yes, dear, mamma will tell you of a lonely game to amuse yourself with. Did you ever play charity?"

"No, ma'am. Please tell me all about it." Fay's little face expressed interest now.

"Well, you go to Jane, and tell her to dress you up warmly, and then come to me."

Fay trotted off, looking very important, and presently she returned, arrayed in her thick winter garments.

Mamma was waiting with a large bundle in her arms, and taking Fay by the hand, they started.

As they walked along the child noticed that they were leaving the pretty homelike streets for the tenement house district. Presently they stopped in front of a large, ill kept house, where several dirty, hungry looking children played. Mrs. Allison paused and, opening her bundle, took out some bread, which she distributed among the children.

On she went, all through the wretched house, bringing relief to suffering families. When Fay was in her little bed that night she gave thanks in her prayer for the sweet game of charity.

What is Good.

"What is the real good?"
I asked in musing mood.
"Order," said the law court:
"Knowledge," said the school:
"Truth," said the wise man:
"Pleasure," said the fool:
"Love," said the maiden:
"Beauty," said the page:
"Freedom," said the dreamer:
"Home," said the sage:
"Fame," said the soldier:
"Equity," the seer,
Spake my heart full sadly:—
"The answer is not here."
Then within my bosom
Softly this I heard:—
"Each heart holds the secret; Kindness is the word."

A New Pump.

Bicycle tires can be quickly inflated by a new pump which is formed of the central tube of the frame, with valves at each end, the seat post being used as a plunger for compressing the air and fastened by a clamping lever when not in use.

An Active Volcano.

The most active volcano in the world is Mount Sangay, 17,190 feet high, situated on the eastern chain of the Andes, South America. It has been in constant eruption since 1728.

Quenched at Last.

More than fifty years ago a coal mine at Daily, Scotland, caught fire. All the attempts made to put it out have failed, but it is out now, apparently from lack of fuel.

Well Wasted.

The nurse had been giving the twins a bath. Later, hearing the children laughing in bed, she said, "What are you children laughing about?" "Oh, nothing," replied Edna, "only you have given Edith two baths and haven't given me any."

Friends of the Sailor.

The cries of sea birds, especially sea gulls, are very valuable to sailors in misty weather. The birds cluster on the cliffs and coast, and their cries warn boatmen that they are near the land.

Spider's Production is Small.

The amount of silk produced by each spider is so small that scientists computes that 663,522 would be required to produce a pound of thread.

CHILDREN'S CORNER

LAMENT OF A LITTLE GIRL.

My brother Will, he used to be
The nicest kind of girl.
He wore a little dress like me
And had his hair in curl.
We played with dolls and tea sets then
And every kind of toy;
But all those good old times are gone
Will turned into a boy.

Mamma had made him little suits,
With pockets in the pants,
And cut off all his yellow curls
And sent them to my aunts,
And Will, he was so pleased, I believe
He almost danced with joy;
But I must own I didn't like
Will turned into a boy.

I have to wear frocks just the same,
And now they're mostly white.
I have to sit and just be good,
While Will can climb and fight,
But I must keep my dresses nice
And wear my hair in curl:
And, worse—oh, worstest thing of all—
I have to stay a girl!

GEN. LEE AND THE CIRCUS.

How Going to the Show Became a Proper Amusement.

General Robert E. Lee, the famous Confederate commander, was as kind-hearted and simple-mannered as he was brave and able. While president of Washington and Lee University, Virginia, in the latter years of his life, he was greatly beloved by the children, whom he loved in return. It was his delight to give the little ones pleasure. Professor Nelson's two little girls were great favorites. The General would turn and ride with them when they met, encourage them to talk of their dolls and playthings, and then escort them home with as much gallantry as if they were young ladies. He would alight, and, helping them down from the gentle old horse they both rode, he would part with a kiss from each.

Once the strict Presbyterian rule of the Nelson household was rudely shocked by the General. A circus was coming to town, and, as Professor and Mrs. Nelson left for a visit of several days, they charged the children on no account to go. So the two little girls hung over the fence, listened to the music, and envied the children that passed on their way to that tented paradise, but they never once hoped to go. Presently a larger crowd of children than ever came along, and in their midst was General Lee, keenly enjoying the happiness of his little proteges The little Nelson girls joined the party without a word when he asked them to come along with him. Soon they were all in the tent, and when the performance began all were given reserved seats by the owner of the circus. "Mother, we went to the circus," was the greeting of the children on their parents' return. "Why, children, didn't I tell you you must not go?" said their mother. "But General Lee took us." "Oh, well," said their mother, "if General Lee took you that's all right." After that going to the circus was a legitimate amusement for children.

The Wood Seller Game.

A very amusing game is the woodseller, and it is capable of several variations, including the ever-popular forfeits. Any number of persons may join in the game.

The person who starts the game writes the name of some kind of wood on a paper, and folds the paper so that no one can see the word written upon it. He then goes around, all the rest of the players being seated and says:

"I have a load of wood to sell."
Each person in turn asks:
"What kind?"
The answer is:
Find out."

Then the person mentions one kind, and if it happens to be the wrong one, the woodseller goes to the next, and so on, until it is finally guessed right. When the right one is named, the one naming it becomes woodseller.

All who make mistakes must pay a forfeit to be redeemed at the end of the game. Those who name a wood twice pay. The list of woods is a long one, but the best known ones are the very ones that the players are most apt to overlook in naming them. A clever person can make much fun by the manner of calling out his wares, and another by witty rejoinders.

Knew They Wanted Jam.

The Duke of Wellington, the great general who defeated the Emperor Napoleon at the battle of Waterloo, was very fond of children. He loved to have them as his guests, and they loved him, for he seemed to understand without being told just what little boys and girls liked.

One day when some small visitors happened to be in the nursery at Strathfieldsaye, his home, he walked up and found the youngsters at tea. He glanced at the table and noticed that there was no jam there.

Without a word he rang the bell violently. A footman appeared and stood petrified.

"Have the goodness to understand," said the duke in a voice of thunder, "that when children are invited to my house to tea they are always to have jam!"

Then he departed, and before he was out of earshot a shout went up that must have reminded him of Waterloo.

A Pleasant Game.

A competition in picking up and carrying potatoes causes much merriment at a party. Have four rows, six in a row, of raw Irish potatoes. Four children are called out at a time and each assigned a row. The object is to pick up with a small silver spoon each apple of the Emerald Isle, and, walking the length of the room with it, to deposit it safely on a plate. A difficult matter, indeed! and great is the temptation in a crisis to give the potato a little shove with the finger or anything one may hold in the other hand. This, however, is not allowable. At the end of three minutes' "time" is called and the four contestants give place to four others, after the potatoes have been arranged again.

A Powerful Sermon

on Life Insurance by a New York Priest contained these words: "I would encourage every father of a family to insure his life and not have his widow, in case of misfortune, humiliated to the very earth by seeking charity." The Prudential protection is now enjoyed in thousands of American homes and your home should not be without it another day.

frustrated by the strikers, who kept scouts out all the evening. One "scab" was caught near the corner of Park and North avenues and quite roughly handled. His papers were destroyed. Another boy who was attempting to sell Worlds on Front street was also set upon and given a severe trouncing.

The boys say they are going to hold a mass-meeting some night this week to protest against the injustice that is being done them by the publishers of the World and Journal.

Upon the arrival of the 1:01 train this afternoon the strikers surrounded Tom Timbo at the North Avenue station and succeeded in confiscating a bundle of Worlds, which were spirited away by some of the gang.

Philip VanArsdale, local agent for The Journal, has notified that company not to send any more papers to him. P. P. VanArsdale, father of the young man, this morning was trying to secure a warrant for the arrest of the boys who destroyed the Journals taken from his son. As he could not tell who the boys were no warrant was issued. Young VanArsdale says he has not been notified by the Journal Company of any change in the price of that paper. In view of the attitude assumed by the boys he will discontinue to sell the Journals. If a package of Journals is sent to him, he says, he will refuse to claim them, leaving them at the station.

Tom Timbo, local agent for The World, told a Press reporter that he should not attempt to put boys on the street to sell that paper. He expresses sympathy for the newsboys.

FISH AND GAME LAWS.

Compilation Issued by State Commissioner With Synopsis of Prohibitions.

The State Board of Fish and Game Commissioners has issued for distribution copies of the fish and game laws compiled to date. These are accompanied by a table showing the open and close season for all kinds of game and fish, together with some hints for the guidance of sportsmen.

As compared with the mass of game legislation of former years the work of the latest Legislature in this direction seems unimportant. There was Senator Stokes' bill which afforded amusement for the upper House on many a dull night. The bill makes it unlawful to kill or have in possession any ring-necked pheasant or deer for the next three years.

There was also a bill empowering the Fish and Game Commissioners to issue permits to collectors of birds, their eggs and nests for scientific purposes only. The holder of such a permit must pay a dollar to cover the expenses of the permit and must furnish a bond of $200 to the State. The certificates are made out for one year, and may be renewed at the discretion of the Board.

Under the caption, "What is always unlawful," the Board says:

To take or to attempt to take any game except by the use of guns held at arm's length. Fine, $50.

To take or to attempt to take any fish in any manner, excepting with hook and line, excepting spearing of eels, suckers and carp, taking minnows for bait with a seine not more than twenty-five feet long, and taking eels with pots or baskets or weirs between the fifteenth of September and the first of November, and excepting also, but only as to the tributaries of the Delaware above Trenton falls and the streams flowing into such tributaries, the taking of catfish and eels with eel weirs and baskets and setlines between the fifteenth of August and the first of November. Fine, $50.

To have trapped game in possession. Fine, $20.

To hunt Sunday or carry firearms in the fields or woods Sunday. Fine, $20.

To pollute streams or use medicated bait or explosives of any kind for the taking of fish. Fine, $100 to $500.

To draw off waters to take fish. Fine from $25 to $250.

To use set lines in water inhabited by pickerel, bass, perch or trout. Fine, $25.

WALKERS WERE THERE

BIG FAMILY GATHERING HELD AT NEW MARKET.

Descendants of Runyon Walker, Nearly Fifty in Number, Met at the Home of S. R. Dayton—Those Present.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

New Market, July 25—Children, grandchildren, great-grandchildren and other relatives to the number of fifty, gathered around Runyon Walker Saturday afternoon and evening at the home of his son-in-law, S. R. Dayton, of this place. This family reunion was made an occasion of general rejoicing. Runyon Walker is one of the oldest citizens of Piscataway township and he is well-known through all this section. He is now ninety-two years of age and still quite hale and hearty. He has been making his home of late with his son-in-law, Former Freeholder Calvin Drake, of Stelton.

The afternoon was spent on the lawn, where the young people entertained with games of various kinds. A sumptuous dinner was served and then the festivities were continued in the evening.

The seven children of Mr. Walker were all present with their families. They were Mrs. John Ross, of Plainfield; Louis Walker, of Piscataway; Mrs. Calvin Drake, of Stelton; Mrs. S. R. Dayton, of New Market; Mrs. Isaac R. Giles, of Plainfield; Firman Walker, of Piscataway, and Mrs. W. J. Nelson, of New Market. There were nineteen grandchildren and three great-grandchildren present. There were a few who could not attend.

Among the other guests present were Mr. and Mrs. Isaac Runyon and Miss Laura Runyon, of Plainfield; Miss Ada Williams, of Berlin, N. Y.; Miss Minnie Wallace and William Hughes, of Tuckahoe, N. J., and Miss Thresa Runyon, of New Market.

PARTICULAR MENTION.

Miss Annie Kelley, of Woodhull & Martin's, is enjoying her vacation at the seashore.

Mrs. Horsley Barker has returned from a pleasant visit spent with relatives in Connecticut.

Miss Vanderpool, a pupil nurse at Muhlenberg Hospital, started today on her vacation which will be spent at Poughkeepsie.

E. C. Martin, of the firm of Woodhull & Martin, accompained by Mrs. Martin, is stopping at Kidders, on Caynga Lake, N, Y.

Announcement is made of the engagement of Miss Todd, a most estimable woman and a member of the family of William Pangborn, of Chatham street, and Benjamin R. Force, of East Front street. The wedding will take place in the fall.

How Whalebone is Secured.

A curious industry, at least to the uninitiated, is that pertaining to whalebone, from its original or crude form to that of its many applications, useful and artistic. Most of this article is landed at San Francisco and shipped Eastward to be distributed at the various centers. Before leaving the Pacific coast the bone is split, sorted according to color, and tied up in bundles: after splitting the pieces are termed "stalks" or slabs," are from three to twelve feet in length when ready for shipment, and weigh from five to twenty-five pounds each. When received by the manufacturer each slab is fringed with strong glossy black hair; this has a separate value of its own, and is used for certain furniture manufactures, and is also mixed with horse hair in brushes. On the hair being removed the slabs are scrubbed vigorously and then put to soak in water for about a week; when sufficiently softened they are subjected to the action of steam in strong receptacles of special design, being thus ready to be split into "shell" or "grain" bone, and finally cut into stays, whipstocks, etc.

Imitation Ivory.

Imitation ivory is now being extensively manufactured from the fruit of a palm-like shrub caled phytelephas macrocarpa, which is about the size of an apple and possesses a hard interior kernel. So close is the resemblance that it is sold for ivory, and can be colored and turned in a similar manner. A method of test consists in applying sulphuric acid, which does not affect in any way the genuine substance, but which, in a few minutes, causes a pink discoloration to appear on the vegetable imitation.

Curiosities of Lakes.

If lakes have no overflow to the sea the water always becomes salty, particularly if there is small rainfall and much evaporation. The Caspian sea is properly a salt lake. So is the Dead sea. There are several lakes of considerable size in Canada which have no visible inlets, being fed entirely from subterranean sources.

No Right to Ugliness.

The woman who is lovely in face, form and temper will always have friends, but one who would be attractive must keep her health. If she is weak, sickly and all run down, she will be nervous and irritable. If she has constipation or kidney trouble, her impure blood will cause pimples, blotches, skin eruptions and a wretched complexion. Electric Bitters is the best medicine in the world to regulate stomach, liver and kidneys and to purify the blood. It gives strong nerves, bright eyes, smooth, velvet skin, rich complexion. It will make a good-looking, charming woman of a run-down invalid. Only 50 cents at L. W. Randolph's Drug Store.

A WAKE-UP ROUTE.

The Vicissitudes of the Business and Why the Projector Gave It Up.

"In the course of my hustling," said a man who has done many things for a living, "I got up once in a Western town a wake-up route, waking up people that wanted to get up at some fixed hour in the morning. It was a lively town, with a lot of people in it that made a practice of sittting up nights, and who found it hard work to get up in the morning, and I had no trouble in getting subscribers. I had hard work in serving 'em all. My man had to move sharp to get around to 'em all in time. He couldn't stay and argue with a man that was stupid and sleepy. If he wouldn't get up after fair warning he had to let him go, and it was this that finally made trouble, because these men wanted to be waked up with a club, so to speak, if necessary, and while my man was punctuality itself and never failed to be there at the appointed hour and to wake the man up, yet he was a slight and rather delicate man and he couldn't enforce his demands, quite aside from the question of having time to stay. Some big burly chap would say to him:

"'You go way or I'll break you in two,' and what could my man do?

"But in the morning these folks would always be sorry they hadn't got up and I suppose that was natural enough, but they used to come to the office and kick because I hadn't got 'em up. They said they'd contracted to be got up and they wanted to be got up.

"Well, I stood this sort of nonsense for a while and then I imported a waker-up from the East, a powerful, up-to-date slugger, who could wake up anybody at any hour of the night, no matter how sound asleep he might be and keep him awake. I sent this man out one night with my little man for a pilot. It was like this:

"They'd go into the man's room, and the little fellow'd do the talking.

"'Come now,' he'd say, 'it's time to get up.'

"'You go 'way,' says the sleeper.

"'No,' says the little man, 'you want to get up right now, and if you don't I'm going to get you up.'

"And in a minute or less the big fellow would tackle him. He'd wake him up all right, and the sleeper realized in a minute every time what had happened. Then they'd go at it, right there; but my man was a hummer with a loud hum, and he cleaned out his man every time in short order. He licked fifteen subscribers that morning in an hour and forty minutes.

"But I knew that while we could lick 'em easy in detail, we couldn't begin to touch 'em in a bunch, and they were sure to come: and so along in the morning, before they'd got around, we moved out.

Four Lions Weigh a Ton.

"What does a lion weigh?" Those who know the look of the king of beasts best, and how small his little body really is, will probably come farthest from the truth. About 300 to 350 pounds is a usual estimate. But a full-grown lion will tip the scales at no less than 500 pounds. Five hundred and forty pounds is the record for an African Lion. His bone is solid and heavy as ivory.

The tiger runs the lion very close. A Bengal tiger, killed two years ago by an English officer, scaled 520 pounds. A tiger this size has, however, considerably more muscular strength than the biggest lion.

Few people know that a grizzly bear can give points to any other carniverous animal in point of strength. A grizzly bear, weighing just four hundredweight, has been watched carrying a heifer twothirds its own weight for two miles up the most steep and rugged mountain side, and this without pausing for one instant for rest.

The big white Polar bear, though not really so dangerous a customer, is capable of performing the most extraordinary feats of strength. A polar bear has been seen to move with his paws a bowlder six men had with difficulty put in position to guard a cache of provisions.

Machine Work and Hand Work.

There are many people now living who can remember when joiner work, including even flooring and ceiling, was nearly all planed by hand,—a laborious process that did not in most cases include thicknessing, and was consequently an inferior method, except perhaps as to finished surfaces; and even this exception is not to be made in comparison with the fixed knife planing machine employed in Europe and, more notably, with smoothing machines invented in the United States.

Measured by manual energy, which may be taken as 2,500 foot-pounds, or one-thirteenth of a horse power, for a strong man, it would take 130 men to equal the planing machine before named; but there is a difference in favor of the machine in the guidance and application of the cutting edges that justifies the ratios before named.

These comparisons convey an idea of the extraordinary economic results of machinery attained in the principal processes of wood-conversion. They seem incredible, but there are no longer means of comparing, because values are now adjusted to the machine product alone, and hand-work no longer exists.—The Engineering Magazine.

The Costliest Bean on Earth.

It is not generally known that the vanilla bean is the costliest bean on earth. It grows wild and is gathered by the natives in Papantla and Misantla, Mexico. When brought from the forests these beans are sold at the rate of £2 5s per 1,000, but when dried and cured they cost about £2 5s per pound. They are mainly used by druggists, and last year over 90,500,000 beans were imported into this country.

Nails Never Grow Equally.

The nails of two fingers never grow with the same degree of rapidity. The nail of the middle finger grows with the greatest rapidity, and that of the thumb least. It has been computed that the average growth of the finger nail is one thirty-second of an inch per week, or a little more than an inch and a half per year.

AUNT SARAH GREEN'S KINDNESS RESENTED.

Her Attempt to Point Out Jane Vail's Error

LEADS TO A BIG ROW.

'TWAS ALL OVER HANDSOME OSCAR NELSON,

Who the Good Woman Said Was Violating His Marriage Vows—The Women Punched and Pulled Hair and Finally Landed in Justice Mosher's Court—Willie Sweeny, the Boy Lawyer, Defends Sarah.

As they say down in Texas, there was a "three minute rough-house" at the home of Jane Vail on West Fourth street last Wednesday night. It was all owing to the interference in family matters of one Sarah Green, familiarly known as Aunt Sarah. Now Aunt Sarah is hardly "fare, fat and forty." She is fully sixty years of age and will never capture a prize at a beauty show.

However, she is possessed of a kindly spirit which she attempts to exercise to good advantage by keeping a motherly watch over her neighbors. Jane Vail is a neighbor and lives neary opposite Sarah. Jane is a prepossessing, young married woman and is said to have many admirers among the social set in which she moves. Both women are of African extraction. Now good natured Aunt Sarah, bless her dear soul, has long had suspicions that Jane was receiving the attentions of one Oscar Nelson, a sprightly young chap with a musical voice.

Oscar's surreptitious visits to Jane so nettled Aunt Sarah's sense of propriety that she resolved to offer Jane a little friendly advice. And this was the object of her visit to Jane last Wednesday evening.

From what developed it is apparent that Jane rather resented Aunt Sarah's kind offices, and in good and plain English handed her some talk about minding her own affairs and ending with a forcible invitation for her to "clar out."

Aunt Sarah did not propose to "clar out" until she had "tole Miss Jane dat she mus' be 'shamed of herself to have anyt'ing to do wid dat ar' Oscar, who wan't no good no how!"

A quarrel followed this sally, which resulted in Aunt Sarah being ordered from the house. The peremptory order was not obeyed as quickly as Mrs. Vail desired, and she attempted to force matters by pushing Aunt Sarah from the room. The latter picked up a clothes stick and backing into a corner defied her erring friend to come on.

Jane needed no second invitation. In a jiffy the good Aunt Sarah and the wicked Jane were clasped in mortal combat. For a moment there was a wild cat time. The womem clawed, scratched and pounded each other. My, how the wool did fly. Jane being the younger, soon had Aunt Sarah winded and succeeded in forcibly ejecting her one time friend from the house.

Aunt Sarah nursed her injured feelings for several days. Finally, upon advice of friends, she decided to invoke the aid of the law. Securing counsel from Willie Sweeney, the boy lawyer, she made up her mind to have Jane arrested. A summons was secured of Justice Mosher. The hearing was had last Monday evening.

Jane had been advised to secure the services of Lawyer Kirch, but she told her friends that "it was all damn foolishness. I don't want no lawyer. If a lady can't have a friend come to see her without being insulted in her own house den I just want's to know why."

Constable Gjettleson was given the summons to serve. When all parties reached the office of Justice Mosher, Lawyer Willie Sweeney was on hand clad in a clean shirt and wearing one of his characteristic smiles. The boy lawyer also had a table filled with law books. When Jane was served with the summons she very adroitly enlisted the sympathies of two of her lady friends, who by the way had seen nothing of the row, to swear Aunt Sarah out of court, as she afterwards expressed it. She would certainly have put her threat into execution but for the astuteness of Lawyer Willie, who succeeded in drawing from her the fact that she had grabbed her antagonist by the hair and given her a couple of punches. Thereupon Justice Mosher decided that Jane had been guilty of an assault. However, in view of the motherly interest she had displayed toward the erring Jane he decided not to punish her but would bind her over to keep the peace. Aunt Sarah Green and Jane Vail do not speak as they pass by now. The good old auntie, though, has been extolling the noble efforts made by her counsel in her behalf. Lawyer Sweeney has indeed paved the way for numerous clients on West Fourth street.

BOY IN TEENS A SUICIDE.

DRANK TWO OUNCES OF CARBOLIC ACID YESTERDAY.

Thomas Cattano, Tired of Life, Took the Poison in His Brother's Woodshed at Cranford—Died in Short Order.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Cranford, July 26.—Thomas Cattano, aged 19 years, committed suicide at his brother's residence on North avenue yesterday afternoon by drinking two ounces of carbolic acid.

Cattano went into a wood shed at the rear of Joseph Cattano's store and locking himself in drank the contents of the bottle. His sister-in-law heard his cries of pain and went to the shed, broke open the door and found Cattanto laying on the floor frothing at the mouth. Dr. J. A. Vail was called but too late to save the young man's life.

Thomas Cattanto was a single man and the son of Andrew Cattano a well-to-do Italian of Brooklyn who set many of his sons up in business. Young Cattano was the proprietor of a shoe store at Roselle.

TWO ROUTES SUBMITTED.

APPLICATION FOR TROLLEY FRANCHISES IN WESTFIELD.

Connecting Lines of the Elizabeth and Westfield Street Railway Company and the Plainfield Trolley System.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Westfield, July 26—At a meeting of the Township Committee held last evening Col. E. W. Hine, secretary of the Westfield and Elizabeth Street Railway Company, appeared and made application for a trolley franchise through Prospect street and Brightwood avenue to the Fanwood township line. He also at the same time made application for a franchise on Elm street to Dudley avenue, through Dudley avenue to prospect street, and thence to Brightwood avenue and to the township line.

Col. Hine stated that the company was compelled to ask for one of these routes as it had been found that the Board of Freeholders controlled North avenue, over which the company now has a franchise, so that they were unable to build that avenue. The company would rather have the line on Prospect street, as it would be a more direct line, and he said that a majority of consents on that street had been granted. He further stated that the company could not build on Dudley avenue as the property owners objected.

After considering the application for sometime the committee sojourned until Friday evening, Aug. 11th, when the application will be given a public hearing in the township rooms on North avenue.

POINTS OF BEAUTY.

Characteristics for Which Women Should Always Strive.

Well-shaped hands and feet have always been regarded as distinctive marks of beauty. While one is not responsible for the size of their feet, they should be neatly dressed. A woman who is well-gloved and well-shod always makes a good appearance, even if the rest of her dress be somewhat shabby. Neat and shapely-dressed feet gives tone to the toilet, but feet with corns and bunions and bow-windows in the shoes, where the bunions protrude will ruin any costume and detract from the impression of beauty which a woman should make upon the eye of the beholder.

To get rid of corns and bunions and have the enlarged great toe joints made small, consult Specialist Brown, 145 West Second street. He has permanently cured the feet of others. Why not you? Geo. F. Brown, tax collector, office Somerset street, home 87 Grove street, says: "For several years corns and bunions gave me a great deal of trouble. Nothing or nobody gave me any relief until my feet were perfectly cured by Specialist Brown." Mrs. B. A. Wagner, of West Front street, says: "About six years ago Mr. Brown permanently cured my bunions and made my enlarged great toe joints small. My feet have not troubled me since. He also completely cured my mother's ingrowing toe nails and corns."

THROUGH TROLLEY REACHES WESTFIELD.

Plenty of Rails Have Just Been Received.

RAPID PROGRESS NOTED

NOTHING DONE YET AT THE END OF SCOTCH PLAINS LINE.

Owing to Delay in Settling on Route Between Scotch Plains and Westfield, No Move Has Been Made There Yet—One Track Completed From Roselle to Westfield at Present.

The trolley line between Plainfield and Elizabeth, which was fathered by the Riker syndicate, is progressing. In another month it is expected that cars will be running from Plainfield to the Roselle borough line and perhaps even farther. The scarcity of rails, which made trouble and delayed the construction of the road, is now over. A shipment of fifteen cars of rails has just been received here and others have been received at Westfield.

The double track has been laid from the Roselle borough line to Garwood. From that point one track has been laid to the schoolhouse at Westfield. The other track will now be laid. The work at the Scotch Plains end of the line has not yet been resumed. There will be no activity there until the route that the line is to take to reach Westfield is fully decided on. When the route of the line is chosen and the necessary franchises secured, then the work of construction will be started at both ends of the gap, and it will not take long to close it.

It is the intention of the company to buy power at Plainfield and Elizabeth to run the cars. No announcement has yet been made of the plans of the company regarding the beginning of travel on the road. No cars will probably be run until the line through to Plainfield has been opened up. That, unless some serious obstacle is encountered, will take place inside of two months. The greatest delay will be in the time necessary to secure the franchise.

HELD VALENTINE'S NOTES.

Queer Financiering in the Wrecked Institution.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

New Brunswick, July 26.—The discovery was made yesterday that the wrecked Middlesex County Bank, at Perth Amboy, had among its assets notes of Cashier George M. Valentine amounting to $11,357.50, with absolutely no security whatever. In addition to this the bank holds notes of Hugh Ramsay for $43,000. A note for $15,000 of Valentine's indorsed by Robert M. Valentine, is another asset, and also notes of Robert Lyall for $13,850, with Bay State Gas stock and other stocks of like value as collateral. In all the bank has a total of $145,381 in notes.

The fact that these notes were a part of the assets of the bank was not discovered by the Deputy Banking Commissioner in the superficial examination which he made into the affairs of the bank, and has decided its doors must be closed. When temporary receiver James McGuire made a more extensive examination the existence of these notes were discovered.

Paterson Railways Secured.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Paterson, July 26.—The transfers of the Paterson Railway Company's lines to the Shanley syndicate, which controls almost all the street railways in northern New Jersey, was accomplished yesterday, when the syndicate secured a controlling interest in the stock. The former stockholders are well pleased with the price paid for their stock, which was par. The syndicate has long been desirous of securing those lines, and to this end negotiations have been pending for several months. The hitch in the negotiations was over the price offered for the stock.

Mr. Runkle All Right.

H. G. Runkle, of West Eighth street, was in New York yesterday where he learned of the reported injury of his son, Daniel, by being thrown from a horse at Plattsburg, N. Y., where he is spending the summer. He telegraphed at once to Mrs. Runkle and received an answer saying that she had heard nothing of any such accident and their son Daniel was in perfectly good health.

Weather Prevented Their Going.

The Christian Endeavorers of the Congregational church did not go to the Fresh Air Camp at Westfield last evening as they expected. The weather was altogether too uncertain for wheeling and the run was given up until some future date.

BOLD BOY STRIKERS.

MAKE LIFE MISERABLE FOR NEWSDEALERS AND "SCABS"

"Yellow-Kid" Vardon, the Leader, Gets "Sassy" and Falls Into the Hands of Acting Chief Kiely—Released by Mayor.

The boycott against the New York World and Journal continues to occupy the attentien of the newsboys. They still manifest an interest in the "scabs" who have the temerity to attempt to thwart their efforts to suppress the sale of the obnoxious sheets. The evening editions of the World and Journal were smuggled into town yesterday on early afternoon trains. Any attempt, however, to sell those papers by "scab" newsboys met with disapproval on the part of the strikers that will not soon be forgotten by the boys who came in contact with them.

Towards evening the strikers, realizing that the police were not as severe with them as they might have been, grew bold. Their bravado finally increased to downright impudence. Not content with confining their efforts towards the suppression of the sale of the papers in question, the boys began to assail business men who had purchased those papers and attempted to take papers away from them.

In some instances they succeeded, principally because the men did not care to make any resistance. In one case, however, the boys ran against a snag. One gentleman, believing that he had been imposed upon, made complaint to Mayor Rockfellow. The latter notified Acting Chief Kieley and that officer went after the gang.

At the corner of Park and North avenues the officer ran across "Yellow-kid" Vardon, the leader of the strikers, and gathered him in. He was taken before the Mayor, who gave him a severe reprimand. Upon obtaining a promise from the obstreperous newsboy that he would confine his maledictions to newsboys and not interfere with the rights of citizens he was allowed to go. This movement of the Mayor seemed to check the spirit of the gang somewhat and they were comparatively quiet the balance of the evening.

Between the showers of last evening, the newsboys held a council of war which resulted in the formal organization of the Amalgamated Order of News Boys. An election of officers was held which resulted in the selection of John Varden, alias "The Yellow Kid," alias "Chicken Breast Harry," as Grand Master Workboy of the order. Clarence Angleman, alias "Shoe leather Mike," and William Hall, alias "Pale-face," were chosen as his assistants.

The newsboys held a meeting in rooms on the third story of the First National Bank building at 4:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon. Justice Mosher granted permission for the boys to use a vacant room near his office. There was also present at this meeting C. J. Sheridan, a representative of the Herald and Telegram, who told the boys that arrangements had been made with Tom Carty to become an agent of the Telegram and that the price for the papers to the boys would be one-half cent a copy. This state ment was received with shouts of approval by the strikers.

"Gimpy" Ayers, "Chicken-breast" Weber and "Gee Wah," the scrapper of the newsboys, attempted to make speeches, but their efforts were shouted down by the enthusiasm of the others. Before the meeting adjourned Willie Sweeney, the boy lawyer, who had used his influence with the janitor of the building to allow the boys to occupy the room, took up a collection.

Sweeney got 27 cents, five of which he spent to buy Justice Mosher a cigar to pacify him for the noise made by the gang.

The strikers received 400 Telegrams on the 7:05 train and sold nearly all of them.

Blanchard Fostgate last evening prefered charges against Roundsman Frederickson to the Mayor. He alleged that the Roundsman had neglected to arrest a boy who had snatched a World from him while he was reading it on the North Avenue station. As the Roundsman did not see the boy commit any overt act he refused to make the arrest.

Young Willie Sweeney got mixed up with the strikers at the North Aveuue station. When ordered away from that part of the platform used by the Untied States Express Company he got into trouble with William H. Hartpence, an employe of the express company, and was jostled out of the way.

TWO EGG-PLANTS GET LEWIS IN JAIL.

There Was Much Ado Over a Very Small Matter.

VEGETABLES WORTH 40 CTS.

"JUMBO" LEWIS MUST ANSWER TO THE GRAND JURY.

He Took the Vegetables From the Garden of Charles McCutchen, of Rockview Avenue—Senator Reed Acted for the Prosecution and Councilman S. S. Swackhamer for the Defendant.

Middlesex county justice is not in it for a minute with Somerset county. In the former county if a man misappropriates several hundred thousand dollars he gets six years, with two off for good behavior, while in Somerset county if a man steals two egg-plants he is held for the Grand Jury in default of bail, and the prosecution says that he should be sentenced twice a year and given six months each time.

It was a great trial that took place yesterday afternoon in the borough court room when "Jumbo" Lewis, colored, a man of much reputation and small means, was on trial charged with stealing two egg-plants at 5:35 o'clock the morning of July 20th. The value of the plants was 20 cents each, and they were taken from the garden of Charles W. McCutchen, of Rockview avenue.

Residents of Washington Park have been troubled greatly by having their gardens devastated and it was thought about time a stop was put to the stealing. An opportunity offered itself and on the morning of July 20th, a colored man was seen coming from Mr. McCutchen's premises by Charles L. Smith, an employe of Mr. McCutchen. He overtook the man, who carried a pail, and demanded that he give him what he had in the pail. The man immediately gave up two egg-plants and Mr. Smith at once had a warrant issued for the arrest of Lewis, He was arrested and appeared yesterday for trial before Recorder Long. He was represented by Councilman Swackhamer, while Senator Reed represented the State.

Before the trial was fully under way counsel for the defendant had the original complaint quashed on the grounds that it did not fully set forth the crime, that it was not a case for the Mayor and Council to try, but a State case, that no value was placed on the stolen goods, thereby not determining whether it was petty or grand larceny.

In view of this a new warrant was issued at once and a new complaint made clearly setting forth the objectionable features of the original. The case was then tried.

The complaint set forth that Lewis did feloniously steal two egg plants valued at 20 cents each from the premises of C. W. McCutchen the morning of July 20th at 5:35 o'clock, according to the evidence of the plaintiff who claims he took out his watch and noted the time.

Counsel for the defendant argued that the prosecution had not proven the identity of the defendant. The plaintiff testified that he had never seen Lewis but once and then did not know his name. Mr. Swackhamer also argued that it was not Lewis that took the plants, that he was not within a quarter of mile of the place from which they were taken. He produced the pail in court that was supposed to have held the plants, but the plaintiff failed to identify the pail as the one he saw on the morning in question.

The defendent was put on the stand and stated that he arose that morning exactly at 5:30 o'clock according to a clock that strikes every half hour, and which was produced in court as evidence, and that it was a physical impossibility for him to reach Mr. McCutchen's place in five minutes. He stated that he went to Eighth street after swill and did not steal any plants.

Recorder Long finally held Lewis for the Grand Jury, and he was taken to Somerville this morning. It is quite likely that the case will be appealed to the Court of Quarter Sessions on an allegation instead of an indictment, which can be brought up any Wednesday

THE SANCTUM DESERTED.

EDITOR OF THE BERNARDSVILLE STAR HAS DISAPPEARED.

Left Many Creditors and a Wife Who Has Returned to Her Parents—Was An Athlete as Well as Pen Pusher.

A man who called himself Daniel C. Johnson started the Bernardsville Star, at Bernardsville, Somerset county, six weeks ago. Prior to going to Bernardsville he had resided in Morristown for sixteen months, and when he started his newspaper he secured a liberal line of advertising from Morristown merchants. He collected for his advertising and subscriptions in advance. Last week he left Bernardsville for parts unknown and The Star has ceased to twinkle.

Just after his appearance in Morristown Johnson announced that he was from Ashtabula, O., and a crack bicycle rider. A local dealer engaged him to ride on a home trainer in the window of his establishment. Johnson's muscular development, attired in beautiful flesh-colored tights, was the admiration of the passersby. Among the admirers was Miss Lillian May Ridner. They were married shortly afterward and she accompanied him to Bernardsville.

She has returned to the home of her perents at Ledgewood, N. J., and resumed her maiden name.

TO CONTROL MILK SUPPLY

IMPORTANT ORDINANCE TO BE INTRODUCED IN COUNCIL

No Local Law Now That Allows Heath Board to Inspect Product of Milkmen When it is Thought Advisable

At an early date a new ordinance will be introduced in the Common Council for the benefit of the Board of Health and which will protect every person in the city that uses milk. At present the local Board of Health has no jurisdiction over the local milkmen and it has no right to deputize the health inspector to investigate their dairies unless a complaint is made.

This new ordinance will give that power and will insure to everyone purity of this necessity in life. It is claimed that the milk inspector makes his rounds in a perfunctory manner, and the office being appointive, the best results are not always obtained. It is also reported by some people that politics figure in the department and what the people are really entitled to they fail to receive. If the new ordinance is adopted, and there is good prospect that it will, there will be less likelihood of an outbreak of a contagious disease in this city from that source. Milkmen are often apt to be careless in handling milk, and some fail to realize that there is nothing that will carry germs of disease so easily or quickly as milk, hence the necessity for the greatest care in the handling of it.

If the local dealers know that the Board of Health has the power to inspect their dairies and their milk they are sure to be more particular in their business. Such an ordinance that is proposed will be of great benefit to this city.

NEW CLUB TO BE FORMED.

Defunct Cranford Athletic Club to Be Succeeded By Swell Affair.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Cranford, July 26—The goods and chattels of the once prosperous Cranford Athletic Club were sold by Constable Oliver Conlon, of Elizabeth, at the clubhouse yesterday afternoon to satisfy Mrs. Margaret R. Thompson's rent bill of $230. The sale realized about $210. No effort was made on the part of the club members or directors to redeem the goods. The good will of the club was sold for 50 cents. The baseball suits and paraphernalia were released and made a present to the Cranford Baseball Club. It is said that a new club will soon be started and take possession of the clubhouse. The club will also have a golf grounds of 50 acres, and the club will be metropolitan in every respect.

Boating Carnival Planned.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Cranford, July 26.—The carnival committee of the Cranford Boating Association met Monday evening at the Electric Club's rooms and made further arrangements for the carnival to be held on the Rahway River on August 19 Prizes will be awarded for the best decorated boats and lawns. Two hundred dollars has been subscribed for the carnival. Commodore G. Harvey Miller was authorized to employ two bands to furnished music for that eventful night.

Confirmation at Grace Church.

Bishop Scarborough paid a visit to Grace Episcopal church last evening and confirmed a class of three men and one woman. Rev. Dr. Rodman assisted the Bishop with the services.

SHERIFF REFUSES TO HONOR REQUISITION.

Trouble About Getting Custody of Darling

SHERIFF DEMANDS $275.

NO WORD TODAY AS TO WHAT THE RESULT IS.

Chief Grant and Detective Ferguson Balked in Their Efforts to Bring the Prisoner to New Jersey—Backwoods Official Holds the Murderer on His Demand for a Sum of Money.

An unlooked for complication has developed in the proceedings to extradite William Darling, wanted in Middlesex county for the murder of Harry Dunham, in New Market, in 1895. The Sheriff of the backwoods Pennsylvania county where Darling was arrested and where he is now in jail has refused to surrender the prisoner unless paid $275 in cash.

That is all that is known of the Sheriff's demand, and Prosecutor Voorhees is at a loss to know upon what the Sheriff bases his demand.

Chief of Police Grant, of Plainfield, and Detective Ferguson, attached to the Prosecutor's office, left for McConnellsburg, the county seat of Fulton county, Pa., Monday to get the prisoner. Governor Voorhees had signed the requisition for the prisoner, and Governor Stone, of Pennsylvania signed the papers Monday, the New Jersey officials stopping at the capital on their way to McConnelsburg.

It was expected that the prisoner would be surrendered at once, and that the detectives and their prisoner would reach New Brunswick this afternoon or evening.

Yesterday morning Prosecutor Voorhees received a telegram from Detective Ferguson, stating that Sheriff Sheets, of Fulton county, refused to surrender the prisoner, although confronted with the requisition. He refused to honor the requisition or give up the prisoner unless paid $275 cash.

The detective asked for instructions.

Prosecutor Voorhees at once notified Governor Voorhees, of this State, and Governor Stone, of Pennsylvania, of the remarkable course taken by the Pennsylvania Sheriff, and asked Governor Voorhees to take steps to compel the honoring of the requisition.

The only tenable theory to account for the Sheriff's demand is that it is for expenses incurred in making the arrest. Even so, it is hard to imagine how so large an expense bill was incurred. Of course, the county of Middlesex will have to pay all expenses connected with the arrest of Darling, but the Sheriff of Fulton county has no right to collect the bill in the way he seems to have taken. He had no course but to honor the requisition. In refusing to honor it he has made himself liable to impeachment, and this course may be taken.

When the Fulton county authorities were first notified that Darling was wanted they moved with the most provoking slowness. They believed that there was a reward for his arrest and were afraid they would not get it. When finally convinced that there was no reward they took their time about arresting the man.

Governor Stone issued a requisition at Harrisburg for Wm. Darling, who is wanted here for the murder of Harry Dunham.

Word from New Brunswick this afternoon states that Prosecutor Vorhees has received no information as to what success his officers are having in getting custody of Darling. It was expected that a telegram would be received this morning announcing the situation today, but none has been received.

There are two persons who saw William Darling shoot Harry Dunham at Dentz's Hotel, New Market, August 21st, 1895. One is Edward Mitchell, colored, who is now a waiter in a New York hotel, and the other is Lisbon Pierson, also colored, who now lives at New Market and works the Vail farm. They were both in the pool-room where the shooting occurred, and will prove valuable witness for the prosecution.

Edward Randolph, of New Market, was also present at the hotel but he died in the summer of 1897, while Peter Campbell, colored, another one present at the time, was killed on the Central Railroad at White House during the winter of 1897-8.

Robert Leo Perrine, colored, now dead, and Theo. Roantreet, walked into the hotel for a drink after Darling fired the first shot. The report startled Mrs. Dantz and her bartender, Wm. Kohn, both of whom were in the din-

TROOPS ANGER STRIKERS

Rioting in Cleveland Continues in Spite of Arrival of Reenforcements.

THE MAYOR IS CENSURED

All Hope of Settling the Trouble by Arbitration Has Apparently Been Abandoned.

Citizens Living in a State of Terror—Orders are Issued to Use Guns and Bayonets—The City Still Ruled by Mobs — More Attempts Made to Blow Up Cars.

Cleveland, July 26.—Four Columbus militia companies, together with the military organizations from Newark and Chillicothe, 600 strong, have arrived here to reinforce the soldiers already on guard to preserve peace during the street-car strike.

They were under the command of Capt. James L. Walsh, although Adjt.-Gen. H. A. Axline was on board. Upon his arrival here he held a conference with Mayor Farley and the latter's cabinet in regard to the situation. He will exercise command over all the troops at present in the city.

The newcomers were marched to Central Armory, where they established headquarters. Their presence is very distasteful to the strikers, and Mayor Farley is censured by them for calling the additional troops.

The latter reiterates the statement that he will keep the city free from rioting and violence if it takes every soldier in the State to do it.

Mobs still rule the city. Although one thousand troops in addition to the regular force patrol the streets rioting is still going on, and the very heart of the town in unsafe. All along the lines of the Big Consolidated Railway Company disorder reigns. Stones, pistols and clubs are the weapons. The result is that citizens are in a state of terror. Cars are running, but carry few passengers. In some districts they pass through a line of missiles.

All hopes of settling the differences by arbitration have apparently passed. The railway officials say they will have nothing further to do with the men. Force, they declare, and only force, will now settle the strike.

Capt. Zimmerman has issued orders to his men to use their judgment about shooting, and when in tight places not to hesitate a moment about using gun or bayonet.

The strikers, in a daily bulletin called the Cleveland Artisian, accuse the railway officials of having committed the dynamite outrage of Sunday night on their own car for the purpose of casting odium upon the strikers' cause and to force the authorities to call out more soldiers.

The third attempt to blow up a car was made on Pearl street near Brooklyn Bridge. The car was ruined beyond repair and the motorman and conductor badly bruised.

Nitro-glycerine was used on a Cleveland, Painesville and Eastern suburban car with the result that a number of the passengers were injured.

There was an explosion at Prospect street and Sterling avenue, but no one was injured. At half a dozen different places in the city dynamite cartridges were found on the tracks, placed there evidently to frighten passengers.

Battery A, with eight gatling guns, is still on duty guarding the most dangerous sections.

The Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen are talking of going on strike in sympathy with the street railway strikers.

Patrick Flaherty, 24 years old, was in a crowd at Woodland and Wilson avenues when the militia ordered the men to move on. They did not move as rapidly as the soldiers wanted them to and Flaherty was struck by a bayonet. He was taken in a buggy to the hospital.

The Strike in Cincinnati.

Cincinnati, July 26.—The strike of messenger boys that began last Saturday has reached a very serious stage. Hoodlums and idlers surround the telegraph and district offices and intercept the new messengers in different parts of the city.

The messengers are sent out in cabs, with a policeman accompanying each driver, but stones and missiles are thrown at the vehicles. Many of the messengers have been seriously hurt. Two have been stabbed, several hurt by missiles and many badly beaten.

The newsboys have joined the strike. Great mobs of hoodlums surrounded the newspaper offices and refused to let the boys go out with papers. The papers are torn up and destroyed as fast as they are turned over to the new boys.

Chattanooga Fears Strike.

Chattanooga, Tenn., July 26.—The Chattanooga Electric Street Railway Company has discharged five employes for being members of an employes' union which is forming here. All the labor organizations have taken the matter up and a strike is expected, when the lines will probably be at a standstill.

Negro Blows Up House.

Texarkana, Ark., July 26.—The home of Colonel Hooks, a prominent citizen of Hooks, Texas, a station ten miles west of here, was blown up by dynamite and Colonel Hooks was instantly killed. The crime is believed to have been committed by a negro named Will Jackson. A week ago Jackson blew up a house at Clarksville, Texas, and made his escape.

The dynamiting at Hooks was done by a negro answering to his description. Posses are searching for Jackson.

Bank of Spain Finances.

Madrid, July 26.—The Bank of Spain will be authorized to raise its circulation to 2,500,000,000 pesetas. Loans to the Treasury will be made at 2½ per cent., and private loans at 5 per cent.

THE LAST SAD FAREWELL

Simple Services Over the Remain of Colonel Ingersoll.

Dobbs Ferry, N. Y., July 26.—Because of the uncontrollable grief of Colonel Robert G. Ingersoll's widow and daughters, the incineration of the body has been postponed. The three women absolutely refuse to give up the body, and unless they become more reconciled it may be necessary to again postpone the disposition of the body They are frantic with grief.

Many persons, mostly old friends or those who had been intimately associated with Colonel Ingersoll in some way, called at the house and were permitted to view the body.

These persons included several colored men and women who had been in Mr. Ingersoll's service at Washington, and elsewhere. The visitors were also from Syracuse, Chicago and Buffalo.

The face of the dead orator was photographed for the last time as it lay in the room surrounded by flowers. A good side view of the face was obtained.

The simple funeral services outlined by the family were strictly private and held at the Castle, Dobbs Ferry, the country residence where Colonel Ingersoll died.

There was no music, as the family felt that they could not bear the sound of the airs which the dead man loved so well, and for that reason the musical feature of the programme was abandoned.

The family and friends gathered around the body in a front room on the second floor of the house where they have been since death came on Friday, and there were readings from the written and spoken utterances of Colonel Ingersoll by his two old friends, Professor John Clark Ridpath and Major Orlando B. Smith. Professor Ridpath, who knew Colonel Ingersoll in the West a number of years ago, read several appropriate selections from Colonel Ingersoll's writings, including "The Declaration of the Free."

Major Smith, of Dobbs Ferry, read the eloquent eulogy which Colonel Ingersoll delivered at the grave of his own brother, to whom he was warmly devoted, a number of years ago.

During the funeral service the body of Colonel Ingersoll laid on the couch beneath folds of linen, and there was no attempt at floral display.

To Promote Household Science.

Albany, July 26.—Jean T. Milholland, Mary Moore, Tilton and Helen Kinne, of New York City; Annie Dewey, Mrs. Melvil Dewey, of Albany; Caroline E. Jenkins, of Newburg, and Linda Hull Larned, of Syracuse, are the directors of the New York State Household Economic Association of New York City, which has been incorporated with the Secretary of State.

The objects of the association will be to awaken the public mind to the importance of establishing bureaus of information for employer and employed in every department of home and social life and to promote scientific knowledge of the care of children and of foods, fuel and clothing.

Relief For Suffering Miners.

Washington, July 26.—Constant relief has probably reached the Copper River miners by this time. The War Department is in receipt of a brief report from Captain Abercrombie, commanding the Copper River Exploring Expedition, announcing that two pack trains and a small herd of cattle passed over the trans-Alaskan military road into the Copper River Valley, en route to the Forty Mile Country. This report was dated at Port Valdez, Alaska, on July 10.

Slain by Yaqui Indians.

Los Angeles, Cal., July 26.—Juan E. Ybarri, of Mexico, who is in this city, has received a telegram from Guaymas, Mex., stating that Carlos Hale, son of the late American Consul at that point, had been murdered by the Yaqui Indians. The further information is given that the warlike Yaquis again are in a state of revolt and that they have plundered the haciendas in the State of Sonora.

Shortage is Revealed.

Indianapolis, Ind., July 26.—John B. Wikoff, formerly Postmaster of Rainsville, who resigned his office some time ago, has been placed under arrest, examination of his accounts revealing a shortage of $320.43. He will have an examination before a Commissioner at Lefayette. Wikoff admits his wrongdoings, claiming he "started in wrong."

Big European Contracts.

Alliance, Ohio, July 26.—The Morgan Engineering Company, of this city, has just received two large contracts for electric traveling cranes, one from Russia, the other from Denmark. Negotiations are also in progress looking to the securing of extensive machinery contracts from other European countries.

Winter Wheat in France.

Paris, July 26.—Official reports show that the condition of winter wheat is very good in nine departments of France, good in sixty-seven, fair in eight, and bad in one department. The spring wheat is very good in four departments, good in thirty and fair in thirteen.

Funeral of Czarowitz.

St. Petersburg, July 26.—The funeral of the Czarowitz took place here to-day. A wreath of flowers, sent by the French Government, and a silver wreath, from President Loubet, of France, were laid on the coffin of the dead Prince.

A Purely Norwegian Flag.

Christiania, July 26.—It is stated that the Government has decided to proclaim a law introducing a purely Norwegian flag for Consulates. The fact will be notified to the powers through the Sweden-Norwegian Foreign Minister.

Cape Town Hears Definitely.

Cape Town, July 26.—Advices have been received here confirming the report that President Kruger, of the South African Republic, has resigned.

Russo-Japanse War Talk.

Paris, July 26.—The Politique Coloniale states that Russia and Japan are arming with a view to possible conflict in Corea.

THE CUBANS TALK FIERY

They Call on United States For a Plain Declaration of Intentions.

PUBLIC MEETING HELD

The Recently Appointed Cuban Census Commissioners Are Very Harshly Criticised.

Committee Appointed to Present a Memorial to the Authorities at Washington—Is Composed of Men Antagonistic to Everything Done By the Americans.

Havana, July 26.—A recent meeting of Veterans of the Cuban War of Independence, is causing considerable comment. Mayia Rodriguez presided, and the organization declared itself to be the only legal representation of the Cuban revolution. A resolution was adopted demanding that the United States make formal declaration of its intentions.

The Cuban Census Commissioners recently appointed were criticised, speakers saying that they were nonentities and unknown men, in whose work the public would have no confidence, and that a census so taken would be unacceptable to the Cubans. Gen. Andrade said the United States was fast sucking Cuba dry.

Gualberto Gomez said if President McKinley would not consider an appeal favorable to the Cubans they knew what steps to take to rid the island of the heel of foreign imposition.

Messrs. Collazo, Gualberto Gomez, Cisneros and Andrade were appointed a committee to present a memorial to the authorities at Washington. This committee is composed of men antagonistic to everything done by the Americans here, and who never fail to utter and print inflammatory remarks whenever the opportunity offers regarding Cubans holding office under the United States, alleging that these office-holders do not represent anybody but a few fire-eaters who have been now appointed to represent the Cuban veterans.

The action of the meeting is regarded as confirming the belief that manifestos recently issued had behind them the support of a number of Cuban officers.

Croker Denies Turf Losses.

penses of his string of horses. The reports that he had made and lost big wagers, he asserted, were without foundation. It is understood by the friends of the Tammany leader that he will sail for New York on Saturday next.

Bunching Machines Seized.

Lancaster, Penn., July 26.—United States Marshal Reilly of Philadelphia has seized the 320 bunching machines found in Counterfeiter William M. Jacobs's cigar factory here. The secret Service agents raided the factory last April for property belonging to the counterfeiters, whose operations were widespread. The machines were not sold at the time of the sale of Jacobs's effects, as they were claimed by the J. R. Williams Company of New York but they are now seized by the Government under the provisions of Section 34, United States Revised Statutes.

Gans Defeats Dobbs.

Ocean City, Md., July 26.—Joe Gans beat Jack Dobbs, of Boston, in less than four rounds here. Gans had agreed to forfeit the winner's share if Dobbs remained on his feet for ten rounds. Dobbs was beaten so thoroughly in the fourth round that when he reeled toward his corner his seconds threw up the sponge. Gans appeared in fine shape, showing much cleverness.

Wounds Proved Fatal.

PROVISIONAL GOVERNMENT

That is What General Otis Has Proclaimed in the Island of Negros.

NEXT IS FREE SCHOOLS

The New Government to Be Under the Direction of Military Governor and a Council.

Bacolod to be the Capital—Municipal Governments to be Organized at as Early a Date as Possible—Military Governor to Have Power to Veto Legislation.

Manila, July 26.—Pending Congressional action concerning the constitution under which the inhabitants of the Island of Negros shall be governed, and which has been submitted to President McKinley, General Otis has proclaimed a provisional government under the direction of a Military Governor, to be named by the Governor of the Philippines, with a Civil Governor and Advisory Council, to be elected.

The Military Governor will appoint Secretaries of the Treasury, Interior, Agriculture and Public Instruction, and an Attorney General and Auditor.

Bacolod will be the capital. The Civil Governor will advise the Military Governor concerning public questions of a civil character and will preside over the Advisory Council.

He will draw a salary of $6,000 (Mexican) per annum.

There will be eight councilors, one for each of the seven districts and one councilor-at-large.

All males of twenty-one years of age who are able to read and write English, Spanish or Visayan understandingly, or are the owners of $500 in realty or the rentors of $1,000 in realty, and have resided in their respective districts one year, are qualified as voters in the elections, which will be by ballot.

The Military Governor will prescribe the time and place for the elections and registration of voters.

The Military Governor has the power of veto over the legislation of the Council.

His veto shall be final when approved by the Governor-General at Manila.

The Secretary of Instrutcion is to establish a free school system for the island. The schools must teach the English language.

Municipal governments are to be organized as soon as possible and the military governor will appoint the judges. Appeal will be made to the Supreme Court at Manila in cases of felonies or cases involving more than $500 Mexican money.

The secretaries will receive $300 annually and the councillors will receive $8 a day with mileage.

End of War Not In Sight.

London, July 26.—A private letter received here from a war correspondent at Manila says:

"There seems to be no end of the war in sight. The censorship is constantly becoming more troublesome.

"Gen. Otis recently established a rule that any matter relating to the navy must be taken to the commander of the fleet for his approval and afterward submitted to the military censor, thus adding to our difficulties.

"For some reason which the censor would not explain, Gen. Otis refused to allow us to send the death of the Monadnock's Captain (Nichols), for two days after its occurrence.

"The General also refused to let us send news of the disappearance of Capt. Rockefeller (April 28), on the ground that it would worry his family, or the killing of Capt. Tilly, of the Signal Corps, until the next day.

"It is impossible to write the truth about the situation. The resources and fighting qualities of the natives are quite misunderstood by the American papers, and we cannot write the facts without being accused of treason; nor can we tell of the practically unanimous opposition to and dislike of the war among the American troops.

"The volunteers, or at least a portion of them, were at one time on the verge of mutiny, and unless Gen. Otis had begun sending them homeward there would have been sensational developments.

"We have been absolutely refused all hospital figures."

To Dodge Anti-Trust Law.

Dallas, Tex., July 26.—The fire insurance agents of Dallas are in secret session considering what course to pursue when the new Trust law goes into effect next January. It is learned that one of the serious propositions is to organize under State laws, local companies among the men who held insurance agencies in Texas, and thus evade the rigors of the Trust law. It is believed that this effect at evasion can be made successful.

Postmaster Under Arrest.

Toronto, Ohio, July 26.—Dr. Benjamin Denny, who was Postmaster here the past four years has been arrested by United States Marshal Harness on account of an alleged shortage in the postoffice funds discovered by an examiner last week. A Toronto man pointed Denny out to the officers. He was taken to Steubenville and will be given a hearing before Commissioner Richards.

Brothers Were Stricken.

Bedford, Ind., July 26.—John McMahan died suddenly at his home. He was stricken with paralysis a few days ago at his work as flagman at the Monon Sixteenth-street crossing. An aged brother also a flagman for the Monon in this city, was stricken while on duty four months ago.

Mad Dog Epidemic Feared.

Buffalo, N. Y., July 26.—Action is to be taken immediately by the Health authorities to prevent the development of an epidemic of rabies in this city. The police have been asked to order all dogs locked up or muzzled. They will shoot all dogs found acting strangely.

We close at 7 o'clock during July and August, Saturdays excepted.

A hotel keeper had been suffering for four years with indigestion and dyspepsia. Night after night he would lie awake in bed tossing and rolling, the inside of his stomach seeming all on fire, the food fermenting and causing violent vomiting. His stomach, being thus disordered, contaminated his blood, making it impure, so that rheumatism eventually took hold upon him and it was with difficulty that he was even able to walk. At the climax of all this, he heard of Ripans Tabules. The first Tabule gave him relief. As soon as the entire package had been taken, he found that there was a marked improvement in his case. He states that the illness has now entirely left him and that he believes that Ripans Tabules have made a new man of him.

A new style packet containing TEN RIPANS TABULES in a paper carton (without glass) is now for sale at some drug stores—FOR FIVE CENTS. This low-priced sort is intended for the poor and the economical. One dozen of the five-cent cartons (120 tabules) can be had by mail by sending forty-eight cents to the RIPANS CHEMICAL COMPANY, No. 10 Spruce Street, New York—or a single carton (TEN TABULES) will be sent for five cents.

THE PRESIDENT'S VACATION

Plans for His Trip from Washington to Lake Champlain.

Plattsburg, N. Y., July 26.—President McKinley and party will arrive here to-morrow. They will leave Washington on a special train, consisting of the private car of the late President Thomson, of the Pennsylvania road, a sleeping car and a combination baggage and smoking car. They will go to Jersey City over the Pennsylvania road, from there to Albany over the West Shore, and from Bluff Point, on Lake Champlain, over the Delaware and Hudson.

The private car will be kept here during the President's stay, to be used in case any trips are made from here or in case it is desirable to return to Washington on short notice. The length of the President's stay here will depend entirely on Mrs. McKinley's health—certainly two weeks, and perhaps two months.

Frederick M. Alger and Russell A. Alger Jr., sons of the Secretary of War, have arrived here from Grandmere, Canada, for an indefinite stay.

Preparations for L. A. W. Meet.

Boston, July 26.—The work of preparing for the reception and entertainment of the cycling visitors on the occasion of the national meet is progressing satisfactorily. In the various departments the chairmen are conducting the work so as to assure no hitch along the line. The chairmen of committees are as follows:—Press, George W. Tarbell; tours, A. D. Peck; transportation, H. C. Nickerson; hotels and accommodations, Aaron Wolfson; veterans, Abbott Bassett; reception, E. R. Benson; ladies, Mrs. Tillinghast; racing, A. W. Robinson; souvenir programme, H. P. Hanaford. From all of them reports of progress have been received, and in another week the committees will be entirely made up.

Col. J. Hendrick Dead.

Albany, N. Y., July 26.—Col. James Hendrick, one of the best-known insurance men in the State, died suddenly at his home in Slingerlands. He was associated with J. H. Ramsay, J. Pierpont Morgan and others in the celebrated railroad war between Fisk and Gould, of the Erie, and the directors of the Albany and Susquehanna Railroads in 1867. He was engineer and inspector of the Third Division, New York State Militia, from 1853 to 1860, and was a member of the State Board of Charities under Gov. Seymour.

Burglar Left Trail of Blood.

Princeton, N. J., July 26.—Night Watchman Adams believes he wounded a burglar who, with two others, attempted to break into the residence of Professor Paul Van Dyke, at this place. The servants heard the noise and called for help. The robbers ran from the premises closely followed by the night watchman. The thieves kept up a running fire from revolvers and Adams fired ten shots. There was a trail of blood leading into some shrubbery which leads to the belief that one of the burglars was wounded.

Negroes in Strikers' Places.

Pittsburg, Pa., July 26.—The puddling department at the Etna Mill of Spang, Chalfant & Co., which was shut down since July 1 on account of a strike of puddlers, has resumed with colored workmen. The strikers were not expecting the negroes and there was no trouble when they were taken into the mill. Further difficulties are looked for at the mill, as the finishers have threatened to quit work if black men were imported, and another strike may follow. Quiet prevails about the plant and no disturbance is expected.

A Great Day For Weddings.

St. Joseph, Mich., July 26.—Eight thousand excursionists were in the city from Chicago. The rush at County Clerk Needham's residence by Chicago matrimonial parties, was the biggest of the season. At one time four weddings were on, and one of these was a double wedding. There were in all 23 marriage licenses issued here in three hours, and all to Chicago parties.

Three Boys Drowned.

Lafayette, Ind., July 26.—Five boys were bathing in the Wabash River at this point. They got into deep water, and, being unable to swim, Chas Zink, Walter Vellinger and Paul Held were drowned. Two boys named Snyder were rescued by a boatman, one of them going down the third time. The police recovered the bodies of Held and Vellinger.

He Feared Blindness.

Indianapolis, July 26.—A corpse fished out of White River, and for several hours it remained unidentified. However, it has proved to be that of William H. Debmann, who had voluntarily chosen death by drowning in preference to going blind, he being threatened with loss of vision. Debmann was a member of several societies and 54 years old.

Ohio Man Killed.

Sergent, Ky., July 26.—Wm. Griffith, colored, a miner in the Virginia Coal and Iron Company's plant at Stonega, Va., was killed by falling slate, and George Cooper and Bedford Kipper, both white, were seriously hurt. The accident occurred at the same spot where last August two men were killed in the same manner.

Two Presidents Meet.

Managua, Nicaragua, July 26.—President Zelaya, of Nicaragua, has gone to meet General Terencio Sierra, President of the Republic of Honduras, in the Gulf of Conchagua, on the coast of Salvador, with the object of making an offensive and defensive treaty between Nicaragua and Honduras.

Fatal Revolver Accident.

Charleston, W. Va., July 26.—With her husband's loaded pistol in her hand Mrs. Gus Henderson, a young colored woman, stumbled on the doorstep of her house. As she fell the weapon was discharged and a ball entered her abdomen. She died from the wound.

Liquor Dealer Assigns.

Louisville, July 26.—Charles Bekrow, a wholesale liquor dealer, filed a petition in voluntary bankruptcy. Liabilities, $82,000; assets, $75,000.

BIG GOLD SHIP ARRIVES

A Million Dollars Brought in on the Bertha.

San Francisco, July 26.—The steamer Bertha has arrived from St. Michael with ninety-seven passengers and $1,000,000 in gold. The largest amount owned by one person was $75,000. Out of a party of seventeen people who left Port Townsend June 11, 1898, for Kotzebue Sound to prospect for gold only one survives, and that is Mrs. H. W. Bens, of Clay City, Ky.

For twelve weeks she watched over her sick husband, with no one to aid her, and when he died she was left alone in the wilderness. After walking nine miles she found a cabin in which three fishermen were wintering.

She became sick of scurvy, was tenderly cared for, and finally reached St. Michael and took passage for San Francisco on the Bertha.

She will go to Bay City, Mich, where she has a mother, brother and sister.

Sick Soldiers From Manila.

San Francisco, July 26.—The transport Morgan City has arrived from Manila with 473 soldiers. When the vessel left Manila all the men on board were sick or wounded, but when the steamer arrived all but thirty were able to be on deck. In rough pine boxes were the bodies of three men who died on the voyage. They were C. J. Robbs of the Tenth Pennsylvania, Private Lewis of the Twenty-second Infantry, Company K, and First Sergeant Jackson of the South Dakota regiment. The officers on the Morgan City are: Capt. T. W. Moore, in charge of the soldiers; Major H. W. Crawford, Chief Surgeon, U. S. V.; Dr. Williams, contract Surgeon; Capt. Andrew Jensen, First Montana; Lieut. D. Baldwin, First North Dakota.

French Generals Degraded

Paris, July 26.—Two prominent generals of the French army have been degraded for their activity against Dreyfus. General Pellieux, recently Military Governor of Paris, has been appointed to the command of the Forty-fourth brigade at the distant post of Quimper, Department of Finisterre. At the meeting of the Cabinet this morning the Minister of War, General the Marquis de Gallifet, announced that General d'Alstein had been appointed to the military command of Paris, vice General Pellieux. General de Negrier is the other general disgraced. The decree ordering his degradation is dated July 25. It relieves General de Negrier of his functions as a member of the Supreme Council of War.

In the Hands of a Mob.

Bainbridge, Ga., July 26.—This town is in the hands of a mob of lynchers who riddled with bullets the body of Charles Mack, the other negro who was accused of the assault on Mrs. Ogeltree. The State troops have been ordered here by overnor Chandler to disperse the mob and preserve order. There is great excitement and it is feared that at least one more lynching will take place before the troops arrive.

Brown Says He Will Accept.

Louisville, July 26.—The announcement is made that John Young Brown, former Governor of Kentucky, will accept the nomination for Governor in case it is offered to him by the convention to be held in Lexington on August 2 by Democrats who are opposed to the ticket headed by William Goebel. Governor Brown is quoted as saying: "I will accept the nomination with pleasure and make the fight of my life."

Alger's Goodby to the President.

Washington, July 26.—Having bidden goodby to the President and his associates in the Cabinet at the White House meeting, where his successor, Elihu Root, was introduced, Secretary Alger went to New York. He will not return until Monday. On Tuesday he will hand over the War Office to Secretary Root and bid farewell to his subordinates, leaving here the same evening for Detroit.

Struck by Locomotive.

Peekskill, N. Y., July 26.—The body of Mary Corbitt, 43 years old, wife of Daniel Corbitt of 418 Main street, was found on the tracks of the New York Central & Hudson River Railroad near the upper dock crossing. The woman had been struck by locomotive No. 39 of the milk train. It was believed that the case was one of suicide, as Mrs. Corbitt had threatened to end her life.

Hose Disperses Binghamton Mob.

Binghamton, July 26.—Two thousand persons who had assembled on the lawn in front of the jail clamoring for admittance to the cells of Robert Wade and Robert Russell, the negro murderers of Rabbi Louis Ginzberg, were dispersed with a hose in the hands of the Sheriff.

Dewey Stays on Olympia.

Trieste, July 26.—Admiral Dewey entertained Frederick W. Hossfeld, the United States Consul here, and a number of other Americans at a concert given on the Olympia by the ship's band. Admiral Dewey did not leave the ship. He will sail about August 1 for Naples.

Murderess in the Flag.

El Paso, Tex., July 26.—When Mrs. Rich, was surrendered to the Mexican Government to answer a charge of murdering her husband she wrapped an American flag around her as she entered the prison.

Russian Millionaires.

There are hundreds of millionaires in Russia whose fortunes are in the shape of vast domains containing gold and silver of incalculable value, but which have never been developed.

African Atmosphere.

The atmosphere is so clear in Zululand that it is said objects can be seen by starlight at a distance of seven miles.

A Strengthening Food.

A Chinese athlete says that the brains of the duck are the most strengthening food it is possible to eat.

When You Are Away

For a week, or a month, or the whole summer, there is nothing more welcome than the news from home. There is only one way to get this news in the right shape, and that is by having The Daily Press sent to you at your vacation stopping place. When leaving town for a season be sure to order The Daily Press to follow you by mail. The address will be changed as often as desired. Ten cents a week will cover all expenses.

The Shooting of Trespassers.

The Newark Evening News yesterday printed the following editorial of particular interest to Plainfield:

Several weeks ago a farmer living near Paterson, whose crops had suffered from the depredations of trespassers, shot and mortally wounded a young man who was passing through one of his fields, and on Thursday of last week a Plainfield fruit grower filled with fine shot the legs of a boy who was stealing his apples. These occurrences have been generally commented upon, all the more because others like them in the past have involved destruction of human life. It goes without saying that there can be no justification for the man who sacrifices human life to defend fruit or vegetables, or to punish trespass. Homicides of that kind should be punished with rigor.

It is true that the provocation which farmers receive is often great. The owner of a city lot in which there is a fruit tree or a grape vine knows how difficult it is to protect the fruit from the depredations of the predatory small boy, but his troubles are generally small as compared with those of the farmer whose fields and orchards are within walking distance of any town of considerable size. In the city there is police protection, in the country there is none. The farmer's tormentors vary in age from the gamin of eight and ten years, to the full grown tough, and bold because of their strength in numbers, they often terrorize the rural districts and ravage field and orchard at will, treating with derision the attempts of the owner to protect his crops and resenting with violence his interference with their pleasures.

It is useless for the farmer to look to the authorities for aid. The township constable is probably miles away, and before he can be summoned the trespassers will have cleaned out the orchard and disappeared. The farmer must depend upon his own resources, and it is not surprising if this, in some instances, leads to unjustifiable extremes.

GENERAL WHEELER AND HIS DAUGHTER.

"Fighting Joe" Wheeler and his daughter, Annie Laurie Early Wheeler, are on their way to Manila. The general will take command of the United States cavalry in the Philippines and the young woman will enter the hospital at Manila as a nurse. She was a nurse in Cuba during the war with Spain.

An Admirable Aspirant.

The announcement that B. Frank Coriell will become a candidate for the Shrievalty nomination under certain conditions in the Republican county convention, makes Mr. Coriell the only Plainfielder who has yet aspired to that office. Inasmuch as the political game in Union county this fall may throw this prize to Plainfield, it looks as though Mr. Coriell, having gotten in on the ground floor, so to speak, ought to stand a first-class chance to secure the nomination if the right course of events in respect to the other nominations is followed out.

The nomination of Mr. Coriell undoubtedly would prove popular in Plainfield, where he has lived all his life, to be known as a straightforward, right sort of a fellow. Mr. Coriell is not a typical politician, as some of his competitors in the race for the nomination of Sheriff are, and it is this fact that will urge his name to a favorable consideration among many influential people, who would like to see the office of Sheriff divorced as far as possible from political considerations of any kind.

From way out in Nebraska the Omaha World-Herald, commenting on the six-year sentence of Valentine, the New Jersey bank cashier who stole over $200,000, says: "Had Valentine stolen a loaf of bread to keep his hungry children from starving he would not have escaped any easier than he did. It is just such instances as this that incline people to the belief that there is a written law for the poor and an unwritten law for the rich."

Sergeant Kiely is having plenty of chance to distinguish himself as acting chief by coping with the newsboys' strike. It has been a long time since the police have had to deal with such a momentous problem, since one good live boy is equal to about three average policeman.

"Bob" Davis, Democratic leader of Hudson county, has declared in favor of Admiral George Dewey as Democratic Presidential candidate for 1900. "Should Dewey decline," he says, "it ought to be General Fitzhugh Lee. He would sweep the country."

The time for a livening up of trade is not far distant now. Another month will begin to see the local merchants busier, but a very important preliminary step to such a situation is plenty of good advertising in The Daily Press in the meantime.

The second McKinley Presidential tree has already taken Root.

WHAT THE SHEARS FIND

Editorial Comment From Other Papers of Interest in Plainfield.

Congressman John J. Gardner, of the Second District, is talked of in South Jersey as an eligible Republican candidate for Governor in the next State election. It might be possible for Mr. Gardner to carry South Jersey for Governor, but his candidacy would be anything but a popular one in East Jersey, where he is still remembered as the Senator from Atlantic county who kept a private graveyard for bills introduced in the public interest.—Newark Advertiser.

PASSING COMMENT.

Things that Are Not Exactly News but Just as Interesting.

It was really quite funny to see the important airs that the small boys who took part in the "newspaper boycott" in this city assumed. They were particularly anxious to see their names in print and read the accounts of the strike in The Daily Press with eager haste. They also interviewed the various reporters and were careful to keep them fully posted with the general trend of events. The boys evidently found that striking was great fun and made haste to enjoy it as much as possible while it lasted.

* * * * *

One young woman of this city asked her mother a question the other day that showed that the young woman's thoughts were not exactly on the subject to which she was referring. There were some little ducklings near the house and the young woman remarked:

"Mother, how big will those ducks be when they get bigger?"

"Larger," replied the mother. Now that young woman hears about those ducks on every side.

Among the enthusiastic disciples of Izaak Walton that haunt the local streams and ponds is a young woman who is a past-master in the art of angling. She is quite modest, however, about her talents in that direction being known, and so goes quietly to the margin of Tier's pond almost daily and fishes from an unobserved corner. She has remarkably good luck and frequently catches good-sized fish.

F. M. Bacon, a well-know resident of this city, who always takes a lively interest in local affairs as well as those of State and Nation, is just now located at Fredericksburg, Va., where he is stopping at "The Exchange." Mr. Bacon is very enthusiastic in his declaration that politically Virginia will be Democratic in 1900 with William J. Bryan at the head, even if the State of New Jersey is looking forward to her honored son, Grover Cleveland, to lead their forces. During Mr. Bacon's stay in Fredericksburg he has visitited a great many points of interest while rusticating in the wild woods of Virginia, and incidentally seeking fortunes.

THINGS THAT INTEREST SCOTCH PLAINS AND DUNELLEN.

Brief and Terse Observations Gathered by Alert Press Reporters to be Perused at the Supper Table at Your Leisure

DUNELLEN

(Special Correspondence of The Daily Press.)

Dunellen, July 26.—Notwithstanding the inclemency of the weather, about one hundred and fifty people were present Monday evening at the Seventh-Day Baptist church to listen to the lecture on "The Ram's Horn," delivered by Rev. Martin Sindall. By way of introduction, the speaker said that nearly every person is able to draw a cart; the dentist by his skill can draw a tooth; the business man can draw his salary, usually, and a minister can draw inferences. As a preface to the lecture proper Pastor Sindall reproduced some scenes upon the canvass by rapid free hand work, showing his artistic skill which elicited applause now and then from the audience as the work progressed. The lecture proper began with a brief account of Mr. Bayard, the world renowned chalk talker, who is author of the cartoons in the Ram's Horn, and through whose courtesy the speaker was able to reproduce some of the famous cartoons of that stirring publication. The lecture was interspersed with thirty-three oil crayon drawings on 200 feet of artist paper, each reproduction being 4x5 feet in size. These pictures were artistic and highly instructive, being accompanied by appropriate remarks, to which the audience closely listened. Mr. Sindall is a very pleasing lecturerer. His affable manner has won him many friends and the church society over whiah he presides is fortunate in having a man so well qualified in heart and mind to lead them to higher and Christian living.

George, the young son of James McElvere, was tendered a surprise party last evening at the home of his parents on Washington avenue. It was Master George's ninth birthday, and the occasion was made memorable by a gathering of the boy's many friends. The evening was pleasantly spent, a feature of the occasion being the amusement afforded by the graphophone, which Mr. McElvere takes great pleasure in exhibiting.

W. H. Cole, the well-known coal dealer, has just unloaded three gondola cars containing nearly 90 tons of the black diamonds. The price of coal at this place is now $5 a ton.

Miss Eva Bodine, a teacher in one of the public schools at Bayonne, entertained a number of her scholars at her parents' home in this place last evening.

This evening a grand picnic will be held at the Avoca Villa. The regular evenings for dancing have been changed to Wednesday and Saturday.

Letters are advertised at the postoffice for the following: L. Casemore, Carpet Cleaning Factory, Henry S. Tieter and Mrs. Willibald.

Mrs. Charles Bugg, of Plainfield, and Mrs. Clarence Oakley, of New Brunswick, left yesterday to spend two weeks at Asbury Park.

Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Clawson and Miss Edith Wilson start for Spottswood today to visit relatives.

Miss Annie Fenner, of Plainfield, has been visiting her sister, Mrs. Harry Swackhamer.

'Squire Luckey has returned from a ten days' visit with his grandson at Atlantic City.

The heavy rain of yesterday was of vast benefit to the gardens in this vicinity.

Walter Bodine has been visiting at Glen Island.

PLAINS AND FANWOOD.

(Special Correspondence of The Press.)

Scotch Plains, July 26.—Little Tommy Riordan, who makes his home with his sister, Mrs. Lynus Walpole, seems to have a mania for leaving home and staying about the village. No amount of persuasion can induce him to return home until he gets ready. Several times this has occurred and master Tommy who is only 8 years of age, has been forcibly carried home by some member of the family or kind neighbor. A few days ago he walked out of the house and was gone several days. When hungry he appeals to the neighbors for food, telling them a pitiful tale about his being afraid to go home for fear of a beating. He was finally corralled and taken to his home. Mr. and Mrs. Walpole say the boy has a good home with them and that there is no reason for his running away and telling such stories.

George MacCauley, who fell while at work Friday, is able to resume his position again. Mr. MacCauley is employed as a carpenter for the Central Railroad and while using a freight car for a scaffold he stepped off the car falling to the ground and bruising himself quite badly.

Fanwood Council, R. A., held an interesting meeting in their rooms last evening. R. A. Rand, a member of the committee on finance of the Grand Council, was present and made an interesting address on the good of the order.

Dr. Charles Layton spent Tuesday crabbing at Tremley Point. The doctor's friends all enjoyed the result of the day's sport as he came home loaded down with a large catch.

Mrs. Fred Schmidt, who has been suffering from an attack of appendicitis, is improving very nicely and will soon be entirely well again.

The wet weather of the last few days has interfered somewhat with the attendance at the Gypsy camp on South avenue.

Miss Barbara Zangle, of Brooklyn, who has been the guest of Miss Minnie Hosinger for two weeks, has returned to her home.

Mr. and Mrs. George Goodbrough are entertaining Mrs. Goodbrough's sister from New York.

Onward Council, L. A., held a regular meeting in their rooms last evening.

Mrs. George Rockwell has been entertaining friends from New York.

WESTFIELD

(Special Correspondence of The Daily Press.)

Westfield, July 26—The Board of Education will at an early date call a special school meeting for the purpose of asking for an appropriation for a new school house which is to be built on the north side of the town, probably on Elm street, at the corner of Orchard street.

The members of the old Westfield football team will hold a meeting at Gale's clubhouse on Elm street Friday evening for the purpose of reorganizing and electing a captain and manager.

The trolley road is now built as far as Ross place on Summit avenue and by the latter part of the week the road will be finished as far as the company's franchise will allow them to build.

Edward N. Brown and R. M. Stickle have been elected to represent Court Provident, No. 3,130, I. O. F., at the meeting of High Court at Hoboken early in September.

PARTICULAR MENTION.

George Kirkner has returned from a European trip.

Great Sannap Wm. Newcorn will go to Butler, N. J., tomorrow evening, to assist at the consolidation of the tribes of Red Men of Butler and Bloomingdale.

Miss Minnie Smith, of Crosby & Hill's, has been obliged to relinquish her position for a time owing to ill-health. She will return to her place September 1st.

During the absence of Rev. E. E. Jackson, pastor of the Mt. Olive Baptist church, his pulpit will be filled by Rev. B. W. Hand and Rev. Mr. Phelps, of this city.

FORMING TROLLEY CAR COMBINE.

New Jersey Company Probably Will Make Its Own Vehicle.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Elizabeth, July 26—Vice-President Hobart, John D. Crimmins, J. Armstrong, P. A. B. Widener, the North Jersey Street Railway Company and the Peckham Car Truck Company are interested in the formation of a trust of the Stevenson, St. Louis and Brill car companies.

Principals and representatives hold daily meetings in the big Stevenson works here, and the formation of the gigantic combine is said to be a matter of only a short time. The works here, which now cover about fifteen acres, will be enlarged and about 2,000 hands will be employed. All of the North Jersey's cars are to be turned out by the local plant.

His Life Was Saved.

Mr. J. E. Lilly, a prominent citizen of Hannibal, Mo., lately had a wonderful deliverance from a frightful death. In telling of it he says: "I was taken with Typhoid Fever, that ran into Pneumonia. My lungs became hardened. I was so weak I couldn't even set up in bed. Nothing helped me. I expected to soon die of Consumption, when I heard of Dr. King's New Discovery. One bottle gave great relief. I continued to use it, and now am well and strong. I can't say too much in its praise." This marvelous medicine is the surest and quickest cure in the world for all Throat and Lung Trouble. Regular sizes 50 cents and $1.00. Trial bottles free at L. W. Randolph's Drug Store; every bottle guaranteed.

Bayern.

München. Der bayerische Veteranen-, Krieger- und Kampfgenossenbund feierte jüngst den Tag seines 25jährigen Bestehens durch ein Bundesfest, zu dem sich 10,000 bis 12,000 Mitglieder der Kriegervereine aus ganz Bayern sowie der Salzburger Militärverein eingefunden hatten. Außerdem waren Vertreter aller großen deutschen Landes-Kriegerverbände erschienen.—Das „Neue Münchener Tageblatt" hat kürzlich am gleichen Tage zwei seiner besten Kräfte durch den Tod verloren: seinen Miteigenthümer Monsignore Knab und einen seiner ältesten Redakteure, August Buchner.—Die Polizei konfiszirte neulich die sozialdemokratische „Süddeutsche Post," weil das Blatt einen die bayerische Regierung und den bayerischen Landtag beleidigenden Wahlaufruf veröffentlichte.

Bayreuth. Konrad Eysser, der Besitzer der weitbekannten Möbelfabrik J. A. Eysser dahier, ist in Folge Herzschlags gestorben.

Deggendorf. In einer Sitzung der städtischen Kollegien, um die Frage in Erwägung zu ziehen, ob nicht an Stelle einer vierkursigen Realschule, ähnlich wie in Pfarrkirchen, eine fünfkursige landwirthschaftliche Schule errichtet werden solle, wurde der einstimmige Beschluß gefaßt, daß mit Beginn des kommenden Schuljahres eine vierkursige Realschule zu errichten sei mit einem Jahresbedarf von rund 20,000 Mark.

Hof. Buchdruckereibesitzer Heinrich Hörmann, Verleger des „Hofer Anzeigers," feierte sein 40jähriges Berufsjubiläum.

Kempten. In Füssen wurden auf Antrag der Gläubiger die Theilhaber des in Konkurs gerathenen Baugeschäftes Gebrüder Walter u. Köpf in Haft genommen. Die Beiden hatten es verstanden, ihr Geschäft nach nicht ganz zweijährigem Betrieb mit einer Schuldenmasse von über 300,000 Mark zu belasten.

Lindau. Das von der Stadtgemeinde zu betreibende Elektrizitätswerk wird von der Firma vormals Schuckert in Nürnberg erbaut. Das ganze Leitungsnetz wird unterirdisch geführt; die Gesammtkosten belaufen sich auf etwa 450,000 Mark. Vermuthlich werden auch die Nachbargemeinden Aeschach und Reutin mit Licht versorgt. Das Centralstationsgebäude wird auf den festen Grund der ehemaligen Karolinenschanze im Norden der Stadt zu stehen kommen. Als Vollendungstermin ist der 15. Juli 1900 vereinbart; der Gasvertrag mit der Stadt läuft im August 1900 ab.

Starnberg. Neulich Nachmittags fuhr ein unbekannter Mann mit zwei Kindern in einem gemietheten Boote in den See hinaus. Dort warf er zunächst die Kinder in das Wasser und ertränkte sich dann selbst. Der leere Kahn wurde alsbald aufgefunden.

Tölz. Auf Grund Allerhöchster Genehmigung wird der Markt Tölz künftig den Namen „Bad Tölz" führen. Damit dürfte auch die bisher vielfach gebräuchliche Bezeichnung „Krankenheil" oder „Bad Krankenheil" für den auf dem linken Isarufer gelegenen Theil von Tölz, der ohnehin im amtlichen Ortschaftsverzeichniß nicht zugelassen ist, außer Gebrauch treten.

Veitshöchheim. Die fränkische Gartenbauschule, um die verschiedene fränkische Städte, darunter auch Bamberg sich bewarben, kommt hierher.

Aus der Rheinpfalz.

Böhl. Neulich Nachts stand der Feldhüter Seeber mit einem Hilfshüter Wache in der Nähe eines Krautackers, weil dort schon öfters Kraut gestohlen worden war. Um 12 Uhr Nachts ging auch der Eigenthümer des Krautackers Namens Schwager, mit einem Gewehr bewaffnet, auf die Wache nach seinem Krautacker. Er hielt in der Dunkelheit die beiden Feldhüter für Diebe und schoß auf sie ohne Weiteres. Der eine, Seeber, ist schwer verletzt an Armen und Beinen.

Ludwigshafen. Aus Furcht vor Strafe, die ihm in der Schule wegen Nachlässigkeit angedroht wurde, hat sich der circa neun Jahre alte Knabe des Eisenhändlers Peter Eicher im Stadttheile Friesenheim erhängt.—Durch Beschluß des Stadtraths wurde endlich die Einverleibung des etwa 6000 Einwohner zählenden Nachbarortes Mundenheim in unseren Stadtbezirk perfekt. Sie wird am 1. Januar 1900 erfolgen.

Schaidt. Während des Gottesdienstes schlug neulich in Steinfeld der Blitz in den Thurm der Kirche und zerschmetterte dabei die Dachziegeln und einen Theil des Gebälkes. Der Innenraum der Kirche war von den Gasen wie mit dichtem Pulverrauch angefüllt. Wunderbar erhalten wurden zwei Knaben, denen der Blitz nur Hosen und Schuhe zerriß.

WOMEN IN BATTLE GARB

Some Amazons of Olden Time and of Our Own Civil War.

The idea of women engaging in fierce combat is no captivating one, and will not appeal to the chivalrous man who rightly thinks that woman's share in warfare should be limited to tenderly nursing back to life and hope the shattered heroes wounded in battle. The idea of a charging troop of amazons, with the light of battle in their eyes, and the fierce excitement of war transforming faces that are otherwise pretty and dainty, is not so improbable a one as to constitute it a purely imaginary subject. The pages of history need to be turned only with an indolent hand to discover a long array of instances in which women have not only made war, but have acquitted themselves in a fight like heroes.

The great Cuchullin's principal instructor in the use of weapons was the Lady Scathachan, "who had a kind of military academy in Scotland, whither the noblest sons of Erin were sent to accomplish their military education." One of Scathacan's antagonists was the warrior Queen Aife, who was in the long run overcome by Cuchullin. Another celebrated lady "battle smith" was Ness, the mother of Conchobar. It is to be feared, however, that most of these strong-armed heroines were rather an index of the hideous barbarism of their time than the ideal of a free and splendid womanhood. It was the ghastly spectacle of two women hacking each other to death, with iron sickles which prompted Ronalt, the mother of Adamnan, to persuade her son to free the women of Ireland from foray and fight forever. "One of the four laws of Erin is that of Adamnan—not to kill women."

Of English warrior ladies Boadicea stands first, and indeed alone, for Cortismandua, the queen of the Brigantes, is only remembered as the betrayer of the great-hearted ruler of South Wales, Caractacus. But we do not require to go back into the mist of dawn to discover instances of women's heroism in battle. There were numbers of women who served during our Civil War in both Federal and Confederate ranks, some fighting side by side with their husbands and sweethearts, disguised as men, and taking all the risks of death so that they might be with those they loved; others fighting for the excitement of the life, and playing their part with so much boldness as to guard their secret until accident revealed it.

There was a convent bred girl who took the name of Frank Martin and served in the war as a dashing cavalryman of the Second East Tennessee regiment. A wound received at Murfreesboro led to the discovery of her sex. The surgeon who attended to her wounds was startled to find that the soldier was a woman, and he speedily reported the matter to Gen. Rosecrans, who saw that "Frank Martin" was sent back home as soon as her wounds would permit. There seemed to be no reason for her enlistment, other than love of the life of a soldier.

A case that aroused great interest at the time, and was the subject of newspaper comment all over the country, was that of a Missouri woman who entered a cavalry regiment and fought so fiercely through many sanguinary battles that she received special mention from the commanding officer. She was severely wounded and died in hospital, her sex having been discovered only when she was in the hands of the hospital surgeons to have her wounds dressed.

In all these cases, and many more that could be cited, women have shown that they can face death on the battlefield with the calm courage of veteran fighters. In the rough camp life they have stood hardship as bravely as the men, and never by a sign have they revealed that their rough uniforms concealed the frail forms of women.

Takes the Place of a Card Basket.

A tablet neatly framed in brass hangs in the modern hall, with a pencil suspended from a chain beside it.

The visitor who finds the hostess out writes his name under the day of the week upon which he calls, instead of leaving his card.

The Ruby Is a Favorite.

Some of the oldest betrothal rings were set with rubies; they were the favorite stones for love tokens. As a lucky stone it has no rival, driving away bad dreams, low spirits, and is believed to bring all sorts of good fortune to the wearer.

An old legend tells that during the flood Noah had an enormous ruby in the ark, which lighted this great boat during the time of imprisonment.

When They Are Married.

A woman may say all sorts of unkind things about her husband, but she is not true blue if she lets any one else say them.

A man glorifies a woman's freckles into beauty spots until after he marries her, when he soon tells her the candid truth about them.

FIVE O'CLOCK TEA BRUSH.

New Contrivances to Make Easier Households Tasks of Women.

The array of brushes for household use is constantly being added to by inventors with a quick eye for the exigencies of the moment. Besides the various grades and sizes of crumb brushes, recognized readily by their curving outlines, there is now a new comer known as the 5 o'clock tea brush, and designed for use in brushing the crumbs from highly polished tables over which no cloth is laid. The bristles of this new addition are so soft as not to injure the handsomest table ever set. The handle is ornate enough to make the brush a not inappropriate adjunct of luxurious surroundings. This brush is not a prosaic half moon like its older and tougher associates. It is higher than it is wide and altogether unique among crumb brushes. There is a ring on the handle through which a ribbon may be slipped for further decoration, and the usual implement kept near at hand to be deftly wielded, in between times, by the fair tea-pourer at an afternoon function.

Dusting brushes increase in number, as do dusters made of feathers and of strong hemp. The latest addition to this family is a revolving brush of stout, stiff bristles, made for wiping out the corners and interstices of carved furniture. It is an automatic contrivance. Once fix it in place against the stubborn dust hole in the mahogany, and by rotating the round handle more or less rapidly the work is done and the corner wiped out clean as quick as a wink.

The passementerie brush is a new recruit in the regiment of clothes brushes. It is made with such discrimination that not even the most delicate trimming and beading could be injured. Insertions and overlayings of jet and iridescent beads, that would be utterly ruined by a whisk-broom or ordinary clothesbrush application, look brighter and happier for a dressing down with the passementerie brush, whose bristles are soft enough not to scratch the beads, yet sufficiently stiff to penetrate the little hollows and interstices and get the dust out of them. This passementerie brush is also recommended for brushing silk gowns and curtains and such delicate fabrics as would be ruined by the coarser brushes. A new fringe brush, for brushing out the fringe of handsome table cloths, is noted, and also, most important of all, is a contrivance for cleaning these various brushes and banishing dirt when it shall have alighted on them.

Inexpensive Wedding Gifts.

For a comparatively inexpensive wedding present nothing could possibly be more acceptable to a bride than a number of well-cushioned coat forms. Procure say half a dozen strong wire forms. Make dainty silk bags of a suitable size, to cover the arms; line these well with cotton batting sprinkled liberally with sachet powder.

Insert the arms of the form and draw the bags up tightly around the hook; finish with a generous bow of ribbon of the same shade as the silk.

A bride who recently received six of these useful articles, all in ravishing pink, used them in packing her bodices and proclaims that never before did her gowns emerge from her trunk in so perfect a condition.

A word to the maker: Baste your cotton batting right up with the seam of the bag and stitch altogether.

If you wish to add to this gift another newly devised and suitable bridal offering, make a few pretty trunk tray cloths of linen simply bound, embroidered with a monogram and with ribbons attached, to take the place of inside trunk straps.

Smaller oblongs of the linen made to exactly match the tray cloths are of the greatest service in packing shoes and slippers.

A bride so lucky as to have forms, tray cloths and shoe cases all in the same pretty shade has small excuse if her trunk is not a model of order and prettiness.

One Woman's Work.

Here's a schedule of one woman's work for one day prepared by a sympathizer:

Breakfast at 6. After that, the dishes to wash, the chickens to feed, pies to make for dinner, doughnuts to fry, Sam's shirt to iron, some aprons to wash out for the children, Mary's cut finger to do up, lamps to fill and clean (and of all earthly things this is the most abominable!) stove to black, hungry tramps and gossiping neighbors to attend to, dinner to get, dishes to wash, beds to make, halls to sweep, sitting-room to dust, sink to scrub, cake to make for the church sociable, Tommy's "sums" to do for him so that he need not be put back in his class, biscuits to bake for supper—for men always want hot biscuits—bread to mix for to-morrow's baking, dishes to wash—

Roland For an Oliver.

What To Eat tells a story of two young women with bright auburn hair, who had just sat down to luncheon at the Berkeley Arms, New York City, when a florid matron with a crimson dress took a seat opposite, and, after glancing at her neighbors and examining the menu, remarked to the waiter that red-head ducks were not served that day. Then the waiter came around to get the young women's order, whereupon one of them glanced at the florid woman and then at the bill of fare, and said to her sister: "The boiled lobster is not on the bill."

DANCED BEFORE WATERLOO.

Lady Tighe, Who Was at the Famous Brussels Ball, Still Lives.

By Jeanette Devoe

There was a sound of revelry by night,
And Belgium's capital had gathered then
Her beauty and her chivalry, and bright
The lamps shone o'er fair women and brave men;
A thousand hearts beat happily, and when
Music arose with its voluptuous swell
Soft eyes looked love to eyes which spake again,
And all went merrily as a marriage bell;
But hush! Hark! A deep sound strikes like a rising knell!

Probably the only living woman who danced at the famous Brussels ball and heard the "cannon's opening roar" which ushered in the battle of Waterloo and rudely disturbed the revelry is now living in County Kilkenny, Ireland. She is Lady Louisa Madelina Tighe. She is 91 years old now, but she remembers the scene as distinctly as if it had been yesterday and does not need to refer to Byron's lines to refresh her memory.

Lady Tighe was only 12 years old at the time of this tragically interrupted ball. Probably she would not have been there at all had it not been that it was her own father, the Duke of Richmond, who gave the ball. Thus it happened that, although only a schoolgirl, she was present. She danced, too, and with some of the very officers who, responding to "the war note of Lochiel," rushed out to meet death "where the thickest of war's tempest lowered." But while the ball lasted she was in a glow of excitement and tremendously interested in the brilliant affair.

Although not Irish, Lady Louisa has many ties that bind her to Ireland. Her father became lord lieutenant there so long ago as 1807, when the Duke of Wellington, then Arthur Wellesley, as chief secretary (1807-9) to her father, used to ride out with her and her sister in Phoenix park.

Lady Louisa (born Lennox) is a daughter of the fourth Duke of Richmond and is one of three of his 12 children still alive, for all her brothers—seven valiant youths they were—have vanished, while but two of her sisters, now bearing the historic names of Pitt and Cecil, remain.

She was born in 1803 and thus has seen four sovereigns of the British throne. George III died when she was 17. Instead of being merely her king, he might have been her kinsman, for he had been madly in love with her greataunt, Lady Sarah Lennox. She, however, would have none of him.

Early in 1815 Lady Louisa's father took his family to reside in Brussels, in the Rue de la Blanchisserie, and on LADY LOUISA MADELINA TIGHE.

June 15 he gave the famous ball which has immortalized her and placed her in the position of being the only woman of modern times whose name is indissolubly connected with a British battle.

Two hundred guests were invited, including 50 ladies, and they assembled in the big room where Lady Louisa and her sister learned their lessons and played battledoor and shuttlecock. Lady Louisa, then a schoolgirl of 12, was present at that historic festival, which her kinsman, Lord Byron, has rendered doubly famous in "Childe Harold." Her sister (her senior by eight years), the late Lady de Ros, who died in 1891, at the age of over 96, wrote a very interesting account of the ball ten years ago.

The story is too familiar to be retold. Two of Lady Louisa's brothers fought in the battle, while she and her sisters and their mother waited eagerly for the news of the victory and then nursed the sick and dying who were brought into Brussels.

In 1825 she married the Right Hon. William Frederick Fownes Tighe of Woodstock. "One Who Has Kept a Diary" told us last year that her mother remarked of the match, "Poor Louisa is going to make a shocking marriage—a man called Tiggy, my dear—a saint and a radical." Mr. Tighe died in 1878, so that Lady Louisa has been one and twenty years a widow. One by one her brethren have slipped away, so that she almost alone remains from among those who were at the Brussels ball.

And still Lady Louisa lives in her quiet Irish home. She is a wonderful reminiscence—a relic of a past that has long since been merged into faraway history.

SHE WAS A DAY LATE

A TARDY MAID OF HONOR EXPLAINS FULLY TO EUNICE.

Told the Bride-to-Be Not to Worry She Would Be Present and Then the Bride Was Married a Day Before the Time Set.

"Wait a moment, will you, Eunice while I make a memorandum?" said the girl with the curling lashes. "I've promised Irene to lunch with her next Wednesday, and unless I make a note of it I shall either forget all about it or else let that day go by and appear upon one when I am neither expected nor wanted. Of course you never need to do such things; you always remember everything."

"I have always been rather proud of my memory," admitted the girl with the square jaw. "Why, I never even forget an engagement with my dentist and I know the ages of all my friends to a day!"

"Oh, do you?" cried the girl with the curling lashes apprehensively. "Aren't you sometimes mistaken? Oh, by the way, how did Margaret's wedding go off?"

"I—er—very well. That is, I"——

"Yes? I heard that you were to give her away, or something."

"I was asked to act as maid of honor," said the girl with the square jaw stiffly.

"Oh! I knew it was something. It must have been quite a pleasure for you to stand so near a real, live bridegroom. The wedding was quite elaborate, was it not?"

"SOMEONE HAD MISTAKEN THE DATE."

"It was quite an elaborate one. My gown cost a pretty penny, and I'm sure I don't know what I am to do with a mauve chiffon evening gown this Summer. I expect to stop at a place where golf by moonlight is the only variation from golf by sunlight, so such a gown can hardly be called useful."

"Hardly. Was Margaret much frightened? After the bridegroom appeared, I mean."

"I—er—believe not. When she first asked me to act as maid of honor, I accepted with pleasure and arranged to be ready at the appointed time. It is my one boast that I never keep any one waiting."

"I know it, dear. I am quite sure that if a man, however suddenly, asked you to marry him, you would be ready, and not keep him a moment in suspense."

"I ordered my gown at once. It was arranged that I was to reach her town on the day before the wedding in order to be present at her farewell dinner. When everything was settled she was here that day. I just told Margaret that I knew she would be dreadfully busy, and as I hated letter writing, we would call it a bargain, and she might, without further notice, send to the three-fifty train to meet me on the day preceding the wedding. Oh, I flatter myself that I have real executive ability."

"Well, at last the time came. The wedding was to be on Thursday, as I saw by consulting the almanac; therefore, Tuesday was the day for me to start. Just as I was packing my trunk mamma came in with a telegram."

"Horrors! Had Margaret's intended changed his mind at the last moment?"

"He had not. The telegram was for mamma, and ran: 'Where is Eunice? Failed to arrive on time.' Of course mamma was upset, but I saw at once that Margaret had forgotten the date of my arrival. She is always careless, and had simply expected me a day ahead of time. I said that a little anxiety would serve her right for thinking I could make a mistake, and I'd just explain on my arrival."

"You didn't miss your train, did you?"

"I miss a train? Never! I arrived at the station as usual, with five minutes in which to check my trunk and find my seat."

"Then all the excitement was over."

"N—not quite. Mamma was roused at midnight by another telegram asking why I did not come."

"Oh, well, people lose their heads at"——

"I know. But the behavior of Margaret's little brother when I reached their house alone was odd. He seemed surprised to see me!"

"Pshaw! Margaret was too busy telling her plans to her friends to think of her little brother."

"Perhaps. But everybody seemed surprised. The floral decorations were all faded and"——

"Mercy! Was the wedding off?"

"It was over. Margaret sent the last telegram on her way to the station Some one had mistaken the date—but it certainly could not have been me!"

ELIZA ARMSTRONG.

A Hopeless Case.

"Has George ever hinted that he had thought of you as a possible wife?" asked the anxious mother.

"No," replied the girl, a faraway look in her eyes, "and I am afraid he never will."

"Why," said the mother, "I thought—"

"It doesn't matter what you thought, mamma, dear," interrupted the daughter. "Only last night he complained of feeling drowsy and it wasn't 9 o'clock."

WAR IS EXPENSIVE.

WHAT IT COSTS TO FIRE THE BIG GUNS OF WAR VESSELS.

Thirteen Inch Guns on the Oregon Require Over a Ton of Powder for a Single Charge—Some Astonishing Figures and Comparisons.

It is only by going into details of what the sinews of war actually cost that one understands how this government has been spending $1,000,000 a day, or thereabouts, during all the weeks of fighting and preparation for fighting. Thousands of tons of gunpowder, for instance, have been bought at prices ranging from $1 a pound downward. A ton of gunpowder seems a goodly quantity until one learns that it would not even suffice for a single discharge of the four thirteen-inch guns on the Oregon. These four guns eat up powder at the rate of twenty-two tons an hour—$44,000 an hour, if the powder cost $1 a pound—and some of the bombardments have lasted many hours. I am assuming that these four guns keep up a steady firing at their maximum rate of one shot in three minutes, and, that being the case, the heaviest item in the expenses is still to be counted, for each one of these 1,100-pound projectiles costs $800, which gives $3,600 every time the four guns go off, or $72,000 for an hour's firing.

But there are other guns on the Oregon, many other guns, and to find out what an hour's firing of a big battleship will cost, we must take all these into consideration. A single shot from one of the eight-inch guns costs $200, and there are eight of these, so that a single round from them costs $1,600. But their fire is much more rapid that that of the thirteen-inch guns; each one can be discharged once in a minute, or sixty times in an hour, which would give $96,000 for an hour's firing by them all, assuming it be kept up continuously.

Then there are five five-inch guns, and a round from the five costs about $200. But again the fire increases very much in rapidity, so that we may count 240 rounds an hour, or a cost of $48,000.

Thus, for these three classes of guns alone, we have an expense per hour during continuous firing of $216,000, or more than the President's salary for his whole four years. It may be that such continuous firing of all the guns would never take place in actual practice, but the figures may stand for purposes of illustration. And, of course, nothing has yet been said of the many guns of smaller caliber which are on the Oregon; there are the six-pounders, which throw out a shot each five seconds; there are the three-pounders, the one-pounders, the fifty-seven millimeter rifles, the thirty-seven millimeter revolving cannon, and the wonderful machine guns, which discharge eighty one-inch projectiles a minute, or 4,800 projectiles an hour.

Just how many thousands of dollars per hour must be added to our estimate for the consumption of these guns is a matter of expert calculation, but it is evidently well within the truth to assume that the Oregon could fire away $1,000,000 worth of powder and projectiles in a single day's fighting, using only the hours of daylight. And each one of the other big battleships could do the same. And still we have not taken into account all the cruisers and other fighting craft, each one of which would be blazing away, we may be sure, and using up money according to her best capacity.

Let us now consider the cost of ammunition used by a regiment of infantry in an hour's fighting. This is a matter of easy calculation, since it is known that the Krag-Jorgensen cartridges cost $18 a thousand. It is merely necessary to estimate how many cartridges would be used. Assuming a full regiment, of 1,000 men, and allowing each man to shoot once in five seconds, which is slower than they often shoot, we will have twelve thousand shots fired every minute, or 720,000 shots in an hour, which number of cartridges, at the rate just mentioned, will cost $12,960. And that is an estimate for a single regiment, firing for a single hour. What it would cost for a whole army to fire for a whole day and then go on firing for many days, is again a matter for expert calculation. But it is easy to see how this would eat into the millions of dollars.

The Leopard and the Pan.

One day a worthy Kulu housewife came out from her cooking, and, standing on the ledge of rock at her door, emptied a pan of boiling water into the rank herbage growing below. It fell, splash, on the back of a sleeping leopard, who jumped perpendicularly into the air as high as the roof of the hut. What might have happened next? Who can say? But the astonished woman dropped the pan with a clang upon the rock, and the leopard took one leap down hill. The pan followed, and the leopard's downward leaps became longer and swifter as the pan bounded after it from rock to rock.

When last seen the leopard had just achieved a leap of about 350 feet to the very bottom of the ravine, thousands of feet below, and the pan had whirled about 500 feet over it on to the opposite side. The leopard would have eaten the old woman with pleasure; but the pan which first scalded half the hide off him and then bounded clanging in his wake from the top of the Himalayas to the plains below was something which he could not face.

Arabs at Omdurman.

The Arab mode of attack was quaint to a degree; formed in a line, each tribe advanced gainst a part of the village. When about five hundred yards from the mud houses they halted and commenced to dance, brandishing spears and swords in the air and firing off rifles. After a few moments they resumed the advance, dancing and firing all the while (in the air), when suddenly, with a yell, they rushed at the houses, and, having effected an entrance, they slaughtered every one within.

A Laplander will often skate 150 miles in a day.

A LONG COAST LINE.

That of the United States Extends Sixteen Thousand Miles.

Next to the British empire the United States has the longest coast line of any nation in the world. With the new possessions of Porto Rico and the Philippines, the coast line of the United States will be at least 16,000 miles long, and with Cuba, which must have its coast line taken in charge by the coast survey of this country, there will be nearly 20,000 of coast to be cared for. The coast line of the United States without Alaska amounts to nearly 6,000 miles, divided as follows: Two thousand three hundred and forty-nine miles on the Atlantic coast; 1,556 miles on the Gulf of Mexico and nearly 2,000 miles on the Pacific coast. Alaska, because of the numerous indentations and islands—those Aleutian islands, which stretch westward until they meet the possessions of the "Great White Czar"—has an enormous coast line, amounting up to at least 5,000 miles.

To compute the coast line of the Philippines is at present impossible. Spain has no hydrographic office and no coast survey in working order. Even the number of islands in the Philippine group is not known. Spain has never taken the trouble to count them.

Since the purchase of Alaska in 1867 the sun has never set on the possessions of the United States. When the morning sun is whitening the bay of Eastport, Me., his last red beams are shining upon the Aleutian islands.

Not the least of the burdens imposed upon the United States by the acquisition of new territory is the surveying of its shores. Although begun in 1807, the work of surveying the coast of the United States proper has never been completed. The Russian charts, which formed the basis of our survey of the Alaskan coast, were imperfect, and it will be years before the survey of that coast is completed.

In the meantime there is the coast of Porto Rico to be taken care of, and also the coasts of Cuba and the Philippines. The charts which are now depended on for Cuba are incomplete and unsatisfactory. England and the United States have done much work on that coast in the way of surveying the principal harbors, but in many cases the old and faulty Spanish charts are depended on. To make a complete survey of the Philippine archipelago is an enormous task, which will require years and the expenditure of lots of money. As the coasts of the United States are all looked after by the coast survey, so the surveys of the coasts of foreign countries are taken care of by the hydrographic office of the navy. This is a purely naval bureau, and the ships employed in making surveys outside of the country are all regularly commissioned men-of-war.

How Fishes Breathe.

Ulrich Dahlgren, who after devoting much time to the study of the method by which fishes breathe has discovered two membranous valves just inside the teeth, which make possible the following conception of the breathing of teleost fishes, which is given by Mr. Dahlgren in the last issue of the Princeton University Bulletin: "The construction and operation of the fish's apparatus is that of a perfect two-valve pump. In such a pump there must be a chamber which possesses two openings, each guarded by a valve. The forces necessary to operate such a structure are three (or six) in number: 1. A force so applied as to alternately contract and expand the chamber; 2. A force to alternately shut and open the posterier (exit) valve; 3. A force to alternately shut and open the anterior valve. These valves must be operated in proper sequence to the expansion and contraction of the chamber. The valves may be operated either by separate mechanism or by the automatic action of a current passing through the chamber. It is to this latter point that attention is called in the case of the fish. Here we find a chamber (the oral cavity) and two openings, the mouth (anterior opening) and the double gill opening (posterior opening). Muscular force is applied to expand and contract the oral cavity. But no such direct application of muscular force is needed to open and close the the anterior and posterior openings. This is done automatically by the branchiostegal valves in the gill opening (or posterior opening) and by the maxmillary and mandibular breathing valves in the mouth opening (or anterior opening.) The fish is thus not required to use separate muscles to close and open the passages, but the loss of energy due to friction and retarded momentum on the valves must be added to that required to expand and contract the oral cavity. It is simply a mechanical economy such as is found in the heart."

Porto Rico's Unknown Flora.

Flora of Porto Rico are next to unknown. The Spaniards never had energy enough to undertake a study of Porto Rico flora, and they distrusted foreign scientists, who, they thought, might be harboring revolutionary designs under the guise of the savans. Two German botanists, however, by a liberal bribery of the Spanish officials, did succeed in making a limited survey and collection of the flora. One of them was Herr Schwaeneke, who visited Porto Rico in 1820; the other, Herr Sinternis, who went partially over the islands about twenty years ago. The studies of these two men comprise about all that is known of Porto Rico flora. It is believed that some of the rarest orchids in the world are growing unknown in the interior of Porto Rico. There are luxuriant tree palms one hundred feet in height, rich ferns, gorgeous flowers of all descriptions, banana, orange, lemon and other plants.

Is the Slate Doomed.

The use of slates has been forbidden in the schools of Zurich, Switzerland, and pen, ink and paper have been substituted, even in the lowest forms. The reasons given are that the light gray marks of the pencil on the slate cannot be followed without straining the eyes; that the pressure which it is necessary to exert upon the pencil lessens the facility of the hand and renders an easy, flowing handwriting more difficult to attain, and that the use of the slate is not conducive to cleanly work.

KITES AND KITE FLYING.

You Can Build One That Will Sail in the Lightest Wind.

Almost every boy who ever owned a jackknife and lived near a vacant lot has made kites of some sort. Most of these have been of the old flat shield-shaped kind, weighted with long tails and needing a good bit of wind to sail them. Often it required the united efforts of a whole company of boys and an afternoon of experiment to get the kite properly balanced and floating steadily above the treetops. I remember that we used to braid iron weeds and wisps of grass into the tail, and sometimes we would have a long streamer of this nature—ten or fifteen feet in length—trailing behind the kite, and then if the wind died down suddenly this heavy tail would drag like an anchor and bring our flying toy thumping to the ground away off. This usually tangled the guide twine in the trees and telegraph wires and the kite was often ruined.

Since grown men began experimenting with kitemaking for scientific purposes, however, the tailless kite has been invented, and any bright boy can build one that will sail in the lightest wind and float to the ground like a parachute. The accompanying picture shows how the contrivance looks at close observation, but no picture can give a faithful idea of the grace of the kite when it is sailing at the end of

THE TAILLESS KITE.

1,000 or more feet of twine, soaring like a bird or steadily drifting to the hand of the boy pulling in the twine at the close of the afternoon's sport. For you do not have to "run down" these kites, but can pull them in till the last foot of twine is wound up and the kite floats to the hand of the operator.

Out of the Mouths of Babes.

Two little girls were gazing at the stars one evening. "I wonder what they are?" said one. "Oh," replied the other, "I guess they are good little night lamps that have died and gone to heaven."

A visitor who was trotting 4-year-old Freddie upon his knee, remarked to the little fellow's mother: "Do you know, there is something in this young man I like?" "Say," exclaimed the precocious youngster, "who told you that I swallowed a penny?"

Ethel, aged 5, was learning to sew, and one day, after vainly trying to make the preliminary preparation with a needle and thread, she asked: "Mamma, don't they call the hole in a needle an eye?" "Yes, dear," was the reply. "Well," continued the little miss, "I'll bet this old needle's cross-eyed."

Little 5-year-old Willie had a very bad memory and his mother had a hard time teaching him to say "if you please" when he wanted anything. The other evening at dinner he said: "Mamma, hand me the butter." "If you what, Willie?" she asked. "Why, if you can reach it," was the reply.

Little 4-year-old Harry was not feeling well and his father suggested that he might be taking the chickenpox, then prevalent. Harry went to bed laughing at the idea, but early next morning he came downstairs looking very serious, and said: "You're right, papa; it is the chickenpox; I found a feather in the bed."

Manager of Railroad at Eight.

The Chicago and Jerico railway has for its general manager pretty little Miss Dorothy Warneford. The line is but 100 feet in length, in fact is nothing more than a wonderful plaything. The Rev. Harry Lancelot Warneford, at Windsor, England, had it erected for his children. The railroad is complete, with tunnels, stations, bridges and surrounded by the most picturesque landscape in miniature that could be imagined. The engine, a perfect model, runs by steam, and pulls the car loads of dolls at a clipping rate.

Giraffe as a Mimic.

The giraffe has such powers of mimicry that, although its size might be supposed to make it a conspicuous object for its enemies, the most practiced eye has been deceived by the animal's resemblance to one of the dead and blasted tree trunks which abound in its haunts. Lions have been known to gaze long and earnestly at a motionless giraffe, and, being unable to decide that it was not a tree, turn and skulk away.

A Novel Sail Boat.

In a newly designed sail boat, patented by a Canadian, the masts and rigging are supported on two parallel boats, while a third boat placed at the rear between the two others is attached by a framework and turned by a wheel to act as a rudder.

Relative Values.

First Boy: "We've got a baby up to our house."

Second Ditto: "H'm! what er that? My father's going to get me a four bladed jackknife."

OUR YOUNG FOLKS

ACROSTIC POEM.

Never, never let us tarry, as we go the way of life,
Ever fearless and undaunted, let us battle through the strife.
Verily, 'tis hard to follow in the way that conscience shows,
Even he who plants the seedling, still must tend the flower he sows,

Rendering what God has given, into gentle harmony,
Sowing through the coming harvest we may never, never see,
And although death soon o'ertakes us, when this mission we fulfil,
Yet, although the world forgets us, virtue will remember still.

Dare, then, to exist and labor, close to Mother Nature's breast,
In this world our tasks await us, and we have no time to rest,
Even though the way be dreary, God must know that all is best.

OUR LITTLE GRAY HELPER.

Poorly Equipped by Nature, Yet He Does His Work Well.

We have a little gray helper who cannot hear, nor see, nor make any noise. He wears a little gray coat, and he lives in tiny caves which he burrows out for himself. Our little gray helper has no feet, so he crawls.

He works busily for us all day in the ground under our feet, coming out chiefly at night to get his food. Then he does not take anything which anyone wants, but only fallen leaves and bits of stuff which no one cares about, and which are best out of the way.

Although much less fortunate than we, having neither legs, nor feet, nor hands, nor eyes, nor ears, he has all that is necessary to the performance of the work he has to do; and since our little gray helper has all he needs, and does his work, and does it well, we may think of him as being quite content and happy. And since the work that he does for us is very necessary and important work, and since he does it exceedingly well, we need not regard him with less than respect.

He has a system of blood vessels, a nervous system, and—yes, a brain. When you come to consider him under a microscope and in relation to the work he has to do, he is quite an interesting and exquisite bit of mechanism. He uses his brain, and has wisdom to know what to eat and how to get it. Though he has neither eyes nor hands, before taking anything into his cave, he examines it carefully by means of his one sense (touch), and with his little upper lip, which the scientists call prostomium. This lip is very sensitive.

He is prudent and thrifty, always dragging into his little house enough to secure him against the coming day, for blind and deaf as he is, he knows it is not wise to be out in the daytime, for the birds and their babies like him entirely too well.

He also knows that, being of a chilly nature, he will need to be wrapped up a bit when he goes to sleep in his cave, so he makes his own little bed of blades of grass and bits of leaves which he has dragged in with the little lip that does so much. He seems to like fresh air when he can get it, so he rests with his head near the mouth of his cave, and Mother Nature, realizing that this might give Robin Redbreast an unfair advantage of him, provided him with a head-covering darker than the rest of his coat, and very nearly the color of earth.

Great Names.

This game can be played by as many as like to take part.

Every player is provided with paper and pencil, and at a given signal each begins to write down on the paper all the names of celebrated people that he can recall, beginning with the letter "A"—musicians, artists, authors, Bible characters, or any others—only the player must be able to prove whether he really lived and what he was. One of the players must time the game with a watch. He gives, say, three minutes for the letter "A," and by that time all must stop writing. Then go on with all the letters of the alphabet, giving the same time for each. The one who has the largest number of names is the winner.

The Bells of Cologne.

If you want to hear the "belles of Cologne" just take a silver tablespoon, tie a piece of string around the slender part of the handle so as to have two ends of the string. Wind an end of the string around the first finger of each hand, placing the tops of each finger in each ear. Allow the back of the spoon to strike the edge of a wooden table.

Mabel Wanted to Know.

Litttle Mabel was visiting in the country and saw some little pigs for the first time. What attracted her attention most was the twist in their tails, and after looking at them in wonder for quite a while, she asked: "Say, grandpa, does the piggies' mamma put their tails up in curl papers every night?"

Colors in the Soap Bubble.

The beautiful colors seen in the soap bubble arise from the fact that the bubble, being very thin, reflects light from both the outer and inner surfaces of the film.

"You see, madam, Ivory Soap is really the most economical. The cake is so large that it easily divides into two cakes of the ordinary size. There is twice as much soap as you get in the usual cake of toilet soap. Then it is very economical in use, for although it lathers quickly, it is always firm and hard, even in hot water. As it floats, you can not lose it or leave it to waste in the bowl. We sell it to all of our best trade for general use."

GOLF.

The new scheme of keeping track of the kind of service given by the caddies at the Hillside Tennis and Golf Club has worked very well. Now that the caddies realize that any inattention or poor service is likely to be reported, they are doing much better.

There is some talk to the effect that another year will see the present course of the Park Golf Club enlarged to eighteen holes. The rumor has not taken very visible shape as yet but there is likely to be some improvements to the course at the end of this season.

Several of the caddies at the course of the Hillside and Tennis and Golf Club were discharged a few days ago. They were found playing over the course on their own account with clubs that they had borrowed without leave from various members. The example made of them will probably prevent any occurance of the trouble in the future.

There is considerable interest among the members of the Park Golf Club in the contest for the Mrs. C. W. McCutchen Cup. G. W. Faber now leads with six points with W. de la R. Anderson and Fred P. Taylor tied for second with five points each. As Taylor plays at the Park Club links very seldom now, the race really lies between Faber and Anderson. The wonderful playing of Anderson during the last two weeks has promise in it of an exciting contest for the trophy despite the fact that he is accorded no handicap.

ROD AND GUN.

The Cranford Game and Fish Protective Association is now incorporated. The officers of the association are Robert J. Mix, president; George M. Van Gann, vice-president, and C. W. Johnson, secretary and treasurer. The board of directors is composed of William C. Elsbre, S. T. Marshall, John Marien, Martin Hess, M. O. Doering, George A. Morrison and James E. Warner. The object of the association is to protect the sports of fishing and gunning in Cranford. All of the farmers are members of the association, and their lands will be posted. Quail, English pheasant and partridges have been placed on the farms by the association.

ing room eating their supper. They came to the door leading to the pool room and inquired as to what was going on. She saw Harry Dunham lying on the floor and she asked him if he was hurt, and he replied in the negative. She then went back to her supper after which the second shot was fired.

Edward Mitchell and Libson Pierson were in the pool room when the shooting occurred and they will probably be the most valuable witnesses. It is also reported that Prosecutor Voorhees has been to Trenton to interview Roantree and get his evidence.

It has been reported that Herman Dentz was present at the time of the shooting. This is incorrect, for at that time Mr. Dentz was dead, and Mrs. Dentz was running the place. It is not known where William Kohn, the bartender, is. People who ought to know say that Lisbon Pierson will make one of the very best witnesses for the prosecution.

Officials from New Brunswick have been visiting New Market for the purpose of collecting material for the prosecution, and it is reported that much has been secured.

PARTICULAR MENTION.

Col. Wilson, of "Tunlaw," has recovered from a slight indisposition.

James W. DeGraff and family, of Central avenue, are stopping at Watch Hill, R. I.

C. Frank French, of Washington avenue, is confined to his home with an attack of pneumonia.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Herbert Case, of Duer street, are home again, after a delightful two weeks' outing at Hydeville, N. Y.

Judge Herr, of Flemington, Hunterdon county, has returned home after a short visit with his sister, Mrs. S. S. Swackhamer, of the borough.

Died from Injury Received in Navy.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Elizabeth, July 26—Henry Dillon, only son of the late Edward Dillon, formerly a member of the Elizabeth police force, died yesterday afternoon at his home, 1080 Magnolia avenue, age thirty-eight. He was in the navy several years ago and there received an injury from the effect of which he never recovered. He was unmarried.

HORSE WANTS AN OWNER

GEORGE BECKER FOUND IT NEAR AVON PARK.

Animal is a Sorry Specimen But Carriage and Harness are in Good Condition—It Was Tied to a Tree

In this case it was the owner rather than the horse that had been stolen. George Becker, who lives on the road that leads from Park avenue at Avon Park to the grounds of the Hillside Tennis and Golf Club, found the animal, with a buggy attached, yesterday morning at 4 o'clock. The horse was a sad specimen with extremely prominent bones and looked as if a good meal would do it a world of good.

When Becker went out to the barn yesterday morning his dog drew his attention down the road toward Park avenue. The strange horse was hitched to a tree by the rein thirty feet from the roadway. The horse was a black with both hind feet unshod and rather small. His breathing apparatus was evidently out of order.

The harness was in good condition and was marked on the bridle by an initial, "B" The buggy was a black one, in good condition, with a lap-robe and the stump of a whip in it.

Becker took the horse and buggy home, and fed the animal which was very hungry. He waited for the owner to appear, but none came. A stranger came to the house yesterday afternoon and inquired the name of the owner of the place. He wore a straw hat and was cheaply dressed. In response to Becker's inquiries he said that he did not lose a horse, but did not explain his errand.

This morning Becker drove the horse to town and notified Sergeant Kiely of the circumstances of the finding of the rig. At the advice of the Sergeant he drove the animal home instead of putting it up in a local livery stable to await its owner. There is no clue to the owner.

ROOSEVELT WILL SPEAK

At the Ocean Grove Summer School, on Thursday, Aug. 3.

Hon. Theodore Roosevelt, Governor of the State of New York, who rendered the nation invaluable service as Assistant Secretary of the Navy, and who, with marvelous energy, in 60 days organized, equipped and drilled the Rough Riders and led them victoriously to the heights of San Juan before Santiago, has positively engaged to speak at the Ocean Grove Summer School, Thursday evening, Aug. 3d. Dr. Price, dean of the school, visited Oyster Bay this week and received positive assurance from His Excellency that he will speak in the great Auditorium on the date named, his subject being "Practical Politics and Decent Politics." The Central Railroad of New Jersey has placed at the disposal of the school a private car for the distinguished guest and those who will accompany him. Hon. Foster M. Voorhees, if able to do so, will welcome Gov. Roosevelt at Jersey City, and extending to him the hospitality of the State, will accompany him to Ocean Grove, and when the hour arrives for his address will present him to the vast audience sure to be assembled in this, the largest real auditorium on the continent.

GOLD IN MIDDLESEX COUNTY.

Mr. Gerke Thinks the Well Borings Indicate a Paying Vein.

Herman Gerke, the Carteret blacksmith, has been having a well bored. Among the borings was a bright metal which attracted the attention of one of the idlers. The metal was gathered up and tested by a local chemist. He pronounced it gold.

It has long been known that gold in small veins is marked on maps by the State minerologists, but Mr. Gerke thinks he has found the precious metal in paying quantities.

Several options are reported taken on the land adjoining the Gerke place, and there is talk of a stock company to work this Jersey Klondike.

Married Quietly.

Louis W. Green, of North Plainfield, and Jesse E. Burns, of Newark, were married by Justice Mosher last night. The ceremony was performed at the justice's home on East Fourth street at 6:30 o'clock. The witnesses were Mrs. Ida and Maria Minor, relatives of the groom. The bride gave her age as 18. The couple said they were going to the Catskills to enjoy their honeyman.

No Right to Ugliness.

The woman who is lovely in face, form and temper will always have friends, but one who would be attractive must keep her health. If she is weak, sickly and all run down, she will be nervous and irritable. If she has constipation or kidney trouble, her impure blood will cause pimples, blotches, skin eruptions and a wretched complexion. Electric Bitters is the best medicine in the world to regulate stomach, liver and kidneys and to purify the blood. It gives strong nerves, bright eyes, smooth, velvet skin, rich complexion. It will make a good-looking, charming woman of a run-down invalid. Only 50 cents at L. W. Randolph's Drug Store.

STATE NEWS IN BRIEF.

HAPPENINGS IN A FEW LINES FROM ALL OVER JERSEY.

More or Less Important Happenings and Events in Various Sections Served For a Quick Glance at.

The Pennsylvania Railroad Company has begun the work of building a station at North Elizabeth.

The Elizabeth Banking Company is planning to put up a bank building of brick and iron. It will be at East Jersey and First streets.

The annual outing of the Elizabeth Police Department taxes place today. From three to four thousand people will go on the excursion up Long Island Sound.

The syndicate of New Brunswick business men who have purchased the rights, patents and plant of the National Water-Tube Boiler Company, will form an incorporated company and continue the plant, which is one of the city's important employing industries.

Fifty officials, lawyers, jurymen and witnesses, waited an hour yesterday for Judge Strong to open court in New Brunswick. A messenger was finally sent to the Judge's office. Judge Strong had made a mistake in setting down the date and did not know that court was to be held.

DIDN'T GET THE JOB.

That is the Reason Why William Texier Was Badly Assaulted.

William Texier, the glove manufacturer at Washingtonville, became engaged in a dispute with a New York glove maker at his home last evening. As a result he was severely assaulted. He was struck on the right ear and the left jaw, and was bruised considerably. He lost a quantity of blood and at first it was thought his injuries would prove serious. Dr. J. Hervey Buchanan was called in place of Dr. Zeglio, the family physician, who was away, and he gave the proper treatment. At present no serious results are expected.

The man committing the assault came to Plainfield for work, but in talking with Mr. Texier misunderstood him and the assault followed. No arrests have thus far been made.

COULDN'T TAKE COFFIN IN HOUSE.

Difficulties Attending the Funeral of William M. Ihrie.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

New Brunswick, July 26—The funeral of William Muirhead Ihrie took place yesterday. Owing to the great size of the body, a special coffin had to be constructed for him. It was two feet six inches wide, twenty-four inches high, and six feet eight inches long. It was lined with zinc and weighed nearly 500 pounds. It was too large to be taken into the house. It was put in the front door as far as possible, about half its length, and the corpse was then brought down and placed in it.

DEATH OF MRS. HELLWIG.

She is the Mother of the Teacher of Foreign Languages.

The death of Mrs. Clara P. Hellwig, aged 73 years, occurred this morning at her residence, corner of Watchung avenue and East Fifth street. She was the mother of Miss Clara S. Hellwig, a teacher of languages in this city. She is a native of Russia, but has lived in this country many years. She expected to leave in a few days for Saratoga to visit her brother. Death was due to age infirmities. She leaves a daughter, two brothers and a married sister.

Accepted a Good Position.

Many Plainfielders will join in congratulating Erwin Stratton Cooley, son of Dr. J. H. Cooley, of the borough, upon his recent success. In June last he was graduated from Cornell University as a mechanical engineer, and has just accepted a lucrative position with the Newport News Shipbuilding Company, of Newport News, Va. He has entered upon his duties and is now in the engine department. Mr. Cooley has always evidenced strong talent for things mechanical, and his success is due to his own efforts in making a place for himself.

Trolley Car Jumped the Track.

While one of the cars of the Plainfield Street Railway Company was passing down the hill on Woodland avenue this afternoon, the car jumped the track and ran into the bank on the side of the road.

The rear of the car blocks the track. No one was injured. The car will be returned to the tracks this afternoon.

Union County Boulevard Report

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Elizabeth, July 26—Justice Van-Syckel is expected to be in this city today to receive and pass upon the report of the Westfield Avenue Commissioners, who have completed their labors in appraising the value of the land as far as Cranford that will be needed for the new county boulevard.

—A meeting of representatives of the different colored churches in Plainfield was held last evening, and it was agreed to give a union excursion to Boynton Beach Wednesday, August 16th.

COURT CHARGES $700.

Watchung Avenue Contestants Will Have to Pay the Amount.

The Supreme Court has just completed its apportionment of the court charges among the contestants in the the Watchung avenue improvement, outside of the original assessment, and Collector George F. Brown is now able to furnish those interested with the information on the subject. The borough officials have been waiting a considerable length of time for this report. The total amount of charges will be about $700.

PROPOSED STATION FOR TROLLEY ROAD.

Exchange Depot at North Avenue Suggested.

ON PRIVATE PROPERTY.

HORSEHOE DOUBLE-TRACK SWITCH TO REACH IT.

Watchung Avenue Would No Longer be Blocked by Waiting Trolley Cars, and the Passengers Would Have Some Place Wherein to Await Arrival of Cars—Would Improve Present Service.

One of the questions that the Plainfield Street Railway Company will have to consider with the extension of its lines and the completion of the Elizabeth-Plainfield line will be proper facilities for the care of its passengers and cars at the North avenue exchange. The lengthening of the old switch there will answer for a time, but the advent of more cars is bound to bring some kind of a change. At present there is no attempt to provide for the shelter and comfort of the patrons of the cars.

It has been suggested that the company would do well to establish a regular terminal station on property adjacent to Watchung and North avenues and there do away with the present system that practically appropriates Watchung avenue for a block. The plan suggested was that the company should possess itself of property on Watchung avenue at the head of North avenue and run a horseshoe shaped two track switch through it so that the cars on their arrival at the exchange depot would not stand in the public thoroughfare, partically blocking it as at present, but would be equally convenient to the public. There would be plenty of room to accommodate all the cars that the company wished. A switch connecting the two tracks would provide for any arrangement that might necessitate the turning of cars.

To the public a very popular feature of the plan would be the depot or waiting room where passengers could find shelter and rest while awaiting the arrival of the cars. At present the company makes absolutely no provision for them and only through the kindness of A. D. Mallson, whose pharmacy stands on the corner, can they find any place to wait or find shelter in time of storm.

The wonderful growth of the trolley systems in the past few years is likely to be repeated in the future. With Plainfield the terminal of the line connecting this city and Elizabeth, there will be a great increase in the traffic as well as in the number of cars. It will soon become positively necessary for the traction companies to do something. The proposed plan seems to answer the requirements and would undoubtedly add greatly to the efficiency of the present system. With a regular transfer station for its trolley system, Plainfield would hold up its head with the best.

Of course, the trolley company isn't going to any expense that it does not feel absolutely compelled to. Such a station would, however, do away with a present state of affairs that is by no means to be wished for and open one of the main thoroughfares to the free use of vehicles.

A LEHIGH VALLEY EXTENSION.

MR. VOORHEES EXPLAINS

TELLS WHY HE ARRAIGNED BANK WRECKER SO SOON.

Feared That He Might Change His Plea of Guilty and Thus Block Justice for Sometime by Making Appeals.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

New Brunswick, July 27.—Prosecutor John S. Voorhees, who has been subjected to much criticism for permitting George M. Valentine, the defaulting cashing of the Middlesex County Bank, to plead before the full extent of his peculations was known, made the following statement yesterday:

"Valentine came into my office and surrendered himself, plainly under a keen and remorseful sense of the enormity of his offense. He confessed his crime, and when brought before the court a few days later he tendered a plea of guilty. I never heard of an instance in which such a plea was refused.

"But suppose that, in violation of all usage, I had refused to accept the plea and said: 'No, you cannot plead guilty, you must make a fight in court.' In that event the case would not have come before the Grand Jury until the following September. In the meantime Valentine would have been out on bail, as it is a bailable offense under the Constitution. The case would not, in the ordinary course, have been tried until October.

"Then, if his council made a fight, as there is no reason to doubt that they would, a postponement, on account of a sick or absent witness, or a score of other reasons, would probably have been secured. The trial would then have gone over to the January term of court. Assumming that he would then be convicted, his counsel would have carried the case by writ or error to the Supreme Court, where it would have been heard in June, and decided the following November. The case would then have been appealed to the Court of Errors and Appeals and argued at the following March term. It would have reached a final determination in November 1901.

"In the meantime the culprit would have been at liberty all this time, the excitement and ill-feeling and demand for vengeance that surcharge the air now would mostly have abated, and a sentence of six years would probably seem after these delays quite exemplary punishment. Instead of this delay and the large expense the trial would have involved, the culprit is sentenced and in prison six days after the crime is confessed."

NEW MOVE AGAINST LENTZ.

Essex County's Political Leader May Be Disbarred.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Trenton, July 27—The main branch of the Supreme Court yesterday made a rule for Major Carl Lentz, of Newark, to show cause why he should not be disbarred. The Court had before it the report of the Ethics Committee of the Lawyers' Club, of Newark. This committee some time ago conducted an investigation of charges made against Lentz and reported against him. The Court designated Attorney General Grey to conduct the case against the lawyer, but the matter will probably not come up before October.

Lentz was chairman of the Republican county committee and a member of the State Board of Taxation. The charges against him are for retaining money belonging to clients, although it is admitted that the money has long since been paid over to those clients. None of the latter is back of the prosecution.

G. A. R. ENCAMPMENT.

Winfield Scott Post, of this City, to be Well Represented.

The local post of the G. A. R. are making preparations to have the city well represented at their annual encampment, which will be held in Philadelphia this year. The New Jersey veterans will be the guests of the Camden G. A. R.

Philadelphia intends to make this encampment a most noteworthy affair The court of honor, which was the most admired feature of the peace jubilee, will be erected again. It will be over twice the length of the one built last October. It will extend along Broad street on both sides of the public buildings, from Walnut to Cherry streets. Fairmount Park will afford camping room for thousands of the old soldiers.

CHOICE OF A GYPSY QUEEN TO BE SOON.

Shall it be Laura Harrison or Her Cousin Posey.

THE CLANS ARE GATHERING.

CHARMING TRAITS OF ONE OF THE CANDIPATES.

The Camp Near Fanwood is the Objective Point for Visits of Many Plainfielders—One Resident Came From Boston—A Welcome for All Who Pay a Visit to the Gypsy Camp.

The encampment of the Harrison tribe of gypsies, half way between here and Fanwood and only a comfortable walk from either station, is already a point of pilgrimage not only for residents and visitors in this vicinity, but also for people from New York and even from a greater distance. Tuesday a woman from north of Boston, who has consulted "Snake Mary," the Gypsy Queen, in former years during the romany wanderings up the New England circuit to Canada and learned to know her, came over from New York to see her. Acquaintances from other places have called to see the aged Queen, who has travelled America for sixty of her ninety-four years, besides casual visitors and curious strangers.

It is perhaps a peculiarity of the Harrison band, of which the Queen is a member, that they make friends wherever they go. They make a point of doing so, and they travel practically a beaten path in New Jersey and Delaware, returning year after year or at short intervals to the places of their former encampments. Only occasionally do they tour "York State," or wander into Canada, or move into the South for a winter, sometimes going as far as New Orleans. They go from time to time to the District of Columbia, where they hold some real estate and where they bury their dead.

"There's no place Old Harrison has been where he can't go and camp again," said James Harrison, the business head of the band and son-in-law of the Queen, today. "You can just say 'Old Harrison,' too. They know me, and that's what they call me."

His name is James Harrison. He is about 50 years old, apparently, and he has six sons and a daughter, who is likely within a few days to be crowned Queen at this Netherwood camp, when the rest of the Harrison tribe assemble. They are on the way here now. One band is now in camp a few miles away to the west, and will reach here tomorrow or next day, with them coming the only rival to Old Harrison's daughter for the office of Queen. Members of the tribe are on their way here from Delaware and California and from England and Egypt, Harrison says. The exact date of their arrival he does not know, but he expects them in a week or little more. Those from the other side of the water cabled that they would come, he said today, and so he knows they are coming, but not the steamer that is to bring them. Those journeying in the true Tsigane way in this country, he says, have been retarded by the rains. The Gypsies, though using the railroads rarely and only as individuals, utilize the mails in their intercourse with each other as well as with the outside world.

When the rest of the tribe arrive, while the reunion will be interesting as the first general gathering of the Harrisons in a score of years, the episode of highest interest and importance will be the crowning of the new Queen, who will, however, in no sense supersede "Snake Mary," but be a coadjutor Queen, as it were, succeeding to absolute sovereignity only on "Snake Mary's" death. "Snake Mary's" years sit heavily upon her, although when well she does the work about her own tent and upon occasion does a dance as sprightly as those of the younger people about her. The cares of the government of her people, however, and the demands of fortune telling and of those who would be cured of adverse "spells" cast upon them by malicious persons of stronger natures task her strength and make her willing to share the burdens with one of the younger blood. The "cures" of the Queen are not of bodily ailments, properly the subject of the physician's care. She runs no rival school to Christian Science, but boldly says that those ills only which weak persons suffer as the prey of stronger minds yield to the power of her royal will.

With Old Harrison and his band the Queen always travels, and as a consequence his daughter Laura has

MANY FLEE FROM HEAT.

METHODISTS TOOK A BIG CROWD TO THE SHORE.

Excursion of the Methodist Churches to Asbury Park This Morning was Largest of Season—Fifteen Carloads.

Anything with a promise of relief in it from the humid weather conditions couldn't help but be a success. A day at the seashore, offered by the excursion of the Methodist churches of Plainfield and Dunellen this morning, was viewed with general approbation and the largest crowd of the season for any of the day's outing to Asbury Park turned out. Fifteen cars just packed full of expectant humanity left the North Avenue station for the shore to return tonight.

The train started from Dunellen where the contingent of the M. E. church there was first picked up. There was only one section of fifteen cars which, it was supposed, would amply accommodate all who wanted to go. The train wasn't large enough to take care of all those who decided to run away from the sweltering heat and enjoy a day at the shore.

All the Methodist Sunday-schools of the city sent big delegations and then there were many others who took advantage of the opportunity to go to Asbury Park. When the excursion train came in on the third track just after the departure of the 7:55 New York express, the platform was packed with the excursionists, all arrayed in their best in honor of the day. The train pulled up opposite the station and stopped, and immediately there was a great rush for the platforms and the excursionists fairly swarmed into the train. It didn't take long to fill the seats and there wasn't a car that did not have a number standing besides. Extra cars were probably added at Roselle. The train leaves the Park on the return at 6 o'clock.

THERE MAY BE HAIR PULLING

Husband and Wife Go Separarely on a Day's Lark, But Will Meet.

From all accounts there is likely to be trouble today between some Plainfield people who went to Elizabethport to join the members of a colored lodge at that place in an excursion up the Hudson river. A well-known local dusky brave, who is married, decided that he would go on the excursion unbeknown to his wife, and take a young lady friend who has no husband. The two met at the North Avenue station early this morning and boarded the 7 o'clock train for Elizabethport, enjoying a sweet consciousness that they were unobserved and no one would know the condition of affairs.

After the married man had left his home it occurred to his wife that she would like to go on the excursion, and as her husband had not said anything to her about it, she would just go and say nothing to him. Accordingly she left Plainfield on the 7:29 train, a half hour later, and in plenty of time to catch the boat at Elizabethport. Of course, it cannot be stated at this time what the result will be, but it is safe to predict that when the wife meets her husband in company with the young woman, there is sure to be some fun, and if the man gets his hair pulled he will have no one to blame but himself.

Diamond Stud in a Gutter.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

New Brunswick, July 27—Robert J. Smith, of this city, had a diamond stud returned to him yesterday afternoon that had been missing some days. The stud, which was worth $100, was lost fifteen days ago. He sent his laundry to the local branch of an Elizabeth establishment July 11th. The stud had dropped out in the wash and was thrown into the gutter. When picked up by the engineer of the laundry the diamond was a few feet from the opening of the sewer.

Bank Dividend Declared

That sound and substantial instttution—the City National Bank—has just declared a semi-annual dividend of 4 per cent. on the capital stock of the bank. ## STILL REFUSE TO GIVE UP DARLING.

Defiant Stand Taken By the Pennsylvania Officials.

NEW AND FLIMSY CHARGE.

LEGAL SUBTERFUGE TO DETAIN THE PRISONER THERE.

Correct News of the Situation Given by the Fulton County Republican—Prosecutor Voorhees Went to Harrisburg Today to Interview Governor Stone or a Representative of His.

New Brunswick, N. J., July 27.—The officials of Middlesex county are still in the dark about what the officials of Fulton county, Pa., are finally going to do towards honoring the requisition for the body of William Darling, the murderer.

This morning Prosecutor Voorhees, being unable to get satisfactory information as to how the legal tangle is, left for Harrisburg, where he will interview Governor Stone, or his representatives, and try to get the requisition honored.

Mayor Rockfeilow received a telegram from Captain Grant yesterday. The latter is at McConnellsburg, Pa., with Detective Ferguson, attempting to secure Darling for the purpose of bringing him to New Brunswick. The Captain informed His Honor that he could not tell exactly when he would reach home.

Through the courtesy of the Fulton County Republican, at McConnellsburg, Pa., The Daily Press is able to print the following article which is published in that paper today, and which gives the correct news of the situation in the Darling case:

William Darling who was arrested in Thompson township by Sheriff Sheets, District Attorney Daniels and Jacob Hess, Friday the 14th inst., for the murder of Harry Dunham at New Market, New Jersey, in 1895 is still in the custody of Sheriff Sheets at the Fulton county jail. He is not here by any negligence or indifference on the part of the authorities in New Jersey, for upon learning of his arrest they sent a man here last week who identified him as the man wanted by the Middlesex county authorities.

Last Monday night County Detective John R. Ferguson, of New Brunswick, and George W. Grant, Chief of Police, at Plainfield, the home of Darling, arrived with the requisition papers from Governor Stone and demanded the prisoner. Sheriff Sheets and District Attorney Daniels refused to turn Darling over to them until fully remunerated for making the arrest and his detention.

The New Jersey officers informed the officers here that they had no authority to settle the claim, but that the proper officers of Middlesex county would promptly pay them after the bill was passed on by their Board of Freeholders. To this proposition our officers would not agree, and the New Jersey officers telegraphed their superior officers for instructions. The officials of the two State departments were put in communication, and directions were given out to make application to our county Judge for his transfer, Judge Kirk, who happened to be in town on other business, was asked to decide the matter, but as Judge Morton was absent he refused to take cognizance of the case.

A dispatch from the State Department at Harrisburg, asking why the Sheriff refused to recognize the requisition for Darling's extradition, was answered to the effect that the men wanting Darling refused to pay the expenses for his arrest and detention. Several telegrams passed between the New Jersey officers and their superiors and between our officers and Harrisburg, but the problem was unsolved until Wednesday morning, when Jacob Hess, who helped make the arrest, came to this place and made information against Darling for carry deadly and concealed weapons and pointing the same at him. It is claimed by some that this takes precedent over the charges for which he was arrested, and that he will have to be tried here and serve his sentence before the New Jersey authorities can take him; while others claim that his being under arrest for one crime, he cannot be tried on another until that one is disposed of. The matter is now in a legal knot which we hope will soon be untied.

As we said in last week's Republican, there are a great many stories on the street about the man and many more about the men who came after him. All agree that those who captured Darling should be well paid for their work, but the vital question is

EIGHT HOUR WORK DAY.

LABOR UNION MEN WILL TRY TO INAUGURATE IT.

The Matter Considered at the Semi-Annual Meeting of the Union County Trades' Council Held in Elizabeth.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Elizabeth, July 27.—At the semi-annual meeting of the Union County Trades' Council, held in this city, it was stated that the unions of Plainfield, Westfield, Rahway, Roselle, Cranford and New Orange, will soon take steps to inaugurate the eight-hour law in their respective towns.

It is rumored that before the Kean and the Riker-Gaddis Hine trolleys are in operation they will have to deal with the Street Railway Brotherhood, before they will be able to get the full quota of motormen and conductors with which to run the road.

Several new delegations were admitted and the reports from the iron trades were reported to be excellent. Iron moulders, coremakers, patternmakers, iron shipbuilders, machinists, toolmakers, screwmakers, polishers and boilermakers were reported as being exceptionally busy and increasing in membership rapidly.

The building trades were not behind the others in amount of work before them or behind in their proportion of membership. County Organizer J. L. Cosgrove has had to call for assistance in his work, which is now almost completed.

ONE YEAR PAST CENTURY POINT.

Mrs. Phebe Doty Hedges Celebrated Her 101st Birthday Today.

Miss Phebe Doty Hedges is 101 years old today. She lives in the old Doty homestead, near Summit. She has always led an active life, and still keeps busy, although having been confined to a wheel chair for nine years, the result of a broken hip. She takes great interest in knitting rugs, and her friends keep her supplied with bright colors. One of the specimens of her handiwork is in the Nova Cæsarea room at the Wallace house in Somerville. Mrs. Hedges comes from Mayflower stock, being a lineal decendant of Edward Doty, or Dotew, a passenger on the Mayflower. Papers showing that her father James Doty, served as a minuteman in the Revolution are now in the possession of Mrs. Hedges. When the D. A. R. received her into membership of that society as a "real daughter," the national society sent her a gold spoon prettily engraved. This token is always presented by the society to a "real daughter."

Politicians Strengtnening Fences.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Flemington, July 27.—The Hunterdon county farmers' picnic was held in Prall's Grove yesterday afternoon. The attendance was larger than on former occasions. Addresses were delivered by Newton Rittenhouse, Rev. L. D. Temple, Mortimer Whitehead and others. Politicians were present in large numbers from all over the county looking after their respective interests for the offices of Surrogate, Sheriff and Assemblymen, which are to be filled this fall. Attorney Paul A. Queen appears to have the inside track for the Surrogate nomination, while Freeholder Jacob Dilts, of Ringoes, leads for Sheriff.

Its Golden Anniversary.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Rahway, July 27.—Preparations are being made for celebrating here in October next the golden anniversary of the old Second, now Trinity M. E. church, of which Rev. Dr. W. S. Gallaway, formerly of Paterson, is pastor. According to the proposed programme the celebration will begin Sunday, October 22d, and continue through the week. Noted preachers, among them former pastors, will participate.

Naval Reserves' Prize Shooters.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Jersey City, July 27.—The New Jersey Naval Reserves, now at sea in the cruiser Prairie, are expected to return today from their cruise. A letter received yesterday from on board the vessel at Gardener's Bay, L. I., says that Seamen Kavanaught, Price and Desmond have taken the prizes in the practice with big guns, and that Captain McKenzie, who is in charge of the ship, says the Naval Reserves are "all right."

INHUMAN TREATMENT OF A DUMB BEAST.

Becker's Cruelty Gets Him Into Trouble.

NEGLECTED A LAME HORSE.

AGENT FOR THE S. P. C. A. HAD TO KILL IT.

The Animal Had Been "Hoppled" and Left in the Hot Sun While "Shoe-boils" Crippled It—Summoned Before Justice Storms of New Market—His Story About Finding a Horse Believed to be a Ruse.

There is a strong suspicion that George Becker, who drove into town yesterday morning with an apology for a horse which he told Acting Chief Kiely he had found tied to a tree near his home, may be attempting a ruse to deceive the authorities.

Becker lives on the road leading from Park avenue at Avon Park. He has been the owner of one or two horses that were in such a condition as to compel the attention of William N. Pangborn, local agent for the S. P. C. A.

Some weeks ago while on her way to the Hillside Golf grounds about 10 o'clock a lady noticed a bay horse in a pasture near the highway. There was little grass visible and the poor beast was "hoppled."

The sun was beating upon the animal's emaciated form, which was also covered with hundreds of pesky flies.

The lady made complaint to agent Pangborn who made an investigation. Others horses were found and evidences were apparent that they were being ill treated. One horse had two shoe boils which greatly crippled it.

They had been cut by Becker and then not properly treated, so that maggots and blow flies had left the horse in a frightful condition. To end the poor beast's sufferings Agent Pangborn had the animal killed.

As Becker lives in Middlesex county, Agent Pangborn lodge a complaint against him with Justice Storms, of New Market. The justice issued a summons for Becker last Friday. It is returnable Saturday. William K. McClure, of this city, has been retained to prosecute Becker on behalf of the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals. Some people are inclined to the belief that Becker knows more about the horse he claims to have found hitched to a tree, than he is willing to admit.

JERSEY VETS AGAIN MEET.

Volunteers of 1863 Hold Their Tenth Reunion in Flemington.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Flemington, July 27—The Thirty-fifth Regiment New Jersey Veteran Volunteers held their tenth annual reunion here yesterday. Lambert Boeman Post, No. 48, G. A. R., met the veterans at the Central station and escorted them to the post's headquarters in the Opera House. These officers were elected:

President, Lieut. Wm. H. Ludley, of Plainfield; vice-presidents, Capt. Hixson, Company A, Hoboken; D. S. Britton, Company B; John Schible, Company C; A. Stahburg, Company D; James Vanover, Company E; D. C. Hutchinson, Company F; Edward Schenck, Company G; P. M. Garman, Company H; Joseph Musgrove, Company I; John B. Warner, Company K; secretary, John A. Lutz; treasurer, Lieut. E. A. Cushman.

At the Court House Commander John Foran delivered the address of welcome. It was responded to by James F. Connelly, of Newark. The regiment was mustered into service in Flemington in 1863

Damage to a Horse.

Victor D. Schomp has begun an action in tort against John Mair. The parties live at Dog Corners. The plaintiff alleges that one of his horses was injured by a barbed wire fence on Mair's property. The case will be tried before Justice Mosher Saturday. S. S. Swackhamer appears for the plaintiff.

Testimony in Divorce Case.

Testimony was taken yesterday before John H. VanWinkle, special master, in the divorce case of Whepley against Whepley, both of South Plainfield. F. A. Pope was the solicitor.

Three Cases of Diphtheria.

There are now three cases of diphtheria in the borough, all of which are on the way to recovery. No further spread of the disease is anticipated.

Growing in Popularity.

Armstrong, the druggist, shipped a dozen bottles of his celebrated petroleum hair tonic to Dorchester, Mass., today.

John French, a former resident of Plainfield, but now of Brooklyn, is visiting in town.

GERMANY'S WOOL TRADE

Noteworthy Change in Imports Reported by Commercial Agent.

ARGENTINE RANKS FIRST

South American Product Takes the Place of That Furnished by the English Colonies.

Extensive Increase Noted in Germany's Imports From the Argentine Republic Within the Past Few Years—Captain Michie Appointed Assistant Adjt. General.

Washington, July 27.—Louis Stern, commercial agent at Bamberg, reports to the State Department that a noteworthy change in favor of South American wool has taken place in German imports within the last few years. Whereas formerly wool from the English colonies, especially Australian wool, formed the main portion of German wool imports, the Argentine Republic has taken since 1897 first rank among the countries interested in supplying this market.

The German wool imports from Great Britain consist almost exclusively of Australian and Cape wool. According to official statistics, Germany imported in 1898 about 71,000 double cwts. (15,652,660) pounds) of Australian and Cape wool, and about as much in 1897, against 970,000 double cwts. (213,846,200 pounds) in 1895.

The wool imported from Argentine Republic, including that from Belgium, which is mainly of Argentine origin, amounted to 927,000 double hundred weight (204,366,420 pounds) in 1898, against 770,000 double hundred weight (169,754,200 pounds) in 1897 and 750,000 double hundred weight (165,345,000 pounds) in 1895. The falling off in the imports of British colonial wool is chiefly due to the decrease in the imports from Australia: the latter have since 1895 gone down by one-third. A further decrease in the imports of wool from that country is to be expected during the next few years, for according to a report from New South Wales the prolonged drought has caused the colony a direct loss of about 20,000,000 sheep, and the whole production of Australian wool has in a single year gone down from 1,500,000 to 250,000 bales of wool.

Capt. R. E. L. Michie Appointed.

Washington, July 27.—Capt. Robert E. L. Michie, acting Judge Advocate-General of the Department of Havana province and Pinar del Rio, has been appointed by President McKinley a Major and Assistant Adjutant-General of Volunteers to succeed Major Kennon, appointed Colonel of one of the new volunteer regiments. Capt. Michie entered the military academy in 1881, and has served with the 2d, 5th and 6th Cavalry regiments. In the war with Spain he was appointed Major and Assistant Adjutant-General of the 7th Corps under Major-Gen. Fitzhugh Lee.

Naval Order of St. Louis.

Albany, N. Y., July 27.—There has been incorporated with the Secretary of State the Naval Order of Saint Louis (Spanish-American War—1898). Its objects are for the purpose of meeting together and continuing the good fellowship and feeling begun while commissioned officers on board of or with the United States ship St. Louis, and to perpetuate the memory of the part that ship and her consorts took in the Spanish-American War. The directors are R. Lloyd Parker, surgeon; Lieut. Carl W. Jungen, who was with the Maine explosion, and John Walls, chief engineer, of New York City.

Against Slot Machines.

Ft. Wayne, Ind., July 27.—Judge Baker has dissolved a temporary injunction against Mayor Sherrer and Superintendent Gorsline, which restrained them from interfering with the operations of the Binney nickel in the slot machines. It was claimed that the machines were advertising devices, but it was shown they were nothing but gambling machines. The police will rid the city of them.

Will Accept the Franchise.

Columbus, Ohio, July 27.—The Board of Public Works, agreed to accept the franchise of the Federal Gas Company, and demanded a bond of $50,000, which was given. One of the stipulations of the contract is that if the company has the franchise for market, and not "working" purposes, the contract is to be void. The company is compelled to pipe the city within 18 months.

Talk of Independent Combination.

Chicago, July 27.—The proposed $7,500,000 combination of Chicago and Eastern independent manufacturers of telephones, which failed to come to a head several weeks ago, is being talked of again. William T. Blaine of the Victor Telephone Manufacturing Company is credited with being the prime mover in the revived scheme.

Noeltin Exonerated.

Vincennes, Ind., July 27.—The Coroner ordered the body of Lou French, the desperado killed by a mob at Freelandsville, exhumed. A post-mortem examination exonerates Jonas Noeltin, as the surgeons decided that French was killed by a ball near the head from a revolver. Noelting used a shotgun.

Unknown Man Killed.

Ashtabula, Ohio, July 27.—An unknown man was found dead on the Lake Shore Railroad track at Kingsville. The body is in the Conneaut Morgue. It is that of a man about 30 years old, weighing 175 pounds, with short chin and apparantly of Irish parentage.

Iron Workers Strike.

Youngstown, Ohio, July 27.—At the finishing mills of the Andrew Works of the Republic Iron and Steel Company the men all went out on a strike. Saturday was pay day, and the strikers claim they did not get enough wages.

REFORMATORY SHIP BURNS

Hundreds of Lads Prove Amenable to Discipline and are Saved.

Liverpool, July 27.—The Roman Catholic Reformatory ship Clarence was destroyed by fire. It was but a few moments after the fire was discovered until the great three-decker was wrapped in flames.

Intense excitement prevailed until it became known that the hundreds of lads and officers on board the Clarence had been saved by the ferryboats Mersey and Firefly, which quickly made fast to the burning vessel and began pumping water upon the flames.

The boys on board the Clarence worked with the utmost discipline until they were forced to leave the ship with the officers.

The captain's family and Bishop Whiteside, who spent the night on board the Clarence, lost their personal effects.

The crew of the Mersey had a narrow escape, having barely time to regain their own craft, which had the utmost difficulty in getting clear of the burning vessel when the bulwarks of the Mersey were beginning to take fire. Three hours after the fire was discovered the Clarence's back broke and she settled slowly.

This was the second Catholic reformatory ship of the same name that burned on the Mersey River. Her predecessor was fired by boys on board of her.

Say They'll Kill Four Philpots.

Manchester, Ky., July 27.—State Inspector Lester has gone to Frankfort to make his report to Gov. Bradley. He had scarcely left town when the Howard factions became much in evidence. Ab Howard, Andy Howard, Jim Howard, Chad Hall, Bill Hall, Judge White, John E. White, Charlie White, Bert White and Fuller Barret paraded through the town with their "Forty-fives" buckled on. The members of the Morris and Griffin faction have not been in town, but one of their friends says they are determined to kill four Philpots before they quit. The men so marked are George, his son Peter, who were acquitted for killing Aaron Morris and Hugh Griffin, and Robert and Carl.

Cremation on Shipboard.

Victoria, B. C., July 27.—The Port Albert, from Honolulu, brings word that a case of bubonic plague developed aboard the steamer Nippon Maru, a Chinaman, dying a few days after leaving China. His body was cremated in the ship's furnace in order to destroy all danger of infection. The Weyfield came into Honolulu as the Port Albert was leaving, loaded with horses and stores for Manila. The City of Columbia sailed for China on the 12th inst.

Sent 1,000 Chest Protectors.

Lincoln, Neb., July 27.—It is estimated by the postal authorities that 1,000 chest protectors have been mailed from this State in the last ten days to army headquarters in San Francisco for the benefit of the Nebraska Volunteers, who will arrive there in a few days. The Governor called the attention of the parents of the volunteers to the fact that the general Government did not furnish these things and advised that they be sent by the parents and friends of the boys in order that pneumonia might be avoided.

Mrs. Rich Refuses to Touch Food.

El Paso, Tex., July 27.— Mrs. Rich, who is accused of murdering her husband in Mexico, will be kept incommunicado for a period of only forty-eight hours instead of seventy-two, as the law directs. By direction of Governor Ahumada the prisoner will be permitted to receive visitors two days in the week and accredited newspaper reporters at all times. The trial will begin six weeks hence. Since being locked up in Mexico, Mrs. Rich has refused to eat and is said to be very sullen.

Our Regrets to Italy.

Rome, July 27.—An official communication says that the United States Secretary of State, Mr. John Hay, has instructed the American Embassy to assure the Government of Italy that the United States will adopt legal measures, warranted by the facts, to insure justice in the Tallulhalu lynching affair. The communication adds that Secretary Hay has expressed to the Italian Charge d'Affairs at Washington, the regret of President McKinley for the deplorable occurrence.

Masked Burglars Get $1,000.

Galion, Ohio, July 27.—Masked burglars entered the home of David Miller, living east of here, and after binding the members of the family demanded the key to his safe. It was refused and the burglars piled mattresses and bed clothing on top of their helpless bodies, saturated the mass with kerosene and were about to light it, when the old man weakened, accompanied them to his store and unlocked the safe. They secured about $1,000 in money.

Made Charitable Bequests.

Norwalk, Ohio, July 27.—The will of Mrs. Rosana Moorhouse, who died last week, has been probated. Among her numerous bequests are the following: Norwalk Library and Reading Room Association, $2,000; memorial window in Presbyterian Church, $1,000; Children's Home, $200; Presbyterian Sunday School Library, $200 and Missionary Society $300.

Steamship Officer's Big Fortune.

Seattle, Wash., July 27.—A. Finley, third officer of the steamer Garonne, now being fitted up for a transport, has received word from England that through the death of his father he is heir to an estate amounting to nearly $4,000,000.

Mauna Loa Still Active.

Victoria, B. C., July 27.—The Alaska has arrived from Honolulu. When she left, Mauna Loa was still in eruption. Three streams of lava were flowing down the mountain, and one was within ten miles of Hilo.

Wagon Ran Over Him.

Columbus, Ohio, July 27.—Captain John M. Kruger, aged 80, one of the best-known citizens here, was run down by the reckless driver of a delivery wagon and killed

YES OR NO.

Plainfield People Are Respectfully Asked To Answer These Questions.

Is there anything in the evidence of one's senses?

Can the reader dispute and then disprove local evidence?

Can reliance be placed upon statements from people we know?

Are the opinions of residents of Plainfield of any greater moment than opinions held by residents of Maine or Michigan?

Would you sooner believe people living in those states than those in your own city?

Answer these questions honestly after you have quietly read the following.

Mr. F. O. Smith, of 686 West Front street, contractor for painting, etc., says:—"For sometime I had symptoms of kidney trouble and despite all my endeavors to get rid of it, I never was successful until I obtained a box of Doan's Kidney Pills at L. W. Randolph's drug store. There was a distressing pain across the small of my back which clung to me all the time. When I got seated at times if I moved a sharp pain struck me in the back and loins and almost made me exclaim. Any change in the weather if I caught the least cold always aggravated the trouble and caused me to suffer severely. Doan's Kidney Pills were recommended to me by one of my employes who had been cured of a long standing case of kidney complaint by their use. I commenced the treatment and derived benefit from it immediately, and before I had finished the first box I was cured.

Doan's Kidney Pills for sale by all dealers; price 50 cents a box. Mailed on receipt of price by Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y., sole agents for the U. S.

AMERICANS ARE ATTACKED

Lieutenant Moore and His Men Are Fired Upon By Bandits in Cebu.

ONLY ONE MAN KILLED.

Five of the Attacking Party Killed and Seven Others Taken Prisoner by the Americans.

General Otis Thinks He Could Organize a Third Regiment of Volunteers—The Storms Have Abated and Ship Sails For San Francisco With Troops.

Washington, July 27.—Three cable messages from General Otis were received at the War Department. One reports another engagement with bandits in Cebu, in which the American forces were victorious. It is as follows:—

"Following from Cebu.—Bandits in Cebu mountains robbing and impressing people, coast towns. On Monday Lieutenant Moore, with detachment Twenty-third infantry, while scouting in mountains, fired upon from strongly fortified position; one private killed, name not given. No other casualties. Enemey's loss, five bandits killed, and seven were captured."

Another refers to the organization of the volunteer regiments in the Philippines as follows:—"Bell has enlisted about 500 men. Wallace, still south, has about 400. Lockett now enlisting; has over 400 applications, which are coming in rapidly. Might raise here an additional regiment, exclusively volunteers."

The Colonel Bell referred to in the despatch is in command of thhe Thirty-sixth Infantry, and Colonel Wallace, of the Twenty-seventh. Colonel Lockett is in command of the cavalry regiment which is to raised in the Philippines.

The third despatch says:—"Storm has abated. Sherman coaled, leaves with all troops California; Grant being coaled; leaves in about four days with troops North Dakota, Wyoming and Ihaho. Minnesotas preparing to leave on Sheridan as soon as transport can be unloaded and coaled. Other volunteer organizations leave soon as transports are available."

General Otis has been cabled to send volunteers home as rapidly as possible, it being the desire of the President to have no delay in the matter.

New Governor for Negros.

Manila, July 27.—Gen. Smith has been appointed Military Governor of the island of Negros. The despatch sent by Gen. Otis yesterday in reference to women coming here does not indicate a dangerous development of the situation. It simply refers to the climatic conditions and the difficulties and discomforts which are unavoidably attendant upon the existing circumstances. Many American women who have been here for a few months are now going home.

Frozen to Death in the Klondike.

Seattle, Wash., July 27.—Three more names are added to the long Alaskan death list by a prospector who has just arrived from Kotzebue Sound. The deaths occurred during the early winter, and were from scurvey or exposure. One of the men was C. A. Leanord, of Cleveland, Ohio. Leanord died of exposure while trying to reach Stony Camp, on the Kobuck River, from a camp on Pick River. The distance was but 12 miles, but the trail was very difficult. He was exhausted when he reached the summit and the wind began to freeze his limbs. Two miners who were with him were compelled to push on to save their lives. They fixed Leanord up as well as possible and, reaching camp, sent a rescue party back for him. He was found still alive, but terribly frozen. He died shortly after reaching camp.

Guard on Canadian Lumber.

Toronto, Ont., July 27.—J. B. McWilliams of the Department of Crown Lands has returned from the North, whither he was sent by the Ontario Government to watch the lumbermen and see that no logs were shipped to the United States. Mr. McWilliams says that not a stick has been shipped across the line, nor can any be shipped because of the system of protection inaugurated by the Government.

Plans for Swimming Tournament.

Boston, July 27.—Arrangements are making to hold a big swimming tourney in the Charles River on Labor day. Purses will be offered for amateurs and professionals. The events will be open to all comers, and it will be made a national affair. If Henry Horan does not go to Europe to swim the English Channel he will be one of the contestants.

Capt. John Mack Dead.

Boston, July 27.—Capt. John Mack, a former commander of the Ancient and Honorable Artillery Company, died at his home, 53 Dudley street, Roxbury. He was 75 years old. When he was in command of the Ancients he assisted in entertaining President Arthur, the occasion being Mr. Arthur's visit to this city to take part in the Daniel Webster birthday celebration.

Holmes Was Nominated.

Boston, Mass., July 27.—Gov. Wolcott nominated Justice Oliver Wendell Holmes to be Chief Justice of the Massachusetts Supreme Court Bench, succeding Chief Justice Walbridge A. Field, deceased. The new Chief Justice has been a member of the Supreme Bench for many years and his appointment is regarded in legal circles with eminent satisfaction.

Mr. Walker on Vacation.

San Francisco, July 27.—Aldace F. Walker, of New York, chairman of the Board of Directors of the Santa Fe system, has arrived here, accompanied by Mrs. Walker and their daughters. He will go to Honolulu on a three months' pleasure trip.

WEYLER HIT VERY HARD

He is Harshly Criticised for Revolutionary Talk.

Madrid, July 27.—The discussion of the Army bill in the Senate led to an exciting scene. General Weyler, arguing against any reduction of the strength of the army, warned the Government that the present situation made a revolution highly probable, since it had never been so easy for the army and the people to make common cause. He himself, he said, had never thought of heading a rising, but it must be confessed that revolutions sometimes cleared the political atmosphere and accomplished the work of regeneration. Senor Dato, Minister of the Interior, replying, severely censured General Weyler, dclaring that a general who, with 300,000 men, had failed to suppress the Cuban rebellion, had no right to make such threats, and that any attempt at revolution, no matter by whom, would be proceeded against with the utmost rigor of the law. The Senators warmly applanded Senator Dato's speech. The Army bill was adopted.

GEN. WEYLER.

Anglo-American Fraternity.

London, July 27.—The United States Ambassador, Mr. Joseph H. Choate, speaking at a luncheon of the Staffordshire Agricultural Society Show at Wloverhampton, said he believed that no question could evere arise between Great Britain and the United States to interrupt the constant peace which had held them together during the last eighty-five years. They would, he hoped, never leave each other in the lurch; and he expressed the belief that they would cultivate the same spirit of civilization, justice and freedom which is the real foundation of both governments.

Fed Her Baby to Hogs.

West Chester, Pa., July 27.—Mrs. Fannie Stevenson, colored, of Hamorton, is believed to have crushed her infant child's head with an axe, after which she threw the body into a pen of hungry hogs, by which the remains were devored. Mrs. Stevenson, who is only twenty years old, with her reputed husband, Joseph Stephenson, has fide. It is said that before leaving she made a confession of the crime to some one, and that it reached the ears of the authorities.

Soldiers' Deaths at Santiago.

Washington, July 27.—Gen. Brooke at Havana has cabled the War Department the following: "Death report 23d and 24th Santiago, Benjamin Heggeman, Quartermaster's employe, died 20th, apoplexy; Puerto Principe, Henry Johnson, saddler, Troop E, 8th Cavalry died 22d, yellow fever; William W. Goorick, private, Company G, 15th Infantry, died 23d, yellow fever."

May Tie Up Lake Shipping.

Ahstabula, Ohio, July 27.—The result of the conference between the committee of striking ore handlers and Manager L. C. Hanna, of the M. A. Hanna Docks, held in Cleveland, was unsatisfactory, although some concessions were offered. The belief is expressed that a tie-up of all lake shipping is inevitable.

General Heureaux Assassinated.

Fort de France, Island of Martinique, July 27.—General Ulisses Heureaux, President of the Dominican Republic, was assassinated at Moca. The name of the murderer is Ramon Caceres. He succeeded in making his escape, but an energetic pursuit was begun immediately, and it is probable that he soon will be captured.

Killed During an Electrical Storm.

Logansport, Ind., July 27.—William Stevens, aged 30, and Elmer Garver, aged 38, were instantly killed about six miles from here during an electrical storm. Abraham Downham was with the two men when the storm came up, and sought shelter under a tree, with the above results. The latter is dying from his injuries.

Will Be Cremated To-day.

Dobbs Ferry, N. Y., July 27.—According to previous arrangements the body of Colonel Robert J. Ingersoll will be cremated this afternoon at Fresh Pond, L. I. Only the family and immediate friends will accompany the remains to the crematory.

One-Armed Wheelman's Journey.

Rome, N. Y., July 27.—Albert V. Roe, the Postal Telegraph Company's one-armed messenger, who is wheeling across the continent, left Rome for Syracuse, where he expected to arrive about 1 o'clock.

Left-Handed Club.

In Southern California there is a left-handed club with a membership of nearly 2,000 scattered throughout all the principal towns. To be left handed is the only qualification necessary for membership.

Pope Fond of Birds.

The Pope is very fond of birds, of which he possesses a considerable number. Gaudy-colored parrots figure prominently in the collection, and a pelican and an ostrich are among his special favorites.

A Beautiful Mosaic.

At Pompeii a mosaic life size portrait of a woman, the first antique portrait in mosaic ever discovered, has been found. The workmanship is so fine that it is difficult to discern that it is not a painting.

Industrial School Girl Say She Was Grossly Maltreated.

Trenton, N. J., July 27.—Governor Voorhees has had his attention called to the alleged maltreatment of Kate Bartow, who until recently was an inmate of the State Industrial school for girls, but who is now in the City Hospital here in a very weak condition. The girl's relatives, who live in Paterson, have brought the case before the Governor, asking him to make an official investigation.

It is alleged that Kate Bartow, because of some violation of the rules of the school several weeks ago, was put in a dark cell and kept there for two days. She was then, it is further alleged, locked in her room and kept there for two weeks on a diet of bread and water. As a further punishment, it is said that she was forced to take violent exercise, and as a result of this alleged maltreatment her system broke down, so that she had to be sent to the City Hospital for treatment.

Before this the girl was attended by Dr. Laura Satterthwaite, the physician of the industrial school. A consulting physician was also called in, and then it was decided to send the girl to the hospital. She is seventeen years old.

Her relatives have been assured by Governor Voorhees that the case will have careful investigation.

Hotel Guests Poisoned.

London, July 27.—Much excitement has been caused here by the mysterious poisoning of a score of guests of the lune of Court Hotel, which, it is alleged, was due to Ameircan canned fruit. A second victim, Mr. F. W. Bartlett, of Philadelphia, died during the night. The fruit was eaten a week ago, and all who partook of it were made ill, one of the number dying on July 21, the medical certificate assigning gastric enteritis as the cause of death. An inquest will be held in the case of Mr. Bartlett. The Australian cricketers, who have been staying at the hotel, were happily absent when the fruit was served.

Stabbed Brother Seventeen Times.

Lockport, N. Y., July 27.—In a quarrel between John and Frank Gooden, Frank Gooden pulled a clasp knife from his pocket and before the bystanders could interfere he had plunged it seventeen times into his brother's breast and shoulders, inflicting wounds that in all probability will prove fatal. The brother, while being stabbed, pleaded for mercy, and the mother of the boys hearing the cries ran to the spot, but fainted when she saw the boy's wounds. After the stabbing, Frank Gooden disappeared.

To Protect Colored Miners.

Evansville, Ind., July 27.—Twenty Deputy Sheriffs and policemen are stationed at the John Ingle coal mine to protect the colored non-union miners. About 300 striking miners, their wives and children are present, but no demonstration has been attempted. Captain John Ingle refused to disarm his men and said he would pay no attention to the threats of the strikers. It is reported that the strikers have secured 500 Winchesters and will make an attack on the negroes.

England's War Moves.

MOBS FEAR TO OPERATE

The Presence of Troops in Cleveland Begins to Have Its Effect.

RIOTS NOT SO FREQUENT

Rebellious Village of South Brooklyn Has Been Seized by Order of Mayor Farley.

A Reward of $5,000 Offered For the Arrest of the Dynamiters—"Little Consolidated" Employes to Meet—Fifty Persons Arraigned in Police Court.

Cleveland, Ohio, July 27.—For the first time since the second strike commenced, the Big Consolidated Street Railway Company has succeeded in operating cars on two or three of its lines all night. The presence of a strong military force has had its effect on the mobs, and while there were frequent outbursts of rage in certain quarters, the mobs feared to operate on an extensive scale. The mobs, though calm now, are far from quelled.

About 1,400 troops are under arms in Cleveland. Adjt.-Gen. Axline, with seven companies of the 4th Regiment, is in general command Capt. Zimmerman is in immediate charge of the troops.

Mayor Farley has issued orders that the soldiers shall not only protect property, but arrest violators of the law. The Cleveland Grays and the Scots Guard, which do not belong to the National Guard, are doing duty as special police at South Brooklyn.

Charles Hoffield of St. Louis, a non-union motorman on the Wade Park line, was operating an eastbound car. At Doane street a man rushed out from the bushes directly in front of the car and placed something on the track. Hoffield tried desperately to stop his car, but he could not do it. As the wheels passed over the spot there was a loud explosion. The car was shaken, but not damaged. Hoffield jumped off and started after the man, but failed to catch him. He returned to his car. At Ansel avenue Hoffield saw the same trick repeated by a boy. Again there was an explosion, but no damage was done. Hoffield covered the boy with his revolver and compelled him to stop after a short chase. He ran his car back to Lakeview and turned his prisoner over to the police. The boy said his name was Ernest Hoering. He was charged with disorderly conduct.

The rebellious village of South Brooklyn has been seized by Mayor Farley. An Ohio statute gives the Mayor of the principal city in a county power to exercise certain jurisdiction over all the county in riotous times. Under this statute Mayor Farley has taken control of South Brooklyn.

Director Barret, on the part of the city, has offered $5,000 reward for the detection of the person or persons who placed the explosive under the Euclid avenue car on Sunday night.

About fifty persons have been arraigned in the police court as a result of the rioting. The arrests had been made chiefly as the result of disturbances on Orange street, the cars having been molested so persistently that it was found necessary to send a company of soldiers there.

At Peal street and Clark avenue, too, the riotous South siders manifested their ugly temper in the usual way, and as a result twelve of them were locked up. There was a conflict between soldiers and a small crowd at Petrie and Hamm streets, in which a saloon keeper was wounded in the face by a bayonet. Soldiers ordered a crowd of rowdies to disperse from the vicinity of the Quincy street barn, and upon their refusal, arrested ten of them.

It was found necessary to send a guard of soldiers with a mail car from the South end. The cavalrymen of Troop A have received orders to use their revolvers in case any more cannon crackers are thrown among their horses. The troops are stationed at the points considered most advantageous, and according to the municipal authorities, they will remain in the city until all danger to life and property has passed, and will even be reenforced with every available National Guardsmen in the State, unless the situation changes for the better. The city can truly be said to be under martial law.

The Big Consolidated Railway Company is willing to take back part of the strikers. This statement has been made by President Everett. It had previously been declared by the representatives of the company that none of the old men would be taken into the service of the company. It was said by the company that the men had quit their places voluntarily and without cause, and that this time the company was done with the old employes entirely as a body. The company requires 740 men to operate its entire system.

It has only 600 new men, whom it has brought here to operate its lines since the strike was declared. If 140 old men should go to the company and apply for places they would undoubtedly get them. In addition to this, the company always needs about thirty extra men.

Another Boy Shot.

Cleveland, Ohio, July 27.—A boy was shot by a non-union conductor, but whether or not the shooting was accidental the police have not yet determined. Frank Wright, a boy thirteen years old, was sitting on the front porch of the house at No. 33 Anndale avenue when an electric car came along. Although there was no disturbance in the neighborhood at the time, it is said, the conductor, who stood on the front platform with his motorman, carried a revolver in his hand. Suddenly it was discharged and young Wright gave a cry of pain. The bullet had entered his right leg just below the groin. The car ran on to Euclid avenue and into the barn. When the police arrived the conductor was not to be found.

Considerable rioting has taken place in Brooklyn, and while passing through that suburb General Axline was stoned by a mob. Further violence in this section is looked for.

When You Are Away

For a week, or a month, or the whole summer, there is nothing more welcome than the news from home. There is only one way to get this news in the right shape, and that is by having The Daily Press sent to you at your vacation stopping place. When leaving town for a season be sure to order The Daily Press to follow you by mail. The address will be changed as often as desired. Ten cents a week will cover all expenses.

Defends Mr. Compton.

Yesterday in this column we reproduced an editorial from the Newark News commenting upon the shooting of trespassers, which indulged in some wholesome reasoning about the particular act of Halstead Compton, of this city, by which he has become involved in a serious way with the courts. The Elizabeth Journal puts an entirely different construction on Mr. Compton's shooting practices. The Journal says:

Halstead Compton, of Plainfield, last week shot a boy who was stealing his fruit. He did wrong and will have to stand the consequences. The boy was not killed, but his anatomy was more or less sprinkled with No. 8 shot. Public sympathy is on the side of Mr. Compton. He is a man who owns a nice piece of property and who loves to grow fruit on his premises. He devotes a great deal of time and care to his trees, but is never permitted to enjoy the fruits of his care and labor. Every year his fruit is stolen by the mischievous young scoundrels of Plainfield. Mr. Compton has taken every possible means of protecting his fruit, but without avail. He has chased the boys away, but they have returned. He has complained to their parents, and the parents not only failed to punish and restrain their boys, but as likely as not they ate some of the stolen fruit. Mr. Compton resorted to law with no better results. The young thieves were arrested and fined, but that did no good; his fruit was still stolen. Then he agreed and announced that if the boys would let the fruit remain until it ripened he would give them a full share of it, but they acted upon the principle that stolen green fruit is sweeter than that which is ripe but is honestly obtained. And then Mr. Compton took his gun. Can anyone blame him?

A QUARTETTE CONSPICUOUS IN STREET RAILWAYS.

This group contains the portraits of four men who are conspicuous in the present day history of street railways. Tom L. Johnson has held large interests in the street railways of several American cities and has recently attracted attention because of his connection with Governor Pingree's effort to secure municipally owned railways for Detroit. Clinton L. Rossiter is president of the Brooklyn Rapid Transit Company, whose employees recently went on strike. H. H. Vreeland is president of the Metropolitan Street Railway Company of New York.

He loaded it with bird shot and not boy shot. He fired it—not at the boys, but over their heads, as he thought, to scare them. It so happened, however, that one boy whom he did not see was within range and was hit. These thefts have been going on for years. Mr. Compton's patience and forbearance have exhausted every other method; now he tries to frighten the boys and one of them is shot. Public sympathy is on the side of Mr. Compton. Every man who has a few choice fruit trees within the city limits will uphold him, even though they do not want any boy injured or maimed.

Trial of Darling.

The New Brunswick Times sums up the case of William Darling thus wise:

It is now stated that an effort will be made to have the court accept a plea of manslaughter in the case of Wm. Darling, charged with the murder of Harry Dunham. That seems to be the generally accepted way for a murderer to get off easy in Middlesex. Perhaps if we had a few more murder trials and a hanging or two, we should have fewer murders. The Times has no intention of trying Darling in the newspapers, but it does seem that his crime was a particularly atrocious one, while his subsequent conduct entitles him to small consideration. He killed a friend after a trivial quarrel over a game of pool. He made his escape to a remote section of Pennsylvania, and there, instead of trying to live honestly and industriously, he was perfectly content, it is alleged, to draw upon his relatives for the means to live an idle, useless existence. To add to his offences he married the daughter of the family who took him in and cared for him, in spite of the fact that he had already married a girl in this State. The Pennsylvania girl whom he deceived knew nothing of his crime. There seems to be no extenuating circumstances in his case.

It would be an almost inexplicable anomaly in the mercantile world if advertising should not keep pace with the expansion of domestic trade, says the Philadelphia Record. In fact, it may be asserted as an established truth that systematic advertising, presented to the public through a safe and popular newspaper medium is one of the most potent agencies by which the enterprising tradesman achieves success amidst tireless competition. A windmill may be ever so big, but without wind it will pump no water and grind no grain. A merchant may have a very extensive establishment, but if he do not advertise he cannot secure a profitable patronage.

WHAT THE SHEARS FIND

Editorial Comment From Other Papers of Interest in Plainfield.

While certain Union county obstructionists of the small American kind are fiddling to defeat the Union county boulevard scheme, little Connecticut comes forward with a project for a bee line avenue, or State road, all the way across the State, estimated to cost $100,000. Possibly, little obstructions like little mosquitoes, have their place in the great universal plan, but it is hard to find out just what it is.—Westfield Standard.

* * * * *

Says The Plainfield Press: "The project of the Lehigh Valley Railroad Company tapping Plainfield in order to compete for local traffic with the Central Railroad of New Jersey is being quietly but vigorously prosecuted by the officials of the former company, assisted by a committee from the Plainfield Advancement Association." We do not imagine that the Central's management are losing any sleep because of the above "project"—the Morgan syndicate having, it is believed, the control of each road.—Somerset Messenger.

PASSING COMMENT

Things that Are Not Exactly News but Just as Interesting.

A number of Westfield's charming young ladies now wear sun bonnets when riding their wheels and they are much admired by the young men of the town, some of whom say that hereafter their best girls must do likewise or ride alone.

* * * * *

The question as to how many widows there are in Plainfield and North Plainfield was recently the subject of conversation among a couple of old bachelors, one of whom had made the subject a study and knew whereof he spoke. When he informed his lonesome friend that there are a few over nine hundred in the two places, he was dumbfounded and could scarcely believe it. He was assurred, however, that the number given is correct, and the two separated thinking that after all there are some queer facts and figurers even in this city and the borough.

* * * * *

The Daily Press is in receipt of a letter from Dr. Luizi Gairani Doane, of 688 Carroll street, Brooklyn. Regarding the article that recently appeared in the Daily Press telling of the carrying of the diphtheria bacilli in milk, he says:

"It seems almost a hopeless task to inform the public that bacilli are not the agents by which disease is propogated. These tiny living things are our best friends, and come to us to work us good—not ill. They appear as soon as we are sick, and by feeding on the pathologic fluids in our systems, help to eliminate those noxious fluids, and thus aid our recovery. The whole 'germ theory of disease,' is a gigantic fraud, and I should, personally, be tired of contradicting the foolish assertions made in regard to it were not the consequences to man and beast so dreadful.

"With the idea that 'germs' are the cause of disease, has arisen a quantity of germicides. These filthy compounds, the outcome of disease in beasts, are injected into man. They often kill at once, but where the patient survives, it is usually with some complication of heart or kidney trouble which makes life a burden."

NEWS OF THE SUBURBS.

THINGS THAT INTEREST SCOTCH PLAINS AND DUNELLEN.

Brief and Terse Observations Gathered by Alert Press Reporters to be Perused at the Supper Table at Your Leisure

DUNELLEN.

(Special Correspondence of The Daily Press.)

Dunellen, July 27.—Miss Annie Titsworth has returned from a month's visit with relatives in Rhode Island.

A son of George Warden caught a carp in the New Market pound on Wednesday that weighed nearly ten pounds.

Miss Emily Apgar, who has been visiting her daughter, Mrs. Sherman Cooley, at Flemington, has returned home.

At Tuesday evening's meeting of the local council, Jr. O. U. A. M., one member, John Lane, was elected.

George W. Abbott, of Somerville, has been visiting at the home of Mrs. Annie Abbott.

Mrs. DeWitt Smith, of Somerville, has been visiting friends in the borough.

Charles Apgar, of Westfield, has been visiting relatives in the borough.

PLAINS AND FANWOOD.

(Special Correspondence of The Press.)

Scotch Plains, July 27—Wilbur Miller, who some time ago was the victim of a savage attack upon him by a large mastiff, the property of Mrs. Hoffman, a resident of Terrill road, has begun action in Judge Clark's court for damages sustained. Miller, who works about the station, was delivering a telegram at the home of Mrs. Hoffman, when the animal attacked him. He was badly bitten and was laid up with a very sore arm for some time. Miller places his damage at $200. The case is to be heard in Judge Clark's court July 29th.

Mrs. George Randolph is recovering from a very painful accident. A short time ago while using concentrated lye about the sink at his home a small piece in some manner got into her eye causing a very painful burn. Under Dr. Ard's treatment the injured optic is getting along very nicely.

Rev. Mr. Shott has returned home from a two weeks' trip to Virginia, where he has been attending the National Convention of the Baptist Young People's Societies, and visiting the scenes of his boyhood days. Mr. Shott returns very much benefited by the trip and will take up his work at once.

A New Brunswick party is contemplating buying the property at the corner of Front street and Terrill road. If the purchase is made it is the intention to erect a handsome residence upon the property.

Real estate dealer T. M. Paff, Sr., report a number of inquiries for real estate within the last week. At present there are very few houses to rent in town but there is building lots by the dozen springing up.

Mrs. Fred Rose, who has been seriously ill for some time at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Gibbs, has improved so much that she was able to return to her home in Plainfield yesterday.

Bismarck's Iron Nerve

JOTTINGS OF THE DAY.

ENTERPRISINGLY GATHERED AND CONCISELY TOLD BY REPORTERS.

Newsy Notes of More or Less Importance Bunched Together for the Ready Reference of Press Readers

—Delicious home-made Fudge for sale at Randolph's.

—Scheuer & Co. are giving away an elegant gift framed picture with one pound of tea. Don't fail to secure one.

—It is reported that John G. Bantle, of Watchung avenue, intends erecting a handsome new building adjoining the new one recently built by him.

—The case of C. E. Hepburn against Lee Hammond, in tort, will be tried tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock before Justice Miles, of the borough.

—Crushed stone is being spread on Front street at the corner of Somerset street and Park avenue, which was recently torn up to place pipes underground.

—W. H. Rogers, of North avenue, has taken some excellent photographs of the exciting scenes about North avenue during the recent strike of the newsboys.

—As soon as Patsy Christmas gets through laying pipes in Park avenue the Plainfield Gas Company will commence the work of laying their pipes underground.

—The regular weekly prayer meeting will be held at Warren chapel tomorrow evening. The pastor, Rev. J. O. McKelvey, will lead, and a full attendance is desired.

—Thus far no serious symptoms have developed in the case of Miss Kittie Lally, of East Front street, who was gored lest week by a cow, and the physician, Dr. Simpson, believes she will recover.

—Morey & LaRue, City Steam and Hand Laundry, 19 Somerset street, do first class up to date laundry work and will call for and deliver your bundle. Postal card or telephone will bring one of their wagons to your door.

—It is reported that Patsy Christmas, the contractor, has arranged to bid on the work of macadamizing East Second street and Richmond street. He withdrew his first bid on account of a raise in the price of stone, which Patsy says was done to beat him out.

—A. Kane, the contractor, is kept busy with a large force of men flagging and curbing various parts of the city and borough. He has done lots of work in Plainfield and it has always proved to be of a substantial character. His office is at 103 East Fourt street, where all orders left will be promptly attended to. See advertisement in another column.

Plainfield yesterday.

Matthias Schmidt, who for a number of years has conducted the florist business on Front street, is closing out the business and is thinking of going to California, where he has been offered a position.

Mr. and Mrs. George Goodbrough entertained a number of their friends at a social gathering at their home last evening.

Summons has been issued in Judge Clark's court in the contract case of Engel against Powers, returnable July 31st.

Miss Pauline Buckly, who has been visiting her cousin, Miss Beula Coles, has returned to her home in Plainfield.

August Klemser is making some improvements about his home on Stout avenue.

Miss Quimby, of Readington, has been visiting Mr. and Mrs. Stites M. Parse.

Mr. and Mrs. George Stiliger have been entertaining relatives from New York.

BOUND BROOK.

(Special Correspondence of The Daily Press.)

Bound Brook, July 27.—The Franco-American Chamois Manufacturing Company have leased the building formerly used as a jelly factory, and as soon as the machinery is in place, operations will begin at once. This company is similar to the one east of Dunellen.

William Cheswie, fireman on the Lehigh Valley Railroad, has resigned his position to accept the position of engineer in the Terra Cotta Works at Perth Amboy. Mr. Cheswie was very badly injured in the wreck at Dunellen last winter, being fireman on the local train.

The new iron bridge across the Greenbrook is now completed and is a bridge that is lasting and a benefit to the Traction Company and both counties.

PARTICULAR MENTION.

Miss Anna Fenner, an assistant at Miss Smalley's on East Front street, started on her annual vacation yesterday.

Mrs. A. V. D. Honeyman and Miss Maude Honeyman, of Grove street, have gone to Jamesburg to visit relatives.

The announcement is made in Staten Island Society notes that Miss Edith Scrymser, of St. Marks Place. New Brighton, expect soon to pay a long visit to friends in Plainfield.

Thus far J. H. Tier, Jr., has heard nothing of the man who releived him of his watch and money a short time ago. Mr. Tier is, however, in hopes that the man may be caught and his property recovered.

His Life Was Saved.

Mr. J. E. Lilly, a prominent citizen of Hannibal, Mo., lately had a wonderful deliverance from a frightful death. In telling of it he says: "I was taken with Typhoid Fever, that ran into Pneumonia. My lungs became hardened. I was so weak I couldn't even set up in bed. Nothing helped me. I expected to soon die of Consumption, when I heard of Dr. King's New Discovery. One bottle gave great relief. I continued to use it, and now am well and strong. I can't say too much in its praise." This marvelous medicine is the surest and quickest cure in the world for all Throat and Lung Trouble. Regular sizes 50 cents and $1.00. Trial bottles free at L. W. ## Proclamation Concerning Dogs.

Whereas the Ordinance of the Borough of North Plainfield provides that all unmuzzled dogs running at large in said Borough during the months of June, July, August and September shall be caught and impounded and killed if not redeemed by the payment of one dollar within forty-eight hours, and

WHEREAS, the state law provides that any dog not registered with the borough clerk, and not wearing a tag bearing registry number may be killed on sight by any person if found off the owner's premises, and

WHEREAS, at this season of the year wounds resulting from dog bites are particularly dangerous, and many complaints have recently been made by our citizens by reason of the number of unmuzzled dogs running at large in the Borough,

NOW THEREFORE, I, The Mayor of said Borough, do hereby proclaim and give public notice, that the law and ordinance above referred to will be hereafter strictly enforced, and that all unregistered dogs running at large, whether muzzled or not, are liable to be killed, and all registered dogs running at large without being muzzled will be caught and impounded and killed, unless redeemed within forty-eight hours.

Orders to that effect have been given the proper officers, and owners of dogs are hereby given fair warning.

Lokal-Nachrichten aus der alten Heimath.

Württemberg.

Stuttgart. Unter großer Betheiligung feierte der hiesige Liedertranz sein 75jähriges Jubiläum.—Nach dem dieser Tage veröffentlichten Medizinalbericht endeten im vergangenen Jahre in Württemberg 357 Personen durch Selbstmord. Prozentualiter kommen die meisten Selbstmorde auf die Oberämter Blaubeuren, Ulm, Urach und Ludwigsburg; kein Selbstmord kam in dem abgelaufenen Jahr vor in den Oberämtern Calw, Oberndorf und Wangen.

Immendingen. Neulich Morgens zwischen 9 und 11 Uhr wurde der Sohn des Steuerverwalters Bachert in Böblingen auf einem Spaziergang in den nahen Wald von zwei Strolchen angefallen und beraubt. Er lag zwei Tage lang, bis er aufgefunden wurde, in Kälte und anhaltendem Regen da.

Ravensburg. In der Appreturanstalt von Ittenbeuren explodirte der Siedekessel. Das Gebäude wurde zerstört. Der Arbeiter Schray wurde getödtet.

Reutlingen. Wegen des (!) hinter dem Titel des Garnisonsverwaltungs-Oberinspektors a. D. Ignaz Haller wurde nun der Redakteur des „Metzinger Volksfreunds" in der That zu einer Geldstrafe von 30 Mark verurtheilt. Der Angeklagte betonte, er habe durch das Ausrufungszeichen die Leser darauf hinweisen wollen, daß der Garnisonsverwaltungs-Oberinspektor a. D. Haller als Schwager seines Gegners, eines Redakteurs, auf sein Schöffenamt nicht verzichtet habe. Der Verurtheilte legte sofort Berufung ein.

Ulm. Auf die Kunde, daß der Kaiser die Schleifung der inneren Festungsumwallung sanktionirte, legte die Stadt Flaggenschmuck an. — Die hiesige Strafkammer verurtheilte den Rechner der Darlehnskasse Scharenstetten, Georg Scheiffele, wegen fortgesetzter Unterschlagung zu einer Gefängnißstrafe von 2 Jahren 3 Monaten. Scheiffele hat in den letzten 9 Jahren über 12,000 Mark unterschlagen und diese Unterschlagungen durch falsche Bucheinträge verdeckt. Diese betrügerischen Manipulationen waren nur durch die äußerst nachlässige Kontrolle möglich; während der ganzen Dauer der Geschäftsführung des Scheiffele war kein einziger Kassensturz erfolgt.

Baden.

Karlsruhe. Stadtrath Fritz Hamburger wurde an Stelle des verstorbenen Medizinalrath Dr. Seligmann zum Oberrath der Israeliten ernannt.

Baden-Baden. In Geroldsau erschlug der Auerhahnwirth Faisch seine Frau mit einem Peitschenstock.

Freiburg. Die „Perle des Breisgaus" wird immer mehr Militärstadt. Im Jahre 1901 wird ein Artillerieregiment hierher verlegt werden; die gesammte Kasernenanlage wird 31 Gebäude umfassen, die die Stadt mit einem Kostenaufwand von 2,239,600 Mark herstellt.

Heidelberg. Handelskammerpräsident Karl Pirsch ist gestorben.

Neckarau. Die Brüder Valentin und Wilhelm Orth wurden wegen Falschmünzerei verhaftet. Ersterer ist wegen Münzverbrechens vorbestraft.

Waldshut. Im hiesigen Kreis hat ein mit Hagelschlag verbundener Wolkenbruch großen Schaden angerichtet. Viele Brücken wurden zerstört, zahlreiche Gebäude demolirt und die ganze Ernte vernichtet. Die Hagelstücke lagen an einzelnen Stellen einen Viertelmeter hoch.

Elsaß-Lothringen.

Metz. In Landorff wurde der Bruder Luchenis, des Mörders der Kaiserin von Oesterreich, verhaftet und in das Untersuchungsgefängniß dahier verbracht. Lucheni, der sich für einen Anarchisten ausgibt, soll verschiedene Morde in Frankreich und an der luxemburgischen Grenze verübt haben.

Oesterreich.

Wien. Die hiesige „Arbeiterzeitung," die „Ostdeutsche Rundschau" und das „Vaterland" wurden konfiszirt, weil sie die Antwort der Liberalen von Innsbruck auf den Hirtenbrief des Fürstbischofs Dr. Aichner von Brixen betreffs der Johannistagfeier abdruckten.—Dieser Tage beschwerten sich die Sozialisten Dr. Adler, Pernerstorfer und Popp direkt beim Ministerpräsidenten Grafen Thun über das polizeiliche Verbot von Sozialistenversammlungen, wurden aber von dem Grafen auf den Instanzenweg verwiesen.

MAKE A DRESS BOOK.

GOOD REASONS FOR THE INDIVIDUAL FASHION VOLUME.

A Woman May Know What Increases or Diminishes the Size of Her Waist and Should Know What Affects the Chest Line.

Are you tired of cutting out fashion ideas, pinring them to the pincushion or tucking them into the mirror frame, and losing them before you are ready to use the hints?

Then buy five cents' worth of white or ecru wrapping paper, of the size which will fold to make the book most convenient and agreeable for you to handle. Eighteen inches by twelve are about the dimensions of the white paper sold ordinarily by druggists, and the measures give a page of excellent proportions for fashion purposes.

What you will make of this paper eventually is your own fashion, or, better yet, costume book. Every good housekeeper has her own individual cooking guide. No one volume ever written is sufficient for the housewife who has any creative ability.

From time to time the real housekeeper evolves novel methods and receipts. These she writes on the blank leaves of her cook book, to be handed along and improved by future generations. The genuine housekeeper is not altogether ready made, and never completely learned.

There are good reasons for the individual fashion volumn, or the Dress Book, as I prefer to call it. I confess I start upon the arguments with hints from men. The right sort of men look down upon women's "fashions." The same kind not only enjoy but require pretty dressing by their women associates.

Where is the point of difference?

It is a fact well known that the dress or hat a man once likes pleases him until its usefulnes is past. In or out of style he enjoys what once has met his fancy. Far be it from me to commend men's models of constancy in any general sense without certain explanation and apology. In matter of dress I think we can learn much from what, as well may be admitted, is their blindly excellent taste. Blind because no man other than a few authorities knows the difference between ruching and tucking. And it requires an artist to tell just by shutting his eyes whether pink and yellow go together.

A woman may know what line and color increase or diminishes the size of her waist. She should understand what raises or depresses the chest line. She ought to know what length in sleeves is ungainly, and that which in skirts is awkward.

And to that end must the faculty of comparison be cultivated. No person may say to a woman: "This is pretty; that is ugly. I know why, and you never can." She is able to learn, even as you and I, as Kipling says. The process is interesting and simple, gone about trustingly. It is a mere matter of comparison: incidentally, of compilation. Let every woman make her own costume book, clipping what appeals to her wherever she sees it—unless that should be in another's volume, which is a misdemeanor—and pasting it on her own pages, with appropriate comments as:

"This is an ugly collar, for such and such a reason."

"Here is such a back to a shirt as seems incredible, for, look you, the line of the form is disagreed with."

Or, as happens with the present modes: "This skirt back is immodest, for so and so."

The exercise of the perceptive faculties can find no greater common pleasure than in the estimate of woman's dress. There is a joy in finding reasons for these so-called vanities which exceeds any mere contemplation of the styles.

So get to yourself a Dress Book. And buy for it common paper, such as was mentioned at the outset. Do this for several reasons. It is inexpensive; five cents buys a lot. Keeping that size in mind, it is always easy to find more pages at short distance and in the most distant country postoffices. Thus one may add always to her Dress Book, though summering in the remote parts, where Sunday supplements, with fashion hints and other things, do not penetrate before Tuesday.

After six months or a year you have your Dress Book bound—a most useful work of reference, testimony to your industry and an heirloom for curious grandchildren. Which last may or may not concern you. But think how our grandmothers' conclusions about needle work, as expressed in their samplers; about cooking, as told in their faded writing in little old memorandum books, endlessly delights us.

New Belt and Buckle.

The newest belt is a soft piece of silk, which folds in a narrow belt about the waist, and instead of a regular buckle an odd garter buckle is used. One end is fastened to the under bor of the buckle and the other end is drawn through the upper part every time it is put on. It is drawn as tightly as possible, and then the upper part of the buckle, in regular garter buckle syle, clamps down upon the folds, holding them firmly in place.

The end of the ribbon, or sash, hangs straight down, without any loops or bow, in one long strip on the front of the dress. This gives somewhat the same appearance as Oriental metal belts with long ends hanging freely, and adds to the apparent length of the waist, which this summer is much longer in front than in the back.

HOUSE HOLD TALKS

NAPKINS IN FANCY FOLDS.

An Arrangement of Them Adds Much to the Appearance of a Table.

The arrangement of the napkins adds much to the appearance of a dinner table. Of course, plaited fans or any violent butterfly or bat designs placed in goblets or tumblers are to be despised as commonplace, but an artistic manner of folding napkins to hold the blocks of bread is to be admired. It will not take more than a few moments to fold the pretty patterns of the bishop's miter, the water lily, the four pocket, the university cap, the Neapolitan, the cock's comb, the calla lily and the arrowhead.

To be successful the napkins must be quite well starched in order to hold the creases to make the designs look firm, and to carry out the form. Accuracy is desirable, and a good deal of patience is required at first. After once getting the idea, however, the work will take only a few minutes.

The water lily is, perhaps, the prettiest, and it is very simple. Take a perfectly square napkin and fold the four corners toward the center, making all meet. Next fold the new corners to the center in the same way, and do this a third time. Then carefully turn the napkin and fold the other four corners to the middle, turn the napkin once more and arrange the petals, making them all stand up neatly. Place the block of bread in the center.

Something of the same treatment is required for the four-pocket. The corners of a square napkin are folded to the center, and the new corners again similarly folded, after which the napkin is turned over and its four corners are folded again to the center. Turn it over, and you will find four pretty pockets.

The water lily and the four pocket are especially adapted for small tea napkins.

The university cap is rather complicated. It cannot be done with a square napkin. Lay the napkin before you lengthwise, and double the bottom edge over four times, making a two-inch fold or band. Crease this fold tightly, and bring it into the middle of the napkin as in figure 1. Turn the napkin and bring each end over as in figure 2, meeting in the center. Bring C over to A, as in figure 3, and turn the flap marked D E back over the dotted line, leaving it as shown in figure 4. Do the same with the other side. Reverse the napkin, and you will then have figure 5. Tuck the bread in the band.

For the arrowhead fold the napkin lengthwise in three equal parts and turn over the ends as in figure 1. Fold back each flap to meet along the upper edge (figure 2). Draw these flaps together across the dotted line, and you will have the arrowhead (figure 3).

The Neapolitan looks difficult, but really it is very simple. Fold the napkin in three lengthwise, turn over the ends (figure 1), and roll the ends (figure 2): Turn the napkin over, and bring the rolls to meet in the center. Place the bread between them (figure 4), or you can turn one of the flaps toward you and have a pocket for the bread (figure 5). One advantage of this design is that it does not crush up the napkin.

The cock's comb is made by folding the napkin in half and again in half to form a square and then into a triangle. You will have a central point and four loose corners, two on either side. Raise the central point and tuck the corners around its base, making them go through the opening. Now turn the napkin upside down and pull out the four points. You will then have the cock's comb.

The calla lily is rather difficult. This demands a square napkin. Turn the top corners toward you, as in figure 1. Turn the napkin over and fold the two bottom corners (figure 2), pull the upper triangle over toward the lower one, making a deep fold in the middle of the napkin (figure 3). Now draw from beneath the napkin the two folded corners, and, holding the napkin firmly in the left hand, carry the end of the middle fold marked B to A, moving it toward you and roll or fold one corner up to the band around the base of the lily, which has begun to assume shape, and tuck it in firmly; bring the other corner around in similar fashion and form the flower. The eye and the hand have much to do in order to make this design successful.

TO COVER UP BONES.

How the Thin Girl May Make Herself Plump and Pretty.

There is absolutely no beauty in bones. Skeletons are very disagreeable things. Wired up for the benefit of medical classes, they may be confined to the privacy of such institutions. But there are others.

The living, moving ones are about us, hung with every fabric of the loom, fashioned by hands skilled in the art of padding and plumping. But the bony framework shows through it all.

Bony women are called "distinguished looking" in polite society. With bravery born of desperation, they give their doorknob shoulders, spikelike elbows and audacious collar bones to the world at every opportunity. Matter of fact people refute the idea of bones as a sign of the thoroughbred.

Emaciated matrons and fleshless maidens, remember the Venuses for the fullness of your mistake. Venus de' Medici doesn't show a bone. Venus of the apple fame is plump all over, with ribs so well covered you couldn't count them.

Venus rising from the sea is dimpled and fluted with the beauties of health. Venus de Milo is perfectly immense. How she would sigh through her marble image if she could see French stays and the various distenders and makeshifts of the nineteenth century bony woman!

Ah, ye bony maidens, if you would be sweet and fair to look upon, begin at once to put flesh on your bones.

"And how, pray?" inquires a tiny bit of a skeleton, large eyed and decidedly unwholesome because of her scrawny frame.

My dear corrugated, crossboned little girl, olive oil is the thing for you. Begin it at once. It is salvation to thin women. Buy the very best grade of salad oil. Insist on the best. It sells for 80 cents per pint, but half a pint will do to begin on.

Rickety babies get it three times a day and manage to get fond of it. Better still, they grow strong and plump, pretty and lovable.

This is what you want. Begin with two teaspoonfuls at mealtimes and gradually increase the dose to a tablespoonful each time. The oil isn't half bad. Take a bit of wine or coffee after, and the thing is done. Each time it tastes a little nicer until a day comes when you discover you like it. It may be eaten on salad, which is really as good a way.

Then you must eat, but do not overeat. Digested food makes good blood and fine tissue. Surplus food makes trouble.

Any creature that can eat can get plump and good to look at. But the kind and quantity of the fat depend largely upon the character of the food eaten. Unwholesome food does the system more harm than good.

If the process of evolution is to be hastened in every possible way, it is well to remember that five or six little meals are better than three square ones. Let the articles of diet be dainty and partaken of in small portions.

Those foods eliminated from the list prescribed for obesity diet are about right for the thin, skinny woman. Water is fattening, and it is a wise habit to take a glass before retiring and upon arising. Cornmeal mush is the very best food for tissue building.

Of course the little thin girl is in a hurry, especially for her neck and arms, so she might spend 15 minutes each day rubbing in some olive oil after a hot bath. The cheaper grade of oil will answer for this purpose.

And something else besides all this—time and patience! Here is the rock on which beauty with other things worthy is oftimes wrecked in feminine lives. Nature is not art. You cannot plump out your anatomy with beautiful firm flesh in an instant.

Except in sneezing, nature is never abrupt. Time is her handmaid, patience her servant. Time must be allowed for firm, healthful flesh to grow upon the bones, rounding out the hollows into curves of beauty.

You must wait, wait, wait. The change is gradual, and no one should expect to be metamorphosed into one of the Venuses of old in a few weeks. But wait. After awhile will come a change.

And then! Talk about complexion remedies! Throw skin whiteners and eye brighteners to the four winds. Why, the olive oil cure will beautify any girl in half a year, for it does what cosmetics cannot do—builds up the system, strengthens the interior and gives the vital organs a new lease of life.

GERTRUDE WILLETT.

CASH GIRL TO MERCHANT.

The Story of a Successful Business Woman.

On a prominent corner in the central part of the business district of New York there stands a substantial up-to-date looking building. It is a factory for the making of children's and misses' cloaks and suits of a good quality, and there are more than 300 cutters, sewers and finishers employed there constantly. The best retail firms in New York, Chicago, Cincinnati, St. Louis and other cities send buyers to this factory to secure the season's complement of goods for their respective departments. The proprietor of this flourishing factory, which does a business each year valued at a half million dollars, is a woman—a bright, brisk, alert woman, who employs a clerk to look after the office end of the business, and devotes her energies to the more important part of personally superintending the cutting and sewing of the garments. She is, in reality, at the helm of every part and detail of her business, but never neglects to spend the major portion of each day in the great work room, where the folded layers of expensive cloths are being cut into sleeves, side forms, collars and the like, and where the stitchers, liners and trimmers may refer to her for guidance at any moment.

"I made every cent of the money I started this business with myself," she says when complimented on her enterprise. "I started life in a 6th avenue store as a cash girl at fifteen. After a year or two I was made a salesgirl, and later on I had a place in another store in the dress goods department. When I was twenty-three I was promoted to the post of buyer in the department I was then selling in, which handled infants' caps, sacks, dresses, etc. I suppose I gave satisfaction, for I got a better place, with the same house, to buy the misses' garments at a salary of $22 a week. It was not a rich firm that I worked for, and there were very few women buyers at that time in New York.

"I did not have control of the money used in buying, nor did I have any voice as to how much should be invested. I simply selected the goods most likely to sell, under the supervision of a man buyer, who was the head of our department. I worked along on my $22, and saved all the money I could, until I had $1,500 laid by. I had married in the meanwhile, but that never interfered with my work, and does not now, as my husband has business of his own.

"My buying goods, or rather selecting them, for so many years gave me an insight into what was needed for the market, the faults in the goods or their making, and the cost of materials, workmanship, and all that; so I decided that I had judgment enough to run a business venture of my own. When I suggested it to my husband, he laughed, and said I would lose my position and my $1,500 in the bargain, and that I had better be satisfied to let well enough alone. I started, however, and met with success from the first season. I began in a very small way. It is but six years since I started, and you have only to see the firm names on my books to understand that I must make the best quality garments, reasonable in price, to hold my position. Having made the money myself to begin on makes me all the more pleased to have built up the brisk trade going on about us."

To Make Rosy Nails.

Many women with pretty hands are constantly annoyed by the rough appearance of their finger nails, caused by the fact that they break and split. The possessor of such nails should cut them with well sharpened manicure scissors, and the nail should never be cut or filed unless the fingers have first been soaked in warm water. The brittleness may sometimes be lessened by rubbing almond oil thoroughly into the nails and finger ends on retiring at night. A pair of old kid gloves must then be pulled on.

A teaspoonful of lemon juice in a cupful of tepid water whitens and supples the nails and removes all grease and dirt, making them more easy to polish. This should be used every morning, and by soaking the fingers a few moments it is possible to make the nails perfectly clean and transparent without the use of any metal cleaner, by simply rubbing under them with a towel. It is also beneficial in removing the skin around the nail edges, which should never be cut with scissors. Rub the towl firmly all about the nail, pushing back the skin. Do this regularly every day, and after a few weeks the skin growth will disappear.

A Bold Idea.

The latest fancy for young married women in Paris is to have a ball-dress of satin, tulle and flowers. Now, this sounds most ordinary, for our grandmothers wore the same combination. But listen to the boldness of the idea. A satin merveilleux skirt, clinging closely about the figure, with an overdress of pliant tulle; the bodice is then very decollette and composed entirely of violets, which do not even shelter the perfectly bare shoulders, the two sides of the bodice being held in place by strings of amethyst. The tiniest moss-roses entirely compose another bodice, with pink sapphire for the shoulders, and the modest, pink-tipped daisy, with strings of pink pearls for sleeves forms still another combination.

New embroidery frames are in rings of gilt or silver, made to fit one inside the other snugly, and fastened with a screw. They are much more firm than the old-fashioned wooden rings.

THE SILENT MONKS.

LIFE'S ROUTINE IN THE TRAPPIST ABBEY OF GETHSEMANE.

The Day Opens With Devotions at 2 o'Clock In the Morning and Closes With the "Hail, Holy Queen!" at 6 o'Clock In the Evening.

The following graphic description of the Trappist abbey at Gethsemane, Ky., written by a Louisville correspondent, was recently published in a New York paper. His realistic pen picture of the life of the silent monks within the abbey's walls will be of interest to our readers:

The fiftieth anniversary of the Trappist abbey of Gethsemane has just been celebrated. Fifty-one years ago two monks from the Abbey of Melleray, in France, came to Kentucky to secure property for a monastery. A tract of 1,000 acres was purchased from the Sisters of Loretto, in Nelson county, and the monastery was established by a company of 48 monks in a few log huts. In 1849 Father Eutrapius, who founded the colony, had it raised to an abbey and was made an abbot. By dint of unceasing exertion he built up the abbey to its present proportions. In 1860 he resigned and Father Benedict took his place. No woman's feet have ever trodden its precincts.

An avenue of splendid English elms leads from the entrance to the porter's lodge. Beyond is the courtyard, beautified by smooth walks and flower beds and having in the center a statue of the Virgin, her heel upon the head of a serpent. On the surrounding trellis is carved "Dulcis Virgo Maria Salve." Rough, unpainted and forbidding, the monastery walls rise three stories in height, bare of ornament save for a statue of St. Joseph, the patron saint. "S. Joseph Patrone Noster Dilectissime Ora Pro Nollis" is the inscription which surrounds it.

Once inside, the visitor finds himself in the refectory, a long, low room. Bare rafters and long, narrow tables set with wooden beakers, coarse china and the plainest cutlery are features of the room. Next comes the chapter room, with a raised platform at one end. On it are three seats for the abbot and the prior and the subprior on his right and left. At the other end are confessionals where morning and night the monks seek absolution. On the benches which line the walls the monks take their places at the beginning of the day while the invitator reads from the rules of St. Benedict. Penance is assigned to each who confesses a fault. One of the most grievous faults is the sin of speaking. Pictures of saints and martyrs adorn the wall of this room, and it is here that the orders of the day are posted.

A cheerless place is the dormitory, containing a double row of stalls, in each of which is a bunk with little bedding. Across the hall is the monks' library. On its shelves the collections of half a century rest. Not the least interesting of the manuscripts is one containing a complete history of the Trappist order.

A high wall surrounds the last resting place of the monks who pass out of this world. All the graves are alike. A black cross stands at the head of each mound. As one grave is dug the outline of the next is made, a constant reminder of the end that is to come.

After passing through the cloisters the chapel is reached. The altar has a bas relief of Da Vinci's "Last Supper" and figures of the two Marys kneeling at the foot of the cross. Religious symbols in wood are inlaid in the chancel floor. Stalls for the religious and for the lay brothers are placed near. Over these is a gallery for the strangers who may visit the abbey. Here it is that the daily devotions are begun at 2 o'clock each morning. The ringing of a bell at that hour breaks the stillness, and the white figures gather for matins. The silence is again broken, this time by the abbot.

"Deus in meum adjutorium intende," he chants.

"Deus adjuvendum me festina," comes the reply from all the assembled brothers.

At 5:30 o'clock prime is celebrated by the entire community, closing with the angelus. Private devotions are held at 6:30 and after breakfast, which is eaten at 7. After the confessions in the chapel, lasting until 9 o'clock, the monks work in the field or the garden until 11:30. At noon the angelus calls them to prayer. At 1:30 o'clock the visit to the blessed sacrament is made, and at 2 o'clock dinner is served. Fish, flesh, fowl, butter and eggs are forbidden, and during Lent even milk is interdicted. Vespers at 5 and the "Salve Regina" at 6 close the day. The "Salve Regina" is led by a blind monk, once a celebrated foreign musician.

Such without variance is the life the Gethsemane Trappists have led for 50 years. During all this time only three abbots have been there, Father Eutrapius, Father Benedict and Father Obrecht.

Its Golden Jubilee.

One of the oldest Catholic churches of western Pennsylvania is St. Peter's, at Butler, which will attain its golden jubilee in October. This event will be observed with due ceremony. Mgr. Martinelli is expected to be present, as well as a large representation of priests. The congregation owns an entire block in the town, valued at $50,000, on which there is a debt of $7,000. The pastor, Father Rummelfanger, hopes to make the cancellation of this debt one of the features of the jubilee celebration.

Sin.

Let no man think lightly of sin, saying in his heart, "It cannot overtake me."

As long as the sin bears no fruit, the fool, he thinks it honey. But when the sin ripens, then indeed he goes down into sorrow.

THE SISTERS.

FAITH.

A kneeling figure, silver shadowed clear,
With tranced fervor glistening in her eyes
That tremble in the darkness, drawing near
To heaven (like twin Hespers), as they rise.
How faintly doth her vesture ebb and swell!
What matters it to her, this weary breath?
For if she live 'tis that she may die well
And prove belief unblinded. This is Faith.

HOPE.

A form transfigured by the soul within,
Whose waves o'erspread the shore of lifted brow
In mantling light supernal. What hath been
The beauteous sight to make her eager now—
That stirs her bosom, buoys her heart in air,
With quickened longing? Hath sweet joy arrayed
Her face like Luna's gloriously fair
From wooing of the sunlight and the shade?

CHARITY.

No sculptured maid of marble, Charity,
But one in whom the life tides warmly roll,
With arms to clasp and lips to lavish be
Of wealth of human kisses for the soul.
Close on the bounds of God's eternity
Love orbed she giveth moon pale Hope her light
And lended Faith her clear sidereal ray;
Herself the sun whereof all earth is bright
As precincts of the everlasting day.

—Robert C. Stump in Weekly Bouquet.

SHE WAS REBELLIOUS.

But Evidently Her Heart Was In the Right Place.

All persons are required to kneel when before the pope. Catholics are expected to kiss the papal ring, and it is left optional with them whether or not to kiss the pope's foot. Protestants are, of course, required to do neither. Many of them, however, voluntarily kiss the ring, for the gentle bearing and simple dignity of the old man impress every one with respect. The occasions were rare, indeed, says a Rome correspondent, when Americans showed themselves lacking in the amenities of the Vatican, and even these rare exceptions were of trivial importance.

One such episode occurred at a reception. When the pope approached the American group, several Catholic women prostrated themselves before him and kissed his slipper. When he had given his blessing, he passed on to several others who were not Catholics and extended his hand. Two of the women kissed his ring, but a young girl who was with them, although kneeling, very plainly manifested her determination not to do as the others had done, and, ignoring the outstretched hand, contented herself with inclining her head as the aged man stood before her.

There was something very like a smothered murmur of consternation throughout the hall. The pope could not have helped noticing the girl's attitude. An amused smile passed over his face, and he said to the young woman in Italian:

"You are one of my children just like the others, even if you do not like me."

Then the gentleness and tenderness of his face increased as he looked down at the girl and gave her his blessing. When he had passed on to the next group, somebody translated to the rebellious young woman what the pope had said. She knelt there for a minute or so, looking at the aged man's face; then she rose hastily, and, rushing over to where he was standing, threw herself impulsively on her knees before him and said:

"I am ashamed. I am so sorry. Please let me kiss your hand."

The pope could not understand the words, but the girl's meaning was clear from her manner, and the little, thin, trembling hand of the pontiff was raised to bless her again when the girl bent over and reverently kissed it.

"Everything is well when the heart is right," said the pope tenderly, and there was a suspicion of a tear in his eyes as he moved on to the next kneeling figure.

Your Cross In Life.

One is often struck by apparent great inequalities in the distribution of sorrow, and in view of the comparative virtue and vice of men by an apparent want of logical sequence in its visitations. We see now and then some one like him in the sad poet's weird ballad:

Whom unmerciful disaster
Followed fast and followed faster.

Every enterprise which he touches fails; every one whom he loves dies or disappoints his trust. The very stars in their courses fight against him. He is not of the wicked who visibly invite their own doom. He is just an average man. Again, we see the prizes of life, wealth and position, even love and respect, won often by questionable means, while quite as often generosity, truth and devotion reap an earthly harvest of ingratitude, treachery and misrepresentation. We are Christians, and we know that while God wills no evil thing he permits in his wisdom those terrible, inexplicable trials of his children's love and faith and can and will bring good out of them.

The Fruit of Reason and Religion.

Patience is an excellent virtue and one of those most difficult to acquire. Woman possesses it in a far greater degree than man, and this has been one of her compensations for long ages of servitude. It was necessary for her to endure or die, and she has learned to endure. Yet, in the face of all the difficulties and trials which beset us through life, the wrongs and injuries, the diseases and disappointments which are incidental to all, patience is essential to every one, irrespective of sex. We admire courage always, but seldom admire passive fortitude. But courage may be a mere animal instinct, and usually is, whereas patience is a highly intellectual quality and is the fruit of reason or religion—Catholic Universe.

What We Can Do.

We cannot be always doing great work, but we can always be doing something that belongs to our conditions. To be silent, to suffer, to pray when we cannot act, is acceptable to God.—Fenelon.

IN THE MIND'S EYE.

QUEER TRICKS THAT OUR VISUAL ORGANS SOMETIMES PLAY ON US.

We See One Thing or Another According to the Mind's Impression—Pictures That Change When Stared at Steadily—Some Amusing Tests.

That we sometimes see with our minds as well as our eyes is brought out interestingly by Joseph Jastrow in the current Popular Science Monthly. The following sections, with their illustrations, afford striking examples of the tricks our eyes sometimes play on us:

True seeing, observing, is a double process, partly objective or outward—the thing seen and the retina—and partly subjective or inward—the picture mysteriously transferred to the mind's representative, the brain, and there received and affiliated with other images.

If we view outlines only, without shading or perspective or anything to definitely suggest what is foreground and what background, it becomes possible for the mind to supply these details and see foreground as back ground and vice versa.

A good example of this is seen in Fig. 1, which represents in outline a truncated pyramid with a square base. Is the smaller square nearer to you, and are the sides of the pyramid sloping away from you toward the larger square in the rear? Or are you looking into the hollow of a truncated pyramid with the smaller square in the background? Or is it now one and now the other, according as you decide to see it?

Here (Fig. 2) is a skeleton box which you may conceive as made of wires, outlining the sides. Now the front, or side nearest, seems directed downward and to the left; again, it has shifted its position and is no longer the front, and the side which appears to be the front seems directed upward and to the right. The presence of the diagonal line makes the change more striking; in one position it runs from the lefthand rear upper corner to the right-hand front lower corner, which in the other it connects the left-hand front upper corner with the right-hand rear lower corner.

Fig. 3 will probably seem at first glimpse to be the view of a flight of steps which one is about to ascend from right to left. Imagine it, however, to be a view of the under side of a series of steps, the view representing the structure of overhanging solid masonwork seen from under.

FIG. 3.

The blocks in Fig. 4 are subject to a marked fluctuation. Now the black surfaces represent the bottom of the blocks, all pointing downward and to the left, and now the black surfaces have changed and have become the tops pointing upward and to the right. For some the changes come at will; for others they seem to come unexpectedly, but all are aided by anticipating mentally the nature of the transformation. The effect here is quite striking, the blocks seeming almost animated and moving through space.

FIG. 4.

All these diagrams serve to illustrate the principle that when the objective features are ambiguous we see one thing or another according to the impression that is in the mind's eye; what the object factors lack in definiteness the subjective ones supply; while familiarity, prepossession, as well as other circumstances influence the result. These illustrations show conclusively that seeing is not wholly an objective matter depending upon what there is to be seen, but is very considerably a subjective matter depending upon the eye that sees.

AN EVERYDAY BOY.

He was not at all particular
To keep him perpendicular,
While walking, for he either skipped or jumped.
He stood upon his head awhile
And, when he went to bed awhile
He dove among the pillows, which he thumped.

He never could keep still a bit;
The lookers-on, thought ill of it;
He balanced on his rear the kitchen broom;
And did some neat trapezing,
Which was wonderfully pleasing,
On every peg in grandpa's harness room.

From absolute inanity
The cat approached insanity
To see him slide the banisters so rash;
But once on that mahogony,
While trying to toboggan, he
Upset his calculations with a crash!

And since that bad disaster
He has gone about in plaster—
Not of Paris, like a nice Italian toy,
But the kind the doctor uses
When the bumps and cuts and bruises,
Overcome a little regular live boy!

A DOG BANKER

Echo Knows the Value of a Dollar and is a Veritable Miser.

There is a dog, belonging to Mr. Frank Wright of No. 113 Cass street, Chicago, who is a veritable banker among animals. He knows the value of money, hoards it like a miser and answers to the name of Echo.

He is a silver dog and also a sly dog. If he wore stockings, it is certain that he would keep his savings securely tied up and hidden in an old one. As it is he utilizes cracks between the floors and walls, in bad weather, and during the summer solstice plants his hoards here and there in the backyard and jealously guards them with his beady black eye for fear of possible onslaught from those watchful felines on the fence.

Echo is supposed to carry his account in his head, and his buried treasure in no way resembles that of Capt. Kidd except in its magnitude.

The question may have arisen in the mind of the reader, "How does this canine hero make his money to begin with?"

His method is unique and final, and came to his consciousness about two years ago, when he had just passed the door of pampered puppyhood. He is greatly esteemed by its owner, and his idiosyncrasy is accepted as a necessary part of his make up.

It is sad to relate, but true, that Echo does not earn his wage by the sweat of his brow, but rather takes advantage of the love his master bears him. His system is to refuse meat or drink unless he is paid in advance for his part of the transaction.

For example, he loves coffee, but will not touch it unless it is flavored with a nickel. He drops the nickel in himself, and after the cheerful clink at the bottom of his cup he swallows the contents joyfully. For a second cup the nickel must be removed and dropped in as before. The family has endeavored to make the same nickel do continued service, but Echo has outwitted them by his superior staying powers. A nickel has to be forthcoming at every meal, and if Echo will not cause one to materialize somebody else must.

Echo also approves of sweet pastries, but these cost his family a quarter, as the little fellow will have none of 10-cent pieces; these are too small and troublesome to bank properly. After the meal, Echo grabs his nickel or silver and steals off to hide it from the sight of mortal eye.

Recently Echo buncoed a certain railroad president out of a trade dollar. Doubting the dog's perspicacity, the magnate gave him a silver cart wheel, which Echo grabbed with a delirium of joy, rushed out, and placed it in one of his safety deposits—a certain hole in the wall before his new friend could say Jack Robinson.

Doubt cost the president $1 in this case. Briefly, these are Echo's methods of finance. Burglars need not attempt to loot this bowwow's bank, for he watches his own treasure sleeplessly. He is supposed to take his hygienic promenades with great reluctance, fearing that thieves or cats may impoverish him.

Tops Then and Now

"The boys of the present time know many things the boys of forty years ago did not," remarked a toy dealer, "but in the way of tops they are far behind what their fathers and grandfathers were. The boy is now satisfied with a penny ash or poplar top and with a string for his top cord, and he gets all the sport out of it that he seems to want. Now, such a thing as a painted top would not be used in my days. In those days nothing but a hard turned dogwood, hickory or mahogony top was considered the proper thing. The little castiron plugs of the tops of to-day would be laughed at then, and the boys would be ashamed to be seen carrying such a thing or playing with it on the streets. The plug then was a steel bolt, was heavy and was strongly screwed in. Of course, the tops then cost from 5 to 15 cents, but it was rigged up to do service, and it did it, too. Such tops are not to be had now in the toy trade, though now and then I have had some turned out by the old man who made tops for me when I was a boy, but the boys won't touch them, preferring the painted machine-made tops. The leather top cord is also one of the things of the past, and the ordinary boy knows no more about it than he does of the other 'lost arts.' Several old shoe coblers who were famous for making top cords have told me that they have not made a top cord for thirty-five years, and that they have not had a call for them in that time."

THEY STORE UP FOOD.

The Chipmunk and the Weasel Are Very Busy Housekeepers.

Have you ever seen the weasel carry his winter food to his den? If you meet him in the woods, says a lover of animals, watch him at work. No one could be more methodical. He brings his food to the entrance of his home and suddenly pops into the round hole in the ground that serves him as a doorway. Whatever food he may have brought he will lay it near his door, go in, turn around and then reach out to drag in the dainty after him.

The chipmunk is another busy housekeeper. He works on much the same plan as the weasel, and to and fro he will hasten on the still days of October, seeming to understand the advantage of toiling while the winds and sky are favorable. In storing his provisions the chipmunk is far more careful than the red squirrel, and he is also more particular about furnishing his home. He selects the dry maple leaves or those of the plane tree and stuffs them carefully into his cheek pockets to carry them to his den. When he cannot find enough nuts or grain, this provident little housekeeper chooses something else.

We know of two chipmunks that were observed by a student of animals while they were gathering cherry pits from under a cherry tree near the student's house. As he preferred watching the workers to disturbing them, they grew more friendly and were full of joy at the unusual feast that they were laying up for themselves. They gathered the seeds of the sugar maple also, and, as many of the keys were yet on the trees, although the leaves were many, the chipmunks harvested them by running swiftly out on the ends of the small branches, reaching for the maple keys, snipping off the wings and deftly slipping the nut or samara into their cheek pockets.

A Handy Splice.

If you wish to splice a broken stick or prevent a piece of rope from unraveling at the ends, perhaps you could not do better than to use the contrivance shown in the accompanying picture. Any bright girl or boy can easily make the splice with a piece of ordinary twine. The twine must, however, be long enough to permit of passing the loop several times over the end of the object to be spliced.

MAKING THE SPLICE.

To make the splice properly, place the ends of the twine along the object to be fixed, having them point in opposite directions, as you see them where marked No. 1 and No. 2 in the picture. Then hold the ends in place with the thumb of the left hand and, taking the twine in the right hand at the places marked No. 3 in the picture, wind it around the object to be spliced. When you have made as many turns about the stick or rope as you think necessary pull at the ends of the twine No. 1 and No. 2 till the splice is tight. You will find that you have made a very strong fastening that becomes tighter the harder you pull.

The lower sketch simply shows you how the splicing is done. In making the splice for use the wrappings should lie close together, with the ends of the twine cut short, as they show in the second sketch in the picture.

Chemical Prints in Darkness.

Here is a way to take a picture in the dark: Draw a picture on a piece of paper, using sulphate of quinine in making the outlines. Expose the paper to the sun for a few minutes; then place the paper face down on a piece of sensitive paper, like that used by photographers, and place the two sheets between the leaves of a book. If the sheets are removed from the book a few hours later you will find that an exact reproduction of the drawing will have been impressed on the sensitive paper. Designs of any sort can be copied in this way, or you may trace over a printed picture or design with sulphate of quinine and by the same process produce a faithful copy of the print. Try it.

A Popular Error.

Nearly everybody entertains the opinion that a dishonest grocer has a penchant for mixing sand with his sugar for the purpose of gain. This is a popular error, for sugar is but rarely adulterated, from the fact that unless scientifically done, and then only with a certain kind of clay, the fraud would come to light without the consumer applying any test. If sand is mixed with sugar, it would be discovered by the sugar eater, for the sand would be found as a deposit at the bottom of the coffee cup, or it would betray itself by the grit in the cake.

A Bee.

A little girl was visiting her cousins in the country for the first time, and everything was so strange to her that she could not help showing her ignorance. Her cousins seemed to be amused at her unfamiliarity with things that they knew so well, and this vexed her. The next morning, at breakfast, she saw a chance to show them that she was not so ignorant, after all. There was a dish of honey on the table, and she said, with an air of self-satisfaction:

"Ah, I see you keep a bee."

GOLF.

Next Saturday a number of private matches will be played on the Hillside golf course, and there will be social features at the clubhouse.

The competition for the McCutchen Cup will be continued Saturday afternoon on the links of the Park Golf Club as usual. A good crowd is expected. Fred P. Taylor is in Plainfield for a few days and may turn out Saturday to take part in the tournament.

The recent rains have put the course of the Park Golf Club in fine condition. While the links did not suffer as badly as did many courses in this vicinity from the drought, the fair green was hard and dusty. The turf is now in good shape and condusive to good playing.

CYCLING COMMENT.

Jay Eaton, the speedy rider, of Elizabeth, has so far this season taken part in four contests. He finished first in one and second in the others. By strict attention to business he has done quite well and now has over $176 to his credit as the result of his work.

The postponed Saturday half-holiday race meet of the New Jersey Racing Association will take place at the Vailsburg board track, Saturday, August 12th. On that day in addition to a big programme of events John King, the crack-a-jack pursuit rider, of Newark, and H. Y. Bedell, the middle distance amateur champion, will ride a 25-mile match race paced by multicycles.

ROD AND GUN.

Dr. Moy and Warren Marsh are off on a fishing tour today. Two big barrels, filled to the brim with water, setting on the sidewalk near Dr. Moy's store on West Fourth street, is suggestive of the fact that they expect to need them to quarter their "catch" in when they arrive back in town.

—Paughcaughnaughsinque Tribe, No. 193, Improved Order of Red Men, worked the Chief's degree upon four candidates at last night's regular meeting.

—Neuman Bros., the grocers, are displaying a fine line of Jenny Lind musk melons. Jersey and Delaware peaches are coming in nicely and are very tasty.

Shepherds of Bethlehem.

Three propositions for membership were received and one member initiated at last evening's meeting of the Shepherds of Bethlehem. The finance committee made a report, and David Bowden entertained the members with a speech in the Scotch dialect.

Use Allen's Foot-Ease in Your Gloves.

A lady writes: "I shake Allen's Foot-Ease into my gloves and rub a little on my hands. It saves my gloves by absorbing perspiration. It is a most dainty toilet powder." Allen's Foot-Ease makes tight or new shoes easy. Always use it to Break in New Shoes. It keeps the feet cool and comfortable. We invite the attention of physicians and nurses to the absolute purity of Allen's Foot-Ease. All drug and shoe stores sell it, 25c. Sample sent FREE. Address Allen S. Olmsted, LeRoy, N. Y.

Is Your Silk Waist Soiled?

We have cleaned almost as many silk waists this season by our improved dry process of cleaning as we have laundered shirt waists in our laundry department. When the sleeves and back of your silk waist become soiled, bring it to us. We positively claim that no one can do better than we in this line.

PAST FOUR SCORE POINT.

Death of H. Joseph Whiting at the Home of Henry McGee.

H. Joseph Whiting, an old resident of Brooklyn, died last evenng at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Henry A. McGee, of Orchard place, Washington Park. Although Mr. Whiting had not been in good health for some time his death came very suddenly. He was in his eightieth year.

Mr. Whiting spent most of his life in Brooklyn where he was early identified with the volunteer firemen of that city and remained prominent in the veteran association after the paid department was started. He came to this city four months ago and has since been stopping at the home of his daughter. He was able to be about the house but was quite feeble. Last evening at 8 o'clock he was taken suddenly worse and at 11 o'clock passed away.

He leaves two children, Mrs. Henry A. McGee, of the borough, and Former Mayor Whiting, of Bound Brook. The funeral will be held from the home of Henry A. McGee Saturday afternoon at 3 o'clock. Interment will be in the cemetery at Bound Brook.

PATSY CHRISTMAS GETS CONTRACT.

He Will Macadamize Second Street for Street Railway Company.

After a consultation with the Plainfield Street Railway Company Patsy Christmas has been successful in securing the contract to macadamize East Second street and Richmond street, which work will be done under the direction of the trolley company.

Patsy claims that after he bid on the work the price of stone was raised by certain wholesale dealers, thus making it impossible for him to do the work at the price quoted. He will now get the stone from an outside party at a lower figure. The work will be started within a few days and pushed rapidly to completion.

Developing Denton Property.

It is expected that the contracts for the opening of the streets on the Denton property, which is developed under the management of S. D. Drake, will be made within a few days. This is a month earlier than anticipated. Already it is said that four lots have been sold on the property and that a $6,000 house will be put up at once.

Consulting With Trolley Officials.

Superintendent Adleman, of the Plainfield Street Railway Company, accompanied by Patsy Christmas, are in Newark today in consultation with officers of the company regarding some work to be done in this city.

been much in her grandmother's society, and has received with great care instructions in the mysteries that Gypsies only know, as well as advice regarding the direction of the affairs of her people. Laura is more the Gypsy, judging from the stories of the Romany which people read with greatest interest, than any of the Harrisons now at Netherwood. "Datter," her father calls her. He says she is 16 years old. She has the bright, ingenious expression, the frank interest, the simple, respectful speech of the girl of 16, with the development generally seen in girls three or four years older. Of dark complexion, and strong, bright eye, with black hair done up in a style that is all her own, and in lines that give her head an appearance of the Mauresque, with skirt clearing her ankles, and a swinging freedom of motion that comes of outdoor activity, she will hardly pass across the camp and escape attention.

WHAT WILL VOORHEES DO?

Governor Says He Can See Only One Way to Send Guard to New York.

Governor Voorhees said yesterday to a reporter that if possible he would have New Jersey represented properly and prominently at the reception to Admiral Dewey next October. If possible, he would try to have the National Guard of the State participate in the reception. At present the difficulty is that there is no fund from which the expenses of the troops may be taken without authorization.

"The State should be represented," said the Governor, "and the cost of representation would undoubtedly have been provided for at the last session of the Legislature if we had any idea of Admiral Dewey's home-coming. I am now thinking of some method of suitably representing New Jersey."

"Have you thought of a public subscription?"

"I've thought of it," was the reply, 'but I don't want to go begging money from the citizens when the State has $1,500,000 surplus in its treasury. At present there is no way of participating in the affair unless I become personally responsible.

"The only question is whether the next Legislature would ratify the incuring of any expenses in the affair.

"I am making an investigation now to see what can be done on that line. There's no doubt that New Jersey should be prominently represented."

THE NEWSBOYS' STRIKE.

Excited Youngsters Attacked Two Boys Without Cause.

The boldness and impudence of some of the newsboys who have been attempting to boycott the evening editions of The World and Journal was displayed Tuesday evening when they set upon Harold Brownell and Howard Wagner, boys about eight years of age.

These boys are not newsboys in any sense, neither are they of the hoodlum order. They were coming up Watchung avenue when they were set upon by some of the strikers, who snatched from one of the lads a quantity of books and magazines which they had just borrowed. The little fellow protested that he was not a news boy and that he did not have any Worlds or Journals. The boys pleadings had no effect upon the young ruffians. They grabbed the books and magazines, and before either of the boys could interfere, they had destroyed them. As the little chaps had borrowed the books and papers they will probably be compelled to replace them. The striking newsboys will not have the sympathy of the citizens if they resort to such depredations as the above. Lawlessness and violence will not be tolerated.

LIVES ENDANGERED.

Prompt Action Prevented a Conflagration at Home of W. T. Carr.

An oil stove made considerable excitement at the home of William T. Carr, 518 Arlington avenue, last evening. Without any warning, it suddenly blazed up and threatened to set fire to the surrounding furnishings.

Miss Teeple, a trained nurse, promptly picked up the stove despite the blaze and carried it out of the house. Mrs. Carr and her new born babe were in the house and a fire would have had most serious consequences.

No Right to Ugliness.

The woman who is lovely in face, form and temper will always have friends, but one who would be attractive must keep her health. If she is weak, sickly and all run down, she will be nervous and irritable. If she has constipation or kidney trouble, her impure blood will cause pimples, blotches, skin eruptions and a wretched complexion. Electric Bitters is the best medicine in the world to regulate stomach, liver and kidneys and to purify the blood. It gives strong nerves, bright eyes, smooth, velvet skin, rich complexion. It will make a good-looking, charming woman of a run-down invalid. Only 50 cents at L. W. Randolph's Drug Store.

STATE NEWS IN BRIEF.

HAPPENINGS IN A FEW LINES FROM ALL OVER JERSEY.

More or Less Important Happenings and Events in Various Sections Served For a Quick Glance at.

State Dairy Inspector Tracy filed complaints with Justice of the Peace Davis, of Jersey City, against several men for selling milk below the standard.

Charles H. Gear pleaded guilty in the Union County Court yesterday to stealing a wheel from a resident of Cranford. He will be sentenced next Wednesday.

Rev. James Beveridge Lee, pastor of the First Presbyterian church in Bloomfield, has received a call to Immanuel Presbyterian church, at Milwaukee, Wis.

Florence Bowker, of Rahway, was sentenced yesterday in the Union County Court to one year in State Prison for picking a man's pocket in Rahway of $12.

Inspector Long, of the Postoffice Department, has been in Rahway looking for a building suitable for better postal facilities. Since the introduction of the free delivery system more room is needed.

Residents of Morris Plains will petithe next Legislature to incorporate the village into a borough. The proposed borough will include all that territory between the boundary lines of Morristown and Littleton.

The Hudson County Boulevard Commissioners have discharged 300 laborers who have been rebuilding the road, as the appropriations is exhausted. Thirteen miles of the boulevard has been reconstructed.

Morris Plains is to have a new school building to cost, including the lot, about $5,000. It will be located on Speedwell avenue on a 100x200 lot, purchased of the Canfield estate for $1,200. The building will be two stories high with four rooms.

Young Ross Drake, of New Brunswick, the sixteen-year-old boy who wanted to be an admiral, ran away to sea and was picked up by the police of Braddock, in Central Pennsylvania, is tired of that sort of thing and his father has telegraphed money for his fare home.

Two prisoners in the Warren County jail obtained a couple of knives, which they converted into saws, and then sawed through the bars of their cell, Saturday night they intended to liberate the other ten prisoners and escape, but the sheriff's daughter learned of their plans in time to hold the jail birds in.

Women Doctors to Organize.

Dr. Mary D. Hussey, of East Orange, formerly of Plainfield is the mover in an effort to organize a New Jersey society of women physicians. She will make canvass shortly of the women members of the profession in the State, with this end in view.

Dr. Hussey is anxious to have the New Jersey society organized in time to be represented at the next annual convention of the national association of women docters in New York. The association has branches in many States.

Death of a Promising Son.

Mrs. Anna Terry, of New Front street, will have the sympathy of the community in the loss she has sustained by the death of her son Ellsworth, a bright lad of about 8 years, which occurred yesterday. The funeral services will be held from Mrs. Terry's residence tomorrow afternoon at 3 o'clock. Interment at Hillside.

Lehigh Master Mechanic Resigns.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Easton, Pa., July 27—Phillip C. Wallis has tendered his resignation as master mechanic of the Lehigh Valley Railroad Company's shops at South Easton. He will go to Long Island City on the 1st of September to accept a position as master mechanic of the Long Island Railroad Company.

Firemen Come and Go.

William Ross, driver of No. 2 hose wagon of the Palainfield Fire Department, returned to his duties yesterday morning after a ten days' vacation. George Fiering, driver of the No. 3 hose wagon, now quartered at the West End engine house, started his vacation yesterday morning. He will be off duty for ten days.

MODERN PROVERBS.

A man's best capital is his industry—if he can sell it.

A society woman is one who has learned to smile like a politician.

A girl never gets over the shock of encouraging a man who proposes but once.

Friends are those people who act surprised when we tell them how old we are.

Some women put money in the bank just to have that important feeling when they draw it out.

Being admired by the wrong man always makes a woman mad at him for not being the other one.

Every woman thinks she can make better coffee than any other woman she knows. When a widow remembers how much sugar a bachelor takes in his tea he had better look out.

A woman selects a husband by herself, but she takes three other women with her to help pick out a hat.—(Exchange.

who will pay it? Letters from the Prosecuting Attorney of Middlesex county and the men here for the prisoner say Midelesex county will pay the bill, but they have no authority to do so.

Sheriff Sheets and Attorney Daniels want cash in hand upon delivery of the goods. Some one proposed that they grease the prisoner and turn him loose and the fellow that caught him keep him.

We doubt if either party could catch him if he wasn't greased; but it would make better sport than the greased hog race last Fourth.

Weather and Crop Condition.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

New Brunswick, N. J., July 27.—During the week ending Monday, July 24th, the temperature was above the normal on the first five and decidedly below it on the last two days of the week. No rain fell until Saturday in the Central Eastern portion of the State, and on Sunday in the Central, Northern, and portions of the Southern sections. All crops (except in scattered places in the Southern Section, where everything is still suffering from the drought) are reported to be in fine growing and maturing condition.

The outlook for apples, pears and peaches is very promising in the Central and Northern countries. In the Southern Sections apples are the best of all orchard fruit; pears only fair. There are practically no peaches in this section. Many peach orchards in Middlesex, Hunterdon, Somerset and Sussex counties are remaining on the trees.

Investigating a Supposed Murder.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

New Brunswick, July 27.—That the mystery of the man supposed to have been murdered near Jamesburg may yet be cleared up, John S. Voorhees, the County Prosecutor, learned yesterday that a man known as "Buffalo Bill," had been missing for some time. He was a companion of George Day and Reuben Strickland, who are now in State Prison for a series of thefts committed in the vicinity of Prospect Plains. C. H. Moke, the coroner, has been called into the case by the Prosecutor and a full investigation will be made.

SCHEME OF DOUBLE TRACKS IS OPPOSED.

Property Owners Unanimously Against the Project.

COUNCIL REMONSTRANCE.

WATCHUNG AVENUE IS MONOPOLIZED ENOUGH NOW.

Seventy Per Cent. of Property Owners Sign the Remonstrance Which Will be Presented to the Common Council if the Street Railway Company Apply for Right to Lay Double Tracks.

The announcement that the Plainfield Street Railway Company are conducting private negotiations with the members of the Common Council, looking toward permission to establish a double-track between the end of the switch on Watchung avenue to where the present double-track begins on West Front street, has stirred up the property owners to prevent any such deal.

Already a prominent property owner along the line, where the additional track is wanted by the company, has visited a majority of the other property owners and secured their signatures to a remonstrance which will be presented to the Council if the application is made.

The interested property owners believe that the company is altogether too grasping in this latest attempt to secure further rights from the city. At present they practically monopolize Watchung avenue between North avenue and Second street with their long switch, which makes traffic for vehicles and bicyclists inconvenient and positively dangerous at times. The avenues between these two points is really nothing more nor less than a yard for the trolley people now; and with double tracks extended over the rest of Watchung avenue and down Front street the thoroughfares would be still less of service to the people.

For residential purposes the property owners along Watchung avenue and Front street, where the trolley tracks run, claim that their land has depreciated one-half in value by the invasion of the streets with the railway. But of the present condition, when the whole public is served by the arrangement, they have no complaint. When, however, the Street Railway Company seek to further monopolize the streets in front of their property they do entertain forcible objections. Those who have signed the remonstrance against double tracking the portions of streets in questions consist of over seventy per cent of the property owners. And those whose names have not yet been signed reside out of town, or are at present not to be seen by the leader in the movement.

With such a formidable array of names it is scarcely likely that the application for building double tracks along the proposed section will be granted by the Council.

WHY CAPTAIN GRANT IS AWAY.

Requested to Go After Darling by Prosecutor Voorhees.

Since Captain Grant has been away from town a number of people have been very anxious to know why the officials should allow him to go away from the city for several days on such an errand that called him to McConnellsburg, Pa. The facts in the case are that Prosecutor Voorhees, of Middlesex county, asked Captain Grant to accompany the county detective, Mr. Ferguson, to the abovenamed place, and Mayor Rockfellow very courteously consented to the request from the Prosecutor. Some people who have objected to the Captain's absence appear to be afraid that he will get a few days off.

Pain's Midsummer Picture of War.

The wonderful success which Pain is meeting this summer in the open air theatre at Manhattan Beach bids fair to excel in substantial results all previous season in this locality. It may be that the war pictures, descriptive of the destruction of Cervera's Fleet and the dash up San Juan Hill appeals more strongly to amusement seekers than if a foreign subject or a topic which did not appeal to the patriotic aspirations of the public had been selected. Be that, however, as it may the facts remain that crowded and delighted audiences occupy the open air theatre every week day evenings to see the mimic warfare on the stage and afterward watch "the rockets red glare and bombs bursting in air" as a supplementary addition to the great war spectacle.

SILK BUSINESS BOOMING

NEW FACTORY TO BE BUILT AT STIRLING BY H. A. STREULI.

Building to be 100x50 Feet and Two Stories High—Evarts Tracy, of This City, is Architect of the Building.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Stirling, July 28—Plans are now completed for a new silk mill to be erected at this place and work will be started next week with a view to completing it as early as possible. The mill is to be built for H. A. Streuli, the owner of the other silk mill here, and it will be located close to the one now in operation.

It will be more elaborate than the original one, and will have a clock tower on top. The building will be 150x50 feet and two-stories high. It will be extensively ornamented on the outside and will be a credit to the village.

Evarts Tracy, the architect, of Plainfield, has furnished the plans and will have supervision of the construction. The mill is to be built to meet the increasing demand for silk, and which the present mill cannot handle satisfactorily.

NAVAL RESERVES BACK.

THEY HAVE HAD A SUCCESSFUL CRUISE ON THE PRAIRIE.

Commander Irving Highly Pleased With Results, and He Will Make a Report, Praising Their Efficiency.

The members of the New Jersey Naval Reserves, which include several Plainfield boys, who embarked on the United States auxiliary cruiser Prairie a week ago Wednesday for a cruise of eight days, returned to Hoboken yesterday. Although much bad weather was encountered, the cruise, according to the statements made by the officers and men, was highly successful in every particular, the citizen sailors winning high praise from Capt. McKenzie and the officers of the Prairie for their efficiency, discipline and readiness to obey orders.

Most of the time was spent at Gardiner's Bay, where the men had subcalibre practice, infantry and single-stick drills, setting up exercises and pistol practice. They were also instructed in navigation, taking observations and steering.

Because of the fact that the New Jersey Reserves have an engineering division they were able to man the ship both above and below decks, and took full charge of the engines and dynamos.

Commander Washington Irving, of the Reserves, was highly pleased with the results of the cruise, and yesterday morning expressed himself as follows:

"The cruise was a success in every way, although we had a lot of bad weather. The men did all the work required of them, and the officers of the Prairie commended them on their discipline and readiness to obey orders.

"The officers of the Prairie will make a report to the Navy Department on the efficiency of the men as a body, and will also make a special report upon each officer.

"Our engine room force was particularly highly complimented for their efficiency," concluded Commander Irving.

The Prairie will now take the New York Reserves for a cruise, beginning today.

Work on New Chapel Progressing.

Rapid progress is being made on the new building for Hope chapel on West Fourth street. The frame has nearly been completed. The new building will be properly dedicated this fall. It is to be used for church services, while the old building will be utilized as a Sunday-school room and place where sociables and other church entertainments will be held.

More Street Improvements.

A week from tonight the Borough Council will meet and take steps toward laying some sidewalks, crosswalks and macadamizing in the borough. However, there will be no great amount of work done now until fall, and a certain amount of the street appropriation will have to be held to look after the borough during the winter.

Picnic of New Durham People.

A number of young people living in the vicinity of New Durham, Middlesex county, held a picnic yesterday afternoon which was a delightful affair. The programme consisted of the best things that go to make up a successful out-of-doors event, and everyone thoroughly enjoyed themselves.

Congregational Church to Close.

There will be no services in the Congregational church after Sunday until the Second Sunday in September. During that time necessary repairs will be made in the church.

BROTHER ARRAYED AGAINST BROTHER.

Bitter Feud Between Relatives in Westfield

TROUBLES AIRED IN COURT.

ONE WANTS DAMAGES; THE OTHER SAYS HE WAS ASSAULTED.

Jacob J. and Henry J. Holms Are the Warring Relatives—Origin of the Feud Was Caused by a Dispute About Who Should Hold Possession of a House Near Westfield — Claimed by Both.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Westfield, July 28.—The town rooms were packed yesterday afternoon when the case of Jacob J. Holms against his brother, Henry J. Holms, for $200 damages for removing furniture from his house at Branch Mills, when Henry J. took forcible entree of the premises, was called before Justice of the Peace E. R. Collins.

Lawyer Angleman, of Plainfield, looked after the interests of the plaintiff and C. McCay Whitmore, of Elizabeth, was present to see that the defendent's case was properly presented. Many witnesses were examined. It was shown that a chair, a table, a couch and an oil stove were left in the house by Jacob when he was away and that these articles of furniture had been thrown out of the house by Henry Holms. Witnesses also stated that the walls had been soiled, that a fence had been destroyed and that a chimey had been built on the house. Jacob also claimed that he had been damaged, as the well in the yard had never been finished as Henry would not allow the men to work on it.

Henry and several witnesses denied that they had damaged the house in any way or that they had taken any furniture belonging to the plaintiff James B. Holms, of Flemington, testified that he was the owner of the property and that Jacob was simply his agent. After considerable discussion by the lawyers Justice Collins, said that he would reserve his decision until August 4th.

As James B. Holms was about to leave the court room he was arrested by Constable Koester on a warrant sworn to by Jacob Holms which charged him with assault and battery. The judge set a hearing for 10 o'clock this morning and the prisoner promising to be on hand he was sat free.

This morning the alleged offender was held in $100 bail for the action of the next Grand Jury.

ATTEMPTED BURGLARY.

A Midnight Prowler Around the House of Councilman Clark.

An attempt at burglary was nipped in the bud at the home of Councilman Robert Clark, Jr., on Jackson avenue, early last Sunday morning. The family had spent Saturday at Boynton Beach, returning late. After partaking of a light lunch the family retired. They had been to bed but a short time when they were awakened by a noise about the front porch.

Mr. Clark came down stairs just in time to hear someone leave the porch hurriedly. An investigation followed, but it could not be learned that anything had been taken. One of the front windows showed signs of being tampered with. The matter was reported to the police, and it was thought the prowler could be located. As yet he has not been caught.

EUCHRE AT THE HUNTERSTON.

Guests Whiled Away a Pleasant Evening With the Cards.

The regular Thursday evening progressive euchre party at the Hotel Hunterston last evening proved as delightful as have been previous society events of this character. There were nine tables, which were placed in the parlor. The first ladies' prize was won by Mrs. Samuel Garre and the second was captured by Mrs. F. L. Kane. The gents' first prize was secured by Samuel Garre, while Van-Rensselaer Schuyler had to be satisfied with the second gents' prize. Tomorrow night the regular Saturday night hop will be held. These dances have became very popular with the young people of the Hunterston who look forward to these interesting events with pleasure.

The Captain's Great Record.

We had a very pleasant visit from Captain Grant, Chief of Police, of Plainfield, N. J., while in town last Tuesday. To Captain Grant belongs, in a large measure, the credit of bringing about the arrest of William Darling for the murder of Harry Dunham. He has had twenty-five years experience in police duties, and has the distinction of holding every prisoner he every arrested.—McConnellburg, Pa., Republican.

A SAD HONEYMOON THIS.

GROOM WENT TO HYMEN WITH GRANDAD'S CLOTHES ON.

The Old Gentleman Much Exasperated at Such Conduct and Caused Young Man's Arrest—Now Resting in Jail.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Somerville, July 28—Because he stole his grandfather's best suit of clothes to run away and get married in, Fred VanKirk, a love lorn young man from Damington, is spending a sad and enforced honeymoon in the Somerset county jail. The prisoner was living with his grandfather, Cornelius VanKirk, when he became enamored of a Miss Kate Bird, living near Whitehouse.

One night the two arranged to get married and the young man surreptiously stole his grandfather's Sunday-go-to-meeting clothes and subsequently met his prospective bride who had also, it is alleged, taken a bit of finery from the people with whom she lived in order that their appearance at the nuptual altar would be fitting. They were married that night.

VanKirk's grandfather became exasperated at his grandson's conduct and swore out a warrant for his arrest. The young people remained in Newark till this week when the groom went back to Damington, seeking forgiveness. Instead he was met by a constable, who took him before a justice. The latter committed him to the county jail to await the action of the Grand Jury. A warrant was also issued for the bride and yesterday she was landed in the county jail, too, but she is separated from her husband, much to the sorrow of both.

COLLEGE LOYALTY TESTED.

Given From Various Institutions Gathered at Seabright.

Under the heading, "Collegians at Seabright," the New York Herald of yesterday tells of the claims of rival colleges at the Peninsula Hotel, "when almost every second person belongs to one college or another and those who do not belong, have strong predelictions" The story is continued thus: "Going on the good old principle of 'place aux damis,' Miss Pauline Dederer, who is president of the junior class at Barnard should be mentioned first, and at the same time Miss Sarah Schuyler, of Plainfield, who is of the same class and helps Miss Dederer in upholding the honor of Barnard against the claims of old Eli, Rutgers and Harvard."

Then follows a long list of the students of these colleges, as well as the Brooklyn Polytechnic Institute, all of whom are loyal to their own Alma Mater.

What We Have Done for Others We Can Do for You.

The knowledge that naturally comes with twenty-five years' of practical experience in treating all ailments of the feet enables us to promise the most satisfactory results in all cases that come under our care. G. B. DeRevere, proprietor Revere House; Geo. F. Brown, tax collector, Somerset street; Geo. Egel, Grandview Meat Market, Somerset street; Albert Runyon, 41 Mountain avenue; J. T. Lynus, Wheeler & Wilson's sewing machine agent; W. W. Warnock, baker, 138 North avenue; S. R. Hope, janitor of Bryant School; Jacob Varian, 223 East Fifth street; E. H. Clevely, resturant, 155 North avenue; J. Bird, machinist at Potter's, home 514 West Second street; R H. Rushton, painter, 434 West Fifth street; W. W. Stratton, 339 Park avenue; D. Mattis, 86 Fairview avenue and scores of others all say that specialist Brown, 145 West Second street, has perfectly and completely cured their bunions, enlarged great toe joints, corns, ingrowing toe nails, sweaty, burning and chafed feet, callosities, etc. They also state that the treatment was painless and bloodless and no soreness. After such positive testimony from leading and well known citizens right here at home must convince the most doubting that Mr. Brown's improved method is the only true safe and reliable treatment for all ailments of the feet.

Want a Trolley Depot.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Scotch Plains, July 28.—The trolley has only been in the village for a short time but the patrons of it already see the need of a temporary waiting room where one might be protected from the weather while waiting the twelve minutes for a car. It is hoped the company will see the need of the improvement, for Park avenue will always be the most popular place in town to catch the trolley.

Work on the Chapel.

Excellent progress is being made on the new Catholic chapel that is being erected in the east end of the city. The continued pleasant weather makes it possible to predict an early completion of this edifice.

FOUGHT FOR A PURSE AND A WOMAN'S LOVE.

Rahway Colored Men Battle for Twenty-five Rounds.

CONTEST DECLARED A DRAW

MANY PLAINFIELDERS VIEWED THE FIGHTING BEAUX.

A Dusky Belle's Attention Had Caused a Grudge Between the Combatants, Which They Proposed to Settle in Fistic Encounter—Another Encounter Likely to Settle the Differences.

A prizefight for a small purse and the affections of a woman took place yesterday afternoon in Gibbey's Wood, Linden Township, between Emory Williamson and William Stokes, two leaders in Rahway colored circles, who are well-known in Plainfield. There had been a long-standing grudge between the two young men, caused, it is said, by the attentions they were paying to a colored belle of Rahway.

The battle was to have taken place a week ago at Boynton Beach, where there was an excursion of colored people from different parts of the State, but the principals were warned that if they attempted to fight they would be arrested. so the mill was postponed. It was successfully pulled off yesterday, however, without police interference.

A crowd of about 130 men and boys, white and colored, from Linden, Rahway, Plainfield and Elizabeth, witnessed the battle, which lasted twenty-five rounds and ended in a draw. The men fought stripped to the waist, and wore tights and five-ounce gloves. A purse of $25 was made up for the contest, the whole amount to go to the winner, but by the referee's decision each man got $10.

Williamson, who was the favorite in the betting, in the fifth round nearly put out his opponent by a solar plexus blow, but Stokes, after remaining down nearly the time limit, rallied, and toward the end of the fight administered severe punishment to Williamson, whose head and face today are a mass of bruises, while Stokes bears very few marks of the struggle The referee would have given the victory to Stokes on points, but the terms of the fight were that if a knockout did not take place before twenty-five rounds were fought the affair was to be declared a draw.

The mill has caused much excitement among the colored people of Rahway, but as it took place outside the city limits the police here are powerless to act.

As the fight failed to settle the question of supremacy, another match between the two men is likely to be made.

PUTTING UP NEW TRUNK LINES.

Through Telephone Wires Being Erected Near Fanwood.

A gang of linemen of the New York and New Jersey Telephone Company are now working near Fanwood, and have nearly completed the two new trunk lines for the telephone company that are to connect Plainfield with New York. There are four trunk lines to New York now, but the increase in the business has compelled the two new lines to be added. The lines will be continued to this city the first of next week.

Then the gang of linemen will run a trunk line from Plainfield to Somerville, and, on completing that, the work of removing the old overhead system in this city will be pushed forward rapidly.

May Macadamize After All.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Scotch Plains, July 28—The refusal a short time ago by the Board of Freeholders to accept Mountain avenue from Stanbery's corner to Plainfield, and macadamize it, will probably lead to the township doing the work itself next spring, as the benefit to be derived can be readily seen. There are a number who are interested in the project.

Want Their Wires Underground.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Elizabeth, July 28.—The New York and New Jersey Telephone Company is anxious to get permission from the Elizabeth City Council to place its wires underground in conduits and has invited the members of the Council, together with the City Surveyor and Street Commissioner, to inspect the telephone conduits in Newark.

Settling With the Collector.

Already a number of contestants to the Watchung avenue improvement, in the borough, have called on Collector George F. Brown and settled or arranged to settle the several amounts charged against them by the Supreme Court.

ENEMY FIRED HIS HOUSE

HARD LUCK THAT COMES TO THE BUSHES, OF SOMERSET.

The Son of "Giant Ben," of the Sourland Mountains, Returns From a Day's Absence and Finds His House in Ashes

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Somerville, July 28—The Bush family, who live on the side of Neshanic Mountain, seem to be at the mercy of some secret enemy. Saturday last Garrett D. Bush, with his wife and child, went from his home to Hopewell to do some shopping. On returning he found a pile of ashes and embers where his house once stood. As there was no fire in the stove when the family left home, it is thought that the fire was of incendiary origin.

Several months ago Bush's father, who was known as "Big Ben Bush," lost his life when his home was burned. not far from that of his son. He and his housekeeper both perished in the flames.

Ben Bush left a will giving all his property to Mrs. O. B. Cruser, of Montgomery Township, and none of it to his children. The children are contesting the will and the case came up yesterday before Judge Bartine in the Somerset county Orphans' Court.

CITY ELECTION OFFICERS.

NAMED BY THE REPUBLICAN CITY COMMITTEE.

Fourth Ward Officers Are Not Yet Chosen—No Other Business Done at the Meeting Held Last Evening.

There was a meeting of the city executive committee of the Republican party last evening to elect the local election officers. The officers in the first, second and third wards were chosen and the names will be sent to the county committee. The fourth ward has not made its choice as yet.

The election officers were named as follows: First ward, first district, George Moore and John H. Tier, Jr.; First ward, second district, B. T. Barnes and G. Thorn; Second ward, first district, Armstrong Mulford and John H. Doane; Second ward, second district, W. P. Spangenberg and Charles Smith; Third ward, first district, B. Frank Cortell and John W. Murray, Jr.

While there was some discussion of the present political situation, there was nothing else of importance brought to the attention of the committee at the meeting.

ITALIANS CAN'T GET WORK.

Say They are Victims of Padrone System in Westfield.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Westfield, July 28.—The Italian residents of Westfield are in a great state of mind over the fact that they are unable to secure work on the construction of the Elizabeth and Westfield Street Railway Company between this place and the Scotch Plains extension of the Plainfield Street Railway Company. It is alleged that the present employes on the road are procured under a padrone system of New York, the men being obliged to pay a percentage of their earnings to the man who gets them the job. The Westfield Italains will interview the officials of the company and try to get what they believe will be fair treatment.

Withdraws the Complaint.

After due consideration and a consultation with Mayor Smalley, of the borough, William N. Fangborn, agent for the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals, has decided to withdraw the complaint against William Ruttman, of Manning avenue, for cruelty to his horse which eventually had to be shot. The circumstances are such that nothing would be gained by prosecution.

Young Houston Still in Bed.

Victor Houston, of West Front street, who was shot in the leg recently by H. C. Compton, of the same street, is still confined to his bed. The physician, Dr. Fritts, allows him to sit up a little while at a time, but no risks are being taken. It is now believed that the boy is out of danger.

Death of Mrs. Nolan.

Mrs. Katherine Nolan, mother of Andrew Nolan, of East Front street, died yesterday at Morristown, where she has been living for some time. Her illness extended over a long time and death was not unexpected. She formerly resided with her son in this city.

Specials at VanDenburgh's.

Six quart covered pails, 10c. each; painted foot tubs, 15c. each; stone molasses jugs, 10c. 15c. each; stone vinegar jugs, 10c., 15c., 25c. each; stone bean pots, 15c., 20c., 25c. each; stone butter pots, 15c., 20c., 25c., 30c., 40c. each.

—The Ladies' Aid Society of Hope Chapel is arranging for a lawn festival to be held soon after the first of August.

MEN WANTED TO FIGHT FILIPINOS.

Recruiting Office Now Opened in Plainfield.

FIRST SINCE THE CIVIL WAR.

SERGEANT RYDER IS LOCATED AT CASPAR'S HOTEL.

Wants Men for Two Years' Service in the United States Army—Will Be a Part of the 28th U. S. Volunteer Infantry—Examined by Sergeant Ryder and Local Physician—Hours, 9 to 4.

Men are wanted to fight under the Stars and Stripes in the Philippines. The patriotic young men of this city are to be given an opportunity to enlist. For the first time since the Civil War a recruiting office for the United States Army is to be opened in Plainfield. It was opened this morning in Caspar's Hotel, East Front street, by Sergeant W. Ryder, of the Regular Army.

The recent decision of President McKinley to raise several volunteer regiments for service in the Philippines has resulted in general activity in the recruiting branch of the army. New Jersey is expected to furnish men for the 28th U. S. Volunteer Infantry, which will be quartered at Camp Meade, Pa., until its departure for the west.

This morning Sergeant W. Ryder, from the Newark headquarters of the regular army, arrived in Plainfield and established his headquarters at Caspar's Hotel. He has lately been recruiting at Atlantic City, where he met with good success. His office in this city will remain open for the remainder of this week. If he has good success in obtaining men to do battle with the Filipinos he will continue his stay in Plainfield next week.

Sergeant Ryder will examine the recruits as to their mental capacity. The physical examination will be conducted by a local physician. After the recruits have been successfully passed, they will be sworn into the service of the United States by Captain VanNess, of the First Artillery, who is now at Newark.

The term of enlistment is for two years or until the end of June, 1901. Men, between the ages of eighteen and thirty five years are eligible to the service. Those between eighteen and twenty-one, must have their parent's written consent, made before a notary public. It makes no difference whether they were in service in the volunteers before or not.

To be eligible, the men must weigh between 115 and 190 pounds. They must have a chest measurement of not less than 32 inches and be not over 5 feet, 4 inches in height. Eyesight and hearing must be good.

The recruiting office will be open today and tomorrow from 9 in the morning to 4 in the afternoon. If Sergeant Ryder decides to remain in Plainfield longer, the fact will be duly announced in these columns.

MRS. HALL AT OAK GLEN.

Spending the Summer With Her Brilliant Mother, Mrs. Julia Ward Howe.

Mrs. David Prescott (Florence Howe) Hall has gone to Oak Glen, the summer residence of her mother, Mrs. Julia Ward Howe, situated near Newport, R. I. Miss Caroline Minturn Hall and John Hall are also spending the summer with their grandmother. The last-named recently passed his final examinations for Harvard University, receiving honors in English, algebra, trigonometry, physics and history, and passing four additional honors, (equivalent to nearly half the work of the Freshman year).

Henry Marion Hall made a short visit to Plainfield after his graduation from Harvard University the latter part of June, and will go to Newport after visiting friends in Massachusetts. Both these young gentlemen and the oldest son of Mr. and Mrs. D. P. Hall—Samuel Prescott Hall, Harvard University, 1893—were fitted for college at John Leal's School in this city.

To Study School Methods.

Miss Grace Cooley, of Rockview avenue, and Miss Caroline Randolph, of East Front street, left today for Chautauqua, Pa., where they will take a course in school government and methods. This fall they will open the private school on LaGrande avenue that has formerly been under the management of the Misses Scribner and Green.

Ten Weeks to Do the Work.

Patsy Christmas says that it will take ten weeks to complete the work of macadamizing East Second and Richmond streets. He fixed his bonds today with the trolley company and has ordered his stone for the work which will be started very soon.

GEN. HALL TAKES CALAMBA

Malabar's Garrison of 300 Filipinos Are Driven From Their Position.

NAPIDAN SHELLED THEM

The Americans Succeed in Making a Safe Landing Under Cover of Her Six-Pounder Guns.

Gunboats Deceived the Natives—Cavalry Advances on the Town and the Infantry Ploughs Through the Marshes—The Enemy Suffers Heavy Loss.

Manila, July 28.—Gen. Hall defeated Gen. Malabar's garrison of 300 Filipinos at Calamba after a sharp running fight, cutting through the north and south avenue of the enemy. The expedition was under the supervision of Gen. Lawton. Four hundred Washington troops, armed with Krag-Jorgensens, and Hamilton's Mountain Battery left Pasig and joined Capt. Eltenhead, with 450 men of the 21st Infantry, 150 cavalrymen and the army gunboats Napidan and Oeste.

The gunboats concealed near Talim Island headed southwest, deceiving the Calambans into believing that they were intending to attack Santa Cruz. Suddenly, they landed the cavalry and the men of the 21st Infantry a mile north of Calamba. A twelve-foot rise of the lake had flooded the Filipino's trenches, hence there was no opposition on the part of the enemy until the cavalry were swimming the river. The Filipinos then fired volleys at the Americans. Capt. McGrath and Lieut. Bateson Swan secured a casco, on which they ferried the cavalrymen across the river.

The cavalry advanced upon the town while the 21st detachment ploughed through the marshes and circled the foothills to the west, preventing a retreat of the enemy on the sides. They then swung to the southeast, flanking the enemy, who retired into the town. After fighting there in the streets they escaped south to Santa Tomaz. The Washington troops, under the cover of the Napidan's six-pounders, landed in water neck deep and got stuck in the marshes to the south, consequently they were unable to cooperate with the other troops.

A hundred non-combatants in carriages drawn by ox teams escaped to the south unmolested. The enemy removed about twenty-five of their killed and wounded and also took with them forty Spanish prisoners. Thirty of the latter, including five women, were rescued by the Americans and conveyed to Manila.

Calamba, which is on the lake, is a position of strategic importance, and will be permanently garrisoned. Gen. Lawton and his wife and son were interested witnesses of the affair from a launch, and were under fire. Lieut. Larsen, commanding the Napidan, discovered the Otalora, a lost Filipino gunboat, partly dismantled and concealed by fish traps covered with bamboos.

The American loss was four men killed and eleven wounded.

Gen. Lawton, on board the Napidan, visited Las Banas, to the south of Calamba. He found there a deserted Spanish hospital for rheumatics with hot spring and marble baths, which he recommends to the use of the army. Prof. Worcester of the American Commission accompanied Gen. Lawton and congratulated him on his discovery.

Soldiers From Manila.

Washington, July 28.—Gen. Otis reported to the War Department the departure of the Sherman. His despatch is as follows:

"Manila, July 27.

"Adjutant-General, Washington:

"Sherman sailed midnight, 1287 officers and men, California: 256 discharged; total passengers, 1,567.

"OTIS."

Thief Overcome by Remorse.

Binghamton, July 28.—Several weeks ago masked burglars entered the home of W. Hazelton at Oneonta and stole $300 in money and several gold watches and rings. Mr. Hazelton has just received through the mail a package with a New York city postmark. It contained $300 in bills and a note in the disguised hand of a good penman, which read: "Mr. Hazelton—I have suffered untold agony and enclose the rings and money. The watches you will hear from later."

Ran Down the Street Ablaze.

Milford, Pa., July 28.—Georgianna Hibbard, a young woman employed by Mrs. Dr. Kenworthy, while carrying a lighted lamp either let it fall or fell while carrying it, spilling the oil over her. The oil ignited and her clothes were in flames. She ran out of the house and down the street till she fell to the ground. She was taken to the Port Jervis Hospital and it is thought that recovery is doubtful.

Riot in a German Poorhouse.

Berlin, July 28.—At the poorhouse at Schrimm, in the Province of Posen, nerly 400 inmates, most of them Poles, attacked the attendants and overseers with knives and clubs. The police were summoned and were attacked by the rioters. They were obliged to use their weapons in self-defense. Several of the rioters were severely wounded, but finally the ringleaders were arrest-d and order was restored.

Conference in Deadlock.

London, July 28.—The Peace Conference at The Hague is virtually locked. Lord Salisbury, the British Premier, has declined to give Sir Julian Pauncefote and the other English delegates permission to sign the agreement of the convention unless the non-represented powers agree to certain conditions without reserve.

President Commutes a Sentence.

Washington, July 28.—The President has commuted to life imprisonment the sentence of William K. Reed, colored, convicted May, 1899, in this city of murdering Elizabeth Logan, and sentenced to be hanged Aug. 4, 1899.

ADOLPH LUETGERT DEAD

The Chicago Sausage Maker Found Dead in His Cell.

Joliet, July 28.—Adolph L. Luetgert, the wealthy sausage maker of Chicago, who was serving a life sentence in the penitentiary here for the murder of his wife, was found dead in his cell.

The authorities were unable to ascertain the cause of his death, and an inquest will be held to determine whether he killed himself or died of heart disease.

The trial of Luetgert in Chicago, attracted wide attention, and was one of the most sensational in the history of the State. Luetgert was charged with having murdered his wife in the basement of his factory, and cooked the body to pieces in a vat. The prosecution had but a few small bones and two rings as evidence that their theory was correct, but secured a conviction and a life sentence.

Tired of Fishing in Rain.

Boston, July 28.—Captain Robley D. Evans, who has been fishing down at Buzzards Bay with Joseph Jefferson and Grover Cleveland, came to Boston to get out of the rain. He has gone to Mount Desert Island, Maine.

Herd Infected With Turberculosis.

Matteawan, N. Y., July 28.—The sale of ex-Governor Morton's famous herd of Guerneys at Ellerslie, Rhinebeck, this county, has been postponed in order to give the herd a clean bill of health. An official inspection was made this week and it was found, it is said that a large percentage of the animals, about fifty in all, had tuberculosis. It was only a few years ago that a similar condition of things was found to exist in the same herd. Mr. Morton is one of the vice-presidents of the American Cattle Club, and his herd have won prizes frequently at the various exhibitions in different parts of the country.

Double Execution of Murderers.

Sing Sing, N. Y., July 28.—Mr. Johnson, Warden of the prison, has issued invitations for witnesses to attend the execution of two murderers next Monday. The men are Lewis Pullerson, a negro, and Michael McDonald. Both are from New York city, the former having killed his common law wife, and the latter killing Lewis Titue, a time-keeper under whom he was employed. There has not been a double execution here since the term of warden Brown, in 1892. The men seem resigned to their fate and the Warden expects no trouble.

Panic in Hotel Fire.

New York, July 28.—Smith & McNell's hotel was damaged by fire to the extent of $50,000. There was a panic among the guests, and several of the chambermaids rushed to the roof while others came down the fire-escapes. All of the help and the guests except one kitchen girl escaped in safety. The injured girl, Nellie Sullivan, was badly burned about the face and breast, but will recover. The fire was caused by the explosion of gasoline which was being used for cleaning on the third floor.

Steamer Sinks Canal Boat.

New York, July 28.—The steamer Massachusetts of the Providence and Stonington Steamboat Company with an excursion party aboard collided with and sank the canal boat The Baird & Lyman, of Buffalo, in East River off Eighty-fourth street. The Massachusetts was not damaged, so far as is known, and the accident caused no serious panic among her passengers.

Howell Champion of the Thames.

London, July 28.—B. H. Howell, the American oarsman, won the Wingfield silver sculls and the amateur championship of the Thames, finishing the course between Putney and Mortlake four lengths ahead of Blackstaffe, who was second. Fox was third in the contest. Howell won the diamond sculls in the Henley regatta July 7.

Woman's Missionary Work.

Ft. Wayne, Ind., July 28.—Miss Lillie Beaber, a well-known young society lady, left for Persia to engage in missionary work. She will have charge of the girls' boarding school at Tabreez under the control of the Board of Foreign Missions of the Presbyterian Church. She will be supported by the Woman's Missionary Society of the Ft. Wayne Presbytery.

Appointed Naval Chemist.

Norfolk, Va., July 28.—J. M. Crafty, a Cincinnati man, has been appointed naval chemist at this station as the result of the competitive examination for the place two weeks ago. His appointment got here from Washington. Mr. Crafty will be notified to report here for duty. The place pays a salary of $2,000.

Dreyfus is Ready.

Rennes, July 28.—Capt. Dreyfus is fully prepared for his second trial. He is acquainted with all the points in his case, but he is said to speak with some difficulty, as he lost three front teeth while on Devil's Island. His mind, however, is perfectly clear and he shows great intellectual strength.

Two Were Killed.

Delphi, Ind., July 28.—On the farm of Bruce McCann, in the eastern part of this county, William Stephens and Elmos Garver were killed by lightning, and William Wallace and Abraham Downhain were seriously injured. For twelve hours Downham remained unconscious.

IN MATTER OF THE APPLICATION OF Jacob Blimm Administrator OF William Blimm, DECEASED, FOR SALE OF LAND TO PAY DEBTS. } Order to Show Cause.

Jacob Blimm, Administrator of William Blimm, deceased, having exhibited to this Court under oath, a just and true account of the personal estate and debts of said deceased, whereby it appears that the personal estate of said deceased is insufficient to pay his debts, and requested the aid of the Court in the premises: It is, on this nineteenth day of July, eighteen hundred and ninety-nine, ordered that all persons interested in the lands, tenements, and real estate of said William Blimm, deceased, appear before the Court, at the Court House, in the City of Elizabeth, on the twentieth day of September next, at ten o'clock in the forenoon, to show cause why so much of the said lands, tenements, hereditaments, and real estate of the said William Blimm, deceased, should not be sold as will be sufficient to pay his debts, or the residue thereof, as the case may require. And it is further ordered that this order be set up and published in one of the newspapers of this State as by the Statute directed by the Court.

ARGENTINE'S TARIFF RATE

Special Duty of 10 Per Cent. Is Not Likely to be Abolished

PLAN AS RECOMMENDED

The American Minister at Buenos Ayres, Writes the State Department at Washington.

Executive Recommends That Ten Per Cent. Duty be Merged in the Regular Ad Valorem Customs Duties—Specific Duties to be Proportionately Raised.

Washington, July 28.—William L. Buchanan, American Minister at Buenos Ayres, writes to the State Department as follows about the proposed Argentine tariff:

"Knowing the interest taken by our manufacturers in the subject of the customs tariff here and in other countries, I hasten to say that the Argentine Executive has just transmitted to Congress the budget law for next year. This law includes the customs tariff project proposed by the executive power for 1900. Although this may be modified in some manner by Congress, I am inclined to the belief that the recommendations will be adopted.

"In referring in the message accompanying the budget law to the question of customs duties, and especially to the additional customs duty of 10 per cent. now in force, the executiv power says: "This special tax was established in moments of supreme expectancy, in the name of high and sacred considerations of natural security and with the purpose of applying the product therefrom toward satisfying the extraordinary requirements of the nation at that moment. The public powers obligated themselves as well to suspend the tax by decree as quickly as the then existing state of things disappered or became modified.

"'These considerations, fortunately, do not now exist, but I find myself obliged to propose the continuation of the financial burden which this additional duty imposes upon the country, seeing that although no reason of national security argues its imposition, there is still to be cancelled a debt of importance previously contracted, the object of which is well known. Notwithstanding, in order to make this additional duty less onerous, I have sought to distribute the sums which it represents among the principal schedules of the tariff law, seeking to lighten those that are found most heavily burdened and to burden those that are less, and, after a comprehensive study, I believe that the method contained in the proposed customs, law reconciles as far as it is possible, the interest of the consumer and the revenue necessities of the State.'

"In accord with these views thus expressed, the executive power recommends that the 10 per cent. additional duty spoken of be merged for 1900 into the regular duty in the following manner: Where the present ad valorem duty is 25 per cent. it is to be raised to 35 per cent.; where it is now 50 per cent. it is to be raised to 60 per cent.; where it is now 40 and 45 per cent. both are to be raised to 50 per cent.; where it is now 15 and 20 per cent. both are to be raised to 25 per cent.; where it is now 10 per cent. it is to be raised to 20 per cent. and where it is now 2½ per cent. and 4 per cent. both are to be raised to 5 per cent.

"Specific duties are to be proportionately raised, but it is impossible from the message to state just how or to what degree."

Appraiser's Office Report.

Washington, July 28.—The Secretary of the Treasury has received a report from the commission which is investigating the conduct of business in the Appraisers Department at the port of New York, in relation to the examination and appraisement of nursery stock. The commission finds that there is no instance in which there appears to have been delay in passing nursery stock, so far as the Appraisers' force is concerned.

Shot in the Legs.

Jackson, Ohio, July 28.—Walter W. Stevens was arraigned here on the charge of shooting with intent to kill. James Trace and William Vittittoe were together passing through a vacant lot near the residence of Stevens, when, it is charged, the latter fired a double-barreled shotgun, the lead taking effect in the legs of the two men.

Mrs. Walton Released.

Summit, N. J., July 28.—Mrs. Elizabeth Walton, of Newark, who was arrested here on a charge preferred by Malcolm Thompson, of Bunardsville, has been released. The case was settled when Mrs. Walton agreed to give over $50, which she was alleged to have taken from Thompson.

Gray Will Not Resign.

Albany, July 28.—Judge Gray has not resigned from the Court of Appeals bench. It is stated in the Clerk's office that Judge Gray has never intimated a wish to retire. The rumor probably arose from the old report that Judge O'Brien would retire on Jan. 1.

Mrs. Lease a Spiritualist.

Buffalo, July 28.—At the Spiritualist conference at Lily Dale, Mrs. Mary E. Lease, of Kansas, spoke on the "Spirit World."

She has proclaimed herself a full-fledged Spiritualist of the Moses Hull type.

Her Wish Fulfilled.

Wellsville, Ohio, July 28.—Mrs. William Frazer, of Sewickley, Penn., died at the home of her son in this city, aged 88. She was a lifelong resident of this vicinity and wished to die here. She came here on a visit.

Mrs. Langtry's Horse Wins Again.

London, July 28.—Mr. Jersey's (Mrs. Langtry) aged chestnut horse Merman won the Goodwood Cup at the Goodwood meeting.

COAL MINERS RESTLESS.

Big Strike Possible Through Failure to Agree on Arbitration Committee.

MANY MINES MAY CLOSE.

An Open Rupture Between the Coal Operators' Association and the Miners' Organization.

The Trouble Conceded to be of a Very Serious Nature—Big Strike at Youngstown, Ohio, Satisfactorily Settled by Men Getting an Advance in Wages.

Chicago, July 28.—There is an open rupture between the Coal Operators' Association of Illinois and the miners' State organization, promising to lead to serious trouble.

It arose at a meeting of committees of the two organizations to agree upon the seventh member of a Board of Arbitration, which, in accordance with the terms of the interstate agreement entered into at the Pittsburg convention, was to fix upon the machine differential rates for this State.

Among the operators, it is said that probably there will be a closing down of many of the mines throughout the State where machine mining is carried on. It is conceded generally that unless an agreement is reached before April 1, next, when the general agreement expires, there will be precipitated one of the most gigantic coal mining conflicts in the history of the State.

Cleveland Boycotts Soldiers.

Cleveland, July 28.—The presence of the troops has had a depressing effect upon the rioters, and there has not been any more outbreak of violence. The cars are operated on nearly all lines, but in some parts of the city they run almost empty, the boycott of the lines by the working people being almost universal.

President Everet says he believes the boycott is not effective. He thinks persons are deterred from riding by the fear of personal injury, and says that as soon as the safety of passengers is assured the cars will be well filled.

The boycott has extended to the soldiers. Merchants are refusing to sell them any supplies, and representatives of organized labor have refused to patronize anybody who takes soldier's money for anything or supplies any of his wants.

Messengers Strike in Philadelphia.

Philadelphia, July 28.—The fever of striking, which seems to have taken possession of the telegraph messenger boys in various cities, reached here when, approximately, nearly two hundred out of a total of more than five hundred employed by the different companies, struck for higher wages. They now receive two cents a message and the night shift fifty cents a night. In addition, no payment is made on messages undelivered. The boys want to be paid for the latter and demand three cents a message and sixty cents for night work. The strike originated at the Central office of the Western Union Company, Tenth and Chestnut streets, and was taken up by a number of boys at the other offices in the financial and business sections of the city.

A Dozen Strikers Arraigned.

Evansville, Ind., July 28.—A dozen striking miners have been arrested and taken before Judge Hawkins, of the Circuit Court, for violating the injunction issued against them a month ago. As the colored non-union miners at John Ingal's mine came out, they were met by 500 people, mostly women and children, who carried tin cans and horns. They kept up a continual uproar, and several of the non-union diggers pulled their guns. Trouble was imminent, and deputies stepped in and dispersed the crowds.

One Ohio Strike Settled.

Youngstown, Ohio, July 28.—By the men's accepting the proposition of Manager Campbell to pay the same wages as were in effect prior to 1892, since when there had been three reductions, the big strike among employes of the finishing mills was settled. This means practically an advance of 25 per cent. in wages. All the mills are running.

Motormen Hired in Peoria.

Peoria, Ill., July 28.—An agent of the Big Consolidated Street Railway Company, of Cleveland, expects to take forty motormen from here to supply strikers' places. He wants none but big men. Local labor men are indignant at the effort to get men to take strikers' positions.

Rochester Boys Walk Out.

Rochester, N. Y., July 28.—Twenty boys in the employ of the Postal Telegraph and Cable Company have marched out. The management claims that no complaint of any kind had been lodged by the boys, and that no Grievnce Committee had asked for an interview.

Chicago Brickmakers Strike.

Chicago, July 28.—Two thousand brickmakers have struck, tying up about forty of the brickyards of the city. The men say the strike is to aid union men in several of the North Side yards who have had trouble with their employers.

Insane Man Murders His Family.

Brazil, Ind., July 28.—Charles Wolfangel, a well-to-do farmer of Denmark, killed his wife and two little daughters with a hatchet and then cut his own throat. Wolfangel had acted strangely of late and there is no doubt that he was insane.

The Cow Had Rabies.

Morristown, N. J., July 28.—A cow which got hydrophobia in some mysterious manner was shot by her owner, [illegible] Jamison. She was violent, at[illegible] other members of the herd.

COPPER IN CALIFORNIA

Deposits of Great Richness Found in Shasta County.

Los Angeles, Cal., July 28.—Rufus H. Herron, a well-known oil man, is the discoverer of a bed of copper ore of great richness in Shasta County, this State.

While looking up some valuable oil in the northern end of the State, he stumbled across this copper deposit. He at once bonded 400 acres, which lie about fifteen miles from the famous Iron Mountain Copper mine. An examination of the land revealed three enormous zones of copper ore, running 31 per cent. of pure copper.

Senator Clark, of Montana, has secured a big interest in the new mine, and development is to be begun at once. The deposit appears very large, and experts say the ore will run $80 to the ton.

Ingersoll's Body Cremated.

Dobbs Ferry, N. Y., July 28.—The body of the late Col. Robert G. Ingersoll was taken by four undertaker's assistants from the family home and was conveyed in a hearse two miles to the railroad station. Not until the undertakers had explained to Mrs. Ingersoll that removal was positively necessary would she consent to let the body start on its journey to Fresh Pond, N. Y., to be cremated. She and her daughters with the family servants, accompanied the funeral party. The black coffin was covered with flowers before it left the house. Frederick Penfield, former Minister to Egypt, joined the funeral party.

The journey to Fresh Pond from Dobbs Ferry was made by way of the New York Central Railroad to the Grand Central Station, thence to Long Island City by the East Thirty-fourth street ferry and over the Long Island Railroad to Fresh Pond. Special trans were engaged on both railroads for the removal of the body and conveyances of the accompanying party.

After cremation the ashes were placed in a cinerary urn selected by Gorge Gray Barnard, the sculptor, and the widow brought the urn back to her home.

The President's Vacation.

Plattsburg, N. Y., July 28.—The President and Mrs. McKinley arrived at the Hotel Champlain on a special train composed of three Pullman coaches. The train pulled slowly into the station. Secretary Cortelyou was the first to alight. He was quickly followed by the President, and then came Mrs. McKinley. She was pale and evidently somewhat fatigued, but had stood the long journey excellently. There were few persons at the station. The Presidential party consisted of the President and Mrs. McKinley, Dr. Rixey and Mrs. Rixey, Secretary Cortelyou, Miss Sarah Duncan, the President's niece; a stenographer, a messenger and two servants.

Mrs. Perot Held in London.

Liverpool, July 28.—On the arrival of the Dominion line steamer Cambroman at this port, Sergeant Pollins of Scotland Yard and Sergeant Bell of Liverpool arrested Mrs. William Y. Perot of Baltimore on the charge of the abduction of her daughter from Baltimore. Mrs. Perot was accompanied by a tall, military looking man, and the party had taken passage as Mr. and Mrs. Pierce and daughter. They were arrested at the customs depot while waiting for the departure of the express train for Euston Station. "Pierce" is Captain Blood, a brother of Lady Colin Campbell. Mrs. Perot did not deny her identy but will fight extradition.

May Cause a Rebellion.

Cape Haytien, July 28.—President Heureaux's assassination has caused a panic and it is feared a rebellion will result. It is said that General Juan Isidoro Jimenes, who took part in the attempt insurrection of June 1898, is a candidate for the Presidency. It is reported that General Maximo Gomez, former chief of the Cuban insurrectionists, who is a native of Santo Domingo, also aspires to the Presidency. The father of Caceres, the assassin, was put to death by order of President Heureaux in 1884.

Hass Too Many Life Members.

Boston, July 28.—The New England Society of California Pioneers finds that it has too many life members, although the organization is composed of men who went to the golden land in the early days of '49. However, the proposition to abolish the life membership is being discussed, as it is said that so many have joined that class that the income from the annual dues is materially reduced.

Negro Boy Had Diamonds.

Tarrytown, N. Y., July 28.—W. Jackson, 10 years old, a negro boy employed to answer calls and run errands in the Folrence Hotel, was arrested for stealing some diamonds and a gold watch from Mrs. N. K. Townsend of New York city, who is staying at the hotel. He denied his guilt, but was searched and the missing articles were found on him. He was then allowed to go free.

ARGENTINE'S TARIFF RATE

Special Duty of 10 Per Cent. Is Not Likely to be Abolished

PLAN AS RECOMMENDED

The American Minister at Buenos Ayres, Writes the State Department at Washington.

Executive Recommends That Ten Per Cent. Duty be Merged in the Regular Ad Valorem Customs Duties—Specific Duties to be Proportionately Raised.

Washington, July 28.—William L. Buchanan, American Minister at Buenos Ayres, writes to the State Department as follows about the proposed Argentine tariff:

"Knowing the interest taken by our manufacturers in the subject of the customs tariff here and in other countries, I hasten to say that the Argentine Executive has just transmitted to Congress the budget law for next year. This law includes the customs tariff project proposed by the executive power for 1900. Although this may be modified in some manner by Congress, I am inclined to the belief that the recommendations will be adopted.

"In referring in the message accompanying the budget law to the question of customs duties, and especially to the additional customs duty of 10 per cent. now in force, the excutiv power says: "This special tax was established in moments of supreme expectancy, in the name of high and sacred considerations of natural security and with the purpose of applying the product therefrom toward satisfying the extraordinary requirements of the nation at that moment. The public powers obligated themselves as well to suspend the tax by decree as quickly as the then existing state of things disappered or became modified.

" 'These considerations, fortunately, do not now exist, but I find myself obliged to propose the continuation of the financial burden which this additional duty imposes upon the country, seeing that although no reason of national security argues its imposition, there is still to be cancelled a debt of importance previously contracted, the object of which is well known. Notwithstanding, in order to make this additional duty less onerous, I have sought to distribute the sums which it represents among the principal schedules of the tariff law, seeking to lighten those that are found most heavily burdened and to burden those that are less, and, after a comprehensive study, I believe that the method contained in the proposed customs, law reconciles as far as it is possible, the interest of the consumer and the revenue necessities of the State.'

"In accord with these views thus expressed, the executive power recommends that the 10 per cent. additional duty spoken of be merged for 1900 into the regular duty in the following manner: Where the present ad valorem duty is 25 per cent. it is to be raised to 35 per cent.; where it is now 50 per cent. it is to be raised to 60 per cent.; where it is now 40 and 45 per cent. both are to be raised to 50 per cent.; where it is now 15 and 20 per cent. both are to be raised to 25 per cent.; where it is now 10 per cent. it is to be raised to 20 per cent. and where it is now 2½ per cent. and 4 per cent. both are to be raised to 5 per cent.

"Specific duties are to be proportionately raised, but it is impossible from the message to state just how or to what degree."

Appraiser's Office Report.

Washington, July 28.—The Secretary of the Treasury has received a report from the commission which is investigating the conduct of business in the Appraisers Department at the port of New York, in relation to the examination and appraisement of nursery stock. The commission finds that there is no instance in which there appears to have been delay in passing nursery stock, so far as the Appraisers' force is concerned.

Shot in the Legs.

Jackson, Ohio, July 28.—Walter W. Stevens was arraigned here on the charge of shooting with intent to kill. James Trace and William Vittittoe were together passing through a vacant lot near the residence of Stevens, when, it is charged, the latter fired a double-barreled shotgun, the load taking effect in the legs of the two men.

Mrs. Walton Released.

Summit, N. J., July 28.—Mrs. Elizabeth Walton, of Newark, who was arrested here on a charge preferred by Malcolm Thompson, of Bunardsville, has been released. The case was settled when Mrs. Walton agreed to give over $50, which she was alleged to have taken from Thompson.

Gray Will Not Resign.

Albany, July 28.—Judge Gray has not resigned from the Court of Appeals bench. It is stated in the Clerk's office that Judge Gray has never intimated a wish to retire. The rumor probably arose from the old report that Judge O'Brien would retire on Jan. 1.

Mrs. Lease a Spiritualist.

Buffalo, July 28.—At the Spiritualist conference at Lily Dale, Mrs. Mary E. Lease, of Kansas, spoke on the "Spirit World."

She has proclaimed herself a full-fledged Spiritualist of the Moses Hull type.

Her Wish Fulfilled.

Wellsville, Ohio, July 28.—Mrs. William Frazer, of Sewickley, Penn., died at the home of her son in this city, aged 88. She was a lifelong resident of this vicinity and wished to die here. She came here on a visit.

Mrs. Langtry's Horse Wins Again.

London, July 28.—Mr. Jersey's (Mrs. Langtry) aged chestnut horse Herman won the Goodwood Cup at the Goodwood meeting.

Inspecting Milk Supply.

On two occasions within a few years Plainfield has been subjected to moderate epidemics of contagious diseases through the fact that the germs of the malady have been carried into perfectly healthy families by the agency of the milkman and his product. Three years ago scarlet fever was prevalent in this city by reason of this agency, and more recently several cases of diphtheria have been developed in Plainfield from the same cause. This condition of affairs naturally emphasizes the idea that there ought to be some way to bring the product of all local milk dealers under frequent and thorough inspection by local officials, who are on the ground all the time and are able to act promptly and effectively whenever there is the slightest evidence that disease is to be spread in this manner.

We understand now, however, that it is the purpose of the Common Council to pass an ordinance that will aim to put the health officials in a position where they may exert a power over the delivery of milk in this city that will reduce the chances of contagion being spread by the lacteal fluid to a minimum. There is a demand for rigid and unceasing vigilance to compell cleaniness and to ensure that the fluid shall not be handled by persons affected with communicable disease.

Some very apt sentiments along this line of thought are expressed in an able editorial in the Newark News on the "Inspection of Milk." The News says:

In rural districts whence comes the bulk of the milk supply, the Boards of Health as a rule exist in little more than name, and it is doubtful if the propriety of investigating the dairies ever suggests itself to the health officials except when an extraordinary outbreak of disease arouses them to action. Here the State Board of Health could do good work by urging upon local Boards the importance of the subject and stirring them to action. As in the cities, so in the past few years there has been much improvement in country dairy methods in the way of cleanliness, but it is equally certain that there is still room for more.

There should also be greater vigilance exercised in quarantining dairies where communicable diseases exist. A year or more ago an outbreak of typhoid fever in Hudson county was traced to a dairy in Sussex county where there was a case of the disease, and Plainfield is now suffering from a diphtheria epidemic from a like cause It is the duty of the attending physician to immediately report all cases of infectious and contagious diseases to the Board of Health and that body should take such speedy action as to preclude the possibility of the disease being spread through the use of infected milk.

The Chicago Times-Herald, after remarking that "all talk of war is silly," goes on to say: "It cannot be denied that the Canadians have strengthened their position by party coalition, which prevents the boundary question from becoming a political issue and obviates the necessity of making an appeal to the country in the next elections. The boundary question now becomes a national question, so far as Canada is concerned."

PASSING COMMENT.

Things that Are Not Exactly News but Just as Interesting.

Passengers in the cars of the Brunswick Traction Company between Dunellen and Bound Brook, who spend their evenings trying to get cool by riding in the trolley cars, declare that they have discovered a new kind of bug. The "Lincoln Bug" they call it, for the reason that it seems to abound in the vicinity of Silas Dewey Drake's settlement. It is black, half an inch long, with a hard shell and a determination to crawl wherever it doesn't belong. It has a peculiar fondness for meandering down people's necks to their exceeding uncomfortableness. Investigation proves that the bug inhabits all this part of Jersey and rapid travelling at night quickly discovers the insect in other places beside Lincoln.

The recent strike of the newsboys in this city offered unusual opportunities to the local amateur photographers who fairly swarmed about town when the excitement was at its height. The boys found as much fun in being photographed as the camera fiends did in photographing them and were ever ready to group themselves about their banners and have their their pictures taken. A number of these same amateur photographers spent some of their spare time in a trip to Brooklyn last week where they caught a glimpse of the excitement there and succeeded in taking a number or excellent views of the cars and the various obstacles they encountered.

* * * * *

The awful fatality that took place at Crosby & Hill's department store a few weeks ago, when Mrs. Sullivan lost her life, is still fresh in the minds of the readers of The Press. It will be remembered that the unfortunate woman's clothing caught fire in a mysterious manner. Being of light material the dress blazed up quickly and all attempts to extinguish the fire were futile. Had the woman's dress been made of fireproof goods, as it easily could have been, her life would not have been forfeited. The dangers from fire caused by inflammable material can be obviated or greatly lessened, if all fabrics were washed in a solution of phosphate of ammonia, which makes them imperious to the greatest heat or the strongest flame. Besides dress goods other fabrics can be made fireproof. Lace curtains often catch fire when in close proximity to gas jets. Linen table covers, napkins; in fact, all articles of clothing can be so prepared as to be absolutely free from being set into a flame. The preparation of the formula is very simple. Purchase at any drug store a pound of phosphate of ammonia. Dissolve it in water, making a strong solution. Let the laundress, when she is preparing to starch the clothes, pour a little of the solution in the starch. It will be found that the linen will come out of the wash fireproof and not in the least injured. In the event of the fabric catching fire, it will not blaze, but simply char and die out, ruining the garment to be sure, but preventing the fire from spreading. The use of this solution may prevent the loss of life.

NEWS OF THE SUBURBS.

THINGS THAT INTEREST SCOTCH PLAINS AND DUNELLEN.

Brief and Terse Observations Gathered by Alert Press Reporters to be Perused at the Supper Table at Your Leisure

DUNELLEN.

(Special Correspondence of The Daily Press.)

Dunellen, July 28.—Dr. Brakely was surprised a few days ago to receive a letter post marked Elizabeth, which contained a dollar bill and fifty cents in postage stamps. There was no signature. In fact the money had been placed in an ordinary sheet of writing paper and there was not a single word of writing to denote who was the sender. The doctor says he cannot immagine who the money is from. He has about decided that the money came from some person who may have been conscius stricken, believing that they had not sufficiently reimbursed him for professional services.

The subject of Rev. Dr. Jamieson's sermon next Sunday morning will be "Men That Cannot Be Hid." In the evening the Doctor will preach on "What Shall the Harvest Be?" The Epworth League meeting will be held at 7 o'clock. Topic: "That Good Part." Miss Emma Apgar will lead.

The committee from the Board of Freeholders, in the matter of erecting stone abutments and an iron bridge on Lincoln avenue, between Dunellen and Lincoln, will receive bids for the same at Taylor's Hotel, tomorrow afternoon.

Sun Bros. circus will exhibit in the borough tomorrow, giving two performances, afternoon and evenihg. A street parade will be made at 10 o'clock tomorrow morning. The circus will exhibit opposite Taylor's hotel.

During the hot weather the Young People's Society of Christian Endeavor of the Presbyterian church will hold meetings Wednesday instead of Sunday evenings, except consecration service.

No services will be held at Holy Innocents church this or next Sunday. August 13th there will be communion in the morning and regular service in the afternoon.

The borough was nearly deserted yesterday owing to the excursion to Asbury Park of the Methodist church. There were eighty-one tickets sold at this station.

The teachers of the Methodist church Sunday-school will meet for the study of the Sunday-school lesson this evening at 8 o'clock.

The subject for the Friday evening service this week at the Seventh-Day Baptist church will be "The Sin Against the Holy Spirit."

Miss M. VanNuis, of Princton, is spending a few days with her sister, Mrs. W. F. Polhemus, at Lincoln.

Mrs. A. N. Randolph and Mrs. Joseph Apgar are visiting their uncle, Manning Apgar at Piscataway.

Mrs. Sherman Cooley and child, of Flemington, has been visiting Mrs. Emily Apgar.

Miss Anna Campbell, of Pluckamin, has been visiting Mrs. W. G. Clawson.

Mr. J. E. Lilly, a prominent citizen of Hannibal, Mo., lately had a wonderful deliverance from a frightful death. In telling of it he says: "I was taken with Typhoid Fever, that ran into Pneumonia. My lungs became hardened. I was so weak I couldn't even set up in bed. Nothing helped me. I expected to soon die of Consumption, when I heard of Dr. King's New Discovery. One bottle gave great relief. I continued to use it, and now am well and strong. I can't say too much in its praise." This marvelous medicine is the surest and quickest cure in the world for all Throat and Lung Trouble. Regular sizes 50 cents and $1.00. Trial bottles free at L. W. Randolph's Drug Store; every bottle guaranteed.

WESTFIELD

TELEPHONE IN BOUND BROOK.

New York and New Jersey Telephone Co. to Make Application for Franchise.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Bound Brook, July 28—The situation in the telephone war remains unchaged save for a small but important gain on the part of the New York and New Jersey Telephone Company. The local exchange of the invading company has now been enlarged to ten subscribers and two more are to be added at once. The officials of the borough and the Somerset Telephone Company recognize the right of the larger company to put in its phones as long as poles are not set.

The next meeting of the Borough Council will be held on the evening of Monday, August 7th. Manager Chas. W. Runyon, of the N. Y. and N. J. Company, whose office is in Plainfield, will be present and offer the draft of an ordinance granting the company permission to place its poles in the streets of Bound Brook. It is a question whether the ordinance will be passed. The general opinion is, however, that it will.

If the invading company gains a firm foothold here then it means the probable dissolution of the local company which cannot successfully compete with it lacking the long distance facilities and the advantage of being a part of a great system which materially reduces the cost of operation.

Proclamation Concerning Dogs.

Whereas the Ordinance of the Borough of North Plainfield provides that all unmuzzled dogs running at large in said Borough during the months of June, July, August and September shall be caught and impounded and killed if not redeemed by the payment of one dollar within forty-eight hours, and

WHEREAS, the state law provides that any dog not registered with the borough clerk, and not wearing a tag bearing registry number may be killed on sight by any person if found off the owner's premises, and

WHEREAS, at this season of the year wounds resulting from dog bites are particularly dangerous, and many complaints have recently been made by our citizens by reason of the number of unmuzzled dogs running at large in the Borough,

NOW THEREFORE, I, The Mayor of said Borough, do hereby proclaim and give public notice, that the law and ordinance above referred to will be hereafter strictly enforced, and that all unregistered dogs running at large, whether muzzled or not, are liable to be killed, and all registered dogs running at large without being muzzled will be caught and impounded and killed, unless redeemed within forty-eight hours.

Orders to that effect have been given the proper officers, and owners of dogs are hereby given fair warning.

Preußen.

Provinz Brandenburg.

Berlin. Der städtische Stipendienfonds für Studirende der hiesigen Universität betrug bislang 3600 Mark. Auf Anregung der Stadtverordnetenversammlung hat das Magistratskollegium beschlossen, diesen Fonds auf 10,000 Mark zu erhöhen.—Die Berliner Damen haben einen Antischleppen-Verein gegründet. Die Mitglieder desselben tragen Abzeichen.—Der Redakteur des „Vorwärts," Jakobey, wurde von der Anklage der Verletzung des geistigen Urheberrechts, begangen durch den Abdruck dreier aus der Redaktion der Zeitung „Post" gestohlenen Briefe des Freiherr v. Stumm, freigesprochen. Die Begründung des Urtheils sagt, die Briefe waren lediglich Geschäftsbriefe ohne literarischen Werth. Der Staatsanwalt hatte 200 Mark Geldstrafe beantragt.—In Verbindung mit den Krawallen anläßlich des Maifestes sind die Arbeiter Made, Koniecey und Hermann zu neun Monaten und der Arbeiter Golze zu sechs Monaten Gefängniß verurtheilt worden.

Köpenick. Der Krach der hiesigen Vereinsbank, welcher vor sechs Jahren in der Presse und später in verschiedenen Prozessen gegen den derzeitigen Direktor Iben in seinen Einzelheiten aufgerollt wurde, hat nunmehr seinen Abschluß in der definitiven Auflösung des Instituts, das zuletzt eine Aktiengesellschaft bildete, gefunden. Nach der vorgelegten Bilanz erhalten die Darlehnsgeber ihr eingezahltes Geld, doch gehen sämmtliche Aktionäre bezüglich ihrer Ansprüche an das Bankvermögen leer aus.

Kottbus. Das Nachbardorf Schlichow ist zum dritten Theile niedergebrannt. Es wurden in Asche gelegt neun Gehöfte, bestehend aus 30 Gebäuden. Sämmtliches Vieh und Mobiliar ist gerettet. Die Ursache ist wahrscheinlich Brandstiftung.

Potsdam. Das neu erbaute Invalidenheim bei Neu-Babelsberg ist in feierlicher Weise eröffnet und von 30 ehemaligen Kriegern bezogen worden. Den Invaliden wird freie Wohnung und Bett, Morgenkaffee und Mittagbrod gewährt, für die übrige Beköstigung haben sie selbst zu sorgen.

Provinz Hannover.

Hannover. Der dieser Tage wegen Todtschlages zu 15 Jahren Zuchthaus verurtheilte Mörder Müller hat das Geständniß von einer zweiten Blutthat abgelegt. Er will 1896 einen mit ihm reisenden Handwerksburschen in der Wesergegend bei Holzminden ermordet, seiner Baarschaft beraubt und den Leichnam verscharrt haben.

Göttingen. In letzter Zeit haben hier die nächtlichen Ruhestörungen durch Studirende derart überhand genommen, daß sich die akademische Behörde veranlaßt sah, bekannt zu geben, daß neben den polizeilichen Ordnungsstrafen nunmehr auch in jedem einzelnen Falle Disziplinarstrafen verhängt werden.

Osnabrück. Auf dem Bahnsteig fand ein Arbeiter eine Tasche mit 13 Tausend-Markscheinen.

Provinz Hessen-Nassau.

Frankfurt. Die Strafkammer verurtheilte den Engländer James Turner, der am 28. April beim Diebstahl von Schmucksachen im Werthe von 15,000 Mark erwischt worden war, zu drei Jahren Gefängniß.

Hanau. Auf dem Ostbahnhof verunglückte der Stationsdiätar Vogel. Er war auf das Geleise getreten, um nachzusehen, ob die Einfahrt für einen schon gemeldeten Güterzug frei sei. Ueber dem Getöse des einfahrenden Güterzuges überhörte er trotz mehrmaligen Zurufs eines Rangirers das Herannahen einer von entgegengesetzter Richtung kommenden Rangirmaschine, die ihn erfaßte und vor die Maschine des Güterzuges schleuderte. Er wurde zermalmt.

Provinz Pommern.

Belgard. Hier fand dieser Tage das 20. Gesangsfest des Sängerbundes des Regierungsbezirks Köslin statt. Circa 450 Sänger aus Hinterpommern, die in 22 Vereinen organisirt sind, waren anwesend. Die Stadt war großartig geschmückt. Die Behörden hatten auf's Bereitwilligste ihre Mitwirkung zugesagt. Am Preiswettsingen betheiligten sich 16 Vereine. Hervorragend war der Stolper Männergesangverein, dessen Chor: „Die letzten Zehn vom vierten Regiment" von Claassen brausenden Beifall errang. Der Verein errang den ersten Preis, während der zweite gar nicht zur Vertheilung kam.

Tuchen. Hier legte ein großes Schadenfeuer 17 Häuser, darunter die Kirche des Ortes in Asche, ehe dem verheerenden Element Einhalt gethan werden konnte.

FINANCE IN YORKSHIRE.

A Singular Contest in Which Only One Party Was the Loser.

Here is a capital story of two well known Yorkshire men which has never appeared in print before. Two wealthy natives of the country of broad acres, one of whom was the head of a large, existing West Riding firm, and the other the hard headed founder of Beckett's Leeds Bank, met at a dinner in the principal hotel of a country town. Whilst over the table, a dispute arose as to which was the wealthier of the twain. At length the banker suggested that the question should be put to a practical test, and the pair drew up their chairs to a corner of the room where a bright fire was burning. It was agreed that each in turn should lay on the coals a five pound bank note, and he should be considered the vanquished who should first cry, "Hold, enough!" This singular contest proceeded in solemn silence for a long time, till at length it dawned on the less brilliant mind of the manufacturer that he was having the worst of the encounter. The notes were those of his opponent's bank, then universally used in that part of the country, and every time the manufacturer placed one on the burning embers the astute Yorkshire banker was five pounds the richer, whilst each move of the banker himself involved him in no personal loss!

A Poor But Honest Archbishop.

The Archbishop of Canterbury is singular among the roll of English primates for his hatred of pomp and decoration. Once, when the guest of a country clergyman, he was much annoyed by the display of silver candlesticks in his room. After his Lordship's departure these silver candlesticks were nowhere to be seen. The distressed clergyman at once wrote to the Bishop, as he then was, telling him of his loss, and adding: "Can you tell us what has happened?" The reply came by wire: "Poor, but honest; look in the chest of drawers."

This is not the only silver adventure in which Archbishop Temple has been concerned. On another occasion he was put up by a clergyman during the absence of that clergyman's wife. On leaving, the host politely expressed the hope that when next his Lordship honored the house Mrs. Temple would accompany him. "No, thanks," the Archbishop laconically replied: "Mrs. Temple doesn't like roughing it." The clergyman's feelings were deeply hurt, for the visit had meant some expense and much anxiety to him. He unburdened his soul to his wife on her return. "Why, my dear," she exclaimed, "you didn't surely put the Bishop in the pink bedroom, did you?" He did. "Oh, then, that's it. I put all the plate in the bed!"

KAISER'S MOUNTED AMAZONS.

Cavalry Regiment of Lithuanian Girls to Guard Him During Hunting Season.

By Gertrude Hall Forbes

When Emperor William goes to enjoy the hunting season in Prussia, which he will do as soon as the yachting season closes, he will be received by a regiment of 500 cavalry women. They are Lithuanian girls and are now organizing to receive the kaiser. The regiment will be known as the Imperial Mounted Women volunteers, and of a more unique body of troops no sovereign in the world can boast.

The homes of these cavalry amazons are in the district which lies far in the north of the empire, between the Baltic, Russia and Poland. They are of the race that became famous under the Jagellons.

The idea of forming a regiment is one which the Lithuanian girls originated themselves. When they made their proposition to the officials of their province, they said:

"We make one condition—our duke (meaning the kaiser) must have no other bodyguard. During the time of his stay in our country we want to be his soldiers. We will garrison his castle, will 'beat' the game for him, will attend him on his trips around the country and see him safely home when he decides to return."

Count Bismarck communicated with the emperor's court marshal to find out whether the offer would prove acceptable. The court marshal wrote:

"It all depends on the girls. Go and look them over."

So his excellency invited his fair petitioners to meet him at Trakehnen, the celebrated horse farm, and at the same time arranged with the governor of the place for the use of a hall. But if the hall had been as big as Madison Square Garden it couldn't have accommodated the assembly, for every one of the 600 volunteers came on horseback, many bringing led horses, and all insisted upon attending the council seated on their chargers.

There was an open air meeting then, and Count Bismarck, who is already a little stiff in his joints, had to mount a blooded horse, despite his rheumatism, and make a speech from the saddle. President Hegel of the Gumbinnen district translated the address into the old Prussian tongue, for the Lithuanians do not understand German, and an exchange of views followed, with this result:

"The provincial government accepts the services of the Lithuanian women, with a view of selecting from them 500 to make up a regiment. The regiment is to be uniformed in the national dress of the country and select its own officers, subject to the approval of the president of the district. Members of the regiment furnish their own horses, and each officer or subofficer is entitled to have a led horse. The horse may be put out to grass on the royal estates, but oats must be provided by its owner.

"The name and style of the regiment is Imperial Mounted Women volunteers. Its members are entitled to the ordinary soldier's mess, but receive no pay."

Then the native women gave an impromptu exhibition of their horsemanship, and, after a drink of "mead," a strong fermented liquor made of honey and water, richly spiced, scampered off.

They have been drilling under their hetmen twice a week ever since; and as these hetmen have invariably seen military service either as privates or noncommissioned officers, they are well able to teach the girls their business. Of late Count Bismarck ordered reviews of the different squadrons to be held under the guidance of officers of the cavalry reserves. The reviewing officers agree that they never met with recruits exhibiting so much intelligence and skill in the handling of horses and in obeying signals. Every second girl or woman would make an efficient "flugelman," they cried enthusiastically.

These Lithuanian women scramble upon a pony as soon as their legs are long enough to hold on; they learn to tend large herds of cattle before they know their prayers, and they can wield a three yard whip sooner than a cooking spoon. They wouldn't think of mounting a horse save to straddle it.

About Shaking Hands.

"When to shake hands and when not to do so is," writes a correspondent of Home Notes, calling herself Countrified, "a perfect puzzle to me, and I am always haunted by the fear of having done the wrong thing." As other correspondents write in a similar strain I think a little chat on this subject will not be amiss, though in this matter it is impossible to lay down hard and fast rules, for circumstances alter cases.

Generally, when a lady is introduced to a stranger, or when a stranger is introduced to her, she simply bows, but in her own house she shakes hands with every guest at the first meeting, and on subsequent occasions if she happens to recognize them. As these guests are often brought by friends to garden parties, dances, &c., it is quite likely that the hostess may not see enough of them to recollect them afterwards.

When a girl is introduced to a married lady, if the introduction is made by a relative of the girl, the married lady would not hesitate to shake hands with her. She might very likely do so anyhow if she happened to be of a genial kindly nature—but in no case should the girl take the initiative.

As a rule a lady does not shake hands with a man on introduction, but she would do so if the man were introduced by his wife or sister, or if he happened to be a member of a family with whom she was on intimate terms.

Among guests staying in a country house there is very little hand-shaking generally. When their hostess introduces them they exchange bows, they neither shake hands on separating the first night nor on appearing at breakfast in the morning. They shake hands with their hostess every morning and evening, and generally with their host, but unless they become interested and friendly with one another they do not exchange hand-shakes among themselves at these times.

It should be remembered, then, in hand-shaking, as with bowling, the lady takes the initiative, but the hand should never be extended nor the bow given unless it is expected, and will be immediately reciprocated.

How Time Is Wasted.

A curious instance of an order being kept up after the reason for it had been removed is illustrated by the following tale told of the Austrian government. Some time ago, at one of the sittings of the Reichstag, a member desired to be informed of the reason why a sentry should be posted night and day in front of the old wall of the ruined Royal Palace, which had neither doors nor windows left to guard. After some time had elapsed, the matter was explained in the following manner:—A hundred and twenty years ago the Chinese Ambassador presented the Empress Maria Theresa with some rare tearose plants. The Empress who was a keen gardener, had them planted against the wall of the palace, and watched their growth with the greatest pleasure. When the season came for them to bloom, the ladies of the court also took a deep interest in them, and not content with merely admiring them, went so far as to pick the precious blooms.

The Empress, who was naturally very hot-tempered, fell into a great passion on missing her blossoms, and immediately ordered the captain of the palace guard to place a sentry to watch over them. Ever since then the spot has been religiously guarded, although the rose trees have long since disappeared.

How to Wear Flowers.

There are very few women who know what flowers should be bought to go with their dresses and complexions, or how to arange them when they are bought. As a general rule those flowers which are most expensive, for such as make the bravest show are chosen, with the result that the whole effect on the face and costume is lost. It is the rarest thing to find a woman who really exercises good taste and judgment in this respect.

Flowers when worn should never be actually apparent, but should be just a part of the general picture, for many a lovely toilette is entirely spoiled by the addition of inappropriate flowers.

EPWORTH LEAGUE.

Topic For the Week Beginning July 30, "That Good Part"—Text, Luke x, 38-42.

"One thing needful."

The home in Bethany was a congenial resting place for Jesus when He was in the vicinity of Jerusalem. Martha seems to have been the recognized head of the little family group. Perhaps she was the eldest. The coming of Jesus caused much extra work, and Martha was perplexed by the cares of the household.

Mary realized, perhaps more deeply than any one else, the true mission of the Master and entered most deeply into the spirit of the coming kingdom of God. To her every word of the Christ was precious, and, as the opportunities to see and hear Him were so few and short, she must be with Him every moment possible. She would not neglect needful care for food and His bodily comfort, but she entered so fully into His own spirit that those things took a second place. To hear Him talk of the things of the spirit life was the one thing most essential.

So is it ever in this life. The bodily needs, the cares of the home, the pressure of business, social duties, all the multitudinous details of living absorb so much of time and energy and thought that we grow harassed, burdened, cumbered with much serving. We almost forget that Jesus is here, is our guest, is talking, is telling of things no one ever before revealed, no one else can reveal. All our future life happiness is bound up in His teaching. What a pity we can't stop fretting about things to eat and feed on His words a little!

It is grand to do much serving for Jesus' sake. Talking, praying, giving, singing and all the rest. But it is better to stop it all, once in awhile, and sit down in quietness at His feet and listen. Other things are good, this one is needful.

Do You Go to Church?

Of course every Christian does and particularly if a member of the League or any young people's society—that is, they go to some service. Perhaps it is the young people's meeting only. Often it is to the preaching service occasionally. It is to be feared that many have no settled habit of attending public worship. The morning service has no special attraction. Hard work all the week makes a person relish the rest in bed Sunday morning. Then some out of doors recreation seems desirable, bicycle, trolley, walking or driving as one chooses or is able to afford. Occasionally some special attraction of music or unusual address may draw one out in the evening to the church, but there are multitudes who almost never enter its doors.

How many church members are gradually drifting into the same habits! Better change the programme. Stop drifting and begin to live in earnest. Nothing you can do on Sunday will so rest your body, mind and spirit as to rise early and go to the church for public worship. It changes the whole tone and tenor of the life. It gives fresh impulses and new thought. It diverts care and enlarges one's world. It lifts and inspires. Better make it a rule and follow it, to go to church regularly.

Every man who is doing honest work has the right to lift up his head among men everywhere and hold himself in hand and be one of earth's noblemen. Paul was a tentmaker, Jesus a carpenter, and their fellow craftsmen have no need to be ashamed if they do their work well.

It takes more labor to raise wheat than it does to grow a crop of weeds, but, then, the wheat is worth more when harvested. It takes work to establish good habits and do good deeds; it takes self denial and care, but then it pays in the satisfaction of being right and pure. No one is good by chance. Plow the weeds under and cultivate wheat.

After the Convention—What?

The great Indianapolis gathering is over. The immense throngs, the inspiring music, the soul filling and lifting addresses and prayers; the excitement, the enthusiasm of the hour, the delightful social associations, the strange, new scenes of the trip, the new acquaintanceships, have all had their effect. Tens of thousands return home changed in many things from what they were a fortnight since. Life is larger, fuller, richer, more intense and deeper.

Reaction from fatigue will be felt both in body and mind. Beware lest it be a snare to the soul. Slow down the speed, but keep fast hold of all the good gained.

After the convention—what? Higher ideals of science, of duty, of privilege. Deeper consecration of soul and body. More watchfulness, more freedom. Deeper heart devotion and nearness to Jesus. More loyalty to the church, more love for our fellows.

"One thing is needful." Choose it. Nearness to Christ.

"No man today has a loftier pulpit than the Christian business man who so deals with his employees that their labor is an angel of joy and blessing to them, and thus making his own labor an angel, uplifting and comforting him and leading him into fellowship with God."—Christian Advocate.

What Might Be Done.

What might be done if men were wise—
What glorious deeds, my suffering brother.
Would they unite
In love and right
And cease their scorn of one another?

All slavery, warfare, lies and wrongs,
All vice and crime might die together;
And oil and corn
To each man born,
Be free as warmth in summer weather.

What might be done? This might be done,
And more than this, my suffering brother—
More than the tongue
E'er said or sung,
If men were wise and loved each other.

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR.

Topic For the Week Beginning July 30—Comment by Rev. S. H. Doyle.

TOPIC.—That good part.—Luke x, 38-42.

A home scene in the life of Christ is presented to us in the topical reference. Christ, with his disciples, is in the favorite home of Mary, Martha and Lazarus. Martha, probably being the older of the two sisters, serves. Mary sits at the feet of Jesus and listens to his word. All does not go well with Martha. She complains to Jesus that Mary does not help her. But Christ commends Mary for her choice to sit at His feet, and chides Martha, not because she was interested in the entertainment of Him and His friends, but because of her over-anxiety in reference to things of minor importance, because she attached more importance to caring for the temporal wants of her friends than she did to caring for the spiritual wants of herself.

The good part that Mary chose was to sit at the feet of Jesus to hear His word, as He spoke to the disciples or perhaps to herself. She cared not so much for the feeding of the body as for the feeding of her own soul. And well might Christ commend her for her choice. Would that we might all choose to sit at the feet of Jesus, where we can have our souls feed upon the bread of life rather than to have our affections centered upon the world, trying in vain to feed the soul upon the husks which nourish not. The good part chosen by Mary in receiving the Saviour was undivided devotion to His word, the feeding on the bread of life which cometh by hearing. In the highest sense the good part is the spiritual reception of Christ Himself. This should be the choice of all. Christ should be our first choice. "Seek ye first the kingdom of God."

Mary's part was good because it was eternal. It was "that good part which shall not be taken away from her." The good parts of this world soon pass away from us or we from them. The superiority, therefore, of an eternal good should be apparent to all, and we should, if governed by reason and good judgment, be easily influenced to "love not the world, neither the things that are in the world," because "the world passeth away and the lust thereof, but he that doeth the will of God abideth forever." More than that, temporal enjoyment of the world often leads to eternal pain and suffering. How foolish to sacrifice the soul for the body, eternity for time!

What win I if I gain the thing I seek,
A dream, a breath, a froth of fleeting joy?
Who buys a minute's mirth to wail a week
Or sells eternity to get a toy?
For one sweet grape who will the vine destroy?
Or what fond beggar, but to touch the crown,
Would with the scepter straight be stricken down?

Therefore let us choose eternal, not temporal, good.

"You must choose between your pleasures and your sight," said a physician to a devotee of sensual pleasure. "Then," he replied, "farewell, sweet sight!" And how many are making such wretched choice! The responsibility of choice is tremendous. Think of being able to choose between God and self, the soul and the body, Christ and the world, heaven and hell, eternity and time! May God help us, like Mary, to choose the good part which can never be taken away from us.

Bible Readings.—Gen. xiii, 1-18; Josh. xxiv, 14-18; Ruth i, 16, 17; I Kings iii, 5-15; xviii, 21; Ps. xxvii, 4; lxxxiv, 10; Prov. xvi, 16; xxii, 1; Math. vi, 24; Mark vi, 22-28; Phil. iv, 8, 9; I Thess. v, 21; Heb. xi, 24-26.

Baptism of Pain.

Over and over again the old truth comes back to us, that no man is good for much till he has suffered a great sorrow. The baptism of pain is one of the instrumentalities which God uses for purging away the dross of our natures and making us fit to be partakers of the inheritance of the saints in light. Not those who have escaped the fiery trial, but those who have gone through it and come out unhurt and glorified are to be envied. God knows what is best for us. Therefore he sends first one affliction and then another upon us. Sometimes, because he sees it to be necessary, he lifts the very floodgates and allows wave after wave of misfortune to sweep over us. If we have the right stuff in us, we shall be helped and not harmed by these seeming calamities.—Nashville Christian Advocate.

Wolves' and Sheeps' Clothing.

Moral evil never dares be itself. It always seeks to take on the garb of virtue. Wickedness is naturally timid. It skulks and hides itself, loving darkness rather than light. Evil is ashamed of itself except in the most depraved natures, and, where it ceases to feel shame, the fact is commonly due to its having found an environment in which there is nothing to rebuke it. How commonly do the wolves of greed and cruelty put on sheeps' clothing! How natural for satan to fashion himself into an angel of light!—Sunday School Times.

Ambition.

There is a justifiable ambition which, if kept within proper limits, stimulates the mind and quickens action, ennobles the nature and develops character. Ambition needs careful watching lest it prove a snare rather than a blessing. He that is ambitious to be wise and good has a laudable motive and manifests the highest wisdom, while he who, regardless of wisdom or goodness, determines to gain a point at the cost of both is guilty of the greatest folly.—Philadelphia Methodist.

In the Wrong Direction.

The trouble is he is looking in the wrong direction for Him, and he is asking for a sign which cannot be given. "God is love," let us remember, and He can be found only where love can be, and the sign must be sought in a human heart that can feel and test a spiritual truth.—American Friend.

MEN . . . .

As well as women like a variety of Shoes to choose from, that's why we show you a line of Men's shoes that few stores of our size carry.
Thoroughly reliable up-to-date and at prices that suit. Our $3 00 lines are good advertisers for us, nothing better for the price.
We have better ones, and we have them that don't cost near as much, all as good as the price every time.

EVERYTHING DEPENDS ON HEALTH.
Success, beauty and happiness are impossible without it. Health depends on strong, nourishing food. Tender, juicy meat eaten regularly enriches the blood and strengthens the body.
If you get pleasant service, and the best of all kinds of fresh, nutritious meat, at low prices, where you're trading, all right. We can't offer better. If you are not satisfied, we'd like to see you.

Most people appreciate a good thing at a fair price, but some few will have only the things that cost the most money. The "Ivory" is the favorite soap of most people. Some few want the high-priced toilet soaps and think they must be better because they cost more. No soap is more carefully made, or is made of better materials, than Ivory Soap.

IVORY SOAP IS 99 44/100 PER CENT. PURE.

Music at Fanwood.

Some of the residents of Fanwood were treated to a delightful concert last evening. Mr. Outwater, a new resident of Fanwood who lives in the cottage next to the residence of W. R. Stansbury, is a fine musician. Last evening there were two friends at his home and a trio, cello, violin and piano, furnished delightful music which was much enjoyed by the neighbors.

DARLING STILL IN HOCK

NO WORD AS TO EXTRADITION OF THE PRISONER.

Darling's Second Wife Remains True to Him in His Desperate Predicament--She Visited Him in the Jail, Too.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

New Brunswick, July 28.—No word has been received from Prosecutor Voorhees as to what success he has had in clearing up the legal tangle over the extradition of William Darling. Mr. Voorhees, when he left, stated that if he could not secure satisfactory information at Harrisburg, with respect to why Darling is detained at McConnellsburg, and when he will be turned over on the requisition, he would probably go to Fulton county himself. It is possible that he has did this.

The Fulton County Republican, published at McConnellsburg, Pa., yesterday printed the following interesting news concerning the disposition of Darling's second wife towards him:

"His young bride, for whom much sympathy is expressed, called at the jail to see her husband last Saturday. When she entered Darling was crying, and the scene of the meeting was very pathetic. She had brought him some fruit and other delicacies and consoled him as best she could. He confessed to her that he had been married before, but said his wife had died about a year after he left New Jersey. After some persuasion he promised his wife to have his photograph taken, which was done later in the day."

Careless Handling of Guns.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Scotch Plains, July 27—Some one around Barth avenue is handling firearms very carelessly. Last evening a rifle ball was put through an upstairs window through Wm. Ford's house. Only a short time ago Wm. Traynor a neighbor, heard shot strike his window after the report of a gun. He investigated but the shooter did not repeat. Fortunately Mr. Ford's family were all down stairs at the time and thus may be escaped what might have been a fatal injury.

Death of Mrs. Ann Davis.

The friends of Dr. T. S. Davis, of 601 Park avenue, will extend to him their sympathy in the loss he has sustained by the death of his beloved mother, Mrs. Ann Davis, widow of the late John T. Davis, of Wilmington, Del., which occurred early this morning at the residence of Dr. Davis. The funeral services will be held from the house Monday morning at 10 o'clock. The interment will be at Wilmington, Del. Friends are requested to omit flowers.

Caught the Dog Thief.

Wm. McD. Corriell, of Clinton avenue, has been troubled a great deal with dogs who persist in stealing chickens. On Monday last Mr. Coriell's son, William, discovered a dog on the premises with a chicken in his mouth. He got a gun and put the dog out of existence. The dog was owned by Fred Wendell, who lives in that end of the city. Mr. Coriell came to Plainfield and reported his act to Justice Nash and told him what trouble they had experienced with bad dogs.

No Right to Ugliness.

The woman who is lovely in face, form and temper will always have friends, but one who would be attractive must keep her health. If she is weak, sickly and all run down, she will be nervous and irritable. If she has constipation or kidney trouble, her impure blood will cause pimples, blotches, skin eruptions and a wretched complexion. Electric Bitters is the best medicine in the world to regulate stomach, liver and kidneys and to purify the blood. It gives strong nerves, bright eyes, smooth, velvet skin, rich complexion. It will make a good-looking, charming woman of a run-down invalid. Only 50 cents at L. W. Randolph's Drug Store.

GOLF.

There will be the usual play for the McCutchen and Buttfield cups at the links of the Park Golf Club tomorrow afternoon. Some of the best players in the club are away on their summer outings, but enough remain to make the competition exciting.

The Park Golf Club is now selling golf balls to its members through the steward at the clubhouse. The balls can be secured at the clubhouse which is a great convenience for those who are sometimes forgetful enough to to find themselves ready to play but lacking the little gutta-percha spheres which form such an important adjunct to the sport.

The Central Railroad Company has had a 12-inch drain-pipe constructed across the park at Netherwood.

A Lehigh Valley Railroad conductor named William Yale has brought suit against Phillipsburg for $2 000 for false imprisonment. Yale's train blocked one of the main streets recently contrary to an ordinance and he was arrested. As he refused to pay the fine he was locked up. Yale's claim is that the ordinance is illegal and that he was therefore falsely arrested and imprisoned.

ROAD RACES TO BE HELD NEXT MONTH.

To Start From Plainfield and Perth Amboy.

VALUABLE PRIZES OFFERED.

G. H. KENYON WILL HOLD RACE ON PUMPTOWN COURSE.

It Will Be a Handicap Event of 15 Miles, Open to Amateurs Only—The Date Set is Saturday Afternoon, August 19th—The Race Starts at 4 o'Clock—Other Race to Be Held Also.

Plainfield has seen very little bicycle racing this year on either track or road. The Crescent Oval is not rideable, and while the roads are in good condition there has been but few efforts to arrange speed contests there. Now comes the announcement of two big road races next month, one over the Plainfield-Pumptown course and the other over the Amboy-Metuchen course.

The Perth Amboy Scandinavian Cycle club has arranged a 25-mile handicap road race for Saturday afternoon, Aug. 12th, which will be open only to amateur riders. It will be held over the county road between Perth Amboy and Metuchen, which is reported to be in excellent condition. Entries for the race close August 8th. Among the prizes offered are a Stearns racing wheel, a Cleveland racing wheel, and a silver service pitcher.

On the Saturday afternoon following the Perth Amboy race, August 19th, G. H. Kenyon, a local bicycle dealer, has arranged for a fifteen-mile handicap road race to be held on Park avenue, between this city and Pumptown. The course will be the same as that in the road races arranged by Harry K. Lister. The start will be made from Randolph road on Park avenue, thence to Holly's Corners, making the turn to the left to Oak Tree and on to Pumptown. Bounding the remains of the old pump, the riders will return the same way to Campbell's Road House. Circling the grass plot there, they will return to Pumptown by the same route and thence back again to the starting point.

The race will be open to amateurs, and will start promptly at 4 o'clock. The time prize will be a White sewing machine. The first prize will be a set of Palmer tires, the second a set of Hartford tires, 80s. A Deitz bicycle lamp and a Brown racing saddle will be the third and fourth prizes respectively. Entries will close with Mr. Kenyon the Thursday preceding the race.

GREETING TO BIG BOSS.

JERSEY G. O. P. PROPOSE TO HAVE AN OVATION TO SEWELL.

The Senator Will Arrive From Europe August 11th and Will be Given a Royal Welcome by His Followers.

United States Senator William J. Sewell is to be given a rousing welcome upon his return from Europe. Arrangements for his home-coming were made at a meeting of New Jersey Republicans at the Hotel Washington, Jersey City, Thursday evening. Senator Sewell will arrive in New York Harbor, August 11th. It is proposed to charter one of the largest of the Starin line steamers to carry the Senator's friends down the Bay to meet the steamer on which he will be a passenger.

At Quarantine Senator Sewell and family will be transferred to the pleasure boat and taken to the Pennsylvania Railroad pier, Jersey City. There will be a band on board, and before making a landing the Starin boat will sail up the river, giving the reception party a view of Grant's Tomb. There will be no end of refreshments, and it is probable there will be some speechmaking.

The object of the hearty welcome is to convince Senator Sewell that he is still "the biggest Republican in New Jersey." It is expected that at least three hundred prominent Republicans will be in the party. The committee in charge of the affair consists of Congressman Henry C. Loudenschlager, chairman; Willard Morgan, of Camden; Hamilton Kean, of Union county; State Controller William S. Hancock, of Mercer county; Dr. C. H. Herold, of Essex county, and Col. S. D. Dickinson, of Hudson county.

Vice-President Hobart and Senator Kean are expected to be in the party.

A POSSE OF CITIZENS CHASED TWO BURGLARS

Caught in Act of Looting a House in Washington Valley.

IDENTIFIED AS ITALIANS.

THEY ARE MEMBERS OF THE COLONY AT SCOTCH PLAINS.

The Property That Was Invaded Belonged to a Mrs. Mary Cottrell, Who is Not Occupying it at Present—Robbers Discovered by Two Young Men Who Had Been Playing Tennis.

For several weeks past the residents of Washington Valley have been in a state of terror as a result of the numerous petty ourglaries that have occurred in that vicinity. Last night, however, the supposed guilty parties were caught at their nefarious work and chased by several indignant citizens all the way to Scotch Plains, where they were identified.

Among the handsome summer homes maintained in that section is that of Mrs. Nellie Cottrell, of New York. At present the family is not staying at the house, which is left in charge of William Archibald. Last night Richard Hart and Samuel Wilson, of New York, were playing tennis on the court connected with the house. As they started to leave as darkness set in they discovered one of the large windows open. They started to investigate and as they neared the house two men jumed out of the open window and started off at a hot pace.

Hart and Wilson gave chase and as they seemed to be gaining on the supposed burglars the two latter halted and faced their followers. When accosted the strangers spoke broken English and seemed much discomfited. Fearful that they might be armed Hart and Wilson did not tackle them. The strangers resumed their journey on a dog-trot towards Scotch Plains, and Hart and Wilson followed at a safe distance. Several neighbors saw Wilson and Hart and they also joined in the chase, but even with force of numbers on their side they did not care to tackle the foreigners in the van.

The strangers went straight to Scotch Plains, and there their followers succeeded in having them identified as residents of the Italian colony. It is believed that the two men are guilty of nearly all the depredations that have been committed in Washington Valley. The suspects will probably be arrested this afternoon.

PLEASURE AT REVERE HOUSE.

Cards, Music and Dancing Passed the Evening Pleasantly.

Progressive euchre at the Revere House last evening was the attraction, and a very enjoyable game was had. It was under the direction of Harry Stothoff and Miss E. Somerville. The first ladies' prize was awarded to Mrs. George B. DeRevere; second to Miss L. Pendergast; first gentlemen's prize to H. L Stothoff; second to T. W. Andrews; consolation prizes to Miss E. Somerville and J. Lynch Pendergast. After the game refreshments were served and dancing followed. During the evening Miss Maude B. Fowler entertained the company with some of her charming vocal selections.

KILLED A MAD DOG.

Difficult Job for Dog Catcher Frisbie to Accomplish.

Dog Catcher Frisbie was called to Crescent avenue yesterday afternoon to deal with a mad dog that had spread terror in that vicinity and kept all children within doors in fear of being attacked and afflicted with hydrophobia. Frisbie found the cur—a fox terrier with white head—in a barn. With considerable difficulty he lasoosed the canine and brought him to his assassination factory, where he humanely killed the mad dog with much dexterity.

CALVARY CHURCH DEDICATION.

An Auspicious Occasion for the Colored Baptists Tomorrow.

Tomorrow the dedicatory services will be held at the Calvary Baptist church on Central avenue. Rev. Scott Wallace, the pastor, will be in charge. At 11 a. m., Rev. Dr. Carter, of Newark, will preach; and at 3 p. m., Rev. Burchard, of Elizabeth, will deliver a sermon. In the evening at 8 o'clock, Rev. Mr Pressly, a returned missionary from Africa, will preach. All are invited to attend these services.

Dr. Sutherland Here Again.

The people of Plainfield will have another opportunity to hear a sermon by that able western divine, Rev. J. B. Sutherland, D. D., of Iowa, as he has been engaged to again preach in Trinity Reformed church tomorrow morning and evening.

FASCINATING SPORT FOR THE WEALTHY.

Polo May be Introduced Into Plainfield.

EXPENSIVE GAME TO PLAY.

PROPOSED ATTRACTION TO BRING YOUNG MEN INTO CLUB.

Talk of Reviving the Union County Country Club in the Fall Brings Out That Suggestion—Likely Candidates for the Game—Richard Waring Has Had Some Experience—Game is a Facinating One.

Polo is a game that, so far, Plainfield is not acquainted with. While some of the Plainfield young men have played, there has been no attempt to start any interest in it here. There is a prospect now however that the game will be played here and under the auspices of the Union County Country Club or what ever its successor's name happens to be.

With the practical dissolution of the club last spring it was understood that the men who have been behind the club from the start would reorgnize it again in the fall and would make some attempt to interest the younger set in its affairs.

One of the means that has been suggested to bring the young men into the club is the introduction of polo and the making of proper grounds for the game in the neighborhood of this city. The game is only one in which the wealthy can participate as it is necessary for each player to have at least three polo ponies, well trained for the game, which are decidedly expensive. The sport is a very fascinating one, however, to both participants and spectators and would undoubtedly be popular.

Richard Waring, of Park avenue, has been playing this season on Long Island and is quite an enthusiast on the sport. There are a number of young men who are good horsemen and could undoubtedty pick up the game very rapidly. Louis E. Waring, Daniel Bunkle, the Fisk boys, the Shepards and a number of others are looked upon as promising candidates for the game should it be started.

TO MAKE AUTOMOBILES.

The Concern Expects to Begin in Elizabeth in October.

The Riker Electric Vehicle Company, now located at Ridgeway, proposes to remove before Oct. 1st to Elizabeth, where the company has leased the Brooklyn and New York Car Supply Company Works.

The new industry expects to employ about 500 people, and will bring from Ridgeway 250 operatives and about 150 families.

The company intends to manufacture automobiles.

DR. HUNTER DEAD.

Owner of the Hotel Hunterston Passed Away Today.

Word was received this morning from Cascara, Canada, stating that Dr. Robert Hunter, owner of the Hotel Hunterston at Netherwood, and a well-known specialist of lung troubles, with an office on West Forty-second street, New York, died there this morning. Dr. Hunter was about seventy-five years of age and was in Canada on his annual vacation.

Protection Hose Invited to Plainfield.

Protection Hose Co., No 3, has received an invitation from Warren Hose Co., of North Plainfield, to be their guests and participate in the annual parade in that city to take place Thursday, October 12th. The acceptance of the invitation is contingent upon a parade in this city, and that seems to be contingent upon the action of Franklin Hose going to York, Pa. It is said if they go the expenses will be large, and as they will come from sources that would enter into a local parade, they could not stand both.—Rahway Democrat.

G. F. Bresinger for Cadet.
(Special to The Daily Press.)

Jersey City, July 29—Congressman William D. Daly, of the Seventh New Jersey District, comprising Hudson County, announced yesterday that he had appointed George F. Bresinger cadet at West Point. The appointee is a bright young man, and is a son of Lieut.-Col. Joseph Bresinger, of the Fourth Regiment, N. G. N. J.

A Mistake.

Some have an idea that the Plainfield Business College has sold out or moved to the Babcock building. Nothing of the kind. The school will go right on, as usual, in its old place in the City Bank building. The new year opens September 1st. A. A. Phelps, president.

Mrs. Calvin Neighbor, of 207 East Front street, is still ill with rheumatism and kidney trouble.

KILLED BY DIPHTHERIA.

NINE-YEAR-OLD BOY A VICTIM OF THE DISEASE.

Germs of the Malady Carried Into His System by Milk Furnished by a Dealer—The Little Fellow a Favorite.

Yesterday afternoon at 4 o'clock occurred the death of Albert Morris, nine-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Luther Morris, of West Front street, as the result of diphtheria.

The little fellow was taken ill with the disease but a short time ago, which was the result of drinking milk furnished by a milkman in whose family there was diphtheria. Dr. Keeney was called and she at once called Dr. Davis in consultation. It was decided that the boy's condition was very critical and hopes of recovery were slight. The best of medical care and treatment was given and soon there were signs of improvement from the disease. But as the malady grew better other troubles appeared and it soon became impossible for him to retain any nourishment and it was impossible to prolong life.

The boy was the life of the household and was a favorite among all who knew him. His sudden taking off will be a severe shock to many who have known of his illness.

VICTORY FOR THE RIKERS

THEY WILL GET THE TROLLEY FRANCHISE IN ROSELLE.

Ordinance to Widen South Avenue Passed—It is a Part of the Plan for Granting Franchise to the Riker Syndicate.
(Special to The Daily Press.)

Roselle, July 29—At a regular meeting of the Borough Council held at this place last evening the ordinance to widen Second avenue from 60 to 81 feet was passed, as was also the ordinance to extend the avenue through to Lorraine.

A committee of four was ordered to be appointed by Mayor West to confer with property owners and make terms for the purchase of 21 feet of land on the southerly side of the thoroughfare for the wideding.

These ordinances were passed in order to grant a franchise to the Westfield and Elizabeth Street Railway Company to lay trolley tracks in the borough. Col. E. W. Hine, secretary of the company, was present at the meeting.

Further consideration of the trolley application and petiton was adjourned till next Friday evening, at which time it is believed the Council will grant a franchise. It is said they would have done so last evening had Mayor West been present at the meeting.

LIVED TO A RIPE OLD AGE.

Mrs. Ann Davis, Aged 86 Years, Died at Her Son's Home Yesterday.

In the death of Mrs. Ann Davis, aged 86 years, which occurred yesterday at the home of her son, Dr. T. S. Davis, of Park avenue, removes a woman of sterling worth and Christian character. Death was due to paralysis.

Mrs. Davis was born in Liverpool, Eng., and at the age of 20 years came to this country. A few years later she was married in Philadelphia to John T. Davis, who for years was general superintendent of the Diamond State Iron Company, now known as the Diamond State Steel Company. Mr. Davis died about eight years ago, after wnich his widow came to Plainfield and lived with her son, who is the only surviving member of the family.

Mrs. T. S. Davis, who left a few days ago for the mountains, returned home today to attend the funeral services, which will be held from the home on Park avenue Monday morning at 10 o'clock. Interment will take place in Wilmington, Del., the former home of the deceased and her husband.

Freak Rooster's Great Success.

Willard Ross, of Codington avenue, who owns a freak rooster, that has been sitting for the past three weeks on some eggs, surprised everyone yesterday by bringing out a chicken. Unfortunately, the rooster stepped on the little chick soon after the hatching and was killed. He then returned to the nest and now continues to sit on the eggs remaining there. Mr. Ross feels confident that his prize rooster will bring forth more chickens in a few days.

Governor Voorhees on a Vacation.
(Special to The Daily Press.)

Elizabeth, July 29.—Governor Voorhees, Frank Bergen, former County Treasurer Wood and a few other Elizabethians left last night for a hunting and fishing tour in the Adirondacks. They will be gone ten days.

Contract to Remove Building.

John Gulick, of Bound Brook, has secured the contract to remodel the building at the corner of Lincoln place and Duer street, which will be opened afterward as a meat market and grocery by a Brooklyn firm.

BOY FELL IN FIT AND WAS DROWNED.

Sad Fatality That Befell Son of Herman Parsch.

WAS HUNTING BULLFROGS.

FELL FACE DOWNWARD IN A A SMALL POND.

Accident Occurred Yesterday Afternoon Near Scribner's Brickyard on Harrison Avenue—Body Found Dead—County Physician Wagoner Granted Burial Permit Without an Inquest Held.

Edward Parsch, the eight-year-old son of Herman Parsch, who lives on Harrison avenne in North Plainfield, near Scribner's brickyard was drowned yesterday afternoon in a peculiar manner. The boy is subject to fits, one of which caused the fatal accident.

The boy has taken great delight in shooting bullfrogs with a slungshot, in the use of which he became quite dexterous. Yesterday afternoon he left his parents' home to enjoy the sport, and went to a small pond in the vicinity of the brickyard.

He removed his shoes and it is supposed he was wading in the water hunting for bullfrogs when he was evidently subjected to a fit. He fell on his face in the water and was drowned without being able to aid himself or scream for help.

When he failed to appear later at his home his parents instituted a search for him, and at 5 o'clock found his dead body lying in the water where it had fallen.

This morning County Physician Wagoner, of Somerville, came to Plainfield and went to the scene of the fatality, and after viewing the body of the boy granted a burial permit.

The parents are grief stricken over the lost of the boy.

DEFECTIVE SUMMONS.

Causes a Dismissal in the Charge Against George Becker.

The action of the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals against George Becker came up for trial before Justice of the Peace Storms, at New Market, at 10 o'clock this morning. In the absence of Counsellor McClure, Law Student Sweeney appeared for the Society. Winfield S. Angleman represented the defendant.

Before going into the case it was discovered that Justice Storms had issued a defective summons, which was objected to by Attorney Angleman, who asked for a dismissal of the case on the ground that the summons was defective. Law Student Sweeney consented and the proceeedings were dismissed.

New proceedings were immediately instituted against Becker. Mrs. C. P. Sinks, of Crescent avenue, who made the complaint to Officer Pangborn, was present at the hearing. She has taken an active interest in bringing Becker to justice for cruelly torturing his horses, as is alleged by the complaint filed with the justice.

JUST FOR A JOKE.

But By it Walter Southard Lost Three of His Fingers.

Walter Southard, of Elm place, who suffered the loss of all but the index flinger on his right hand July 4th, was discharged yesterday from the hospital. A great deal of sympathy is expressed for the boy owing to the way the accident occurred. He was playing in the street when some fresh young men came along holding a cannon firecracker. They asked the boy if he would like to have it, and of course, said he would, not knowing that the fuse was almost burned to the cracker. Just as he received the cracker in his hand it went off. The young men who played the dastardly trick were not known.

Fell Down Stairs.

Mrs. Catharine Day, mother of Theodore Day, of Dunellen, met with a serious accident about 4:30 o clock Thursday afternoon. Mrs. Day had occasion to go up to the attac. In coming down she missed her footing and fell to the landing. When picked up by some members of the family Mrs. Day was found to be hurt considerably. Her head was cut in two places and she was otherwise severely bruised. Dr. Brakely was summoned and took eight stitches in the unfortunate woman's head, which was cut in the front and at the side.

Dedication of Soldiers' Plot.

Tomorrow afternoon at 4 o'clock the soldiers' plot at Hillside Cemetery will be dedicated by the members of Winfield Scott Post, No. 73, G. A. R., with appropriate exercises.

HONOR REQUISITION AT LAST MOMENT.

Sheriff Sheets Finally Surrenders Wm. Darling.

ACTED OBSTINATE OVER IT.

CALLED BACK NEW JERSEY OFFICIALS AFTER THEY HAD LEFT.

Declined to Take the Advice of the Attorney-General of Pennsylvania, But After Chief Grant and Detective Ferguson Had Gone Eight Miles He Begged Them to Return for Their Man.
(Special to The Daily Press.)

McConnellsburg, Pa., July 29—Prosecutor John S. Voorhees and Detective John R. Ferguson, of New Brunswick, N. J., arrived at this place Thursday night from Harrisburg, where they were in consultation with State officials concerning the surrender of William Darling, the alleged murderer of Harry Dunham, at New Market, N. J., in 1895.

They brought a strong letter from Attorney General Elkin urging Sheriff Sheets to surrender the prisoner and warning him of the dangerous course he was pursuing in refusing to honor the Governor's requisition. Attorney Voorhees tendered Sheriff Sheets the amount of costs for making the arrest and the prisoner's detention, but this the Sheriff refused to accept, as his bill was $275.

District-Attorney Daniels informed the New Jersey officials that Darling could not be taken away, as he was being held to answer a charge of carrying concealed deadly weapons. After the officers had started home without their prisoner the citizens of this place became so loud in the expression of their indignation at the methods taken by the local officers that District-Attorney Daniels intercepted the New Jersey officials by telephone eight miles distant across the mountain and begged them to return and get the culprit.

The price was cut from $275 to $40, which is about the actual expenses incured in his arrest and detention. Detectives Ferguson and Grant returned here and will go to New Brunswick today with the bone of contention.

Winfield S. Angleman, of this city, who has been retained to look after the interests of Darling after he is brought to Middlesex county, will go to New Brunswick this afternoon to be ready to meet the prisoner and have a talk with him as soon as he is committed to the Middlesex county jail. Mr. Angleman was seen by a Press reporter this afternoon, but declined to discuss the legal side of the case as viewed by the defense.

THEY OPPOSE RUBBER TRUST.

Milltown Men Decide to Do a Little Manufacturing on Their Own Hook.
(Special to The Daily Press.)

New Brunswick, July 29—A company has been formed here with the avowed intention of fighting the United States Rubber Company. It is known as the Milltown India Rubber Company, and its capital stock is $200,000. The president is John C. Evans, Mayor of Milltown, and formerly manager of the branch factory of the United States Rubber Company at that place.

The trust decided that it could get along without the Milltown factory some years ago, and the village of Milltown has practically gone out of existence since then, as all its inhabitants depended upon the rubber works for employment. Mr. Evans was deprived of a $5,000 a year salary, and since then he had no sympathy with the United States Rubber Company.

He is the prime mover in the new organization. Associated with Mr. Evans are Matthew Suydam, vice-president; George E. Kohlepp, secretary; Edward Radel, treasurer. A factory will be built at once at Milltown. Rubber boots and shoes will be the principal articles manufactured.

Mr. Martine's Cousin Dead.

James E. Martine, of Watchung avenue, is in New York this afternoon attending the funeral of Edward H. Martine, his cousin. The latter was a well-known New York lawyer, and was attacked with a sudden and fatal illness Tuesday night. He resided at the corner of Fifth avenue and West One Hundred and Twenty-third street.

—The Congregational church will close with the services tomorrow until the second week in August to allow necessary repairs to be made to the interior of the church.

—The initiating team of Franklin Council, Jr. O. U. A. M., will visit the meeting of the William G. Holton Council of Dunellen Tuesday evening and initiate one candidate.

NO OUTING AT SHORE FOR REPUBLICANS.

Committee Decides Against Proposed Picnic This Summer.

TOO LATE TO START IT NOW.

COULD NOT NOW BE HELD UNTIL SEPTEMBER.

Last Year's Experience of an Outing in September Was Not Very Satisfactory—Committee Appointed By the Union County Executive Committee to Consider Plan—Decided Against It.
(Special to The Daily Press.)

Elizabeth, July 29.—The G. O. P. of Union county are not going to gather by the seashore this summer as they have for the past two seasons and enjoy the good things that have become inseperable to such affairs and incidentally discuss politics. If there is to be any gathering at all, it will be of the county executive committee of the Republican party only and on board the steam yacht of one of the members of the committee.

Last week there was a meeting of this same county committee and among other things done was to appoint a committee to consider the advisability of holding the annual outing at the shore this year. The committee was given power to go ahead if it thought such a plan was expedient.

Last night there was a meeting of the committee, four out of five being present. William Newcorn, the Plainfield member, was in attendance. The members decided that it was too late in the season to start a movement for the outing. The outing, to be successful, they thought should be held in August. Last year it was held in September and might have been a more successful affair than it was. It was generally conceded at that time that September was too late for an enjoyable outing at the seashore. It is now too late to arrange an outing until September, the committee decided. They will report at the next meeting of the county executive committee that they would not advise the holding of the outing this year but to start the plans early next season.

The committee thought, however, that it would be a nice thing for just the members of the county committee to get together some day this summer and take a trip on the steam yacht belonging to Ellis Meeker, of Elizabeth. Mr. Meeker is a member of the committee. It would be an informal affair. The yacht will accommodate comfortably forty people.

DROWNED THEM IN DRINK

GERMAN'S REMEDY FOR HUNGER AND HOMESICKNESS.

He Tried it in Plainfield and Was Locked up—Other Inhabitants of Cell Called Upon Him During the Night.

Max Schultz had two reasons for getting drunk, so he told City Judge Runyon yesterday afternoon. Sometimes he wanted to drive away the pangs of hunger and again it was the gloom of homesickness that he wanted to overcome. He didn't explain, however, which was the cause of his intoxication yesterday morning.

Roundsman Frederickson found him yesterday morning wandering about the city streets without a realization of exactly what he did want. The Boundsman locked him up and he had his hearing in the afternoon.

"Have you ever been arrested before?" asked the Judge.

"Dozens of times," was the reply. Then Schultz explained that his home was in Germany, and that he had been away for several years. He grew homesick and hungry at intervals and immediately loaded up on whatever was handy.

Sergeant Kiely discovered one of Schultz's fellow inhabitants of the cell crawling across the prisoner's coat. He brushed it away and the prisoner thanked him. He remarked that there were plenty more where that one came from. He had seen worse places, he said, but he had seen better ones.

The Judge decided that Schultz hadn't done anything very dreadful and so suspended sentence. Schultz thanked the Judge and expressed a hope of meeting him at the Paris exposition next year.

Enjoying the Lakes of Killarney.

A letter was received this morning from Rev. T. Logan Murphy, former rector of Holy Cross Episcopal church, who with Mrs. Murphy and daughter, Miss Annie, are traveling in Europe. The letter is written from the Great Southern Hotel, Lake Killarney, Ireland. Rev. Mr. Murphy writes that the members of the family are well and enjoying themselves.

OUR PROVISIONAL ARMY.

The Ten New Regiments Will Be Enlisted and Filled by August 15.

SIX HUNDRED EACH DAY

This is the Average Number of Enlistments That Are Being Received at Present.

The Dewey Home Fund Continues to Increase—Novel Addition to Naval Directory—Ex-Queen Liliuokalani is Still a Resident of the Capital City.

Washington, July 29.—The fact that ex-Queen Liliuokalani is still living in Washington was brought to public notice by the announcement in the society column of a Washington paper that one of her maids of honor was going to return to Honolulu, after having spent the winter with her "ex-Majesty." The ex-Queen, who came to Washington to look after her interests when the Hawaiian Islands were annexed, was not able to accomplish much before Congress, but she found that Washington was such a delightful place to live that last winter she rented a house on P street and established herself there, with her little court. She brought with her when she first came to this country, a native secretary and his wife, and one of her former maids of honor. When she decided to settle in Washington, the secretary and his wife returned to Honolulu, and a second maid of honor came on to be with the ex-Queen. Mrs. Dominis has been living very quietly at her home since Congress adjourned, but she has not given up all hope of getting that body to grant her a pension or an annuity for the loss of her throne.

The new naval directory has just been issued, and it contains many novel additions as the result of the Spanish war. The most notable of these is the first official publication that the United States has a full-fledged admiral. Heading the list of naval officers is the name of George Dewey, admiral, and this is the first register for years containing such a rank. The eighteen rear-admirals follow in order, Schley number eight and Sampson number ten.

It is not generally known that Congress has confirmed these rear-admirals, and some people are still saying that the Sampson-Schley fight will come up again when the Senate meets. This is foolishness, for the Senate just before it adjourned settled the rank and position of both these officers, and placed Schley among the rear-admirals of the first rank and Sampson among those of the second.

The purchase of the site for the New York Customhouse was one of the quickest pieces of work ever transacted by the Government—at least so far as the actual payment for the property was concerned. On Friday morning Collector Bidwell telegraphed to the Treasury Department that he would like to have the money available for the purchase of the Customhouse site at once, so that he could make the purchase before that night and thus save a certain amount of taxes which would be due after that day. This set the Treasury officials to work. They applied to the Attorney-General to see if the title were correct and in half an hour Attorney-General Griggs gave a favorable opinion, and Mr. Taylor, supervising architect of the Treasury, decided that everything was right in his office, and within an hour after Collector Bidwell's telegram was received Treasurer Roberts wired to Collector Bidwell $2,195,290.

At the rate the men are enlisting in the new regiments it will not take much longer to raise the new provisional army, and Gen. Corbin says it is expected that the ten new regiments will all be enlisted and filled by the 15th of next month. The enlistments average now six hundred a day, and applications are coming in so fast that the officers in charge can take their time to pick their men for acceptance. Col. Petit, of the Thirty-first Regiment, which is enlisting at Fort Thomas, Ky., will be the first to fill his regiment, for he has been in the lead ever since the enlistments began. Col. Bell, at Camp Meade, is second on the list, and there is a close race between the others. It is thought that by the 1st of September some of the regiments will be in such condition as to move westward to start for the Philippines before cold weather comes.

The secretary of the Dewey home fund stated that at the meeting of the committee it was found that the aggregate amount of cash actually received by Treasurer Roberts is $16,700 from a total of over twenty-three thousand subscribers. One hundred and three subscribers gave $10,000. The statement was made that the $5,000 that was promised some time ago by a New York newspaper would be forthcoming shortly, bringing the aggregate up to $21,700. The committee agreed to close the subscriptions before the arrival of Admiral Dewey in New York, in September, and then after consultation with the Admiral as to location, etc., buy the home with whatever funds they may have in hand.

Esterhazy Will Not Attend.

Paris, July 29.—There is one point upon which Dreyfusists and anti-Dreyfusists are in perfect accord. That is the importance of Major Esterbazy's appearance as a witness at the new trial of Dreyfus in Rennes. Disgust is therefore general at the news that Esterhazy refuses to attend, notwithstanding safe conduct has been given him by the Government, which guarantees him against arrest until after the trial be concluded.

Automobile Mudbound.

Newport, R. I., July 29.—W. K. Vanderbilt and wife were out in their automobile again, despite the fact that it stuck in the mud with them and forced them to walk home.

MORE TRANSVAAL TALK

Liberal Leader Urges Patience in Dealing With the Boers.

London, July 29.—In the House of Commons, the Colonial Office vote furnished the Liberals with an opportunity for a debate upon the government's policy in the Transvaal.

Sir H. Campbell-Bannerman, the Liberal leader, said he thought that in view of the negotiations pending, reticence and reserve must rule debate. While he did not sympathize with Boer opposition to franchise extension, he saw nothing from beginning to end of the story to justify armed intervention. War in South Africa with one of the independent states would be one of the direst calamities possible.

The speaker pleaded for further friendly and prudent action through Dutch sympathizers at the Cape. He saw no reason why this should not achieve conspicuous success, as a similar course had done in Canada in time past.

The Secretary of State for the Colonies, Mr. Joseph Chamberlain, opened his speech in reply by declaring that Sir H. Campbell-Bannermann's language was calculated to embarrass the action of the government.

Blew Open Postoffice Safe.

Parsons, W. Va., July 29.—Burglars entered the postoffice at this place and escaped with over $5,000 in stamps and cash. They were evidently experts, with an excellent outfit of tools. They bored through the doors to the locks and pushed them off with screws for the purpose. They then bored with seeming ease right through the heavy iron safe to the combination lock and blew it all to pieces with dynamite, throwing the door wide open.

Child Assaulted and Hanged.

Dallas, Tex., July 29.—The 13-year-old daughter of a white farmer of the name of Newton, in Fannin county, was missing from her home. A search resulted in the finding of her dead body suspended from a tree. There is no doubt that the child was assaulted and then murdered by hanging. A large posse from Bonham, aided by citizens, is searching for the murderer. If he is caught it will be next to impossible to prevent his being lynched.

Woman Killed Ascending Alps.

Zermatt, Switzerland, July 29.—Tourists discovered Mme. Morel and her daughter at the bottom of a ravine near here. Evidently they had rolled a distance of twelve hundred feet. Mme. Merel was dead, her skull having been fractured. Her daughter was badly injured and delirious. Until she recovers her sanity the facts regarding the accident which befell the two women cannot be ascertained.

Shot His Neighbor Dead.

Chattanooga, Tenn., July 29.—J. A. Brock shot and killed James Holland, a merchant of Hill City, a suburb of Chattanooga. The two were neighbors and quarreled over Holland's children, as the two famalies have been engaged in a bitter feud for some time. Brock shot Holland through the head twice, killing him. Brock escaped, but officers are on his trail with bloodhounds and he will probably be captured.

Quiet Reigns at Cleveland.

Cleveland, Ohio, July 29.—The strike situation here has quieted down to such a degree that cars are again running nearly on schedule time and with but little interference. No rioting of a serious nature has taken place for the past forty-eight hours. Arrests are being made as often as the parties can be found, of those connected with the several bomb-throwing incidents.

Wants $30,000 Damages From State

Albany, July 29.—A $30,000 claim against the State has been filed with the Court of Claims by Susan Deltry of Ilion. Damages are asked for injuries to a block of houses caused by the grade of the street on which they were located being changed to make room for the erection of a bridge over the Erie Canal.

Woman Succeeds Him.

Alliance, Ohio, July 29.—The trustees of Mt. Union College held their annual meeting here. The resignation of the Rev. A. E. Schade from the German Chair was read and accepted, and Miss Emma Lentz, sister of Congressman John J. Lenz, of Columbus, was elected tto the position.

Suicide on Fall River Boat.

Rochester, N. Y., July 29.—News has been received here by Amsden Brothers, bankers, of the death by suicide somewhere between New York and Fall River, on the Pullman, a Fall River line steamboat, of Josiah Sullivan, a prominent lawyer of Rochester.

Died of Hydrophobia.

New York, July 29.—Capt. George M. Bockhoven, aged 56 years, died of hydrophobia at the New York Hospital. He was bitten by a dog on June 12. No symptoms of rabies appeared until last Thursday.

Gans and McFadden Draw.

New York, July 92.—Joe Gans, of Baltimore, and George McFadden, of New York, fought twenty-five rounds to a draw before the Broadway Athletic Club. It was one of the best bouts witnessed here in a long time.

What We Go to Church for

We go to church to worship God; and His attributes include all that is noble in life, all that is hopeful in death, and all that is beautiful in thought or nature. What a man worships determines what he is. To sincerely adore and appreciate goodness, wisdom, power, loveliness and intelligence, as exhibited in the character of the Christ of the Bible, is to be inspired with the highest thoughts and become a partaker in an increasing measure of that grand Divine nature. We go to church to reform evil, to secure strength in our weakness, to revive our hope, to obtain comfort in grief, to elevate our thinking, to purify and intensify our feelings, to preserve and restore our health, to increase our knowledge, to arouse our love for all that is good, to make our home more sweet, to make society more brotherly and peaceful, to get rest from care, to be better fitted for business, to secure enthusiasm for heroic deeds, and to find happiness.—Ladies' Home Journal.

Mauna Loa's Activity a Very Serious Hindrance to Navigation.

THE LAVA FLOWS FREELY

The Table Lands Apparently Filling Up in the Vicinity of Humnula Sheep Ranch.

Frank Davey Returns From a Perilous Trip to the Active Volcano—Rocks as Large as Houses Thrown Out—B. S. Pratt Has a Narrow Escape From Death.

Honolulu, July 21. via San Francisco, July 29.—The volcanic eruption of Mauna Loa is still in full blast. The lava flow is apparently filling up the table land near the Humnula sheep ranch.

Hilo and the whole island of Hawaii are enveloped in smoke. Vessels encounter dense clouds of smoke hundreds of miles out at sea, and navigators are seriously inconvenienced. It is also smoking freely at Kilauea and the indications are that this volcano will soon be in active eruption.

Frank Davey has returned from a visit to the volcano. He says there is a series of eight craters. Five of them are dead, but appeared to have been active quite recently. One of the others was belching forth smoke and fire and molten rocks of great size. According to Davey, the rocks were as big as houses and went to a great height.

It took Davey and his party fifteen hours to ascend the mountain from the active crator to the summit, where their horses were left. Two men became delirious on the way for want of water. The trip is described as a terrible one. All around the top of the mountain it was cold. At the crater it was very hot.

B. S. Pratt was caught on a knoll high up on Mauna Loa, on two sides of which the lava was flowing. The sun was nearly down. He did not know which way to go, and spent the night there at a desperate chance, as he thought of life. He sat up all night and watched the lava flow. When the fumes were blown his way, he lay down on his face to keep from suffocating.

Next morning he found his way out by following back down between the two flows.

Samoa in a Turmoil.

San Francisco, July 29.—The steamer Mona has arrived from Honolulu and Samoa.

At Samoa conditions are in a very disturbed state and great dissatisfaction is manifested on all sides. There have been several fights among the natives and more are likely.

Chief Justice Chambers was a passenger on the Mona. He left Samoa because the High Commission would not guarantee that the decrees of the court would be enforced.

Chief Justice Chambers, who is accompanied by his family, is on a four months' leave of absence, but says that his business in the United States is of such a nature that he will probably not return to Apia.

In an interview the Chief Justice said:

"All is now quiet in Samoa, but I cannot answer for the future. Both Mataafa and Mahetoa affect to be satisfied with the present arrangement, which abolishes the office of King and vests the responsibility of government in the Consuls of the three powers. I feel sure Malientoa is sincere in this."

"Yes, my decision has been sustained by the Commission, and it has published the fact in a proclamation.

"With respect to the future I can say little. There is the problem. The commission has tried to eliminate from the original arrangement all features that have appeared faulty or weak. Those sections have been simply struck out, leaving nothing in their places.

"What will rob the whole document of proper effectiveness is the tripartite treaty under which it will have to operate. I am sure that no government in Samoa will succeed under such an arrangement. The sooner the powers see this and formulate some correction, the better for all concerned."

Love Lured Traitor to Death.

Kansas City, July 29.—The only traitor in the American army was made so by his love for a Filipino girl. He was Corporal L. B. Hayes, of the First Colorado Volunteers. The Filipinos made him a lieutenant of artillery. He was killed in battle, and his former comrades held his body up on bayonets and riddled it with bullets. So says S. A. Lamarsh, a returned volunteer.

Gets $1,600 For Injured Knee.

Binghamton, July 29.—Hatten E. Woods of Freetown has settled a suit against the New York Central Railroad, in which he asked $10,000 damages, for $1,650. Woods was engaged in loading cars at Lowville, and while standing in a box car another was shoved against it, throwing him down and injuring his knee.

Zeigler Surrenders.

Toledo, Ohio, July 29.—Private Walter Zeigler, deserter from the Eight United States Cavalry, who surrendered himself to Captain Ames, the local recruiting officer, has been taken back to Ft. Sheridan, where he will be given a general Court-martial.

Move Caroline Islanders.

Manila, July 29.—In compliance with an order received from Madrid, the Spanish transport Alva will proceed from Manila immediately to the Caroline Islands, in order to repatriate the garrison and inhabitants of those islands.

Princeton Ball Stand Wrecked.

Princeton, N. J., July 29.—Workmen began to rebuild the big baseball grandstand, which was badly wrecked by being twice struck by lightning during Thursday's storm. The entire east end will have to be rebuilt.

PORTIA WRECK VERDICT

Capt. Farrell's Master's Cetificate Suspended For Six Months.

Halifax, N. S., July 29.—The Marine Court, which investigated the loss of the Red Cross passenger steamer Portia, on Big Fish Shoal, west of Halifax harbor, on the night of July 10, has found her commander, Capt. W. J. Farrel, responsible for the wreck, and has suspended his master's certificate for six months, but has given him a mate's certificate for that period in consideration of his heroic conduct in saving the lives of those on board, all of whom escaped except a boy.

The decision was delivered by Capt. W. Smith, R. N. R., Canadian Wreck Commissioner, with whom Capt. Lewis Anderson, Nautical Assessor, was associated in the inquiry. The Court comments at considerable length on the circumstances leading up to the disaster, and from the evidence draws the conclusion that Capt. Farrell was guilty of several grave errors in the navigation of his ship, notably running at full speed throughout thick fog, relying too much on dead reckoning to obtain his position, and not sounding often enough.

Ten Eyck and Mate Are Champions.

Boston, Mass., July 29.—In the championship regatta of the National Rowing Association the final heat for the senior double sculls was won by the Wachusett Boat Club pair, Ten Eyck and Lewis. The Delaware Club crew, of Chicago, finished second. The time was 9m. 27½s.

Daring Attempt to Rob Agent.

Philadelphia, July 29.—Affrighted passengers, most of them women, watched Harry Hudson, the ticket seller at the Atlantic Ferry, struggling in the grasp of two men, one of whom had seized a bag of money while the other knocked him down with a chair. Hudson tried to hold the men, but they broke away. One, George Wallace, of No. 1446 West Twelfth street, was captured in a blind alley, after an exciting chase. The other escaped.

Big Failure in Cleveland.

Cleveland, Ohio, July 29.—W. H. McDonald has been appointed receiver of the big Hoyt, Kent & Sefton department store on application of H. H. Hoyt, who owns a controlling interest in the concern. Mr. Hoyt alleged mismanagement on the part of other members of the firm. The company controls the largest department store in northern Ohio. The assets of the company are said to be $166,253.10 and the liabilities $236,200.63.

Tramp Kills Kansas Policeman.

Parsons, Kan., July 29.—John Van Horne, a policeman, was shot and killed by an unknown tramp. The tramp was arrested Friday by Van Horne, and during the night he escaped. The policeman started in pursuit and found the tramp sitting on a fence. The latter fired and Van Horne was shot througt the lungs. The officer died in a few minutes, but managed to shoot the tramp twice, inflicting probably fatal wounds.

A Strike is Pending.

Pittsburg, Penn., July 29.—Employing agents from Arkansas, Kansas, Missouri and Indian Territory are in Pittsburg, trying to engage coal miners to go to those states and dig coal. They offered free transportation and $1 per ton for mining, and 80 men had engaged to go when it was discovered that a strike was in progress there, and the miners' officials induced the men to remain here.

Back After Thirty-Eight Years.

Columbia, S. C., July 29.—Elijah Bowen, mourned as dead for thirty-eight years, has returned to Anderson from New Jersey. The last seen of him had been on the firing line at Petersburg, where he was taken prisoner. When released he settled on a New Jersey farm. His wife married again and is dead.

May Make Them Blind.

Findlay, Ohio, July 29.—Aura Behm, a plumber, and his assistant, Remus Dennison, upset a pot of solder, which splashed in their eyes, badly burning them, and it is thought permanently destroying their sight. Dennison also suffered a severe burn on the body.

Four Killed on Construction Train.

Halifax, N. S., July 29.—Four men were killed and several seriously injured by an accident to a construction train on the Midland Railway, between Truro and Windsor.

Senator Foraker's Mother Dead.

Cincinnati, July 29.—Senator J. B. Foraker's mother died at Hillsboro, Ohio. Mrs. Foraker had been seriously ill for the past three months.

Plague's Ravages in India.

Bombay, July 29.—There were 151 cases and 121 deaths from the plague at Poona on Friday. The cases include four Europeans.

Section Men on Strike.

Mt. Vernon, Ohio, July 29.—B. and O. section men in this city have struck for an increase of wages from $1.15 to $1.30 per day.

Enlistments For Philippines.

Washington, July 29.—The number of enlistments, for the Philippine service Friday was 595, making the total 6,626.

If you have any to be extracted remember you will not be hurt in the slightest. My local anæsthetic is the best that can be obtained and is not known to the other dentists in this city. Gas strictly fresh administered by an expert if you want that. If you need artificial teeth you may rest assured that the greatest care will be exercised in selecting shape and color to harmonize with the face, also to restore the features to their natural expression and fullness. This is most important.

LUETGERT CONFESSED.

Told a Chicago Attorney That He Murdered His Wife.

Chicago, July 29.—Frank Fay Pratt, a member of the Chicago Bar, says that Adolph Luetgert confessed in February, 1898, that he had killed his wife.

"He told me he had killed her," said Mr. Pratt. "He started to tell me some of the details, but fell to cursing about the affair, and I was unable to lead him back to an unfolding of the steps in the crime. It was in February, 1898, that I became acquainted with Luetgert. I was connected with the Chris Merry defense, and in my visits to my client I became acquainted with the sausage maker.

"He was told by one of the jailers that I was a palm reader, and one day, as I was passing his cell, he asked me to read his hand. I did so. I found the lines of fatality, or predestination, very strong, and I told him that there were influences that he could not resist that led him on. I told him that from his hand I could readily see that he was not responsible for his actions in the sense of self-restraint.

"He then said: 'Yes, that is so, I did kill my wife. I was possessed of the devil and killed her because I was in love with another woman.'

"He then started to tell me about the vat, and said his wife attempted to make a dying statement to him when the dogs began to growl and he put an end to her. It was then that he switched off to cursing.

"As I considered the confession a professional one, I respected it until death has now placed him beyond further human pursuit."

Cœur D'Alene Rioter Convicted.

Spokane, Wash., July 29.—The jury in the Paul Corcoran murder case, growing out of the Shoshone county, Idaho, labor riot of April 29, in which two men were killed and $25,000 worth of property destroyed by the strikers' blowing up of the Bunker Hill and Sullivan mills, have just returned a verdict of murder in the second degree. Corcoran was sentenced to a term of seventeen years at hard labor in the Idaho Penitentiary. The verdict demonstrates that the reign of terror maintained for years by the miners' unions of Shoshone county has at last fallen beneath the arm of the law. Other leaders of the mob will be tried in September.

$11,000 to Prove Soul is Mortal.

Boston, July 29.—Charles H. Woodman, manager of the Advent Christian Publication Society, who is one of the executors of Sidney Hall's will, said that he did not know how the provisions of the will would be carried out. Hall left $11,000 to counteract the "pernicious doctrine of the immortality of the soul." The executors will meet in a few weeks and decide. The money will probably be spent in the publication of tracts, Mr. Hall having written some himself. Mr. Hall believed a resurrection of the righteous who would be given eternal life.

Ferryboat Turned Over to Owners.

Boston, Mass., July 29.—The converted ferryboat East Boston, which was bought by the Navy Department during the war from the city of Boston, but which never left the local navy yard, has been turned over to the agents of her new owners. She was bought from the Government at auction for $38,000 for the Norfolk county, Va., ferries. L. H. Davis and F. B. Odeon received her for the company. It has not been decided yet whether she will go down under her own steam of be towed down.

Chicago's Strike Growing.

Chicago, July 29.—Officials of organized labor here declare the brickmakers' strike is liable to precipitate a general walking out of the building trades unions with forces 50,000 strong, thus tying up building operations in the city. The brickmakers demand not only an increase in wages, but the recognition of the brickmakers' union. The employes against whom the movement is directed preserve a stolid front of indifference.

Lahn Stopped at Sea.

London, July 29.—The British steamer Europe, Capt. Tubb, from New York July 17 for London, passed the Lizard and reported that in latitude 50 longitude 10 she sighted the North German Llyod steamer Lahn. The Lahn was stopped and signaled that her engine was out of order, but was expected to be set right soon and no assistance was required. The Lahn sailed from Southampton for New York on July 26.

Jersey Farmer Missing.

Matawan, N. J., July 29.—Samuel E. Gordon, 27 years old, a well-to-do young farmer, whose farm is about a mile from here, is missing and his friends fear he has met with foul play. The country is being searched. He started Wednesday evening to go to the village to engage three hired men and nothing has been seen of him since.

Beaten Badly By Highwaymen.

Springfield, Ill., July 29.—Two negro highwaymen assaulted Dr. Rudolph G. Hunn, a prominent young dentist. The negroes beat Dr. Hunn, fracturing his skull, and robbed him of $500. He was found lying unconscious in the street and conveyed to the City Hospital. He may not recover.

Paris Exposition Progress.

Chicago, July 29.—Frederick J. V. Skiff, of the U. S. Paris Exposition Commission, has just returned from Paris. He found the American buildings in a satisfactory condition. Rapid progress has been made on them and they will be completed in ample time for the installing of exhibits.

Welcome to President McKinley.

Albany, N. Y., July 29.—Gov. Roosevelt dispatched his military secretary, Col. Treadwell, to Lake Champlain, as a courier, bearing to President McKinley a letter of cordial greeting and welcome to the State of New York.

Four Negroes Executed.

Baltimore, July 29.—Four negroes, Cornelius Gardner, John W. Meyers, Charles James and Joseph Bryan, were hanged in the jail yard here, the first three for criminal assault and Bryan for the murder of Mary Pack.

HAD A LIVELY SKIRMISH.

The American Outposts Successfully Routed Two Moving Garrisons.

FIGHT IN THE FOOTHILLS.

First Attack on Calamba Proves to Have Been a Great Surprise to the Inhabitants.

Natives Make an Unsuccessful Attempt to Join Main Body of Filipinos at San Torms—The Rescued Spanish Prisoners Overjoyed at Their Deliverance.

Manila, July 29.—The Filipino garrisons at Tunason and Binang, with two machine guns and two cannon, made an attempt to circle to the west of Calamba and join the main body of the natives at San Tomas. They encountered the American outposts and a lively fight ensued at the foothills. The fewness of the Americans prevented them from giving the enemy a chase.

The inhabitants of Calamba emphasize the unexpectedness of the attack upon the town by the Americans on Thursday afternoon, saying that they had no thought that an attack would be made on a week day, only Sunday being the Americans' fighting days consequently the native soldiers were not intrenched. The records show, however, that the capture of the town was anticipated, the Filipinos having transferred the supply and ammunition depot for Batangas, Cavite and La Laguna a week ago to Santa Cruz.

The rescued Spanish prisoners who returned on board Gen. Lawton's launch were overjoyed at their deliverance. They were unable to recognize the devastated towns of Pasig, Santa Ana and Paco.

A coasting steamship reports that a trading vessel is anchored at Aparri, at the northern end of Luzon, where there is a Filipino garrison of 3,000 men armed with Mauser rifles occupying five intrenchments. Two Spanish gunboats are concealed in the river to prevent their being observed by any of the American cruisers.

Campaign in the Philippines.

Washington, July 29.—It is believed by officers of the War Department that should the weather continue favorable active operations against the Filipinos will be resumed. It was proposed some time ago to continue an aggressive campaign, but the severity of the rainy season compelled Gen. Otis to change his plans and hold the American troops in the cities already occupied. It was evident that the enemy sought to profit by the suspension of operations, and endeavored to perfect an organization of Filipinos in the province of Covite, south of Manila.

Reports received from the Philippines indicate that the country recovers rapidly from the effects of the storms, so that it is expected by army officers that in a few days the roads will be in condition to permit the rapid movement of troops against the Filipinos.

One rule that has been strictly followed in the Luzon campaign has been to break up, wherever possible, any organization of the Filipinos. Gen. Hall's capture of Calamba was a part of this general plan. By capturing Calamba the American troops forced the natives still further south from Manila, and the Philippine Commission will be able to continue the organization of local governments.

Changes in Manila Fleet.

Washington, July 29.—Rear Admiral John C. Watson, commanding the Asiatic Naval Station, has telegraphed from Manila the following changes in the personnel of the station:

Capt. D. Williams, United States Marine Corps, from the Baltimore to the Oregon; Capt M. J. Shaw, United States Marine Corps, from the Oregon to the Charleston; Capt. J. T. Myers, United States Marine Corps, from the Charleston to the Baltimore; Commander G. Blocklinger, from the Charleston home; Lieut. W. S. Crossley, reported on the Baltimore; Lieut. T. E. D. W. Veeder from the Baltimore to inspection duty at Hongkong; Capt. G. W. Pigman reported on the Charleston; Ensign R. Z. Johnston, from the Baltimore to the Oregon; Lieut. A. Hartrath, from the Princeton to the Culgoa, and Lieut. H. O. Stickney, from the Culgoa to the Princeton.

Warship Ordered to Santo Domingo

Washington, July 29.—A naval vessel is to be sent immediately to Santo Domingo. Secretary Hay has made the request that Secretary Long take this action, and the Machias, now at San Juan, P. R., and only a day's run from Santo Domingo, will proceed at once to that island. This is a measure of precaution rather than one of necessity at the present time, for Minister Powell has not suggested any such action to the Government.

Girl Wife Poisons Whole Family.

Carmi, Ill., July 29.—Ivy Crabtree, the sixteen-year-old wife of George E. Crabtree, has been arrested on her confession that she had killed her brother in attempting to murder her father, stepmother and a neighbor by poisoning. She put poison in the coffee but it was noticed in time so that only one of the family died from the effects.

Steamer Ran Through Ice Fields.

Liverpool, July 29.—The delay in the arrival of the Dominion Line steamer Cambroman, which, though due July 25, did not reach this port until Friday, was due to the fact that for three days the steamer was surrounded by ice and enveloped in a thick fog. The Cambroman frequently crashed into floating ice, but was not damaged.

Australian Federation Wins.

Melbourne, July 29.—The returns of the Victorian referendum on the question of Australian federation show a vote of 145,014 in favor of and 9,605 against the measure. The vote in Tasmania shows 13,800 in favor and 800 against.

When You Are Away

For a week, or a month, or the whole summer, there is nothing more welcome than the news from home. There is only one way to get this news in the right shape, and that is by having The Daily Press sent to you at your vacation stopping place. When leaving town for a season be sure to order The Daily Press to follow you by mail. The address will be changed as often as desired. Ten cents a week will cover all expenses.

Travelling Libraries for New Jersey.

The thought of them started in the Women's Clubs, and the movement to inaugurate travelling libraries was agitated by the State Federation of Women's Clubs more than a year ago. At the last session of the Legislature a bill was passed authorizing their establishment in New Jersey and the sum of $1,500 was appropriated for this purpose. In expending this amount during the present year, the women are to be accorded the privilege of offering suggestions to the special committee having the matter in charge, consisting of State Librarian H. C. Buchanan, Controller Hancock and Secretary of State Werts.

The scheme being a new one has been somewhat misunderstood, even by some who voted for it. It is said some Legislators cast their vote with the belief that an additional politicial office would be created and some lawyers have believed that reference books could be forward in quantities from this State Library.

The plan, as conceived by the women, was of a most unselfish character. The outline of the plan in carrying out the project is to provide boxes that will contain fifty well-selected books. These boxes are to be sent into the country districts and hamlets, where there are no circulating libraries, supplying a want that can hardly be imagined by the inhabitants of cities and towns who have an excess of reading matter.

Some responsible person, like trustees, must interest themselves in the receipt of these books, providing distributing points and guaranteeing their careful and useful return. It is possible that the State Library committee will charge the commitee $5 per year for the use of the library, the money to be used in keeping the boxes and books in good condition. Probably the books will be left in a community for a period of six months. The books will be on history, science, fiction and poetry. The localities interested will be allowed to suggest the character of the books desired. Industrial districts might desire more books of a scientific nature.

Additional appropiations will be made yearly for the purchase of new books.

Preposterous Official Conduct.

If Governor Stone, of Pennsylvania, has any stamna about him he will see to it that Sheriff Sheets, of Fulton county, is quickly and severely punished for refusing to respect the requisition signed by the chief executive of the Keystone State. That even a Pennsylvania backwoods politician should propose to hold a prisoner wanted for murder in order to line his own pockets with cold cash he is not entitled to, is quite the most preposterous proposition of "public office for private gain" that we have ever heard of.

The final act in this serious farce on the part of the Fulton county officials stamps their previous attitude as a mere "bluff," for had they felt assured that their refusal to release Darling to the custody of the New Jersey officers was backed up by law they certainly would not have relented at last and turned the prisoner over as they did.

With Governor Voorhees out of the State for ten days on a fishing and hunting trip in the Adirondacks, as stated in our news colums today, the mantle of chief executive of the commonwealth naturally falls upon the classic brow of our esteemed townsmen, the Honorable Charles Arthur Reed, President of the Upper House, by virtue of his office as Senator of Somerset county. It is not anticipated that the Honorable Senator will be called upon to act in the place of the absent Governor, but nevertheless we feel assurred that the Ship of State will sail safely and gloriously on under the passive guidance of the genial Charles. It is improbable, however, that the Tall Sycamore will allow his temporary honor to interfere with his golf practices on the Park Club links.

When money was needed for the purchase of Sea Girt encampment ground, there being no State appropriation at the time, the late George A. Halsey and several others advanced the money to the State and took the chances of being reimbursed by the Legislature. This leads the Newark Advertiser to say that "there is no appropriation available for sending the State Guard to New York to participate in the Dewey reception and State pride ought to impel some of our moneyed citizens to advance the money. The Legislature will surely repay a patriotic obligation like that."

WHAT THE SHEARS FIND

Editorial Comment From Other Papers of Interest in Plainfield.

One who keeps his finger on the political pulse of Union county said to the Journal a few days ago: "The latest phase of Republican politics thus far has developed in Plainfield. It is generally agreed there that Plainfield will send a solid delegation to the convention to secure the shrievalty nomination. At the present time the Plainfield Republicans have not decided upon the man they will support for this office, but they have agreed upon the plan." As if to substantiate this bit of information, the Plainfield Press reports that B. Frank Coriell, present deputy county clerk, has been selected by Plainfield as the man for this office.—Elizabeth Journal.

STATE NEWS IN BRIEF.

HAPPENINGS IN A FEW LINES FROM ALL OVER JERSEY.

More or Less Important Happenings and Events in Various Sections Served For a Quick Glance at.

Arrangements are being made by the New Brunswick Boat Club for a concert and fireworks display on the river Tuesday next.

Word has been received in New Brunswick that another architect of the Treasury Department is to make an examination of the sites offered to the Government for the Federal Postoffice building.

Rumor has it that the big patent leather combine, which is to embrace practically all the Newark firms engaged in that industry, will be effected. Newark makes 90 per cent. of all the patent leather in the United States.

The American Switch Company has been organized under the laws of New Jersey, with a capital of $11,000,000. The company will control the manufacture of railroad frogs, switches, stands and other track equipment in the United States.

William H. Sandford, of the New Brunswick Rubber Company, while mounting Highland Park hill Thursday afternoon on his wheel, collided with Frank Rust. Mr. Rust was not seriously hurt, but Mr. Sandford was thrown and broke the middle finger on his right hand.

Groveville, a suburb of Trenton, has a phenomenon in the shape of a six-year-old-boy who discourses on the Bible with rare eloquence. His exhorting has brought many new members to the Groveville church and has awakened a religious fervor in the whole congregation.

The city authorities of Newark are exercised over the menace to the public health from the discolored and polluted water. Complaints are received daily by hundreds, and the Board of Health officials have given warning that there is danger of an extensive outbreak of typhoid fever. Already there are many more cases than should prevail, and all are attributed to the poor condition of the water supply.

PASSING COMMENT.

Things that Are Not Exactly News but Just as Interesting.

Herman W. Cramer, a Missouri boy with the troops in Porto Rico, writes of a laundress who has taken the contract to do all of his laundry at $1.20 a month, and says: "She was not pleased with the turndown corners on my straight up collars, and for fear they would not lie down she sewed them."

* * * * *

Excitement is frequently the cause of strange telegrams, as well as of other strange manifestations. A man who had been one of the passengers on a shipwrecked vessel was rescued almost by a miracle. On arriving at a place from which he could send a telegraphic message, he forwarded the following dispatch to his brother: "I am saved. Try to break it to my wife."

* * * * *

Chas. Ulrich, of Fifth street, has complained to Superintendent Adleman, of the trolley road, about the great nuisance of an old car that is being run by his house. The car is especially noisy. Mr. Adleman informed Mr. Ulrich that by using a noisy car, he, as well as other people were able to tell when the car was coming, and in this respect it is a convenience. However, Mr. Adleman expects to take the car off as soon as possible.

* * * * *

An observing Plainfield resident remarked a few days ago that the city is experiencing a steady growth in the building line. He says that there is scarcely a time when there is not at least one new house being built in the city. This does not resemble a mushroom growth that comes and goes. The man who observed this condition of affairs recently took a ride about the city and in almost every section he noticed that new houses are being erected, and here and there vacant spaces are gradually being filled up with substantial houses.

DOES COFFEE AGREE WITH YOU?

If not, drink Grain-O—made from pure grains. A lady writes: "The first time I made Grain-O I did not like it but after using it for one week nothing would induce me to go back to coffee." It nourishes and feeds the system. The children can drink it freely with great benefit. It is the strengthening substance of pure grains. Get a package today from your grocer, follow the directions in making it and you will have a delicious and healthful table beverage for old and young. 15 and 25c.

NEWS OF THE SUBURBS.

THINGS THAT INTEREST SCOTCH PLAINS AND DUNELLEN.

Brief and Terse Observations Gathered by Alert Press Reporters to be Perused at the Supper Table at Your Leisure

DUNELLEN.

(Special Correspondence of The Daily Press.)

Dunellen, July 29.—W. S. Frederick, district clerk of the board of education, has advertised for bids to furnish thirty tons of best Upper Lehigh coal to be delivered before September 1st. Payments for the coal will not be made before December 23d, 1899. The board reserves the right to reject any or all bids, which will be opened at the next meeting of the board.

The ladies of New Market, who are soliciting subscriptions for a new carpet for the First Baptist church, are meeting with excellent success.

William L. Coriell, who was injured in the wreck at West Dunellen last winter, has settled with the Lehigh Valley Railroad Company.

The many friends of Mrs. Frank Fletcher will be pleased to learn that she has nearly recovered from her injuries of a sprained ankle.

John Tingley boasts of having sweet corn nearly eleven feet in height and well eared, some stalks having as many as five ears.

Mrs. Joseph Waglow, of New Market, has accepted a situation in the drafting department at Pond's Tool Works, Plainfield.

The water main at Lincoln has been connected with the main laid from Dunellen, and the water is soon to be turned on.

The boiler has been taken out of the foundry building at Lincoln by the Laire Hardware Company, of Plainfield.

Mr. and Mrs. O. A. Douglass have been entertaining Mrs. Thomas Smith and daughter, of West New Brighton, S. I.

Mrs. Agnes Smith, of New York, has been visiting at the home of her sister-in-law, Mrs. O. A. Douglass.

Mrs. and Miss Eva Suydam are spending a few weeks in the mountains of Northern New Jersey.

Mrs. A. I. Martine has been enjoying a visit from her sister, Mrs. G. Williams, of Baltimore, Md.

Mr. and Mrs. Adam Dealman have had as their guest this week Mr. and Mrs. E. Teel, of Trenton.

Mrs. Mary Thorn, a former resident of New Market, has been visiting Mrs. George Mechlings.

Mrs. Walter G. Clawson has had Miss Suydam as her guest during her mother's absence.

Four new houses are soon to be erected at Lincoln just south of the Lehigh tracks.

Mrs. William J. Winges has been entertaining Miss Lizzie Petereri, of New York.

Mr. and Mrs. Abram C. Bennett are visiting friends in New Brunswick for a few days.

The regular meeting of the board of education will be held next Tuesday evening.

"Lud" Frazee has secured the contract to paint Mrs. H. L. Terry's new house.

The Miss Barrett have been entertaining Miss Edith McArthur, of Passaic.

Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Lake have returned from a visit with friends in Ohio.

Mrs. Ramsey is spending a few weeks with her daughter in Lebanon.

PLAINS AND FANWOOD.

(Special Correspondence of The Press.)

Scotch Plains, July 29—Rev. Mr. Shott led an interesting prayer meeting in the Baptist church last evening. Mr. Shott has just returned from a two weeks' vacation and his people turned out to welcome him home again. Mr. Shott will occupy his pulpit tomorrow. In the morning he will preach from the text: "The Prayer of Asa," and in the evening "Deliverance From Sin."

Miss Reger, one of the corps of teachers in the Public School, is spending part of her vacation with a yachting party.

Ernest Marsh has returned from his outing with the New Jersey Naval Reserves, of which he is a member.

George L. Dunn attended the meeting of the union excursion committee held in Westfield last evening.

Harry and Herbert Lyons, who have been visiting relatives at Warwick, N. Y., have returned home.

Miss Annie Parse, of Springfield, is visiting her uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Stites M. Parse.

Twilight Council, Jr. O. U. A. M., held an interesting meeting in their rooms last evening.

Rev. Mr. Lewis leads the prayer meeting in the Methodist church this evening.

Mrs. George L. Dunn has been visiting friends in Newark.

WESTFIELD

(Special Correspondence of The Daily Press.)

Westfield, July 29.—The route of the fifteen mile road race to be held here Labor Day has been changed. The race will start near the depot on South avenue and finish at the same point. The turning point will be on South avenue near the Fanwood depot.

Martin Welles, president of the Westfield Board of Trade and Improvement Association, has received a letter from Perry S. Heath, first assistant post master general, stating that free delivery cannot be given to Westfield for the reason that the town has neither 10,000 population or does the post office revenue amount to $10,000, either one of these two requirements being necessary before free delivery system can be established in a town.

The suit for damages brought by the Perrine estate against Thomas McCarthy for injury done to trees while Mr. McCarthy was moving a house from North avenue to Spring street, has been postponed and will be tried before Justice of the Peace Toucey and a jury of twelve men at the town rooms Thursday afternoon next.

James Carter, who has been under bail to appear at the next grand jury, was surrended by his bondman, J. R. Roll, yesterday and is now in the county jail at Elizabeth. Carter was arrested in May for fighting and was held with the complaining witness, Joseph Spivey.

The members of the Christian Endeavor Society of the First Baptist church of Plainfield will have charge of the meeting at the Fresh Air Camp Wednesday night.

ROUGH SEAS AT ASBURY PARK.

Many Venture in the Tossing Surf Despite Warnings.

The southeast storm early in the week kicked up an unusually high sea along the Jersey coast Wednesday and Thursday. Notwithstanding Mr. Bradley's bulkheads the turbulent waters broke over their boundary and dashed up to the very edge of the Asbury Park board walk. "No bathing" cards were up at the principal pavilions and bathing houses, but notwithstanding the warning a score or more of venturesome young people were daring the waves at most of the bathing beaches. Numerous accidents, none fatal, but all alarming, occurred.

Two women were rescued at the Fourth avenue bathing grounds yesterday morning and a man was pulled out of the water half dead at Bradley's. Charles P. Williams, an excellent swimmer, who ventured beyond the breakers at Ross's bathing pavilion, was drawn seaward and rescued by the life guards.

B. A. Hegeman, Sr., of Sycamore avenue, left yesterday morning for Cottage City, on the coast of Massachusetts, where he will drink in the sea breezes for a week or more.

TWO MEN DECLINE.

Collectorship of Customs at Burlington Goes Abegging.

The Secretary of the Treasury has sent word to the Representative of the Second Congressional District and the two Senators from New Jersey that the post of Collector of Customs at Burlington is vacant. At any rate, that is the statement made by a high official. Mr. Gardner declares the difficulty to be to find a suitable person for the office. Two persons—Messrs. Whitaker and Billingham—have declined. There are two collection offices in the Burlington Customs District, namely, Trenton and Burlington. The appointment is for the district, a deputy attending to the other office.

There is such trouble in finding a site for the New Brunswick public building that a special agent will again be dispatched there by the supervising architect. He will go there this week.

PARTICULAR MENTION.

Miss Clara Long, of Park avenue, is home after visiting relatives at Somerville.

Mr. and Mrs. John J. Kenney, together with their children and guests, will spend Sunday at Glen Island.

His Life Was Saved.

Mr. J. E. Lilly, a prominent citizen of Hannibal, Mo., lately had a wonderful deliverance from a frightful death. In telling of it he says: "I was taken with Typhoid Fever, that ran into Pneumonia. My lungs became hardened. I was so weak I couldn't even set up in bed. Nothing helped me. I expected to soon die of Consumption, when I heard of Dr. King's New Discovery. One bottle gave great relief. I continued to use it, and now am well and strong. I can't say too much in its praise." This marvelous medicine is the surest and quickest cure in the world for all Throat and Lung Trouble. Regular sizes 50 cents and $1.00. Trial bottles free at L. W. ## Lokal-Nachrichten aus der alten Heimath.

Provinz Ostpreußen.

Guttenfeld. Auf der preußischen Ostbahn in der Nähe von hier wurden zwei Weiber und ein Mann unter der Beschuldigung verhaftet, ein vier Monate altes Kind aus dem Fenster des Wagenabtheils geworfen zu haben. Der Zug hielt an, doch konnte trotz halbstündigen Suchens das Kind weder todt noch lebendig gefunden werden. Die Leute befanden sich auf der Reise von Boston nach Rußland.

Kadinen. Der Kaiser wird höchstwahrscheinlich im September Kadinen wieder einen Besuch abstatten. Es ist bestimmt worden, daß sämmtliche Baulichkeiten in Kadinen bis September beendigt sein müssen. Die Schule, die allerdings bereits ausgebessert ist, soll umgebaut werden, da in dem alten Klostergebäude, worin sie sich befindet, keine genügende Lüftung vorhanden ist.

Provinz Westpreußen.

Langfuhr. Seine diamantene Hochzeit feierte der Rentier Wolff mit seiner Gattin. Der greise Jubilar, früher Gutsbesitzer in Schönau, ist jetzt erblindet. Beide Eheleute sind über 90 Jahre alt.

Stuhm. Eine große Feuersbrunst wüthete hier. Das Manufakturwaaren-Geschäftshaus der Wittwe E. Flatow ist gänzlich, das Kolonialwaaren- und Restaurations-Geschäft des Kaufmanns Maage zum Theil niedergebrannt.

Rheinprovinz.

Aachen. Wegen jahrelanger Plünderung von Eisenbahngütern wurden zehn bisher bestens beleumundete Güterbodenarbeiter verhaftet.

Elberfeld. Die Stadtverordneten von Elberfeld und Barmen besprechen vertraulich die Möglichkeit einer Vereinigung beider Städte.

Krefeld. Der Rheinische Verein zur Förderung des Arbeiterwohnungswesens beschloß die Gründung einer Baugenossenschaft für Krefeld.

Mühlheim. Hier brannte das Geschäftshaus der Wittwe Bruns bis auf den Grund nieder. Die Flammen griffen so rasch um sich, daß drei in dem Gebäude beschäftigte Männer sich nicht mehr zu retten vermochten, sondern verbrannten.

Oberhausen. Bei einem Rennfahren dahier stürzte August Lehr von einem Motordreirad so unglücklich ab, daß er kurze Zeit darauf starb.

Provinz Sachsen.

Erfurt. Als neulich Abends der Wagen des Bürgermeisters Sauerbier aus Ecfstedt bei Vieselbach über die Eisenbahnstrecke zwischen Markvippach und Dielsdorf fuhr, brauste ein Personenzug heran und stieß gegen den Wagen. Dieser wurde vollständig zertrümmert. Die drei Insassen kamen merkwürdiger Weise nur mit Hautabschürfungen davon.

Halle. Hier hat der Schlächter Buttge mit einem Fleischermesser seine Frau und dann sich selbst erstochen.

Naumburg. Eisenbahndirektionspräsident a. D. August Breithaupt ist hier gestorben.

Provinz Schlesien.

Breslau. Die Stadtverordneten beschlossen den Ankauf der alten Börse vom Verein christlicher Kaufleute für 1,000,000 Mark zwecks Unterbringung der städtischen Geschäftsräume.—Die oberschlesische Montanindustrie erklärte sich bereit, zur Errichtung einer technischen Hochschule in Breslau 400,000 bis 500,000 Mark aufzubringen.

Hirschberg. Die reichsgräflich Schaffgot'sche Kameralverwaltung entwickelt einen großartigen Plan, das Riesengebirge durch Anlage elektrischer Bahnen dem allgemeinen Verkehr zu erschließen.

Neiße. Es ist jetzt endgiltig festgesetzt worden, daß der nächste Katholikentag hier vom 27. bis 31. August tagen wird.

Oppeln. Die hiesige Strafkammer verurtheilte den Stadtbaumeister Schönherr wegen Fahrlässigkeit bei einer Bauausführung, wodurch vier Personen getödtet und sechs schwer verletzt wurden, zu 1½ Jahren, den Polier Fautsch zu drei Monaten Gefängniß.

Provinz Schleswig-Holstein.

Kiel. Geheimrath Krupp erweiterte seinen Besitz am Kriegshafen durch Ankauf mehrerer Grundstücke.—Gelegentlich einer Bootfahrt ertranken die Maurergesellen Heinrich Bruhn und Otto Mecklenburg sowie ein Unbekannter, während vier andere Männer gerettet wurden.

Stormarn. Durch ein heftiges Unwetter wurden in mehreren Ortschaften zwischen Trittau und Oldesloe die Rüben-, Korn- und Kartoffelfelder vernichtet. Vielfach ist Ueberschwemmung eingetreten. Auf dem Bahnhof Mollhagen der Schwarzenbeker Bahn schlug ein Blitzstrahl in eine Telegraphenstange, in deren Nähe drei mit Pulver beladene Güterwagen standen. Die Fahne eines Wagens wurde von der niederstürzenden Stange fortgerissen.

THE GOWNS AT BIARRITZ.

Henriette Rousseau Tells What is Worn at the Famous Resort.

If there is a more delightful spot than this old and fashionable watering place, I have yet to find it. The breeze blows refreshingly all day and all night, sweeping down part of the time from the Pyrenees, pungent with the breath of the pines, and the rest blowing in from the sea, laden with the life giving salt spray. The place itself is quaint and old in some parts and painfully modern in others. The most painful parts of the modern portion are the astounding prices put upon everything, especially if the visitors are suspected of being Americans.

The Frenchwomen who come to Biarritz are usually of the wealthiest class, for poor ones or even those of moderate circumstances cannot afford to throw away their money, and the Frenchwoman is thrifty. The most of the nobility have their country seats and there pass the summer, but they try to pass at least a couple of weeks at this delightful spot.

As to the bathing costumes, I will dismiss them at once, saying only that they are so very scanty in material that it is useless to waste time upon them. The Frenchwoman likes an occasion like this and seizes it. Even in Newport no such bathing suits were ever dreamed of.

But, bathing suits aside, there can be no place where there is a more lavish display of fine costumes. Even on the day of the Grand Prix and Vernissage the dresses are not so fine. And here we have variety. There are delicious morning dresses of cashmere, veiling, estiral and popeline d'ete. These are half smothered in lace, with just a few satin ribbons to lighten them up.

The gowns for the early promenade are apt to be of mohair. While mohairs, made as the Parisian modistes only know how to treat this stuff, is a wonderfully attractive gown. It is tailor finished and has no trimming but very narrow white soutache. White braid on the white mohair does not sound much, but it is very charming when seen. The most delicate lavender, the violac and several shades of gray and two or three of pink are all seen in these tailor gowns of mohair.

Perhaps one reason of the popularity of mohair here is that the sea air does not cockle or shrink it, a fault often found with almost every kind of woolen goods otherwise suitable for seaside wear. Gray is and always was a favorite with Frenchwomen. And I think they are the only ones who can seize upon all its possibilities.

Traveling dresses are always worn rather ostentatiously for the first two days, and every lady has at least two. This is done perhaps to impress the people with the fact that the newcomer has not quite decided to remain and does not choose to compromise her position as a traveler until further acquaintance.

These traveling suits are elegance itself. The colors are light and the skirts are close and rather long, but quite simple. The corsages are almost all in a short bolero shaped jacket which can be closed or left open. This always matches the skirt. Some of these boleros are quite plain, but others are very ornate. A regular shirt waist is worn beneath them. Foule is a new weave of wool for tailor and traveling costumes. It is light and springy and does not crush.

For carriages, for afternoons about the parlors and porches and the delightful gardens there is no limit to the beautiful gowns. Silks, crêpes, grenadines, muslins, organdies and no end of lace and chiffons are seen.

White jackets made of a fine felted flannel with a close twill are carried ready to slip on if the sea air grows cool. These dainty little jackets are lined with bright colored taffeta glace.

The dinner dresses are marvels of lightness and elegance and all have that quality described by no other word than chic. Volles, or veilings with satin stripes, are very beautiful. They are made with tunics, the edges of the tunic and that of the skirt richly trimmed with lace, ribbon and all sorts of frivolity in the shape of ruffles, puffs, ruches and gauffering.

One elegant gown of pure white nun's veiling had a scalloped tunic, all the scallops outlined with renaissance lace in ivory color, the edges being finished with a silk fringe. Imagine lace with a silk fringe! It is too rich for common folks.

Grenadine and the delicate fine wool barege are both used to make exquisite creations for evening. These are nearly always all in one solid color or rather tint, for as a rule they are light in color. They are trimmed so elaborately with lace that it is hopeless to try to describe them. Much fringe is used also, and it is always graceful.

White, cream ivory and black lace gowns over slips of colored silk or satin are very fashionable here for evening dress. Also, there is a new shade of lace called ocher, a sort of rich yet dull yellow. This comes in skirt widths, also as flouncing and other widths. It is made up over black taffeta or satin, and thus treated it is of indescribable richness. HENRIETTE ROUSSEAU.

HEAD OF THE W.C.T.U.

MRS. L. M. N. STEVENS SUCCEEDS MISS FRANCES E. WILLARD.

The New President of the Women's Christian Temperance Union Has Been a Crusader for Twenty-two Years—She is Peculiarly Fitted for the Work.

Mrs. L. M. N. Stevens, who is Miss Francis Willard's successor as president of the National Woman's Christian Temperance Union, is a woman prominent in the work. A sketch of her life in connection with the association is of especial interest just now.

In the summer of 1874, when Miss Frances E. Willard went to Old Orchard, Me., to speak on temperance, and to organize a Woman's Christian Temperance Union, Mrs. Stevens, of Portland, Me., was there, assisted in the organization of the society, and was chosen as treasurer, which position she held for three years. She was then elected president and has been unanimously elected to that position each succeeding year. For 13 years she was assistant recording secretary of the National W. C. T. U., for one year recording secretary, and at the Cleveland convention in 1894, was, on the nomination of Miss Frances E. Willard, elected vice president at large of the National W. C. T. U.

Besides filling the offices, leading the women of Maine as president of the constantly growing state W. C. T. U., Mrs. Stevens has accomplished a great work in connection with the charities of her native state, being officially connected with several homes for the dependent classes. She has for years been the Maine representative in the national conference of charities and correction. She was one of the lady managers of the World's Columbian exposition. For three years she was treasurer of the National Council of Women of the United States, and at present she is secretary of the moral reform department of the council.

Mrs. Stevens, from the time of the crusade, has been one of Miss Willard's stanchest, most loyal and helpful allies, and during Miss Willard's enforced absences from this country, and her frequent withdrawals from public participation in W. C. T. U. affairs, it has been her delight and desire to carry out Miss Willard's wishes as far as possible.

It is eminently fitting that now that noble leader has fallen, her official mantle should rest on the shoulders of so worthy a disciple.

Mrs. Stevens is the woman picked by Miss Willard to succeed her in the presidency in the case of her death while she was in office. Her title is vice-president at large. She was elected to the office four years ago, and the office was created at that time at the suggestion of Miss Willard, who insisted that provision should be made for an emergency like the present mournful one.

Mrs. Stevens is a woman suffragist. She always supported Miss Willard in her campaigns along this line. Her husband is with her in this sentiment. Her home is in Dover, and she has lived there for fifty-four years. The Woman's Christian Temperance Union has had her services for about twenty-five years, and the women have learned to know that she means business when she talks. She is a lioness—as a strong, sturdy, powerful-minded, determined man might be called a lion.

Miss Willard had intrusted a great deal of the active work for many years to Mrs. Stevens, and she will step into the place with ample practical experience. The union feels that the first mate has been made captain. She knows the ship and the waters thoroughly, and has one daughter who is with her in the work.

Miss Laughlin's Triumph at Cornell.

The "co-eds" of Cornell have waited long for their triumph. It is no wonder that they looked with rapt admiration upon Miss Abigail H. Laughlin, who vanquished and routed the mere male students who have dared to treat the "co-eds" with disdain, and even with contumely. The young woman not only defeated a 'varsity man in the memorial prize debate, but she has been selected as one of eight out of 2,000 students to make the final test of excellence. She is the only woman who has ever gained this distinction in Cornell. The men do not know what to think about it. The idea of a Sage College student being chosen as one of the eight immortals never entered the head of a male student. They would have thought as seriously about putting a girl on the 'varsity foot ball team or in the crew. Miss Laughlin is a graduate of Wellesley College and a remarkably brilliant young woman. She entered the law department at Cornell and will be graduated this year. She founded the debating society "Agara" at Cornell, and it speedily commanded respect.

Women Doctors in Russia.

One reason why female physicians are so plentiful in Russia is that the country includes among its inhabitants over 12,000 Mohammedans, who do not allow male phys'cians to treat women.

COSMICAL THEORY.

Original Nebulæ Became Condensed by Gravity Into a Globe.

The cosmical theory, which may be said to be the most generally accepted by scientists at the present time, is substantially as follows: That the original nebulae in a vast space of time became condensed by gravity and radiation into a semi-gaseous and semi-liquid globe, and, cooling, caused a solid crust to form upon the surface; steam and other gases which had been thrown off from the seething mass was precipitated in the form of water containing immense quantities of solids in solution, these solids falling to the bottom of the liquid covering of the globe, and thus in ages becoming a solid shell of primmordial rock, internal fires, still burning, heaved the weaker portion of that shell into stupendous mountains by the later actions of the waves and glaciers. Following this, as an inevitable sequence, forms of vegetable life, which could cling to rock and derive their food from the air, grew upon the barren land thus created, and higher vegetable objects grew out of their lower predecessors; after which came higher vegetable life that fed, lived and developed upon the life which preceded it.

Beds.

In England the old four-poster bedstead is still the pride of the nation, says the Sanitarian, but the iron or brass bedstead is beating it out of the field. The English beds are the largest beds in the world. A peculiarity of the German is its shortness; besides that it consists frequently in part of a large down pillow or upper mattress, which spreads over the person and usually answers the purpose of all the other ordinary bedclothing combined. In the tropics men sleep in hammocks or upon mats or grass. The East Indian unrolls his light, portable charpoy or mattress, which, in the early morning, is again rolled together and carried away by him. The Japanese lie upon matting, with a stiff, uncomfortable wooden neck rest. The Chinese use low bedsteads often elaborately carved and supporting only mats or coverlids. The ancient Greeks and Romans had their beds supported on frames, but not flat, like ours. The Egyptians had a couch of peculiar shape, more like an old-fashioned easy chair, with hollow back and seat.

Philippine Hemp.

It is worth noting in regard to the famous hemp produced exclusively in the Phillippines that the plant yields in fact two qualities, with important industrial or commercial adaptations in each case. From the bast or fibrous outer leaf, comes the coarse, strong fibre, which is the best material used for sailcloths and cordage, it being particularly recomended by the fact that it is not easily rotted by salt water. The fibre yielded by the inner stalks is fine and weak, and from it are woven textile fabrics superior in softness and lightness to those made of the best Rusian hemp, these fabrics, however, being seldom exported, as they are bought by Chinese merchants at Manila for local consumption. It is found that, under the best conditions, Manila hemp produces the very large quantity of 3,000 pounds of fibre to the acre, and, though between 5,000,000 and 6,000,000 bales have been exported in the last ten years the industry is admitted to be still in its infancy.

Origin of a Damage Suit

Mrs. Francois Fraciniques, a well-to-do widow of New Orleans, who is highly respected in the French quarter, was made the defendant in a suit, the like of which has never before been recorded in a Louisiana court. She was sued by Baptiste Melun for $2,500, that sum being claimed as damages for a slap in the face dealt petetioner by defendant during the progress of a ball given by the "Orpheon Francaise." Melun's petition recites that while he was acting as the chairman of the floor committee he was set upon by Mrs. Franciniques and his face was violently slapped by her without cause or provocation. "The assault was made," reads the petition, "in the presence of a large number of persons, causing petitioner great humiliation." He assesses the humiliation at $2,500.

Mrs. Franciniques stated that she slapped Melun because he laughed when her daughter fell.

A Strange Collision.

A peculiar motor accident occurred on St. Clair street at the corner of Johns street in Glenville, O. George Beall was a passenger on the Painesville car which passed about that time. Tom Brooks, colored was standing beside the track. As the car passed him, Beall, in some unaccountable manner, fell from the car, and the men collided with great force.

Both men were rendered unconscious by the blow, and when picked up they were found to be seriously injured. Two of the ribs on Beall's right side had been broken, he had received a gash in his face and internal injuries. At the hospital it was stated that his back had also been broken. Brooks received gashes over the right eye and on the right cheek, and his right shoulder was dislocated.

A Mouse Hid in a Strawberry.

Capt. P. B. Thompson of Harrodsburg, Ky., purchased two or three gallons of strawberries a short time ago from a man from Garrard county. They were berries, the smallest being as large as a hen's egg. They were so large that it was necessary to slice them up before serving. When one of the largest was cut open a full-grown mouse jumped out, scaring the cook until she almost fainted.

Unavoidable.

"Which do you love most—your papa or your mamma?"

Little Charlie—I love papa most.

Charlie's Mother—Why, Charlie, I am surprised at you. I thought you loved me most.

Charlie—Can't help it, mamma; we men have to hold together.

Brown's Original Wife.

Brown considers his wife the most original women on earth, because, when he proposed to her, instead of saying, "This is so sudden," she remarked, "Well, Bill, I think it's about time."

RODE IN ICE WAGON

Sensible Washington Woman Discovers How to Keep Cool.

If you had happened to be near one of the largest apartment houses in the northwest quarter of the town one hot summer's day, you might have seen a strange sight, for a gayly tinted ice wagon lumbered up to the door and the iceman handed out, not a cake of ice, but a real live woman, and a pretty woman at that. Great was the astonishment of everybody who saw, but the woman herself wasn't in the slightest degree embarrassed. She had been hurrying all over the town since morning, making ready to go away for the summer, and when at last she stepped into a small shop in a side street to attend to the very last errand on her list she was beginning to be dizzy, and her head ached with the terrific heat till she was on the very verge of collapse, says the Washington Post. The shopkeeper suggested calling a carriage, but she was afraid to wait. Just at that moment an ice wagon drew up to the curb, and the woman—well, a moment later she was sitting on a borrowed stool between two blocks of ice in that wagon. She simply had herself delivered at her own door, and she firmly believes that if she had waited for a carriage she'd have succombed to the heat. The ice wagon, she says, and she doesn't forget to add, her own common sense, saved her life.

Squirrels Take a Bath.

Officer Lovelace made a discovery of some interest at Columbus, O., in reference to the State House squirrels. Every morning, just about daylight, in the extremely hot weather, he noticed a troop of six to eight, sometimes more, of these alert little creatures going down Sate street toward the west on a big telegraph cable. The officer was interested, and concluded to watch them to see where they were going and for what purpose. Eight of the little animals crossed the street from the Capitol grounds, ran nimbly up the big pole which supports the cable, and in a line about five feet apart, as usual, they started west, the officer following at a safe distance so as not to alarm them. When the animals arrived at State street bridge they ran down the pole at the east and, chasing one another down the river bank, plunged in for a bath. After disporting themselves for about ten minutes in the cool water they returned to the Capitol in the order in which they had come, as nearly as the officer could judge.

Our Naturalized Names.

In gaining possesion of Hawaii and Puerto Rico, says a writer in Lippincott's we must expect to add heavily to the burdens already imposed upon us by our geographical names. Hoopsetocmaguntic, Youghiogeny, and other bugbears of childhood will be reinforced by ponderous Spanish titles and by Polynesian aggregations of vowels which will be as hard for us to manage as Polish and Hungarian words bristling with consonants.

How much we shall change the sounds of these additions may be foreseen from what has been done in the past. We have had in such matters as little regard for the limits of component parts as did the German who, on seeing the word lawyer in print, read it la-wy-er. The royal Hawaiian family name, "Ka-meha meha," has in this country generally been turned into Kammy-hammy-hah, and Kalakaua has varied in sound from Kalackaway to something like Calico. The indications now are that our most usual pronunciations of Hawaii will be Hauwaya and Hay-way-eye.

Mule Bests the Police.

An angry mule at Atlanta, Macon county, Mo., put the entire police force of the town to flight recently and killed one horse and severely injured another before it was finally despatched with a club. The mule belonged to an old darky, says the St. Louis Republic. In the morning it lost its temper over something and proceeded to arouse the town sufficiently to call out the police force. During the first assault the officers used brickbats. Then the mule charged and one of the officers of the law saved himself by crawling under a house. The mule had things pretty much its own way for half an hour, but presently the arm of the law reached out and gathered it in.

He Had the Letter.

A hawk had been troublesome to the gamekeepers on an English estate, and, being watched to its nest, was shot and the nest taken, when it was noticed that a piece of paper was woven into the nest. The nest was pulled to pieces and a letter was found, closed, but without a stamp. It had been written by the guard of a train to a friend on the railway, and had probably been blown out of a passing train, but how the hawk came to make use of it cannot be explained, as the nearest railway line is three miles away. Inquiries were made for the man to whom the letter was directed, and it was found that he was dead, a strange coincidence being that his name was Hawke.

Sparrows Eat Stone Chimney.

C. M. Wysong, who lives near Lincoln Court House, W. Va., has had a queer experience with English sparrows. At the norh end of his house he had built a stone chimney. The stone was rather soft, and the English sparrows, hundreds of which are found in that vicinity, soon began an attack upon it. The birds would light upon the top or sides, sometimes by hundreds, and peck away at the stone, until they finally succeeded in picking it to pieces so badly that it crumbled and fell. Why they did so Mr. Wysong can explain only on the theory that the birds used the grains pecked from the rock for digestive purposes.

German Princes Learn Trades.

Hohenzollern princes have always learned a handicraft of some kind. The elder two sons of the present Kaiser have chosen the trade of cabinet maker for their specialty in this respect and are now devoting a certain part of their time to it each day.

Proclamation Concerning Dogs.

Whereas the Ordinance of the Borough of North Plainfield provides that all unmuzzled dogs running at large in said Borough during the months of June, July, August and September shall be caught and impounded and killed if not redeemed by the payment of one dollar within forty-eight hours, and

WHEREAS, the state law provides that any dog not registered with the borough clerk, and not wearing a tag bearing registry number may be killed on sight by any person if found off the owner's premises, and

WHEREAS, at this season of the year wounds resulting from dog bites are particularly dangerous, and many complaints have recently been made by our citizens by reason of the number of unmuzzled dogs running at large in the Borough,

NOW THEREFORE, I, The Mayor of said Borough, do hereby proclaim and give public notice, that the law and ordinance above referred to will be hereafter strictly enforced, and that all unregistered dogs running at large, whether muzzled or not, are liable to be killed, and all registered dogs running at large without being muzzled will be caught and impounded and killed, unless redeemed within forty-eight hours.

Orders to that effect have been given the proper officers, and owners of dogs are hereby given fair warning.

THEY ALL SING TO BABY.

Who shall sing the lullabies
When our little baby cries?

First and best is mamma's strain,
As she sings and sings again,
Sweetest words for babies ears,
Words that quiet all his fears;
"Hush, my darling, lullaby."

Next the wind takes up the song,
As it briskly flies along
By the casement in the night,
Murmuring as in affright:
"Hush, my darling, lullaby."

Then the raindrops coming down
On the quiet, sleeping town,
Dash against the window pane,
And repeat the low refrain:
"Hush, my darling, lullaby."

And the waves upon the shore
Sing the baby's song once more,
Wind and rain and wave and weather,
Sing the baby's song together.

BOOMERANGS.

How to Make Them and How to Throw Them.

Boomerangs are of two kinds—returning and non-returning. The first is called invariably the Australian boomerang because it originated among the natives of Australia, and is used almost exclusively by them at the present day.

Travellers assert that a native will leave his home in the morning armed only with a couple of returning boomerangs, and will come back at night carrying a large number of birds killed with these strange weapons.

The boomerang that comes not back differs little from the ordinary club. It is, however, preferred to-day to the other by the native Australian.

If you care to try your hand at boomerang throwing, it will be well to make them, as they are expensive weapons to try and may be broken before proficiency is acquired.

The boomerang is formed of a bent stick, one side rounded, the other flat. It is necessary to choose a very hard strong and heavy wood, and the best plan is to cut a piece from a natural bend or root of a tree, and to let the curve of the boomerang follow the grain of the wood.

They differ in length from 15 inches to 3½ feet, and in breadth from 2 inches to 3 inches. They should be about three-eights of an inch thick, tapering toward the ends, which may be either round or pointed, while the edge must be sharpened all round. One side must be convex, the other flat, the sharpness of the edge along the convexity of the curve varying in different boomerangs. When thrown, the boomerang travels forward for some distance, and and then generally returns in an ellipse to within a few paces of the thrower. If the boomerang strikes its mark it falls to the ground.

In throwing, it must be grasped at one end, stretched back behind the shoulder and then brought rapidly forward above the head, the inside facing the direction in which it is thrown. It may be hurled upward in the air, or downward so as to strike the ground some distance from the thrower. In the first case, it flies with a rotary motion its shape would indicate, and after ascending a great height, it suddenly returns in an elliptical line to a spot near its starting point.

An Apparent Impossibility.

Give one of the children a piece of paper, in the center of which is a round hole about the size of a penny. Also give him half a dollar and request him to pass it through the hole in the paper. He will give you a look of surprise and claim that it can't be done. you, however, insist that it can, and furthermore you set about to prove it to him.

PASSING COIN THROUGH THE HOLE.

No. 1 is the piece of paper, now folded as seen at No. 2, with the coin between its folds. Crease at each side as seen in No. 3. Take hold of the paper with one hand each side of coin No. 4 and gradually push the coin out. What has been accomplished in folding and creasing the paper was to elongate the round hole so that it would become a long slot, instead of a round opening.

A Good Natured Emperor.

The Emperor of Austria was paying a surprise visit to the cadet college in the Neustadt of Vienna when he entered a classroom and there sat, an interested and sympathetic onlocker.

Suddenly his eye fell on his plumed helmet, which he had left reposing on a bench in front of the head boy in the class. Then he noted that the boy had plucked out a green feather and was handing it around as a gratuitous memento among his schoolfellows.

The Emperor was merciful and merely said: "My young friends, if you want to rob me of my feathers, I would sooner give them to you myself."

Thereupon, amid the enthusiastic applause of the boys, he suited his action to his words. He returned from the cadet examination with "plucked" expressed plainly in his molting crest.

GETTING RECRUITS NOW.

MANY APPLICANTS BUT FEW ARE ELIGIBLE.

Only Three Out of Twenty-five are Declared Satisfactory By Sergeant Ryder—There are More Men Expected Today.

There are many young men of this city who are anxious to fight for Uncle Sam in the Phillipines and they found the recruiting office opened at Caspar's Hotel, East Front street, yesterday a strong attraction. Sergeant W. Ryder, who was in charge of the office, was ready to answer any questions and he looked over the material with a critical eye. There were some twenty-five men who wanted to enlist but only three were declared eligible after they had passed through the superficial examination of the Sergeant.

The Sergeant, in the trim blue uniform of the regular army, proved a popular man as well as a good recruiting officer and the would-be recruits listened with interest to his accounts of service in the army.

Several veterans of the Spanish war wanted to enlist again but their discharges were in Washington and they were necessary. A number of young men under age applied but the requirements in that way are very strict and they could not produce the consents of their parents. Others were under height and lacked the necessary chest development. Some were not quite certain whether they wanted to go or not.

If the outlook is good tonight for more eligible men next week, Sergeant Ryder says that he will remain in Plainfield a week. Otherwise he leaves Monday with such recruits as has secured.

No Right to Ugliness.

The woman who is lovely in face, form and temper will always have friends, but one who would be attractive must keep her health. If she is weak, sickly and all run down, she will be nervous and irritable. If she has constipation or kidney trouble, her impure blood will cause pimples, blotches, skin eruptions and a wretched complexion. Electric Bitters is the best medicine in the world to regulate stomach, liver and kidneys and to purify the blood. It gives strong nerves, bright eyes, smooth, velvet skin, rich complexion. It will make a good-looking, charming woman of a run-down invalid. Only 50 cents at L. W. Randolph's Drug Store.

GUS FABER LEADS FOR M'CUTCHEN CUP.

Finished Second at Park Club Saturday Afternoon.

MANY LADIES PRESENT.

MEREDITH DRYDEN HAD LOWEST NET SCORE FOR THE DAY.

He is Now Second in Contest for the McCutchen Cup on the Links of the Park Golf Club—Most of the Crack Players Were Away—Only One Score Turned in for Buttfield Cup Saturday.

There was an unusual attendance of the fair sex at the clubhouse of the Park Golf Club, Saturday afternoon Many of them played while others accompanied their friends about the course and were interested spectators of the play. There was the usual competition for the McCutchen and Buttfield Cups, but G. W. Faber and the Townsend brothers were the only crack players present and the honors of the day went mainly to the lesser lights.

The course was in excellent condition and the greens were fast. The recent rains left the turf delightfully green and every stroke did not raise a cloud of dust as it did several weeks ago. The threatening clouds that kept gathering over the mountain seemed to promise rain before the afternoon was over but the rain never came while the clouds served to keep of the sunlight.

G. W. Faber was on hand early in the afternoon and played his usual steady game. The first round was done in 51 and the second in 54, making his gross score 104. Meredith Dryden was out again and played in fine form. Dryden has been getting a heavy handicap but his excellent work of Saturday afternoon is likely to reduce it hereafter. He made the eighteen holes in 114 and, deducting his handicap of 22, he had a net score of 92, which was low score for the afternoon. Faber was second with a net score of 101.

William A. Townsend and Morgan T. Townsend paired off together. They played very evenly but the latter managed to win out by two strokes in the gross score. His lesser handicap set W. A. Townsend ahead in the net score. Samuel Townsend, father of the young men, succeeded in beating both his sons. He did the eighteen holes in 131, and his net score of 107 was just one better than that of his older son. Mr. Townsend was third in the day's contest for the trophy.

Mrs. Daisy Elsberg was the only competitor during the day for the Buttfield Cup. She played the nine holes in company with Gifford W. Cooley and finished in 83 which, minus her handicap of 16, gave her a net score of 67. Miss Saidee Mae Howell, her principal rival for the cup, was not present. Unless some of the other young women of the club turn out soon, Miss Elsberg will be the easy winner of the trophy offered by W. J. Buttfield.

W. de la R Anderson was out of town and so did not play. There has been considerable interest in the relative abilities of Anderson and Fred P. Taylor, who have both succeeded in making the eighteen holes in 92. It is to be hoped that they will meet on the links soon and play round together.

The scores turned in for the McCutchen cup Saturday were as follows:

| | Gross. | Handicap. | Net. |
|---|---|---|---|
| Meredith Dryden.... | 114 | 22 | 92 |
| G. W. Faber..... | 104 | 3 | 101 |
| Samuel Townsend... | 131 | 24 | 107 |
| Wm. A. Townsend... | 124 | 16 | 108 |
| Morgan T. Townsend | 122 | 7 | 115 |

The results of Saturday's play made no change in the leadership for the Mrs. C. W. McCutchen cup. G. W. Faber is still ahead, but it is only by the small margin of half a point. Finishing second in the day's play he scored two points for the trophy, giving him a total of eight. Meredith Dryden was third, with 4½ points. His position as first in the day's competition gave him three points, or a total of 7½. If he continues to play as at present he is a very likely candidate for the cup.

Faber goes away this week and will probably not be seen on the links during August. During that time he will undoubtedly lose the lead and only very good playing on his return is likely to take him near the top again.

The standing for the McCutchen trophy and the points scored by the various competitors are as follows: G. W. Faber, 8; Meredith Dryden, 7½; W. de la R. Anderson, 5; Fred P. Taylor, 5; Gifford W. Cooley, 4; Charles E. Faber, 4; E. T. Douglas, 3½; H. D. Hibbard, 3; Aubrey C. Crow, 3; Arthur Peck, 3; Samuel Townsend, 3; Wm. A. Townsend, 2½; Clarence S. Roome, 2½; C. W. McCutchen, 1½; J. T. Scott, 1.

Mrs. George T. Rogers and Mrs. Samuel Townsend presided at the informal tea held in the clubhouse during the afternoon.

CAPTAIN MORRISON HOME FROM MANILA.

He Went There With a Cargo of Coal for Dewey's Fleet.

HIS DAUGHTER WITH HIM.

SAYS AGUNIALDO IS MADE THE TOOL OF OTHERS.

He Had Several Interviews With Dewey and Has Great Admiration for the Hero—Well Versed in the Phillipine Situation—Says the Islands Contains the Richest Ground Known.

After an absence from Plainfield of several months, Captain George D. Morrison returned home last evening, accompanied by his eldest daughter, Miss Agnes Morrison. The Captain and his daughter have been at Manila for several months. They have had a large experience as well as a delightful time. They both return in the best of health and spirits and are carrying a fine coat of tan.

It will be remembered that Capt. Morrison sailed with a cargo of coal from Philadelphia for Manila to be delivered to Admiral Dewey. Before he reached his destination his cargo was discovered to be on fire, but fortunately the coal was saved and delivered all right to the Admiral. The boat was the transport Vigilant and had been in service many years. After an examination it was condemned, and the Captain sold her in Manila soon after the coal was removed from her.

The Captain and his daughter returned home on the transport Indiana, arriving in port last evening at 10:30 o'clock. They had a delightful trip home. Mr. Morrison was seen by a Daily Press representative this morning and he found him brimful of knowledge concerning affairs in the far east. During his stay in the Philippines he had a fine opportunity of learning much about the natives and their condition. He also had several interviews with Admiral Dewey, and is perfectly capable of giving the true state affairs in that part of the country.

Mr. Morrison says that the United States should by all means capture the Philippines as they contain the richest ground known. Anything will grow there and everything shows a remarkable degree of fertility. The Captain is very pronounced in his views concerning Aguinaldo, and thoroughly believes that he is simply a tool being used by some of the more brilliant members of the home cabinet to fight the United States. Regarding this leader Mr. Morrison says that the only real trait he possesses is a cunning that is truly superlative. He is keen, but exceedingly treacherous, and very wiry. He wears no shoes and goes about stealthly trying to shoot United States men. He says that in the opinion of Admiral Dewey, Aguinaldo does not write the proclamations and manifestoes, but they are written by members of the cabinet.

He says that they secure money to carry on the war by extorting it from rich natives. One firm by the name of Barber Bros. has given up thousands of dollars and they are afraid of their lives. They seek protection from this country, bnt ars afraid lest they will be detected in their intentions and be shot down.

Aguinaldo at the instigation of the cabinet put a ten per cent. tax on all exports, but as nothing can be exported this scheme is a dead failure The captain believes that the leader will be shot down or kiled in some way before long, as things are geting too uncomfortably warm for him. He speaks in the loudest terms of praise concerning the United States soldiers and says they are a brave and enduring lot of men.

CALVARY BAPTIST CHURCH DEDICATED.

Services Held all Day Yesterday in the Edifice.

VISITING MINISTERS THERE.

PRINCIPAL SERMON DELIVERED BY REV. MR. CARTER

The Society Started April 27th, 1898, With Twenty Members, 18 Cents in the Treasury and $96 in Debt--Now Own a Handsome Home, Which They Expect to Clear of Debt in Two Years.

The handsome new edifice of the Calvary Baptist church was appropriately dedicated yesterday by the members of the church assisted by several prominent divines from various parts of the State. Services were held morning, afternoon and evening and each one was very largely attended.

In the morning the dedication sermon was preached by Rev. J. T. Carter, D D., of Newark. His text was "The Lord is in His Holy Temple," and he delivered a powerful discourse. He praised the efforts of Pastor Scott Wallace and his flock in erecting such a fine church in so short a time. He spoke about the organization of the church April 27th, 1898, with twenty-six members, 18 cents in the treasury and $96 in debt. Since then the pastor has raised $3,511.18, and the stone church erected and $3,500 has been borrowed for eight years, which the pastor says will be paid back in less than two years. Dr. Carter then went on to say that at present the membership is 318 and constantly growing. The Sunday-school membership is one hundred.

In the afternoon at 3 o'clock a strong sermon was deliverd by Rev. Wm. Burchard, of Elizabeth, whose text was "Accept the Lord Build the House Your Labor is Vain." He spoke of the great mystery of how the members were able to erect such a beautiful church inside of twelve months, and also praised them for their great work. He advised them to put their trust in the Lord and to work onward and forward in the cause of Christ.

Last evening at 8 o'clock the closing service was held when Rev. W. P. Pressley, a returned missionary from Africa, delivered a sermon. He also gave some helpful advice and told each one to be a missionary for Christ. He dwelt at some length on the history of the church, and told all what a grand thing it is to work for the Lord.

There was special music at each service rendered by the combined choirs from the Mt. Olive, Filmore and Calvary Baptist churches, under the direction of William Johnson. Miss Mitchell presided at the organ. The pulpit and platform decorations consisted of potted plants chiefly.

Those who assisted at the various services were: Rev. Wm. Farrar, of Philadelphia; Rev. Mr. Hill, of Newark; Rev. Mr. Scott, of Long Branch; Revs. Johnson and Mitchell, of this city.

The church is of stone with one story and basement finished off in hard wood. The main room is large and comfortable. There is also a gallery and a choir loft. Downstairs is the Sunday-school room. There is also a kitchen and numerous closets and a few small rooms. The contractor was Wm. Smith, and the total cost of the church and ground is $8,000. Rev. Scott Wallace is pastor and the following are trustees and deacons: Spencer Conway, Ferdinand Brown, Mansfield Robison, P. Reid, Hampton Probasco, Cristobal Matten, John Perkins and Spencer Boissieux.

Each one of the members pledged yesterday to give a dollar and about $150 was collected. Dinner and supper was served at the church for the members and visitors, and the following were in charge: Miss Lulu Scott, Mrs. Brown. Mrs. Jackson, Mrs. Emma Brown, Mrs. Dolly Reid, Mrs. Anderson, Spencer Conway and Spencer Boissieux.

The church was fortunate in having the organ and pulpit presented to them by friends. The electric lights were also put in at a nominal figure.

Little Progress Made.

Thus far the committee from the Common Council designated to investigate the feasibility of the city purchasing the plant of the Plainfield Water Supply Company have not been able to make much progress. The work of the committee is not yet fully under way and will not be able to report for awhile.

BOUND BROOK MEN'S EXPERIENCE IN CITY JAIL.

After Two Hours in a Cell, They Spent the Rest of the Night Ridding Themselves of Cell's Other Occupants.

John Herco is a bartender in a Bound Brook hotel. John Daly lives at Gateville and works in Bound Brook. Saturday night they came to Plainfield, met with sundry adventures, spent two hours in the city jail and the remainder of the night in trying to rid themselves of the many legged occupants of the cells who insisted in accompanying them.

Patrolmon Myers says Daly had been drinking too much. Herco agrees with him. Myers told the two young men to move on. There were words and Daly became abusive in his language. Myers locked them both up, as Herco refused to desert his friend.

That was at 11 o'clock. Two hours later some of their friends found City Judge Bunyon and that official agreed to let them out on their promise to appear for trial Monday morning.

This morning Herco was on hand, and Daly came later. Herco told the court of thrilling experiences with the other occupants of the city jail. The young men living in Bound Brook had never heard of the wonders of Plainfield's city jail. They occupied the benches in the cells only to find that they were invaded by the bugs. After the Judge released them they went to a secluded corner in the borough, where they spent the rest of the night assisting each other in the removal of the vermin.

The Judge thought Herco had all that was coming to him and so suspended sentence. As the prisoner departed bidding the court good-bye, Sergeant Kiely socially called out.

"Come again sometime."

"I will not" was the emphatic rejoiner as Herco looked himself over carefully to see if his last brief visit had brought any of the unwelcome guests.

TELEGRAM HAS THE CALL

WORLD AND JOURNAL ARE STILL BOYCOLLED BY BOYS.

The Strike Against an Increase of the Price of the Two Sheets Still Maintained—Few of Them are Sold Here Now.

Hen's teeth are about as scarce as the evening editions of the New York World and Journal. The boycott against these papers in Plainfield has not yet been raised by the half a hundred boys who sell evening papers. There was a rumor Saturday that the strike had been declared off; that the publishers of the evening World and Journal had acceded to the demands of the boys and agreed to sell them papers at half a cent each or 100 papers for 50 cents. This rumor, however, proved not to be true. The newsboys are are not selling the boycotted papers and there is not much liability of their being sold in this city at least for sometime by these boys. As it is estimated that there were nearly six hundred evening Worlds and Journals sold in Plainfield, the boycott against those papers has come to be a serious matter to those papers. The strike has lasted over a week and during that time the strikers have destroyed or prevented the sale of several thousand papers. The strikers have now turned their attention to the Evening Telegram and that paper is being pushed by the boys for all its worth The few Worlds and Journals bought in this city are sold by the regular news dealers, over their counters, as the dealers find it almost impossible to secure boys to sell the boycotted papers on the streets. In consequence of the trouble with The World and Journal the Evening Telegram is being purchased by hundrds of people who formerly bought The World and Journal.

BLOCK SYSTEM COMPLETE.

Pennsylvania Railroad Will Finish the Work Sunday.

The Pennsylvania system of block signalling will be completed on the New York-Philadelphia line Sunday if the present plans of the railroad officials are carried out. This system is automatic and is as near perfection as possible.

It has been in operation from New York to Rahway and from Monmouth Junction to Philadelphia for a number of years, giving complete satisfaction. It is noteworthy that two fatal collisions which the New York division has had in recent years occurred between Rahway and Monmouth Junction. where the old system of hand signalling was in vogue. The signal system is electrical in operation. the current being supplied by storage batteries placed along the tracks.

SOLDIERS' PLOT AT HILLSIDE CEMETERY.

Presented to and Dedicated by Winfield Scott Post.

ADDRESS BY ALEX GILBERT.

COMRAD JACOB JENNINGS FIRST TO BE BURIED.

Impressive Ceremonies Held Sunday Afternoon in the "City of the Dead" by the Local Grand Army Post—Military Salute Fired Over the Dead Hero's Grave—Large Gathering of Veterans and Their Friends.

The soldiers' burial plot, recently presented by the Hillside cemetery association to the local Grand Army Post, was dedicated yesterday afternoon at 4 o'clock by Winfield Scott Post, No. 73. The plot was secured through the efforts of Justice E. D. Moffett, chairman; Captain J. F. Hubbard ann Col. Mason W. Tyler, a committee appointed by the post for this purpose.

The members of Winfield Scott Post, to the number of nearly 80, gathered at the Post's rooms yesterday afternoon. There were also present a number of ladies—principally members of the families of the organization. There were four carryalls used to convey the organization and the invited guest to the cemetery. Later Former Mayor Gilbert, Rev. Dr. A. H. Lewis, Rev. Dr. A. Main, pastor of the Seventh Day Baptist church, and many others drove to the cemetery.

At 4 o'clock when the dedicatory services were held there were fully 500 citizens gathered about the soldiers' plot.

Grouped about the sacred spot were the members of the Grand Army Post and the firing squad while in the centre stood the Hon. Alex Gilbert and Commander Charles Stevens of the Post.

The exercises were highly interesting. They consisted of the formal presentation of the plot to the Post by Former Mayor Gilbert, who is president of the Hillside Cemetery Association. The address was delivered in Mr. Gilbert's characteristic pleasing style. He refered to the lamentable fact that each year the members of the Grand Army were passing away—their numbers were growing less and less and it would be but a comparatively few years when the veterans of the civil war will all have gone to join the innumerable host. As Plainfield had furnished her quota of brave men who sacrificed their personal interests and many of them their lives for this great and glorious country, it was both just and fitting that those who from year to year pass away should have a suitable resting place. The cemetery association had taken this view of the situation and it cheerfully had donated and set apart this plot of ground to be used as a final resting place for the loyal boys who followed the stars and stripes in the dark days of the Rebellion.

Commander Stevens, in a few words, accepted the highly appreciated gift on behsif of Winfield Scott Post, No. 73, G. A. R. Prayer was offered by Rev. Dr. Lewis. This closed the dedicatory exercises.

The members of the Post then prepared to perform the solemn duty of burying one of their dead in the new plot. It was that of Comrade Jacob Jennings, a member of Capt. Hubbar's company of the 30th New Jersey regiment, who died several months ago. The members of the Post marched to the receiving vault and secured the body of their former comrade and placeing it in the hearse escorted it back to the soldiers' plot, where the solemn military burial services were conducted by Edward Morse, chaplain of Winfield Scott Post. The invocation was offered by Rev. Dr. A. E. Main.

The bearers were Comrades Nailor, Walker, Britton, Huntington, Sheppard and Pennington.

Before the casket containing the body was ready to be lowered into the graves, Comrades Andrew Cox, E. D. Moffett and W. W. Corriell, placed upon it sprigs of evergreen, a rose and a piece of laurel—symbolical of immortality, purity and victory. Beneath these emblems, a flag had been spread.

Then when the final words had been spoken—"Earth to Earth, ashes to ashes, dust to dust"—the body of Comrade Jennings was lowered to its final resting place, while the assembled veterans stood uncovered in silence reverently about the open grave.

It was the first burial in the new plot and the ceremonies were most impressive.

Then the firing squad, in command of Albert G. Perry took their places on

DARLING JAILED IN MIDDLESEX

Arrived at New Brunswick Saturday Night.

SHERIFF SHEETS GAVE IN.

CHIEF GRANT TELLS STORY OF THE TRIP AFTER DARLING.

Jersey Officials Started for Home and Then the Sheriff of Fulton County Finally Gave in and Surrendered Darling for $45 Actual Expenses and Fees—People in McConnelsburg Did Not Favor Sheriff.

Wm. M. Darling, who shot Harry Dunham at Dantz's Hotel in New Market four years ago, is now a prisoner in the Middlesex county jail at New Brunswick and will soon be tried for his life. Saturday morning Sheriff Sheets, of Fulton county, Pa., gave up his man and allowed the Middlesex county detective to take him home with him. Chief George W. Grant, of the Plainfield police force, was one of the party that went after Darling. He returned to Plainfield Saturday night after seeing the prisoner safely landed in the county jail at New Brunswick.

To a Daily Press reporter this morning Chief Grant related his experiences and told the details of the trip. He left Plainfield early last Monday morning and joined Detective John F. Ferguson at New Brunswick. Together they departed for McConnellsburg, reaching there late Monday night, after a short stop at Harrisburg to have Gov. Stone, of Pennsylvania, sign the extradition papers for Darling. They called on the Sheriff and County Attorney George Daniels, and the latter officials, after several conferences, refused to give up the prisoner unless paid $250. This, Sheets said, they thought was due for the terrible risk they ran in capturing such a man as Darling at the point of the revolver.

Finding that there was likely to be a hitch, the Jersey officers went to the Fulton House for the night. The proprietor, George Bixroth, was very indignant, as well as all the rest of the townsfolks at the action of the sheriff, and did his best to make things pleasant for the visitors.

By the next morning Sheriff Sheets had raised his price to $300, but finally agreed to compromise for $275. Then Furgeson telegraphed to Prosecutor Voorhees at New Brunswick, telling of the Sheriff's demand. The answer came back to wait for further orders.

Wednesday Voorhees telegraphed Furgeson to meet him in Harrisburg the next day. The detective did as he was ordered and that night both detective and Prosecutor returned to the Fulton county seat. Friday morning they visited the Sheriff again and tendered him his actual fees and expenses amounting to $45. He refused to except less than his original demand and the party of Jerseyites departed for home.

They had just crossed the mountain that borders McConnellsburg when they were halted at a little telephone station and told that the Sheriff had changed his mind and would swap Darling for the $45.

The party returned to the county seat again, settled up the affair with Sheriff Sheets and received his receipt for the $45. Early Saturday afternoon they departed, Darling handcuffed to the detective.

The Chief says that Darling took the whole affair quite coolly. He inquired of the Chief regarding his own family and a number of mutual friends. He talked little, however, during the trip and never a word was said during the whole time about the murder. Darling is somewhat changed in appearance, the Chief says. His face is bronzed with constant exposure to the sun. He has a moustache but his face looks rather thin and hollowed-eyed.

Darling and his escort reached New Brunswick at 4:50 o'clock Saturday afternoon after a quick trip. After seeing the prisoner in his cell, Chief Grant returned to his home.

Entertained the Yongsters.

Dr. Mary D. Hussey, of Arlington avenue, East Orange, formerly of Plainfield, entertained the children from the Judson Memorial church, New York city, yesterday. The large private park adjoining Dr. Hussey's residence was given over to the children and merry making was the order of the day. Luncheon was served in picnic fashion and all sorts of goodies were provided to make the occasion happy.

Wants Her Wages.

Mary Loven, a servant, has brought suit in Justice Moffett's count, against Simeon A. Cruikshank, of Belvidere avenue, for wages alleged to be due. The amount claimed is $40.

CHOOSING A GYPSY QUEEN A BIG HOAX

Clever Work of the Press Agent of the Nomads.

NO ONE SAW HER CROWNED.

BUT FORTUNE TELLING A THRIVING BUSINESS THOUGH.

The Story of Selecting a Queen to Succeed "Snake Mary" is a Gigantic Myth, But a Subtle Ruse for Getting a Big Crowd of People to the Camp So as to Make Money Out of.

Long live Queen Laurel, ruler-elect of Gypsydom. Yesterday she was crowned with a wreath of flowers, which happened to be artificial so they wouldn't fade, as typifying the sovereignty conferred upon her, and now she will await the death of her grandmother, "Snake Mary," before assuming the real responsibilities of the throne. A thousand people traveled from far and near to see the crowning of the young queen. They didn't see it, and even the crowd of Argus-eyed reporters of the New York dailies couldn't manage to find out exactly when it happened. The Queen was there, however, and the visitors were told that they might have the privilege of gazing upon her for the small sum of 10 cents.

The camp of the gypsies is located in the grove of maples on the county road, just beyond the city line and George Thatcher's Road House, "The Maples." The Harrisons were its occupants, but the great assemblage of gypsies from all over the country existed only in the imagination. There were half a dozen wagons, twice as many tents and possibly two score of horses. A generous supply of all varieties of dogs should not be forgotten.

During the last two weeks wonderful reports have been going forth regarding the great congress of gypsies that was to be held at the camp yesterday. It was evidently an event of much importance in the lives of these nomadic tribes. Alas for the reality. The visitors instead of gazing upon the strange and wierd ceremonies of the descendants of Romany found a very ordinary gypsy band or horse traders and fortune tellers, while their new-made Queen, clad in raiment that would drive Worth, the famous Parisian, into nervous prostration, was penned up in a little tent away from the vurgar gaze except on payment of a dime.

If it had not been for the wonderful tales of what was going to happen, it would have been all right. The old queen, "Snake Mary," is certainly a wonderful old woman. Ninety-four years old they say she is and it is easy to believe it. She is very feeble now but retains her memory to a wonderful degree and is remarkably shrewd. She was with her successor, Laurel Harrison, until noon when weakness compelled her to retire to the privacy of her own tent where she could see none of the curious ones that visited the camp. Queen Laurel, the queen elect, is a young women of sixteen years of the typical gypsy type. She was attired in all her finery and looked gorgeous, indeed. Her waist was of a brilliant red while bright yellow ribbons fluttered on every convenient point. They also adorned the skirt of a wonderful plaid. The usual gypsy turban surmounted her dark hair. She is a good looking young woman withal. A huge brooch, large as a "dollar watch," rested on her breast while chains and rings covered her wrists and hands.

She spent the day telling fortunes and being looked at. She had a wreath of flowers, but the Gypsies' statements regarding the time she received it, as her crown, varied materially. At any rate, none of the uninitiated saw the coronation. A small addition to the Harrison band arrived Saturday night. They were four women in the party, famous fortune-tellers all of them, who came to act, so one of the Harrisons said, as ladies-in-waiting to the Queen. Last night they departed with the new Queen, under the charge of Colonel Smith, a famous Gypsy, for Washington, D. C.

There was a host of people who managed somehow to reach the Gypsy encampment yesterday, and they were grieviously disappointed. They wandered about the camp, sat on the side of the road, and visited the neighboring road houses. Some had their fortunes told, and the coffers of the wanderers were increased accordingly.

A new light was thrown on the situation by one of the Harrisons. In conversation with a Press reporter. He

WILL SAIL SEPTEMBER 10.

Three New Regiments Will be Ready to Start for Manila on That Date.

SATISFACTORY OUTLOOK

The 27th, 30th and 31st Will be the First Regiments to Organize For Actual Service.

President Has Sent No Message to Otis Only Those Commending His Work in the Philippines—Colonel Pellit, of Ft. Thomas, Ky., Has Already 1,150 Enlistments.

Washington, July 31.—Colonel Pettit, commanding the Thirty-first regiment at Fort Thomas, Kentucky, has telegraphed to the War Department that his enlistments number 1,150, which is within 200 of the full quota of the regiment. He has withdrawn the recruiting offices and the regiment is being organized for actual service. He says that in about a month he will be ready for the front.

It is said at the War Department that the Thirty-first regiment, the Twenty-seventh and the Thirtieth no doubt will be ready to sail for Manila on the Grant, Sherman and Sheridan about September 10.

The number of enlistments for the Philippine regiments on Saturday was 456, making a total of 7,092.

The following officers have been assigned to the volunteer regiments:

Thirty-third infantry Fort Sam Houston, Texas—Captain Frederick Hadra, assistant surgeon, and First Lieutenant John C. Greenwalt, assistant surgeon.

Thirty-sixth infantry, Philippine Islands—Major F. H. Titus, surgeon Captain George W. Matthews, assistant surgeon, and First Lieutenant Isaac W. Brewer, assistant surgeon.

Thirty-seventh infantry, Philippine Islands—Major F. A. Winter, surgeon, and Captain Thomas B. Anderson, assistant surgeon.

General Greely, Chief Signal Officer, has received a dispatch from Major R. E. Thompson, commanding the Signal Corps in the Philippines, saying that Major Maxfield has laid a cable across Laguna de Bay, from Tagnig to Calamba, the last town to be captured from the Filipinos. This insures uninterrupted telegraphic communication between Manila and the advanced posts of what has been the Filipino country.

Secretary Alger cabled to General Otis saying that there was some criticism of him in the American press, but assuring him that he had the entire confidence of the Secretary of War and of the Administration. So far as known at the War Department the only messages sent by President McKinley to General Otis were those which have been made public, and consisted of commendatory words of the General and the troops in the field for what they have accomplished.

List of Dead in Philippines.

Seattle, Wash., July 31.—The Times prints what purports to be a full list of fatalities in the American army in the Philipines up to July 2. The list was furnished by Fred F. Eitell, a representative of the Manila Freedom, who says he obtained it from the records of the Surgeon General's office in Manila.

The total number of fatalities is 736—23 officers, 699 privates and 14 civilians attached to the army. A remarkable feature of the record is found in the statement that the number of officers killed in battle is out of all proportion to the number of privates killed. On the other hand, fewer officers died from diseases proportionately than privates.

Out of the 23 officers dead, 16 were killed in action, 2 were drowned and 5 died from diseases; of the 699 privates, 294 died of wounds received in action, 9 were killed accidently, 23 were drowned, 7 committed suicide, 106 died from typhoid fever, 89 from smallpox, 47 from dysentery, 28 from pneumonia, 19 from malarial fever and 14 from meningitis. The remainder died from various diseases.

Of the 14 deaths among civilians, 7 were from smallpox and 3 from gunshot wounds received in action.

Uncle Sam Will Resist.

Washington, July 31.—Any effort of a foreign power to interfere in Santo Domingo will be resisted by the United States. Any force to be used will be exerted by this country alone. The Monroe doctrine will be applied to Santo Domingo rigorously. It is not unlikely that other nations will send war ships to Santo Domingo to look after their interests there. German interests in the island, while not of great magnitude, are sufficient, it is said, to justify her in making a show of force. Great Britain, France, Denmark and Holland each have possessions in those waters. Great Britain and France especially, the two great naval powers of Europe, maintain large coaling and naval stations in the West Indies, and have colonies on the South American coast.

Don't Think Dewey Said It.

Washington, July 31.—An interview, alleged to have been had with Admiral Dewey, in which he is made to say that "our next war will be with Germany," and to criticise Germany's foreign policy, created a temporary surprise at the Navy Department and the State Department. The officials of these two departments refuse to believe that the interview is authentic, and do not hesitate to say so.

Naval Cadets Go to Bath, Me.

Boston, July 31.—The Annapolis, the cadet training ship, left the navy yard bound for Bath, where the shipbuilding plant will be inspected. The Bath Iron Works will give a complimentary ball to the cadets.

Italian Embassy Investigating.

New Orleans, La., July 31.—The Secretary of the Italian Embassy, Marquis Romano, has arrived here to investigate the lynching of the five Italians in Tallulah. He refuses to be interviewed.

THE ERIE FLYER WRECKED

Two Persons Killed and Many Cars Smashed to Splinters.

Port Jervis, N. Y., July 31.—Two trains were wrecked on the Erie Railroad as the result of a landslide one mile east of Lackawaxen. At first it was reported that several passengers on one of the trains were killed, but this proved to be unfounded.

An Erie freight train, east bound, which turned over on the westbound track, however, caused the death of the fireman and engineer of a wrecked engine belonging to the westbound Chicago express No. 7, the vestibule passenger train for Buffalo. At least twenty-five persons, the majority of whom were passengers on the express train, also were injured. Three persons still are missing and may be added to the list of dead.

The wreck was preceded by a cloudburst and storm which lasted for two hours. A section of the bank fell on the eastbound tracks directly in front of the freight train. Several trees went down with the rocks and the earth, and the freight cars and engine were turned over directly across the westbound tracks. Sixty freight cars constituted the train, though only twenty-two left the rails, and the wreckage was piled up on the westbound tracks just as No. 7 Chicago express appeared, running at the rate of fifty miles an hour.

The engine of the express train crashed into the wreck, and the baggage car, combination and buffet car and two Pullman sleepers were piled up on the tracks immediately in front of the wrecked freight cars. The first sleeper was split into two parts as a result of the accident, and the passengers were thrown thirty feet down a bank. Fire started at once, and four cars of No. 7 and nine of the freight cars were burned.

Several thieves from Port Jervis, it is supposed reached the scene of the wreck on the relief train, ransacked the clothing of the passengers in the period of excitement. F. View, a millinery decorator of No. 3 West Third street, New York, lost clothing containing $300 in bills and a gold watch. F. S. Kilpatrick of Denver lost $100, a gold watch, a diamond pin and a diamond stud.

A Double Electrocution.

Sing Sing, N. Y., July 31.—The first double execution of criminals that has taken place in New York State in the past five years occurred at the prison here when Michael McDonald (white) and Lewis Pullerson (colored) were put to death in the electric chair, in the presence of Warden Johnson, the selected witnesses, physicians and the spiritual advisers of the condemned men. In both cases the voltage used was a little over 1,700 and death was instantaneous.

Michael McDonald was received in Sing Sing on July 7, 1898, having been sentenced to be executed in the week of August 22, 1898. His case having been appealed, the execution was delayed. McDonald shot to death timekeeper Stephen Titus, on May 4, 1898. The tragedy occurred at Eastman's abattoir, in New York city.

Lewis Pullerson, was received at the State prison on June 27, 1898 and was sentenced to be executed on March 11, and as in the case of McDonald, an appeal to the highest court delayed the execution. He choked to death with a handkerchief Kate Smith, a white woman. The tragedy occurred at No. 327 West Thirty-ninth street, New York city.

Chili's Revenue Increase.

Valparaiso, Chili, via Galveston, Tex., July 31.—The customs receipts for the month of June were 4,162,868 pesos, against 3,595,744 for June 1898. During the first half of this year the customs tariff produced 29,810,340 pesos, which is 2,716,851 more than for the same period of 1898. The commercial situation is greatly improved, and the ground prepared for the immigration of men and capital.

Sends a Yacht to Peary.

New Haven, Conn., July 31.—Word has been received that Benjamin Hoppin, son of Prof. James M. Hoppin of the Yale Art School, has forwarded his pleasure yacht Senta to Greenland as a gift to the Peary relief expedition, which left Nova Scotia a few days ago, to join Peary's party in Greenland. Mr. Hoppin has given his yacht without any restrictions, to be used as far as possible in the exploration in the north and in scientific research.

Fruitless Search For Son.

Newburg, N. Y., July 31.—Adolph E. Goldstein, of No. 155 Ridge street, New York city, was her searching for his son Samuel, fifteen years old. He said his son was hired in New York seven weeks ago by a man who gave the name of Taylor, to work on a farm four miles from this city. Since then he had not heard from the boy, and had become alarmed about him. Goldstein failed to find either his son or Taylor's place.

First Bale of New Cotton for 1899.

Savannah, Ga., July 31.—Savannah has received its first bale of new cotton. The bale came to Albany by express. It reached the port just a day sooner than the first bale for the season just closing, which arrived on July 29, 1898. G. E. Dickerson has the honor this year of receiving the first bale of cotton at a Georgia port, and Messrs. Parker & Co. of Albany shipped it.

Proclamation Concerning Dogs.

Whereas the Ordinance of the Borough of North Plainfield provides that all unmuzzled dogs running at large in said Borough during the months of June, July, August and September shall be caught and impounded and killed if not redeemed by the payment of one dollar within forty-eight hours, and

WHEREAS, the state law provides that any dog not registered with the borough clerk, and not wearing a tag bearing registry number may be killed on sight by any person if found off the owner's premises, and

WHEREAS, at this season of the year wounds resulting from dog bites are particularly dangerous, and many complaints have recently been made by our citizens by reason of the number of unmuzzled dogs running at large in the Borough,

NOW THEREFORE, I, The Mayor of said Borough, do hereby proclaim and give public notice, that the law and ordinance above referred to will be hereafter strictly enforced, and that all unregistered dogs running at large, whether muzzled or not, are liable to be killed, and all registered dogs running at large without being muzzled will be caught and impounded and killed, unless redeemed within forty-eight hours.

Orders to that effect have been given the proper officers, and owners of dogs are hereby given fair warning.

PEACE CONFERENCE ENDS.

Indirect Results Apparently of More Value Than the Report Mentions.

AMERICANS PROMINENT.

English and German Delegates Are Among Those Who Have Not Yet Signed Arbitration Plan.

Representatives of Other Countries Still Waiting for Final Instructions—American Influence in Detailed Work of the Conference Has Been Toward Promotion.

The Hague, July 31.—Whatever the world at large may think of the labors of the Peace Conference, which are now completed, the delegates themselves are almost unanimous in affirming that their accomplishments are far greater and more important than they expected at the outset. Their view is probably justified, if one includes the unwritten and indirect results of their deliberations. The feature of the congress which most impresses many of the members is the removal of many prejudices and misconceptions which more than two months of close and amicable association between representative men of all countries has accomplished.

This will unquestionably prove of greater future value to the United States than to any other country. It is true, as mentioned earlier in these despatches, that there was a feeling at the outset in many delegates' minds that the Americans were almost interlopers in what had heretofore been regarded as exclusively European questions. This feeling had entirely disappeared before the American delegates themselves raised the point a week ago that the United States must decline to accept the proposed duty to volunteer friendly offices in quarrels between European countries. Moreover, America is not only fully recognized as a great new factor in the international situation, but her delegates have commanded greater influence during the past six weeks of the session than those of any other country.

It is a curious but significant fact that nothing added so much to the American influence in this parliament of the world than the advent of the American flag in the Far East. It has been manifested again and again in indirect ways to the United States delegates that the appearance of American authority on the other side of the Pacific has won recognition and respect from the other great powers such as no amount of internal progress and prosperity would have accomplished. The Philippine question has of course been discussed, but never in any line except a thorough execution of the present policy. The European statesmen at The Hague simply do not recognize the possible existence of any other policy and would be extremely astonished if the opposition to the energetic establishment of American authority in the islands should be seriously considered.

The American influence in the detailed work of the conference has been toward the promotion of the arbitration proposal in a permissive direction and of any steps toward a reduction of the restrictions sought to be imposed upon the rules of war. They took the same attitude on nearly all points as the British delegates, and have been opposed by a majority of the delegates on the project which the United States most strenuously advocated, the neutrality of private property at sea.

It is undeniable that an immense amount of hard work has been done by all the members of the congress. In this respect the conference has disappointed all expectations. It was supposed that with the elimination of the question of the reduction of armaments the other business would be easily disposed of, but the contrary has been the case. Most of the members are anxious for a much-needed rest. Of the American delegates Ambassador White goes to Hamburg, Capt. Mahan and Capt. Crozier return to America. Mr. Holls visits M. d'Estournelles of France and Mr. Low travels on the Continent for a month.

Before leaving the country the American delegates will send a beautifully bound and artistic book relating to the solemnities over the tomb of Hugo Grotius at Delft on July 4, which were organized by the American deputation, to the Queen and the Queen Mother. Another copy will be presented later to President McKinley.

Yellow Fever in Soldiers' Home.

Newport News, Va., July 31.—There are thirty cases of what is believed to be genuine yellow fever in the National Soldier's Home near Hampton, and three deaths from the disease have been reported. There were several deaths at the institution but it cannot be stated that all of them were caused by yellow fever.

More Rain in Kansas and Nebraska.

Atchison, Kan., July 31.—Reports received at the Missouri Pacific offices indicate that the rain was general over southern Nebraska and northern Kansas. It was a steady downpour, lasting six hours in most places, and the first in two weeks. The rain fall was two inches in some places, and has almost insured a record-breaking corn crop.

Mrs. A. A. Rogers Hurt in Runaway

Worcester, Mass., July 31.—Mrs. A. Y. Rogers of New York was seriously injured in a runaway down Death Hill, Barre, and is unconscious at the Hotel Barre, where she was spending the summer. The horse ran with a trap containing several persons, and Mrs. Rogers was struck in the back of the neck as she fell. The extent of her injuries is not known.

To Take Census in Hawaii.

Washington, July 31.—Alatau T. Atkinson, an editor on the Honolulu Star, has been designated by Census Director Merriam as special agent in charge of the census in Hawaii. He had charge of the Hawaiian census in 1896.

MR. REED LEARNS MUCH

Says He Views French Nation With Wonderment.

London, July 31.—Thomas B. Reed has greatly enjoyed his run on the continent. Mr. Reed says: "I spent three weeks in Brussels, and was there in the recent acute crisis. Belgium has yet other crisis to meet, but her tremendous resources will enable her to come out on top. In Berlin I met many leading statesmen. One learns much from such men, and obtains a point of view totally different from that of America.

"I found everywhere on the continent evidence of a continued and growing good will in the best circles, and among those whose opinion every American values. I spent a month in Paris, and watched the French and the French constitution with wonderment. The infinite wit of the French, with the casual view they take of things, which we Anglo-Saxons hang to with serious tenacity, make them a most fascinating study. Naturally, I cannot bray opinions of home politics. The United States and the Administration are now tackling a field of foreign politics never presented to or dealt with by any former Administration. Time will straighten out this tremendous problem presented to us. All I can say is that we will solve it well and honorably."

Trolley Car Runs Away.

Spring City, Pa., July 31.—A trolley car left Phoenixville on the Montgomery and Chester trolley line loaded with seventy-four persons. Over half were injured. All went well until the car reached the curve at the corner of Main and Walnut streets, when the motorman lost control of the car and it shot down the steep incline at a rapid rate. When nearly opposite the grocery store of James Nodlit the car left the rails and at a rapid gait shot off the street obliquely across the street dashed into the side of the store of Mr. Nodlit. The car was wrecked and the building somewhat damaged, and the excited passengers were hurled in all directions.

Future of Dawson Unpromising.

San Francisco, July 31.—A close estimate places the amount of gold brought down by the steamer St. Paul, from St. Michaels at $500,000, of which one-half belongs to the Alaska Commercial Company, the rest being divided among several mining men. One of the fortunate miners is F. C. Day, of Newark, N. J. The usual conflicting stories regarding the outlook at Dawson and prospects at Cape Nome are told by the passengers. H. J. Dignin, of Rochester, N. Y., who has been in Dwson for two years, has sold out his claims and says that the future of that section is not promising.

An Unpopular Chief of Police.

Havana, July 31.—The public demonstration against Senor Cardenas, Chief of Police, which was to have been made Saturday night by his political enemies, who sought to force his resignation, was prohibited by Gen. Ludlow upon the ground that it would be prejudiced to the police authority. A political meeting was held last night at which the enemies of Cadenas denounced him.

Got $500 For Saving a Boy's Life.

Bald Mountain, N. Y., July 31.—George H. O'Rouke, clerk of the Bald Mountain House, was made the hero of a gallant act. The son of Josiah E. Browne of New York had fallen into the deep waters of the lake and had twice sunk when O'Rouke plunged in and brought him safely to the shore. Mr. Browne gave his son's rescurer a check for $500.

Good Prices for Kipling Works.

London, July 31.—At Sotheby's auction room a defective copy of Kipling's "Echoes" was sold for £17. A copy of his "Schoolboy Lyrics," printed when he was 18 years old, brought £90, and a complete set of the United Service College Chronicle, of which Kipling was the editor, and which contained his articles, brought £101.

Assistant Secretary Leaves Newport.

Newport, R. I., July 31.—Assistant Secretary of the Navy Charles H. E. Allen visited the flagship Indiana and the training station, being received at both places with the salute due his rank. He afterward left for New York on the despatch boat Dolphin. The cruiser New Orleans, ordered to Santo Domingo, has started on her voyage.

Will Entertain Men Behind Guns.

Bar Harbor, Me., July 31.—Admiral Sampson's fleet of nine ships will arrive here on August 4 for a stay of six days. A reception will be given for the fleet officers by the Reading Room Club on August 9. W. E. Dodge, of New York will entertain the men behind the guns.

Woman Dies After a Dance.

Long Branch, N. Y., July 31.—Mrs. Kate Cohen, 42 years old, died suddenly at the Ocean House. She had been dancing in the ballroom and had stepped to the front porch when she was stricken. She died in a few minutes. Her death was due to heart disease.

New Yorker Hurt in San Francisco.

San Francisco, July 31.—Z. E. S. Bowman of New York slipped on the pavement, while alighting from a Market street car and fell heavily, breaking his right ankle. He was treated at the Harbor Hospital and removed to St. Luke's Hospital.

WANT WHITE MAN IN OFFICE

South Carolina People Object to a Negro Postmaster.

Columbia, S. C., July 31.—Senator McLaurin is to head a delegation from Florence to President McKinley, to enter a protest against the Post Office of the city being turned over to the Rev. Joshua E. Wilson, colored, the appointee. Mr. Wilson has twice before held the office, giving satisfaction to the business community, but his recent appointment has caused protests, with threats. In accepting the office he runs great personal risks.

A massmeeting of the citizens of Florence was held at which Senator McLaurin was invited to be present, and he agreed to be one of the delegation to urge on the President the policy and propriety of revoking the appointment of Wilson. The argument that Senator McLaurin will make will be that when in former years Wilson was Postmaster, Florence was an unimportant town with negroes largely in the majority. Since then it has become a railroad centre, is the chief town in the eastern part of the State, and has a largely predominant white population. The people are offended at the appointment of a negro when there are white Republicans who would be acceptable.

The Lake City tragedy, that town being not far from Florence, will be recalled, and it will be declared that while the substantial business men of Florence would not encourage violence, yet the life of a negro postmaster would not be secure under the circumstances, and no means of protecting him can be devised.

Dynamite Plan Frustrated.

New York, July 31.—In the arrest of F. J. Curran, an ex-convict, recently discharged from the Second Avenue Railroad, the police believe they have frustrated a plot to destroy the First avenue power house at Ninety-sixth street and to blow up cars and kill innocent passengers. Dynamite was discovered in Curran's pockett, and ten pounds of the explosive, together with a dry battery, coils of wire and clockwork, evidently arranged to set off a mine, were found in one of his two homes. He has been shadowed for a week, and the arrest was made to prevent a much feared catastrophe.

Orders the Abatement of a Nuisance

Albany, N. Y., July 31.—Gov. Roosevelt has issued an order which calls for the abatement of the nuisance that exhists at the Udalia Kilns, Catskill, which plant is managed by the Eastern Paving Brick Company. Two weeks' time is given to abolish said nuisance. The Governor on May 1 last directed the State Board of Health to investigate the alleged nuisance. In its report the board said that the kilns emitted foul smells and odors and that there was a great and unnecessary noise made in running the machinery of the plant.

Guns for the Kearsarge.

Newport News, Va., July 31.—The last of the big guns for the battleship Kearsarge reached the shipyard from the Washington Gun Foundry and the main battery of the ship is complete. The fourth 13-inch gun and the other two 8-inch guns arrived with the last piece of 18-inch armor for one of the turrets. The ship now has aboard the two forward 13-inch rifles and one after 8-inch rifles. The guns of the secondary battery will probably be put on at the New York or Norfolk Navy Yard.

Judge Day Recovering.

Washington, July 31.—It will be gratifying to the many friends of Judge William R. Day, who is sojourning in Jackson County, N. C., to learn that he is regaining his health and strength. In a letter to Chief Clerk Michael of the State Department he says: "I am glad to say my health is considerably improved here, and I expect to return to Canton in the fall in good condition."

Mr. Hobart Gives a Clambake.

Long Branch, N. J., July 31.—A notable clambake was given at Green Gables, Pleasure Bay, by Vice-President Hobart. Mr. Hobart was accompanied by his wife and son and the guests included Gen. and Mrs. Russell A. Alger, Fred Alger, Mr. and Mrs. Hobart Tuttle, former Secretary of the Interior C. N. Bliss and Mr. and Mrs. Edward A. E. Walton of Monmouth Beach.

Neglect of South American Trade.

Boston, July 31.—B. F. Loomis, the United States Minister to Venezuela, who is home on a sixty days' vacation, talked on trade conditions. Mr. Loomis is surprised at the lack of push into the South American field. He cites as an example the exhibition of samples at Caracas, established for the very purpose of showing foreign buyers our goods.

Brigands Alarm Canton.

Hong Kong, July 31.—Brigandage and blackmailing have become so rampant in the neighborhood of Canton that silk merchants have been obliged to notify foreign buyers that they probably will be unable to fulfill their contracts, owing to the insecurity of transportation.

30 Days for Cutting off Ox's Tail.

Matteawan, N. Y., July 31.—C. Hadden, a young man employed by Sherman Haight, a farmer at Fishkill, was arrested on the charge of cutting off the tail of an ox belonging to his employer with a dull knife. Justice Dean sentenced him to thirty days in Poughkeepsie jail.

Reducing Its Capital.

Albany, N. Y., July 31.—The Holland Torpedo Boat Company has filed a certificate of reduction of its capital stock from $1,000,000 to $50,000. The amount of the company's debts and liabilities is $20,000.

Sloane is Homeward Bound.

Liverpool, July 31.—Tod Sloane, the American jockey, sailed for New York on board the Cunard line steamer Campania.

Phipps Nominated for Assembly.

Albion, N. Y., July 31.—The Republicans here have nominated William W. Phipps for the Assembly.

BOYCOTT AT CLEVELAND.

Cars of the Big Consolidated Company Are Said to Be Poorly Patronized.

STRIKERS ARE JUBILANT.

Merchants, in Fear of Losing Trade, Yield to the Request Made by the Union Men of the City.

Business Men of All Classes, Refuse to Sell Goods to Those Who Patronize the Big Consolidated Lines—Far-Reaching Effect of Strikers' Latest Move.

Cleveland, July 31.—Now that order has been practically restored within the city the street railroad strike has resolved itself into a general boycott of the Big Consolidated Company and everybody who rides upon its cars. Apparently the strikers have the sympathy and active co-operation of all the labor organizations in the city, and not only are merchants being punished for riding on the tabooed cars, but they are warned against selling goods to persons who do ride, on threat of losing the trade of union men. Instances are given in which druggists have refused to sell medicine to persons who were accused of patronizing the Big Consolidated, and physicians have been boycotted for riding on the cars while going to see their patients.

The boycott is most severe on the small dealers who do business on streets that are populated largely by union men and their sympathizers. A number of these merchants have published advertisements offering rewards ranging from $25 to $500, for evidence that they or any of their clerks or relatives have ridden on the cars since the strike began, and a number of communications have been sent to the papers by physicians, grocers, butchers and others, protesting their innocence of the charge of having patronized the railroad company.

As yet the big retail merchants have not felt the effects of the boycott severely, though it is said some of them have been requested to forbid their clerks to ride on the cars.

Thousands of working people are going to and from their homes in 'buses of every description, from huckster wagons to tally-hos, and in certain sections of the city the cars run with few passengers.

The boycott of the troops aroused the ire of Adjutant General Axline, who declares that there is a State law to punish persons who interfere with the militia. There is one section of the statutes which provides a maximum penalty of $1,000 fine and six months' imprisonment for every person who tries to persuade or discourage a member of the National Guard from responding to a call for riot duty. General Axline says the boycott and the threat of certain employers to put on the blacklist those employes who turned out with the militia are covered by this law, and he threatens to institute prosecutions against dealers if the boycott is continued.

Out on Quincy street boycotting tactics are being worked with the result that families whose members have been riding on cars are unable to buy anything at the stores along the line. The storekeepers have entered into the plan of campaign with a willingness that in many cases reaches the point of enthusiasm.

A committee of men, who said that they had the best interests of the Big Consolidated strikers at heart, called on one of the biggest retail houses in Cleveland, and asked the management to decline to sell goods to persons who ride on Big Consolidated cars while the strike is on. This same committee visited other downtown merchants, it is said, with a like request.

The Williams & Rodgers Co., one of the biggest department stores in the city, was notified that one of its employes had been riding on a Big Consolidated car. The Company replied by issuing an order to its employes instructing them not to ride on the cars of the company. May & Co.'s employes also refrain from riding on the Big Consolidated street cars.

Harry Decker & Co., dry goods merchants of the west side, had an experience that illustrates well the situation. Members of this firm persisted in riding in the street cars, it was said, and the result was that most of their trade left the house, and Mr. Decker sent $100 to the strikers' Executive Board asking them to call the boycott off.

Creamer Saved From Drowning.

Centre Moriches, L. I., July 31.—Dr. Joseph M. Creamer of 122 Tompkins avenue, Williamsburg, had a narrow escape from drowning in the surf here. He was warned not to go beyond a certain point, but before he realized it he was well out in the water and unable to get back. His distress was noticed from shore and Life Saver C. P. Cartwright put out and rescued him with great difficulty. Dr. Creamer rewarded his rescurer handsomely.

Paralyzed by Lightning.

Babylon, L. I., July 31.—Mrs. Sidney Van Nostrand, wife of the proprietor of the Oak Island Club House, situated on the outer beach, is suffering from paralysis of the lower limbs as a result of being struck by lightning during the storm of Thursday night. The physician who is attending her says she may recover, but it will take long treatment and great care.

Will Help the Anti-Trust Conference

Austin, Tex., July 31.—Gov. Sayers has received a letter from Gov. Lon V. Stephens of Missouri saying that he is in favor of the anti-trust movement, and will give all the aid he can to make the proposed conference of Governors and Attorney-General to be held in St. Louis a success.

Goodrich to Command the Iowa.

Washington, July 31.—Captain C. F. Goodrich has been detached from command of the cruiser Newark and ordered to assume command of the battleship Iowa on September 1, relieving Capt. Terry, who is ordered home on waiting orders.

When You Are Away

For a week, or a month, or the whole summer, there is nothing more welcome than the news from home. There is only one way to get this news in the right shape, and that is by having The Daily Press sent to you at your vacation stopping place. When leaving town for a season be sure to order The Daily Press to follow you by mail. The address will be changed as often as desired. Ten cents a week will cover all expenses.

Horse traders believe that there are excusable lies, and as the Gypsies are the highest and the most expert in the profession of "swapping" nags it is perhaps no wonder that the decendants of Romany have filled the public mind with weird and romantic tales of the choice and coronation of a Queen of their clan to succeed "Snake Mary." We had always supposed that New York possessed the champion "press agents" of the world, but since Silas D. Drake, of woman's suffrage fame at Lincoln, and more recently the Harrison tribe of nomads have worked their wonderful stories off on an expectant public, it would seem that if there are any medals to be presented for promoting publicity without money they should come to this particular section.

The Boston Hearld, discussing the work of the conference at The Hague, says of the arbitration resolution: "It is, therefore, a genuine surprise that the statesmen composing this conference, whose qualifications and training nobody will venture to sneer at, have agreed that such a tribunal is immediately needed, and further, have agreed upon a form of constitution and a method of procedure that they consider suitable and operative. When all the circumstances are considered, this work, in its completeness, is a marvelous one."

Rev. Mr. Shott, who is engaged in the work of reforming Scotch Plains of its sin and immoralities, has opened a place in his Citizens' League for the women, giving to those who will lend the moral force of their names and advice the position of honorary members. Probably he thinks that a double edged sword—one masculine and one feminine—will cut a greater swath.

Admiral Dewey shows himself to be a man possessed of extraordinary common sense when he makes the statement that "I long ago gave up denying or affirming newspaper reports." If the Admiral was to deny or affirm the various things the sensational newspapers attribute to him he would be kept pretty busy at that practice alone.

The 4,500 medals authorized by the Legislature—for which $5,000 was appropriated—for the volunteer soldiers of the State who enlisted for the Spanish-American war, will be delivered in a few days. They will be sent to the commanding officers of the regiments, who will distribute them to the soldiers about the middle of August.

"Summer politics" is generally accepted as a synonym for gossip that is as far from the actual truth as it is is possible to get. The statement that "Farmer Orator" James E. Martine may be a candidate for the Assembly in the Democratic county convention is a very flagrant case of "summer politics."

PASSING COMMENT.

Things that Are Not Exactly News but Just as Interesting.

A Daily Press reporter in conversation with a number of the local milkmen has learned that they will all welcome the adoption of an ordinance giving the Board of Health power to inspect their dairies. They claim that it will not only be a good thing for the people who use milk, but a good thing for themselves. However, they would like to have embodied in the ordinance a clause fixing the price of milk so that one dealer cannot undersell or over charge for the commodity. They claim that the prices are often cut to such an extent that it is impossible to furnish the best of milk for the price. They would suggest that the price be made six cents the year round instead of three, four, six and eight cents as is now the rule.

SOLDIERS' PLOT, ETC.

either side of the new made grave. At the sound of the earth falling upon the rough box holding the casket containing the body of the dead soldier, the firing squad surrounding the grave fired three volleys—the military salute to the dead.

With the echo of the departing shots came the bugle recall, sounded by Dr. Berg, who stood in the grove a short distance from the soldiers' plot. It was the soldiers' "good night" to a departed hero, whose body was being laid at rest to await the sound of the great reveille on the judgment morn.

Following are the names of the members of the firing squad: David R. Weaver, S. C. Milligan, Alexander Sargeant, Israel Compton, James Baglin, John Emmons, John T. Finley, Preston B. Goodfellow, James M. Lewis, Simon Braider, Edward Devine, C. D. Pope.

THINGS THAT INTEREST SCOTCH PLAINS AND DUNELLEN.

Brief and Terse Observations Gathered by Alert Press Reporters to be Perused at the Supper Table at Your Leisure

DUNELLEN.

(Special Correspondence of The Daily Press.)

Dunellen, July 31—The new house being erected by Harry L. Terry, on Main street, is well under way. The timbers are all prepared and it is expected that the framework will be put up today. The house will be one of the hadsomest on the street when completed.

Belle, the five-year-old daughter of Isaac Stites, the borough blacksmith, while swinging in the hammock at the home of her parents on Church street last Friday afternoon, sustained severe bruises by falling from the hammock. Dr. Brakeley was called to dress the child's injuries, which are not considered dangerous.

Complaint is being made that the Watchung Water Company, after laying their pipes, have left the streets in a bad condition. The citizens are asking why the street committee does not make the company comply with the agreement made with the borough officials.

Former Postmaster Charles Coriell has received an order from a New York house for 500 steamboat fenders. The fenders are being prepared near Mr. Cole's coal yard and will be shipped at once to their destination.

The Call office is being moved to the rear of the lot, where a cellar has been excavated for use as a press room. Some other improvements will also be made to the building.

Phillip Smith has been visiting Rev. Joshua Mead, a former pastor of the M. E. church, of this borough, but who is now living in Hoboken.

Postmaster Dealaman has a small farm for sale seven miles from Plainfield, near Warrenville.

Walter Bodine, an employe of the Central Railroad, is enjoying a well-earned vacation.

Robert Craig and John Beekman are anticipating taking a trip to Ocean Grove this week.

J. F. Seaman, of Waterford, Conn., has been visiting his parents on Rock avenue.

Mrs. H. L. Terry and daughter Helen, have been visiting at Glen Island.

Mrs. James McElvare has been visiting her parents at Monsey, N. Y.

PLAINS AND FANWOOD.

(Special Correspondence of The Press.)

Scotch Plains, July 31.—Miss Nancy Wade has returned from a two weeks visit with her aunt, Miss Jimerson, at Lyons Farms.

John Miller who has charge of the electric lights through the village, is on track of the parties who have been breaking the electric lights lately in the village. Mr. Miller has traced the matter to a couple of Plainfield young men who have been in town a great deal since the trolley opened.

The trolley handled about the usual number of visitors to the town Sunday. Some came to walk about and get a view of the town, while others return in the same car, simply coming for the ride.

Scotch Plains was well represented at the Gypsy camp on South avenue yesterday, but those who went expecting to see the large council which had been advertised to be held were disappointed.

Mrs. F. W. Westcott and daughter have returned from a pleasant outing with Mr. and Mrs. Gilmour, at Highland Beach.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Grant were the guests Sunday of Mrs. Grant's parents, Mr. and Mrs. T. M. Paff, Sr.

Mr. and Mrs. O'Melia, of Mountain avenue, entertained relatives from New York Saturday and Sunday.

The Fanwood station is receiving a new coat of paint which will greatly add to its beauty.

Mrs. George H. Lyons has returned from a week's stay with relatives in New York State.

Mrs. James Reitley, an old resident of Washington Valley, is quite ill at her home.

Samuel Messler and family, of Rahway, spent yesterday with relatives in town.

Mrs. John R. Haskard entertained relatives from Elizabeth yesterday.

Miss Bella Mercein spent yesterday visiting her sister in Plainfield.

WESTFIELD

(Special Correspondence of The Daily Press.)

Westfield, July 31—Mrs. Eliza A. Falyn, widow of the late Thomas Falyn, a well known resident of Union county, died at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Edward C. Sanford, of First street, Sunday morning after a twelve days' sickness of heart failure. Mrs. Falyn was for thirty-four years a resident of Cranford and was at Westfield on a visit at the time of her death. She was the mother of Mrs. Sandford and Mrs. John T. Cox, of Westfield, Mrs. Joseph Allen, of Cranford, and M. C. Falyn, of Stockton, Cal.

The Cranford baseball team were defeated by the team from the O.N.T. Athletic Association, of Newark, Saturday afternoon in a ten inning game by the score of 6 to 4.

Millions Given Away.

It is certainly gratifying to the public to know of one concern in the land who are not afraid to be generous to the needy and suffering. The proprietors of Dr. King's New Discovery for consumption, coughs and colds, have given away over ten million trial bottles of this great medicine; and have the satisfaction of knowing it has absolutely cured thousands of hopeless cases. Asthma, Bronchitis, Hoarseness and all diseases of the Throat, Chest and Lungs are surely cured by it. Call on L. W. Randolph, Druggist, and get a free trial bottle. Regular size 50c. and $1. Every bottle guaranteed, or price refunded.

WOMAN'S MORAL FORCE

REV. MR. SHOTT SEEKS IT IN SCOTCH PLAINS CRUSADE.

Purposes of the Citizens' League Described in the Constitution Distributed to Baptist Congregation Yesterday.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Scotch Plains, July 31.—Rev. G. N. Shott, pastor of the Scotch Plains Baptist church, yesterday celebrated his return from his annual vacation by making an explanation of the purpurposes of the Citizens' League, of which he is president, and urging that members of his church asssociate themselves with the organization, which has been started to reform the morals of the place. Copies of the constitution of the League were distributed among the audience. The objects of the League are described as follows:

"The objects of the League are to eradicate vice and immorality, and to employ every legitimate means to compel obedience to law. The League is not instituted in the interests of any political party, nor individul, but solely to promote law and order, and the highest good of our communities."

The membership of the League is divided into two classes—active and honory. The latter class is to be composed of women, who will be asked to lend their names and moral force to the movement and to participate in the proceedings of the meetings of the League, but not to assume any of the work that would tend to subject them to embarrassments of any disagreeable sort. Rev. Mr. Shott says that he has plenty of volunteers for this class of work.

During one of his sermons yesterday Rev. Mr. Shott took occasion to state that the report published in the Plainfield News, saying that the citizens were finding themselves unable to cope with the difficulties they had undertaken, and had called on Westfield officers to assist them, was totally untrue.

FUNERAL OF H. JOSEPH WHITING.

Services Were Conducted by His Former Brooklyn Pastor.

The funeral services of the late H. Joseph Whiting were held from the home of his son-in-law, Henry A. McGee, of Orchard place, Washington Park, Saturday afternoon at three o'clock. Rev. Dr. Henderson, of the Simpson M. E. Church, of Brooklyn, of which Mr Whiting was a member, officiated at the service. The bearers were Clifford A. McGee, Harry L. McGee and Raymond A. McGee, of Washington Park, Ralph Whiting and Irving Whiting, of Bound Brook, all grandsons, and Harry Bailey, of Bound Brook. During the service there were several hymns sung by a quartette composed of Mr. and D. E. Titsworth and Mr. and Mrs. L. H. Bigelow, Jr. Interment was at the Bound Brook cemetery.

No Baby Parade in Asbury Park.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Asbury Park, July 31—"Founder" Bradley has announced officially that there will be no baby parade in Asbury Park this summer. Mr. Bradley said that the work connected with the annual pageant was too great for his nerves. The announcement is received with general regret. Many mothers had already prepared stiking and expensive feature for this annual march of the infants.

Trolley Car Jumped the Track.

One of the trolley cars cars jumped the track at the corner of Watchung avenue and Fourth street yesterday forenoon, but fortunately no damage resulted. Conductor Jesse Hatfield succeeded in getting the car back on rails again.

To Reapply for Franchise.

One week from this evening the Common Council will meet in regular session, and it is expected that the Plainfield Street Railway Company will petition for a franchise to operate a trolley on Arlington avenue.

Provinz Westfalen.

Münster. An der hiesigen Baugewerkschule werden mit dem Beginn des Winterhalbjahres besondere Lehrkurse für Tiefbau eingerichtet.—In Rippelbaum erschlug der Blitz zwei Kinder, Namens Kolons und Budde.

Dortmund. Der Verband der Seifenfabrikanten für Westfalen und Rheinland hat einen Ring gebildet, dem bereits 80 Fabrikanten beigetreten sind. Es wird eine Aufbesserung der Preise für Schmierseife bezweckt, da bei der gegenwärtigen Lage dieser Artikel nur mit Verlust abgegeben werden kann.

Sachsen.

Dresden. Der Rechnungsabschluß der Sächsischen Staatsbahnen auf das Jahr 1898 ist weniger günstig als sonst, denn der erzielte Ueberschuß beträgt bei der sehr beträchtlichen Mehreinnahme nur etwas über 34,000,000 Mark, gegen 37,500,000 Mark im Vorjahre. Der Rückgang des Reinertrages ist in der Hauptsache auf die Steigerung für Löhne und Materialien, von Miethen und Leihgeld zurückzuführen. Es belief sich allein die Wagenmiethe auf 3,398,501 Mark.

Chemnitz. In arger Weise hat der Besitzer einer großen hiesigen Eisengießerei, Karl Gustav Vogt, zwei hiesige Maschinenbau-Anstalten betrogen. Er stand mit denselben in enger Geschäftsbeziehung und war unehrlich genug, die von ihm gelieferten Gußstücke regelmäßig im Gewicht erheblich zu hoch anzugeben. Diese Betrügerei war nur dadurch möglich, daß Vogt den Wiegemeister des einen Unternehmens bestochen hatte; die Inhaber der anderen ließen die Vogt'schen Gußstücke nicht nachwiegen, da sie mit Vogt eng befreundet waren und natürlich seiner Ehrenhaftigkeit vertrauten. Sie berechnen ihren Schaden auf etwa 24,000 Mark, die andere Maschinenbau-Anstalt den ihrigen auf 9627 Mark. Vogt wurde von dem hiesigen Landgericht zu drei Jahren neun Monaten Gefängniß und fünf Jahren Ehrverlust, sein, die Betrügereien unterstützender Buchhalter J. W. Haase, der sich auch mehrerer Wechselverbrechen schuldig machte, zu zwei Jahren zehn Monaten Gefängniß und fünf Jahren Ehrverlust, der Wiegemeister Hofmann zu vier Monaten Gefängniß verurtheilt.

Freiberg. Einem Optiker von hier haben die Gesetzeswächter in Teplitz die Sommerkur arg verleidet. Er hatte seine Geldtasche auf einer Bank liegen lassen. Seine Freude war groß, als er sie auf der Polizei wieder in Empfang nehmen durfte, verwandelte sich aber in Trauer und Entrüstung, als er sie fast leer fand. Niemand hatte ihn bestohlen, aber die Polizei hatte die in der Tasche vorgefundenen 28 Zehntelloose der sächsischen Lotterie der Finanzbehörde übergeben, die sie ohne Weiteres mit Beschlag belegte und auch noch einen Theil des vorgefundenen Baarbetrages von 385 Gulden als Strafkaution zurückbehielt. Die Loose sind in Oesterreich verboten und die Untersuchung wird ergeben, ob der Optiker strafbar ist oder nicht.

Leipzig. Durch eine Benzin-Explosion gerieth die Gummiwaarenfabrik von Zieger und Wiegand in Brand und wurde größtentheils ein Raub der Flammen.

Pirna. Auf der Strecke Pirna-Stolpe schlug der Blitz in einen stark besetzten Personenzug. Eine Panik entstand, welche jeder Beschreibung spottet, und es ist geradezu ein Wunder zu nennen, daß Niemand um's Leben kam, wiewohl mehrere Passagiere vom Schrecken gelähmt wurden.

Thüringische Staaten.

Gera. Die Waarenausfuhr aus dem Konsularbezirk Gera nach den Ver. Staaten betrug während des zweiten Quartals 1899 im Ganzen 500,479 Mark gegen 601,195 Mark im gleichen Zeitraum des Vorjahres.

Greiz. Die fürstlich reußische Regierung verbot die Gründung eines Zweigverbandes des Alldeutschen Vereines mit der sonderbaren Motivirung, der Verein greife die Integrität des mit Deutschland verbündeten Oesterreichs an.

Jena. Oberlandesgerichtspräsident Dr. v. Brüger hier feierte sein goldenes Doktorjubiläum.

Meiningen. Der anhaltende Regen hat die Heuernte geschädigt und den Roggenstand benachtheiligt.

Freie Städte.

Hamburg. Dem Civilkabinett des Kaisers ist ein Gnadengesuch des Hamburger Photographen Wilcke, der wegen unberechtigten Eindringens in das Friedrichsruher Herrenhaus und unbefugter Aufnahme eines Bildes von der Leiche des Fürsten Bismarck zu sechs Monaten Gefängniß verurtheilt wurde, zugegangen. Das Gnadengesuch ist von 673 hervorragenden Hamburger Bürgern unterzeichnet.

THE CHINESE CHOPSTICK.

A Useful Device Which Serves Its Purpose With Great Efficiency.

With the evidence of Asiatic contact supposed to be so strong in Central America, one might have imagined that so useful a device as the simple chopsticks would have secured a footing. These two sticks, held in one hand, and known in China as "hasteners or nimble lads," are certainly the most useful, the most economical and the most efficient device for their purpose ever invented by man. Throughout that vast Asia region, embracing a population of 500,000,000, the chopstick is used as a substitute for fork, tongs and certain forms of tweezers. Even fish, omelet and cake are separated with the chopsticks, and the cook, the street scavenger and the watch repairer use this device in the form of iron, long bamboo and delicate ivory.

The bamboo chopstick was known in China 1000 B. C., and shortly after this date the ivory form was devised. Their use is one of great antiquity in Janan, as attested by references to it in the ancient records of that country. One may search in vain for the trace of any object in the nature of a chopstick in Central of South America. Knitting needles of wood are found in the work baskets associated with ancient Peruvian mummies, but the chopstick has not been found. Curious pottery rests for the chopsticks are exhumed in Japan, but even this enduring testimony of its early use is yet to be revealed in this country.

Our Florida Alligator.

An alligator is not an attractive creature. He has not a single virtue that can be named. He is cowardly, treacherous, hideous. He is neither graceful nor even respectable in appearance. He is not even amusing or grotesque in his ungainliness, for as a brute—a brute unqualified—he is always so intensely real that one shrinks from him with loathing; and a laugh at his expense while in his presence would seem curiously out of place.

His personality, too, is strong. Once catch the steadfast gaze of a free, adult alligator's wicked eyes, with their odd vertical pupils fixed full upon your own, and the significance of the expression "evil eye" and the mysteries of snake charming, hypnotism and hoodooism will be readily understood, for his brutish, merciless, unflinching stare is simply blood chilling.

Zoologically, the alligator belongs to the genus crocodilus, and he has all the hideousness of that family, lacking somewhat its bloodthirstiness, although the American alligator is carnivorous by nature, and ocasionally cannibalastic. Strictly speaking, however, the true alligator is much less dangerous than his relatives of the old world, and he is correspondingly less courageous.

This Amazes Foreigners.

A feat in American railroad building which always amazes foreigners is the Cripple Creek trestle, which curves so that from the upper parts of the airy structure one looks down upon the lower parts and thinks them another road.

Head of a Family of 162 Persons.

To be the head of a family of 162 persons is a record seldom falling to the lot of man. But such is the case with John Chandler, who resides in Allen county, Ky., just over the Sumner county line.

This gentlman is the father of twenty-nine children, twenty-one of whom are now living and have families. These twenty-one children have an average of five children to each family, thus making Mr. Chandler the grandfather of 105 persons. But this is not the full extent of his offspring, for he has thirty-five great-grandchildren. So it will be seen that Mr. Chandler stands paterfamilies of 162—an achievement rarely equalled. It certainly is not paralleled when the fact is considered that the members of this large family are all living.

The Game of the Devil.

Kouen-gen—the game of the devil—is traced in China to remote antiquity. The "devil" is made of two tin cones, connected at their apices and bored for the production of a humming sound. This sort of shuttlecock the player throws and catches on a string kept taut on two sticks held in either hand. A good player can throw it forty feet in the air. The skill demanded is greater than that required by battledore and shuttlecock. It has been played both in France and Belgium. In the latter country it was so favored some years ago that regular matches were got up at the schools.

Bite of the Tsetse Fly.

The bite of the tsetse fly, so deadly to the horse, ox and dog, has been found by a committee of the British Royal Society to affect other creatures as well. No remedy has been found. This little insect is playing a surprising part in the world's development, as, although man is strangely immune to the poison, large districts in Africa, notably the Limpopo and Zambesi valleys, must remain uninhabitable until the pest shall have been destroyed.

Produced From Coal.

From coal is obtained the means of producing over 400 shades of colors, a great variety of perfumes, explosive agents, various acids and medicines, insecticides, salts, saccharin, fruit flavors, lubricating oils and varnish.

Arrow Feathers From Geese.

Under Harry V an act of parliament ordered all the geese in England to be counted, and the sheriffs of the counties were required to furnish six arrow feathers from each goose.

AN INTERESTING STUDY.

Great Tact Required in Crowds Which Bring All Classes Together.

The behavior of people in crowds would make an interesting study of itself. In an ordinary crowd the majority are apt to be unacquainted with any formal etiquette, and the rest seem to forget all they ever knew; only those who are possessed of natural politeness and unfailing good nature are saved from becoming savages under such circumstances. Of course it is unpleasant for people of refined nature to be brought into very close contact with the ruder populace, and it very frequently happens that the very ones who have had most training in courtesy are the most disagreeable when in the midst of a crowd. The nerves of the common people are less easily disturbed, and the physical discomforts common to crowds are not greater than they are accustomed to in ordinary daily life. Unless you can be sure of bearing yourself with courtesy and good humor, you should avoid crowds for your own sake as well as out of consideration for others.

If, from choice or necessity, you flock with birds that are not all of your own fine feather, your aim should be to respect the rights of others without relinquishing your own. You are not a door mat, to allow yourself to be trampled upon without remonstrance; nor yet a cur, to snarl and snap at those who, perhaps, through no fault of their own, encroach upon you too closely. Even in the highest circles people are apt to lose their heads, to say nothing of their hearts, when massed in large numbers, as witness the frays that are reported to take place among the fair "gentlewomen" who attend the queen's drawing room.

Orchid Tea.

Of course, every one is aware that under the name of "tea" we often drink a beverage which has no acquaintance with the real leaf. But there are several "teas" which are not fraudulent manufactures, though they are not made of the leaves.

In Mauritius, for instance, they make tea of the leaves of an orchid. In Peru they drink mate, a tea made from a native species of holly. The Abyssinians make a tea from the leaves of the catha edulis, which has such stimulating qualities that even a leaf or two of it chewed has all the reviving effects of "the cup that cheers," and thus is most valuable to travelers. The Tasmanians are said to be the happy possessors of no less than a hundred substitutes for tea; while the Tonkinese have teas of their own made of berries, leaves, woods and bark of trees. In Sumatra coffee leaves are infused in the teapot, and the result is said to be an excellent beverage.

Denomination.

The Philadelphia Record tells of an old Pennsylvania farmer who recently came into possession of a check for $200. It caused him a great deal of anxiety, and for a long time he could not muster up courage to have it cashed. Finally on a trip to town, he summoned up nerve enough, and, strolling into the bank, presented the check. The teller glanced at it hastily, and then, after the fashion of his kind, brusquely asked: "What denomination?" "Lutheran, gol durn it! But what's that got tew do with it?" as brusquely replied the old farmer, to the great astonishment of the bank official. It required several minutes' explanation before the teller could get the old man to understand his question, and then the latter took his money and departed, with sundry growls derogatory to banks in general.

Some Paradoxes.

"As big as a whale" might be rather small, as there is a species of the cetacean genus hardly three feet long. Nor does the expression "as awkard as a crab" apply on some of the South Sea islands, for a crab is found there that not only runs as fast as an average man, but climbs trees with the ease of a schoolboy.

Nor does "the busy little bee improve each shining hour" down in Mexico. On the contrary, it soon learns that, as there is no winter there, there is no necessity for laying in a store of honey, and degenerates into a thoroughbred loafer.

Africa's Large Lake.

Lake Superior is in danger of losing its distinction of being the largest fresh water lake in the world. African explorers begin to think that Lake Victoria Nyanza is larger. Superior covers 31,200 square miles and Nyanza has been credited with 30,000, but recent explorations have discovered a hitherto unknown bay on its southern side which so increases its known area as to make it a question whether it is not larger than Superior. Fuller explorations and more careful surveys must be made, however, before a decision can be reached.

Two Most Valuable Stamps.

At a philatelic exhibition recently held at Birmingham, England, there were placed on view the two most valuable stamps in the world—a penny and a twopenny Mauritius. Only twenty-three specimens of the 1848 Mauritius stamps are known to exist, and the market value of the two exhibited at Birmingham is $10,500. They belong to a Parisian collector, who loaned them for the exhibition.

They Turn to the Left.

The soldier boys in Manila say that the Spaniards and natives there invariably turn to the left instead of the right in passing others on the sidewalks and in the streets, and consequently there are numerous accidental collisions with Americans.

An Important Matter.

"He said he wanted to consult me privately on a matter of vital importance to his future and of course I thought it was a proposal."

"Wasn't it?"

"No, he wanted my advice about choosing a wheel."

Growth of Sunflowers.

An eminent Indian medical officer is satisfied that the growth of sunflowers in malarial soil is better than eucalyptus as a preventive of malaria. The government of India is making extensive experiments to determine this point.

ACCESSORIES.

Pretty Trifles to Enhance the Beauty of the Costume.

Boleros of the newest fashion are not trimmed, with the exception of the revers and collars, which may be elaborately ornamented. Black satin skirts of good quality are also left untrimmed and are much worn with boleros and fancy waists.

Medici collars are still in great favor, little adapted as they are to warm weather wear. The discomfort they cause has been largely diminished, however, by making them of lace and tulle, embroidered with jet, and spangles and kept in form by wire. Being of open material, they do not make the neck so warm as do those of the usual kind.

Boas of gauze, tulle and lace are made just long enough to pass around the neck and reach the waist line in front. At the back they are very large, but they taper toward the ends, which are secured at the belt.

A picture is given of a tailor made gown of thin red cloth. The skirt is adorned with stitched straps which outline the tablier and yoke, passing downward again at the back. The double breasted coat has a short round basque and is trimmed with stitched straps which design a sort of plastron and border the edges, the pocket flaps, collar and revers. Crystal buttons appear in groups of three on the plastron. The straw hat is encircled with a puffing of tulle and has a trimming of foliage and a bow of ribbon edged with velvet.

CHILDREN'S FASHIONS.

Duck and Pique Suits For Seaside and Country Wear.

The favor in which piques, galatea cloth, duck, canvas and similar fabrics are held by fashion is a blessing to mothers, for no materials could be better suited for the summer attire of small boys and girls. Cool and serviceable, such goods may be washed over and over without receiving injury, especially when they are white. There is another useful material for children, less often seen in America, although it may be obtained at first class shops, and that is English holland in tan and linen shades. When it is washed, it comes out as good as new, and it will wear for an indefinite time.

Children's clothing of finer goods, such as muslin and flowered lawn, is trimmed chiefly with valenciennes lace, which is arranged in lengthwise or horizontal bands, in squares, lozenges and other decorative forms. In all such cases the insertion is first sewed on the smooth material in the desired design, and then the goods beneath it are cut away.

The illustration shows an attractive little costume of navy blue pique. The skirt is plain. The short, loose sacque is open and is bordered with stitching, as are the wrists of the plain sleeves. The revers and collar are of white pique with navy blue dots, and under the sacque is worn a shirt waist of the dotted pique, with a white cravat. The hat of navy blue straw is trimmed with white ribbon and white lace.

Largest Tree in the World.

The largest tree in the eastern hemisphere, if not in the world, is a monster chestnut standing at the foot of Mount Etna. The circumference of the main trunk at 60 feet from the ground is 212 feet.

DINNER PARTIES

Sensible and Timely Hints for Diners Who Are in Doubt.

Savories and sweets are generally eaten with the fork alone. Fruit tarts and sweets of the juicy nature render the use of a spoon and fork necessary, but whenever a spoon can be dispensed with, it is better to use the fork alone.

Cheese is not eaten at dinner parties by young ladies, who generally avoid all very highly flavored and strong smelling dishes. When the time for the dessert arrives, says Home Notes, a plate with a doyley and a finger glass is placed before each person, who removes the glass and doyley and places them on the left-hand side of the dessert plate to make room for the fruit soon to be placed upon it.

When eating grapes, cherries and other small fruit the half-closed hand should be put to the mouth and stones, pits or skins should be carried by it to the plate. They must not be dropped direct from the lips to the plate, for that would look very ugly.

Strawberries and raspberries, when not eaten with cream, are taken up by their stalks; when eaten with cream both spoon and folk should be used.

Pears, apples, peaches, nectarines etc, should be peeled and eaten with a knife and fork.

Melons are eaten with a spoon and fork.

The dessert is handed to the guests in the same order in which the dinner is served. After the wine has been handed the servants retire. Then the host should pass the wine around the table, beginning with the gentleman next to him. Gentlemen offer wine to the ladies sitting by them, but it is hardly more than a matter of form, for ladies very rarely take a second glass at dessert.

The hostess gives the signal for the ladies to retire by bowing to the lady at her husband's right hand. She should then rise from her place, as should all the other ladies, and make her way to the door, which is opened by the host, or the gentleman nearest who stands by it till the ladies have gone out, and then closes it behind them. The exit of the ladies takes place about ten minutes after the servants have retired, when the wine has passed round the table once. The ladies file out of the dining room in the order in which they entered it, the most important lady leading, and the hostess coming last.

Coffee is handed to the ladies almost directly after they reach the drawing-room, and it is also taken to the dining room for the gentlemen.

After about a quarter of an hour over the wine the gentlemen rejoin the ladies in the drawing room, when tea is brought in.

There is no rule as to the departure of the guests. The servant announces the several carriages as they arrive to the guests in the drawing room. If a lady desires to inquire for her carriage or to order a cab, she asks the hostess and the bell is rung and a servant summoned for the purpose. The usual hour for departure is about half-past ten.

The hostess shakes hands with all her guests on their departure, and the guests wish one another good night if they pass in going to the door, but they do not take farewell of those who are not in their immediate vicinity.

Gratuities should not be offered to servants by the guests.

A call on the hostess should be made within a week or ten days by anyone invited to a dinner party, whether the invitation has been accepted or declined.

Some Useful Hints.

Stonemason's sawdust is better than soap for cleaning floors.

Kerosene oil will clean blackened silver almost instantly.

To keep moths and carpet bugs from all woolen goods and furs, sprinkle them with cedar chips.

China closets should be scalded and freshened at least weekly, and a little borax water sprinkled on the shelves.

To keep away roaches, take green cucumber parings and strew them around the kitchen tables and cupboards and see how quickly the roaches will disappear.

To wash cut glassware use pure soap and hot water, and apply with a large toothbrush. Each piece should be wiped with a linen cloth as it is taken from the water.

Air curtains, beat well and put in cedar chest. If stained use a little benzine applied with cloth same color as material. Never use white cloth. Lace curtains should be washed before packing away. It is not good to keep the dust in them, but they should not be blued or starched.

If the moths have begun to eat your carpet, take the tacks out, turn it back one half yard all around the room, wash the boards with a saturated solution of camphor, putting it on with a paint brush; then lay the carpet back in its proper place, put over it a towel wrung out of water and camphor, and iron it thoroughly with a real hot iron, so as to steam it through and through, and this will kill the insects and all their larvæ.

Scales for Weighing Baby.

About the first important ceremony after baby's appearance in this busy world is to weigh him, and scales for this special use are now made. These are generally finished in white enamel. The weight plate is of iron, polished until it looks like a steel mirror. The "pan" is an oblong basket, fashioned with a view to the convenient and comfortable holding of the baby.

The basket is also enamelled. The base of the scale projects in front to afford a place for the weights, which are of polished iron. The larger weights are provided with handles. There are no very small weights, the fractions of pounds being recorded by a sliding weight on a beam attached to the scale.

BROKE UP THE MEETING

An Amateur Orator Receives Unexpected Answer to His Question.

In the recent political campaign in Baltimore the campaign was particularly hot in the Sixth Ward. In that ward, though no longer a fashionable section, there dwell many substantial citizens, the younger members of whose families may have married and moved to more desirable sections of the city, but the parents remain in the old homestead. A mass meeting was called in Market House Hall, in this ward, and a special committee was appointed to wait upon the oldest residents and invite them to a place of honor upon the platform, and to induce some of them to say a word or two as to the great blessings to be enjoyed under our form of government, most of which were ascribed to the party holding the meeting, and to give a little advice to the younger men to vote early, if not often.

The hall was crowded, and great enthusiasm prevailed. The old citizens of the ward were prominently in evidence and filled the platform. The oldest, the wealthiest, and, as it was maintained by many, the meanest man of the number, was a retired hog drover and land owner. He was introduced with a great flourish by the chairman, bowed profoundly when the applause had ceased, and said in broken English:

"My Fellow Citizens—Sixty years ago I came to dis country a poor poy—what am I now?"

In the pause that followed a deep bass voice in the rear of the hall called out:

"A damned mean old hog!"

That closed the amateur oratory of the evening, and the meeting broke up.

Polly at the 'Phone.

One West Madison street druggist lost a customer on Monday through his fondness for pets, says the Chicago News. He has a large green parrot and the cage is hung near the telephone, with the result that Polly has become quite proficient in "telephone talk" and furnishes much amusement to the customers who have the time to stop and listen.

On Monday a stylishly dressed young lady came rustling into the store and asked permission to use the 'phone. The druggist pointed to the rear of the store and she started in that direction. The store was rather dark, and when she heard someone apparently talking into the receiver she seated herself on a chair to wait.

"Hello, central—hello, hello—yes, give me four-double-eight express. Yes, hello; who is that? Oh, yes; what, yes; hello, I say; no; I didn't get that; is that so; well, goodby; ring off; hello, central; hello, hello; give me"—and so on, and so on through several repetitions.

Then she rose and advanced with a stately air to the clerk and asked if he thought that "person" intended to use the telephone all day.

"Why that's only the parrot, he"—

But the front door had slammed before he could finish his sentence.

Good Snake Shooting.

Snake shooting is a novel sport of recent introduction at Williamsport, Md., and which is becoming quite popular. There are an unusual number of snakes along the streams and in the country hereabout, and many of them are copperheads, a poisonous reptile and much feared. Rifles, as a rule, are used by persons who indulge in snake shooting. A favorite place for the sport is along the Chesapeake and Ohio Canal, where water and black snakes and copperheads abound in great numbers.

Within the past few weeks the reptile population along the canal has been seriously depleted. A Hagerstown man who spent his Sundays shooting snakes killed over a hundred in two days. In one day he shot with a rifle thirty water snakes, besides a number of others. William Stake killed a monster copperhead snake on the towpath, just below town. It measured four feet.

Goldfish From City Waters.

Men from the Aquarium recently dragged the pond at Fifty-ninth street and the lake in Central Park, New York, for gold fish and silver fish and other small fishes wherewith to stock some of the city's fountains and for specimens for the Aquarium. There were found many handsome goldfish, some of them a foot in length. The large fountain by the lake in Central Park, at the foot of the terrace, was stocked with goldfish and silver fish, as was also the basin of the fountain in City Hall Park, in which there were also placed a number of white perch and sunfish. At the request of the Department of Highways there were also stocked with goldfish the two fountains in Broadway at Seventy-second street. For the Aquarium a number of roach and sunfish and white and yellow perch were taken.

Japanese Copper Wire.

The Japanese are preparing to convert their copper ore into wire for domestic and foreign use, instead of shipping it out of the country as before. The Furakawa Smelting Works have for some time employed electrolytic refining, producing in the past year 800 tons, but they are now to be enlarged to four times their present size, and it is said that when the enlargement is completed their output will so far exceed the domestic demand as to permit a considerable export. As the Government uses several hundred tons of wire a year, it may be inferred that the new works will have a large capacity.

Making Acetylene Gas.

Acetylene gas, as is generally known, is produced by moistening calcium carbide with water. Some idea of its extensive use will be gathered when it is learned that there is being erected at Niagara Falls a plant for the manufacture of calcium carbide, which will have an output of one hundred tons per day. Electrical energy, equivalent to 25,000 horse power, will be required to operate it.

Remedy for Insect Bites.

Dr. Friedlander, of Wiesbaden, recommends galvanism to relieve the pain and irritation and to reduce the swelling caused by the bites of insects. The negative electrode is placed over the sting.—Medical Record.

FINE HORSEMANSHIP

Made Horse Stand on Hind Legs to Let Car Pass.

A very thrilling exhibition of superb horsemanship and brute sagacity was witnessed on the Brightwood road near Washington. A young farmer from Montgomery county was driving home from the city, the horse attached to his buggy being a magnificent animal, about three years old. When about opposite the car sheds at Brightwood one of the old wornout cars came down the track and reached the spot at the same time. There was a flat wheel attached to the car and it made almost as much noise as a locomotive, added to which was the humming of the motor. The fine young thoroughbred pranced and pawed the earth as the car approached, but refused to advance.

Just at the instant the car was passing the driving outfit the now thoroughly frightened animal wheeled around on the track and directly in front of the car. At the same instant the horse made a dash for the track the young man handling the reins gave a mighty pull on the reins and almost instantly drew the frightened animal straight up on his hind legs. There he stood pawing the air, not more than a foot from the car, and in that position he remained until the grinding conveyance, crowded with shrieking women and astonished men, swept by. During these thrilling seconds the driver in the buggy kept his seat, and in the most matter-of-fact way allowed the horse to place his forefeet upon the earth when all danger was past.

Had the driver wavered for an instant and allowed the animal to be hit by the car, it would have thrown the magnificent brute off his hind legs and undoubtedly smashed the buggy and more probably killed the horse.

An assistant Chief of the Fire Department and several of the men attached to the Brightwood Engine House witnessed the incident, and were loud in the praise of both driver and animal. Several of the passengers in the front of the car were badly scared as they realized the importance of the horse staying in the air and not descending upon them with his forefeet.

Penalty of Curiosity

Among the inflictions of a higher civilization that have been introduced into one of the native battalions of the Egyptian army is a brass band. It was required recently at the funeral of a comrade, and it took leave of the departed one to the inexpressibly touching anthem of "We drew his club money this morning."

Some years ago Queen Victoria was at Buckingham Palace and, as is its merry won' the guards' band solaced Her Majesty with a matutinal dose of dreamy melody. One tune especially pleased the aged monarch, and she asked it be played again, and afterward requested its name for future use. Sir Henry Ponsonby was gone a long time, and when he returned wore a somewhat preplexed countenance. His royal mistress fretfully remarked. "Surely they knew what they were playing," and Sir Henry deferentially coughed behind his hand and replied. "It is entitled 'Come Where the—er—Booze Is Cheaper."

New Vehicle Wheel.

The success of the bicycle and the automobile has led many inventors to attempt a resilient vehicle wheel, simpler than those in use. A promising improvement is described in an English journal. It consists essentially of two concentric shells at the hub, connected by radial webs which extend the breadth of the hub. Between each two webs is inserted a piece of India rubber, exactly fitting the sector-shaped space. The outer and inner sides of the hub are covered by circular plates, into the centre of which is fitted the axle bearing. Bolts pass from the outer plate to the inner plate through the India rubber sectors. The sectors, therefore, are interposed between the carriage, supported on the axle, and the wheel, and all vibration is effectually prevented.

Queer Nomenclature.

The British navy draws upon the animal world for many of its names, and the following list is compiled from the last navy list, issued by the Admiralty: Barracouta, Buzzard, Cockatrice, Basilisk, Dragon, Fox, Goldfinch, Griffon, Lapwing, Linnet, Magpie, Mosquito, Peacock, Penguin, Pheasant, Phoenix, Pigeon, Plover, Porpoise, Quail, Raccoon, Rattlesnake, Redbreast, Redpole, Ringdove, Salamander, Sparrow, Sparrowhawk, Sphinx Stork, Swallow, Thrush, Whiting Widgeon, Albacore, Eagle, Sheldrake, Triton, Unicorn, Beagle. Their navy list is also rich in names taken from mythology, many of them, however, being repetitions of names brought from early historical times in the British navy.

Pasteboard Shingles in Japan.

A new paper product is the result of the enterprise of one of the Japanese paper companies. It is a substitute for ordinary shingles, made of thick, tarred pasteboard. The paper shingles have met with a quick and large demand, selling for about one-half the price of wooden shingles and being much easier to manipulate. They economize the labor of mechanics, and are said to be as proof against rain and fire as the ordinary articles. Paper shingles have been adopted for the sub-roofing of the new Tokio Chamber of Commerce and Imperial Tokio University buildings.

Freight Trolley Cars.

Two cars, carrying local freight, are now in use on the Consolidated Traction lines of Pittsburg. Although freight stations have been established for the present, it is intended to ultimately make house-to-house deliveries—employing more cars as the service expands. It is said the United Traction lines will shortly begin a like service.

Our Opinion of Ourselves.

"Think well of yourself always," said Mr. Staybolt, "or nobody else will. People may not always take the man who thinks well of himself quite at his own valuation, and, then, again, they may rate him higher than he does himself; but they never fail to agree with the man who thinks of himself poorly."—New York Sun.

"A WATER WITCH AM I."

Lay of a So. Dakota Farmer Who Claims to Be Gifted With Supernatural Powers.

Frank M. Withee, a pioneer farmer of Yankton county, has, in a most mysterious manner, located water up on his farm as well as upon the farms of other Yankton county farmers. He was very much in need of water for his large farm. He had bored for water five times to the depth of 100 feet and seven times to the depth of between 40 and 70 feet, but without success.

In his predicament he remembered an old story that if a water witch holds a forked stick in her hand when ever she passes over water the willow stick will be drawn toward the earth. He also recalled another story of his youth that ants always go to water and wherever there is a collection of ant hills there is water beneath.

He resolved to play water-witch. Here is the story of his experience:

"I cut a forked willow stick, the limbs forming the fork being as large as a lead pencil, and went out to an ant village on my farm. I grasped the prongs of the willow fork and bent slightly forward in order to give the witch all possible chance to work, providing she was with me.

"Well that willow stick began to turn gently in my hands. It was just a mild force that was exerted, but it frightened me, and I was on the point of dropping the stick and getting out of that spooky locality as fast as I could, when I happened to think that I came down there to find water, and there was no sense in running away.

"I knew from the pressure on the stick that there was but little water if any beneath the ant village, and I went along until I reached a slight rise in the ground. I finally stood on top of a small ridge.

"When I bent forward the prongs of that fork began to twist in my hand. I clutched it with all my might, and the bark came off in my hands, but the third, or upright limb, turned entirely over and pointed straight toward the earth. I afterward took a 12-inch well augur and sank a hole on that spot. At a depth of 70 feet I found water, and it is 26 feet deep.

"In all the time that we have used it the amount in that well has not been reduced a barrel seemingly, and is as pure and sweet as spring water.

"Since I discovered that I possess the witch I have discovered a dozen wells in widely separated localities, and never failed to be absolutely correct in pointing out good water."

The End of the World.

The comet which an Austrian astronomer states will next year buck the earth into kingdom come and toss it, disemboweled, to fertilize the furrows of space where worlds foment, have kicked into the beauties of Austrian astronomy. Since the day when a French astronomer declared that comets were composed of diamonds and gold we have encountered nothing more entertaining. A little over a century ago comets were learnedly regarded as siderial automobiles, packed not with globe but with universe trotters. Maupertuis pictured one pulling up at Paris and wondered who would be the more surprised, the boulevardiers or the tourists. The imagination of Ambrose Pare was capable of even greater flights. In his work entitled "Celestial Monsters" he describes a blood-colored comet that sailed about freighted with axes, knives and swords, and which was manned with hideously bearded gnomes. "So horrible and frightful was" he says, "the spectacle of it and such terror did it engender among the devout that many fell sick and others died." Lambert hastened to the rescue. In his "Cosmological Letters" he distinctly stated that a blood-colored comet, however well equipped, could only destroy a few kingdoms. But later he was induced to admit that a real big one might carry off the moon or hurl us "beyond the regions of Saturn, where hideous Winter reigns interminably."

Kepler himself believed that comets were animated. He said there were more in the sky than fish in the ocean. Arago saw and counted them all. According to him there were exactly 17,500,000. According to Laplace, one of them produced the deluge. On the other hand, Newon announced that a comet as long as from here to Saturn would, if condensed to the degree of our atmosphere, find comfortable quarters in a thimble. Now comes this Austrian gentleman. The peacock that he sees in the perihelion disturbs us as little as it disturbs Flammarion. We assume, as he does, that the end of the earth will coincide, not with the end of the century, but with the end of the sun. When that event occurs we shall have been all too long dead to bother.

The Name of Barnum.

Charles A. Davis, of Forepaugh's circus, said recently that James A. Bailey had organized a $2,000,000 stock company in London, with Dukes and Earls and Lords as his directors, to take over Barnum's circus, of which there is now little left but the name. Three hundred thousand dollars, he said, would be a fair appraisement of the property, but the good-will is worth at least $1,000,000, and represents nothing but the value of Barnum's name ten years after his death.

"Barnum," he said, "was the greatest showman ever known, and his reputation and popularity were greater in England than in the United States. The English people could never comprehend his methods. His candor mystified them. They were accustomed to all kinds of gilded frauds and fakes, but when he announced that he had a humbug to exhibit everybody laughed and went to see it and advertised it as genuine. He first went over with Tom Thumb in 1843, and captivated the nation. Every time he went afterward his popularity grew. He probably took more gate money from England than any other amusement man that ever lived.

"Buffalo Bill has probably been seen by more human beings than any other professional," coninued Mr. Davis, "but his name attached to a show is not worth a cent unless he appears himself. It was the same way with Booth, who was the greatest of actors, and Patti, who is the greatest of singers. A theatrical troop traveling under Booth's name or an opera company under Patti's name, would not draw any more than Buffalo Bill's company without Buffalo Bill. But the name 'Barnum' attached to a show is worth a million dollars. It shows the eccentricity of the human nature."

BRAVE AMERICAN CHILDREN

Some of Them Played Important Parts in the War of the Revolution.

Children played an important part in the war for independence.

The first martyr to the cause of liberty was a little Boston Boy, and in the closing scene at Yorktown a slight form stepped forward—a lad of nineteen—and received the fallen British standard.

Boys and girls seem to have been the same one hundred years ago as they are now. They were active at the Boston massacre and in the burning of effigies in South Carolina. The streets swarmed with them. They had to be taken into account by friends and foes.

When Ethan Allen set forth to thrash the Tory printer, Rivington of New York, who had been abusing the patriots in his paper, a crowd of boys gathered around the tall figure in tarnished regimentals and loudly cheered the hero. But no fight came off, and the disappointed boys were disgusted with Allen.

A boy was at the head of the mob in 1778. Those too young to bear arms found ways to show their zeal for liberty. They worked in the trenches, they drove the teams when fortifications were built, they acted as scouts.

One of the best accounts of our army on Dorchester Heights was written by Jeremiah Baier, but eleven years old who tended his father's horses throughout that night of anxiety when the British attack was expected.

In the mean time the girls did service as scouts and spies. When the war was carried into the Southern States it became unusually bitter, for it was a war between neighbors and families.

Tory feeling was strong. While the royal army was near many concealed themselves in the swamps, and then the girls were of service. They carried food to their fathers, often going to them at night, always at the risk of their own lives and of betraying the hiding places of their dear ones.

When De Platt was imprisoned in New York his daughter was so persistent in her pleadings with Sir Henry Clinton that he was glad to release his captive.

A Connecticut mother sent all her sons, the youngest but fourteen. He soon returned, as he had no musket. She said, "Go back and take a gun from the enemy!"

Alexander Hamilton at seventeen was writing articles discussing the advantages of open rebellion against the mother country. He was then a student in King's—now Columbia—College. He, with fifteen students, went to Capt. Lambs, offering to assist in securing the cannon that defended the city.

The British men-of-war in the stream fired upon them, but the little band brought away every gun.

Lafayette came to us at eighteen. He had a girl wife in France, and she encouraged him. He was such a help to Washington that in the Valley Forge Washington never wanted him out of his sight. He was the sunbeam of that sad winter, and bore the cold, the hunger and loneliness without a murmur.

A Stowaway on the Texas.

At the training station at Newport is a boy who is a naval apprentice in one of the lowest divisions and yet a veteran of the Spanish war. He is 14 years of age, and yet was in battle of Santiago. He heard Commodore Philip of the Texas when he said to his crew: "Don't cheer, boys; the poor devils are dying." The lad, while not on the department rolls, was a member of the Texas's crew at the time of the fight, and in fact all through the war.

The boy is Thomas Watson. He had a brother in the crew and when the ship was about to sail for the front he smuggled himself aboard. He was cared for in concealment for some days, until, stowaway-like, he made his appearance on deck when it was too late to set him ashore. Once at the front he might as well be kept on the Texas as any other ship of the fighting line, so the officers accepted the situation.

The boy soon became proficient in such duties as his strength would permit his performing, and being a bright fellow, it was early seen that he would not prove a hindrance in case of action. In fact, there is evidence that he conducted himself in a praiseworthy manner. He admits that he was scared at times during the action. Upon the return of the Ship to New-York he was taken for enlistment in the navy in regular order, and had it been necessary the entire ship's company would have vouched for him.

The Suspended Plate.

Many a boy has had an immense lot of fun from the use of what he terms a "sucker" generally made from a piece of leather to which through a hole in the center he attaches a string and with this bit of leather, when wet, he is enabled to lift stones and other heavy materials, but here is a sucker he never dreamed of. Take an ordinary radish, if you can get a large one, so much the better, cut it away at the bottom leaving a flat surface, apply this to a dinner plate and you will find they will become attached friends.

Saw It in the Book.

"What is an average?" asked the teacher.

The class seemed to be puzzled, but a very little girl held up her hand.

"Please, it's what the hen lays her eggs on!"

Bewilderment followed, but the little girl justfied herself by pointing out in the textbook a place where it said:

"The hen lays 200 eggs a year on an average."

LARGEST TOY EVER MADE.

Contains a Variety of Familiar Objects in Miniature.

The largest toy on record has just been completed at Baltimore, Md. The designer and builder is Adam J. Winfelder, and his workshop, where the toy was constructed, is one end of his parlor. The toy is apparently located on a large plateau and is a composite affair containing all sorts of familiar objects in miniature.

There are a Ferris wheel with eight cars; sixteen swings; an old-time flour mill, operated by water power; a moving train of cars; a pump, with a little girl at the pump handle; an old-fashioned seesaw; a carrousel or merry-go-round; a lake dotted with boats of all descriptions, containing hundreds of silver and gold fish, a miniature boat club in a race, negroes fishing and a shoot-the-chutes; a fortress, a castle, a church, a log cabin, a light house in the center of the lake, from the top of which a tiny light gleams; farm houses, picnic grounds, pavilions, band stand, scores of children, &c.

Mr. Winfelder has occupied all his spare time for the past two years constructing this beautiful toy, the various features of which are as natural as can be. Not a detail is omitted to render all things realistic. For instance, at the grist mill a miller is seen raising barrels of flour by a pulley, and around the farm houses are figures apparently engaged in the various occupations which are so familiar in connection with agriculture.

The power which operates all the mechanical features of the toy is a water motor, but it is so concealed that for a time the cause of action is a mystery to the onlooker.

A Kite That Collapses.

Kites are being made bigger as the boy of each generation increases his demands. It is comfortable, therefore, to know that there has been invented one of these gigantic toys which can be spread and then changed into a small compass after the same principle as an umbrella.

KITE OPENED AND CLOSED.

Jack Horner.

Everybody who has once been a child knows the rhyme about "Little Jack Horner," who "sat in a corner." That there was ever a real Jack Horner, and that the plum extracted from the pie was a very valuable plum indeed, few of the little folks who enjoy his exploits know, or would care to learn.

It appears that this worthy was steward to an abbot of Glastonbury. The good abbot learned that his majesty Henry VIII had seen fit to be indignant because the monks had built a kitchen which he could not burn down. Now, a king's indignation was dangerous, and must be appeased. Therefore the abbot sent for his steward, Jack Horner, to present the sovereign with a suitable peace offering. It took the form of a big and tempting looking pie, beneath the crust of which the transfer deeds of twelve manors were hidden.

But Master Jack had an eye for the profit of number one, and on the road he slyly lifted the crust and abstracted the deeds of the Manor of Wells. On his return, bringing the deeds, he plausibly explained that they had been given to him by the king. Hence the rhyme:

Little Jack Horner
Sat in a corner (of the wagon),
Eying his Christmas pie;
He put in his thumb
And pulled out a plum (the title-deed),
Saying, "What a brave boy am I!"

An Aquarium in the House.

An aquarium in the house is becoming popular among fashionable people. Especially is it in favor in homes where there are children or invalids, as it not only gives object lessons in natural history, but serves to amuse and please. Aquariums are sold by the bird dealers, and may be beautifully stocked with goldfish, the minnow, perch, sucker, shiner and carp, all of whom thrive well together. Newts are very interesting, too, as there comes a time when they shed their skin and swallow it, and surprise the little ones by losing a leg and having another grow in its place in a short time. Plants must be secured, of course, as they furnish the oxygen for the life of the little water-dwellers, and are in turn nourished by the carbonic gas which the animals supply. The snail should not be forgotten, as it is a part of the economy of nature, and performs the scavenger's part very well in eating off the diseased portion of the plants. Starwort, milfoil, oxheart, sweet flag and brook mosses are the plants best suited to a fresh-water aquarium.

Sparrowhawk is Speedy.

When the sparrowhawk is swooping down on its prey it cleaves space at the speed of 150 miles an hour.

Some insects are in a state of maturity thirty minutes after birth.

There's nothing in Ivory Soap but soap, good, pure vegetable-oil soap. There's nothing to make the linens streaky, no alkali to injure the finest textures. The lather forms quickly and copiously, and wash-day is a pleasure instead of a drudgery. Try it for the next wash. The price places it within reach of every one. Look out for imitations.

GOLF.

A team from the Hillside Tennis and Golf Club went to Staten Island Saturday and contested for honors with a team from the Harbor Hill Golf Club. The game was interesting, although very one-sided. Thus far this season the Hillside team has succeeded in beating their opponents out every time and have won with large scores to their credit. There is nothing of special importance to note about Saturday's play, except that with the exception of three members of the home team everyone made a good score. The score in detail follows:

CYCLING COMMENT.

A sixteen-mile road race for a silver cup valued at $35 will be run Saturday, August 19th. The start will be made at W. S. Emery's Hotel at Scotch Plains, and the run will be from that point to the Springfield road, four miles, and return and then repeat the run. There must be at least eight starters, and $1 entrance fee will be charged. The cup must be won three times in succession to become the permanent property of the winner. There will also be three gold prizes—medals to the first, second and third men in the race. Entry book closes August 15th. The races are open only to wheelmen living within seven miles of Scotch Plains.

ROD AND GUN.

remarked that "Snake Mary" had been crowned several dozen times during her career. It was a good thing for business, he said. There were a great many people, he explained, who would not come to the camp on other occasions.

The little army of New York newspapermen marvelled at it all but parparticularly at the ability of the press agent of the Harrison family who had managed his department with such wonderful success. He must be a great man, they said.

CRASH ON CENTRAL ROAD.

Two Trains in Collision and Two Passengers Hurt.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Phillipsburg, N. J., July 31.—While rounding a stalled freight an express train collided with a coal train on the Central Railroad, at Springtown, Saturday afternoon. The crews of both engines jumped and escaped injury. The locomotives were badly wrecked. Passengers on the express train were thrown half the length of the coaches, but only two were seriously hurt. They are F. B. Smith, of New York, a traveling salesman, who had his spine and left hip hurt, and W. F. Neff, merchant at Allentown, who is suffering from Shock, and is unable to tell where he boarded the train. Both men were taken to the Easton Hospital.

Funeral of Samuel Flynn.

The funeral of Samuel Flynn, who died at his home on West Sixth street Saturday night from a complication of diseases, was held this morning from St. Mary's church. Father Westman officiated. The interment was in St. Mary's cemetery. The pall-bearers were Wm. O'Connor, John Traynor, Edward Coffey, Daniel Crowley, John Marrah and John Canary, all shopmates of the deceased in the Pond Tool Works.

REMOVED TOMBSTONES.

SMALL BOYS DID NAUGHTY STUNTS SATURDAY NIGHT.

Laid for Wheelmen on the Watchung Avenue Bridge, and Knocked off Hats with a Thread—Boys Arrested.

Harry Shepard sat on top of a tombstone in the yard of Townsend's Marble Works. The stone tipped over. Other boys sat on other tombstones. Other stones tipped over. The boys thought it was great fun. That happened last Saturday night. A thread was stretched across Watchung avenue at the bridge and the hats of sundry wheelmen were removed. The boys considered it a huge joke, but some of the wheelmen swore. Then the police took a hand.

Seven boys came under the eye of Rundsman Flynn. Tney were Harry Shepard, John Haberle, Patrick Callahan, William Miner, Hardy Palmer, John Pope and Edward Conshay. They were all ordered to appear before City Judge Runyon this morning.

Shepard was the only one to appear. He told the Judge that the boys had been trying these little stunts for the past two Saturday nights. The overturning of the tombstones, he explained, was an entire accident. The stones just fell over, that was all.

The Judge let Shepard go until tomorrow to appear. If they didn't come, he said, the police would have to go after them and lock them up. Shepard promised to notify them all.

PARTICULAR MENTION.

Miss Louella T. Mills, bill clerk in the local office of the United States Express Co., will leave tomorrow morning for a two months' visit with friends at Port Jefferson, L. I.

Judge William A. Codding, S. S. Squire and Edward White returned yesterday morning from Maine, where they have been enjoying camp life for two weeks in the pine tree wilderness.

Miss Messler, assistant-superintendent at Muhlenberg Hospital, leaves today to enjoy a vacation of three weeks. She will first go to her home at White House, and from their will visit friends at Scranton, Pa., after which she will conclude her outing at Norwich, Conn.

EARLY INTELLIGENCE.

—Press want ads bring results

—All bills against the city must be in the hands of the City Clerk by tonight to be paid by the next Council meeting.

AT ASBURY PARK.

Founder Bradley Smiles Because Last Week Was a Money Maker.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Asbury Park, July 31.—Trolley parties are all the rage. Driving, boating and card playing have been relegated to the list of things obsolete. The women who take these trips are as much an attraction if not more so than the place to which the parties go. They make it a point to adorn themselves with ravishing gowns of cream and white. Their faces are wreathed in smiles and their chatter is most lively. The railway companies owe the success of the trolley party scheme to the female contingent.

Founder Bradley is all smiles today. The last week was the only real moneymaking week he has had thus far this season, but the outlook for August seems promising.

To Give Guests a Good Time.

One of the best conducted hotels in this vicinity is The Arlington on Somerset street, which is run by Charles Jensen. The location is beautiful and guests find an abundance of breeze from the mountains. Mr. Jensen announces that commencing tomorrow evening, and continuing every Tuesday evening until further notice, he will give his friends a good time. There will be good music for dancing.

Only Excursion by Boat

Tomorrow the only excursion by boat this season will go from Plainfield. The T. A. B. Society will conduct an excursion to Forest View Park on the Hudson. They will go on the steamer Laura M. Starin and barge, Chester A. Arthur. There will be dancing on the boat and at the grove. The train will leave this city at 8 o'clock in the morning, and will return at a reasonable hour.

Brave Men Fall

Victims to stomach, liver and kidney troubles as well as women, and all feel the results in loss of appetite, poisons in the blood, backache, nervousness, headache, and tired, listless, run-down feeling. But there's no need to feel like that. Listen to J. W. Gardner, Idaville, Ind. He says: "Electric Bitters are just the thing for a man when he is all run down, and don't care whether he lives or dies. It did more to give me new strength and good appetite than anything I could take. I can now eat anything and have a new lease on life." Only 50 cents, at L. W. Randolph's Drug Store. Every bottle guaranteed.

STORY OF MOCHA COFFEE

500 Years Ago Arabs and Indians Were Taught to Make the Drink.

Mocha is not alone the name of a kind of coffee, but also a port (Yemen) on the Red Sea. The patron saint of both was Scheile Schoedeli, whose memory is venerated by the Mahometans almost as much as that of Mahomet himself.

One day, 500 years ago, a vessel from the Indies cast anchor in the port. Those on board had noticed a hut, and they disembarked to see what it was.

The sheik (for it was his dwelling) received the strangers kindly and gave them some coffee to drink, for he was very fond of it and attributed great virtue to it.

The travelers, who had never seen coffee before, thought that this hot drink would be a cure for the plague. Schoedeli assured them that through his prayers and the use of this drink that not only would the plague be stopped, but also that if they would unload their merchandise they could make a good profit by it.

The owner of the ship was impressed by this strange man, especially as he found the coffee so palatable. On the same day a large number of Arabs came to listen to the hermit's preaching, and among them were some merchants who purchased all the goods on the ship.

The Indian visitor returned home, and telling his strange adventure and profitable trading, many of his compatriots came to visit the saintly Schoedeli.

A beautiful mosque was built over the tomb of Schoedeli after his death, and his name will never be forgotton so long as Mocha coffee is drunk. All of the Moslem coffeehouse keepers venerate him, mentioning his name in their morning devotions. Travelers say that in the town of Mocha or Ocha as the Arabs call it, men take their oath, not by God, but by the memory of Schoedeli.

Earth and Its Axis

Nine persons out of ten—yes, 999 out of every 1,000—if asked how long it takes the earth to turn once on its axis would answer twenty-four hours, and to the question: "How many times does it turn on its axis in the course of a year?" the answer would be: 365¼ times. Both answers are wrong. It requires but twenty-three hours and fifty-six minutes for the earth to make one complete turn, and it makes 366¼ turns during the year. The error springs from a wrong idea of what is meant by a day. The day is not, as is commonly supposed, the time required by the earth to make one turn on its axis, but the interval between two successive passages of the sun across the meridan—that is to say, the time which elapses after the sun is seen exactly south of its diurnal course through the heavens before it it is seen again in that position. Now, in consequence of the earth's revolution in its orbit, or path around the sun, the sun has the appearance of moving very slowly in the heavens in a direction from east to west. At noon tomorrow the sun will be a short distance to the east of the point in the heavens at which it is seen at noon to-day, so that when the earth has made one complete turn, it will still have to turn four minutes longer before the sun can again be seen exactly south.

Moose and Caribou Cemeteries.

Forest and Stream contains the following contribution from a Quebec correspondent concerning the habit moose and caribou have of going to the same place, season after season, to shed their antlers.

"The idea of the animals seeking a definite place for this purpose was quite new to me, but lately the efficient Superintendent of Game and Fisheries at Quebec, L. Z. Joucas, Esq., has told me that they do frequent such places, and that this habit was quite well known to him. He knew of many and mentioned several places where horns could almost certainly be found at any time. And not only do they go to shed their borns, but they go there to die. These places are known as cemeteries, and whole skeletons are occasionally found. This, however, would be rare, as the bones would usually be torn apart and scattered by bears and other carnivorae.

"Mr. Joucas instanced the case of a gentleman going to a certain region for geological exploration, who asked for a permit to shoot a moose out of season in order to get a good pair of antlers. He was told that by diverging a little from his route he might reach a place where he would find plenty of them. He did so and secured five excellent specimens."

The Smallest Seed Known

The Book says that a grain of mustard is the smallest of all seeds, but it must have been a kind of mustard that we know not of, because we know of many kinds of seeds very much smaller, as tobacco, poppy and others. We have some seeds in this office so small that one ounce of them would furnish a plant for every square inch of land on the North American continent. The capsule that contains the seeds is about the size of a tobacco seed and contains more than 100,000 seeds. And yet the plant grows six feet tall, with leaves 3 feet by 6 inches in expanse.—The Lumpkin (Ga.), Independent.

A New Invention

A new invention of great importance has just been patented by a German chemist, Julius Norden, of Aldenhoven, Germany. He has succeeded in hardening alcohol until it has become a solid mass. This will insure a very much greater popularity for the employment of alcohol. It now comes in small boxes and can be used for cooking, lighting, heating and the various uses of everyday life. The solidified alcohol burns without a wick, can be blown out after use and then hardens again within a minute. The danger of exploding is absolutely done away with.

A Slow Fire.

Mrs. Crummet—Cook books are so unreliable.

Mrs. Cruller—I know it.

Mrs. Crummet—It said the eggs should be cooked over a slow fire. I followed directions. The result was that the eggs hatched. The book ought to have said that it would not do to have a fire too slow—Boston Transcript.
